

VIRGINIA MERRILL WON IN DOUBLES AT LONGWOOD

Virginia Merrill, captain of this year's girls' tennis team at the Winchester High School, was the winner of one doubles championship and runner-up in another at Longwood last Saturday when the final rounds of the boys' and girls' tennis tournaments were played at the famous cricket club.

Paired with Donald Frame, Harvard freshman, Virginia won the junior mixed doubles crown from Helen Bidwell of Winchester and Nathaniel W. Niles, Jr., of Chestnut Hill in straight sets at 6-2. Playing with her former captain, Louise Packer, "Ginie" was defeated 6-2, 6-2 in the junior girls' doubles by the Boehm twins, Hilda and Helen of Malden.

Hilda Boehm won the junior girls' singles championship, but she was carried to three sets by Helen Bidwell of Winchester before winning, 6-1, 2-6, 6-4. It was anyone's match and Helen led the "twin" 4-2 in the final set, only to have Hilda overcome the lead to win. This same Hilda won her way into the finals at the expense of Winchester's Louise Packer, scoring one of the tournament's upsets by defeating the local left-hander, 9-7, 6-2. Helen's opponent in the semi-final round was Helen Boehm whom she defeated by the same scores.

In the semi-final round of the junior mixed doubles the Winchester team of Catherine Boyden and Sydney Paine was defeated 6-4, 7-5 by Helen Bidwell and Nathaniel Niles. Madeline Little of Winchester and A. W. Elliott were defeated in the final round of the boys' and girls' mixed doubles by Louise McNeil and James Donovan. The scores were 6-2, 6-3.

Arthur Cutter and "Billy" Gilpatrick, a local team, got as far as the semi-final round in boys' doubles before being defeated by the ultimate winners of the State championship, Robert Dunnell and Charles Houghton. Both sets were at 6-3.

In girls' doubles Deborah Gilbert and Loretta Carleton reached the semi-finals before being defeated 6-2, 6-1, by Helen Jones and Louise McNeil, runners-up in the final match. Frances Poirier lost to the champion, Katherine Winthrop, 6-1, 6-1, in the semi-final match of the girls' singles play.

There were many entries from Winchester in all the championship contests and the local players invariably made a fine showing.

TAPPAN—EASTWICK

A marriage of interest to many here took place at Whittier, N. H., last Saturday evening when Miss Barbara Eastwick, daughter of Mrs. Charles H. Eastwick and the late Mr. Eastwick of Tamworth, N. H., became the bride of Fred W. Tappan, also of that place. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert Dunn of Sanbornville, N. H., in the quaint little church of St. Andrews in the valley, one of the show places of Whittier and a unique copy of the small chapels of Mexico. The wedding was the second in St. Andrews' history.

Mrs. Howard W. Whiting, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor, with the bridegroom's brother, Henry Tappan, as the best man. The ushers were John and Robert Eastwick, brothers of the bride; John Nelson of Sandwich, N. H. and Bernard Mason of South Tamworth, N. H.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon and the tulle veil was worn by her mother at the latter's wedding. The church, lighted by candles, was a very charming setting for the ceremony and attracted a large gathering from this vicinity.

Mrs. Tappan is well known in Winchester, having for many years made her home in this town with her parents on Norwood street. She attended the public schools here and has many friends among the town's young set.

E. T. HARRINGTON REPORTS LOCAL SALES

Edward T. Harrington, Inc., reports an increasing demand for all kinds of properties in Winchester. It has sold the Dwight B. Libby estate, 2 Meadowcroft road, in the Rangeley section to Capt. Magnus Magnuson, who buys for a home. Included is a brick veneer house, improvements, brick garage, 11,000 square feet land. Sold four lots of land on Wedgemere avenue, near Wildwood street, containing 40,000 square feet for Daniel C. Linscott, to George C. Wright, for improvement. Mr. Wright also buys from Alfred G. Barr 12,000 square feet of land, corner of Yale and Wildwood streets.

It negotiated the sale for Arthur N. Holcomb et al, trustees of the Edwin Ginn estate, of a lot of 9000 square feet of land, corner of Church street and Rangeley road, in the Rangeley section, Dr. Milton J. Quinn being the purchaser, who will improve with a modern house for a home.

WINCHESTER BOYS WON LETTERS AT NORWICH

The names of three Winchester boys appear among those recently announced at Norwich University, Northfield, Vt., as winners of major letters in baseball and track. Clarence J. O'Donnell, '29, captain of the varsity football team last fall, and Joseph J. Tansey '30, captain-elect of the eleven, were awarded their baseball insignia while Edward W. Berry '31, received his major letter in track.

Harold "Lefty" Hatch, who recently completed his freshman year at Tufts, has secured a position with the Town Engineering Department.

MALICIOUSNESS PLUS

Occasionally, even in this enlightened age, we learn of something which bears repeating simply because of the sheer maliciousness involved. On last Sunday morning when Clarence Stevenson, an employee of the Winchester News Co., delivered his bundle of Sunday papers to Pratt's Drug Store at the corner of Washington and Swanton streets, it was discovered that he was one bundle short.

Knowing that the bundle must have fallen from his automobile, Stevenson drove slowly back over the route he had taken, believing that he could recover the papers. He was, however, unable to find them.

About the time Stevenson returned to the News Company, Proprietor William McLean was notified by telephone that there seemed to be a large number of Sunday papers scattered about at Symmes corner.

Accompanied by Edward Cullen and several newsboys, Mr. McLean hastened to Symmes corner and found his missing papers systematically spread alternately on either side of Main street from the corner to Winthrop Square. The job had evidently been done by design, by people who knew what they were doing. Recovering the papers, sorting and re-folding them was quite a task and consumed much valuable time. The papers were ultimately delivered but not without considerable unnecessary labor. Some people's idea of humor is indeed hard to understand.

Sister Margaret McKenna of Arthur street, with her sister, Mrs. Ellen Halligan, left yesterday at 4 o'clock for a trip to Donegal, Ireland, where they will spend the next two months as guests of their mother. On Tuesday evening, Mrs. McKenna's neighbors gathered at her home and presented her a purse of gold as a token of "Bon Voyage." Mrs. Nora O'Melia and Mrs. Margaret Norcross were in charge of arrangements and served the luncheon. Mrs. Elizabeth C. McDonald made the speech of presentation.

Mrs. Jane King with Mr. King and the family, and Mrs. Elizabeth McDonald and Mr. McDonald and the family left Wednesday morning to spend the rest of the week in camp at Saco, Me.

MRS. CLARA NORMAN MORSE

Mrs. Clara Norman Morse, wife of William C. Morse, Providence, R. I., lumber dealer, died on Sunday, June 30, at her home in that city after an illness of several weeks. She was 71 years of age.

Mrs. Morse was born in Winchester and was educated in the public schools of the town. Her father was Thomas Norman. After her graduation from the high school Mrs. Morse served the town as a teacher in the grades, being assigned for some time to the old "Hill School" on Ridge street. She left Winchester at the time of her marriage to Mr. Morse about 40 years ago. Her husband, who survives her, is a former resident of Winchester, having made his home for some years on Madison avenue.

Funeral services were held in Providence on Tuesday, after which the remains were brought to Winchester for interment in Wildwood Cemetery. Rev. H. W. Hook, pastor of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church conducted the committal service which was attended by several old friends now living in Winchester who had known the deceased during her residence here.

ATTRACTIVE ROCK GARDEN

The Snowflake Gardens, Miss Hattie E. Snow, proprietor, is just completing a very attractive little rock garden on the estate of Mrs. Mabel A. Horne on Prospect street. Alexander Irving Heimlich, rock-garden specialist of the Snowflake Gardens, has done a particularly good bit of work on the hillside adjoining the house. Rare and beautiful plants, insuring a bloom throughout the year, together with a six-foot waterfall to a pool of lilies, the whole shaded by overhanging shrubs, makes a place of beauty which adds decidedly to the perennial garden and well kept grounds.

MR. ABBOTT HEADS BOSTON Y. M. C. A.

The recent election of Mr. T. Grafton Abbott, a prominent citizen of this town, to the presidency of the Boston Y. M. C. A. to succeed Arthur S. Johnson, president for the past 32 years, is a deserved compliment to Mr. Abbott and pleasing to the latter's many friends.

In accepting the election to the presidency, Mr. Abbott expressed the humility and responsibility which he felt in assuming the mantle of leadership from Mr. Johnson. "I have been lead to accept this position," he said, "primarily because of the assurance of the men at the major points of leadership in education, finance and program throughout the association that they would stand by and continue to give the same fine quality of leadership they have in the past."

"It is through these men that the Y. M. C. A. will continue to occupy the place it does and should fill in the life of Boston. My hope for the future of the 'Y' is built on an essential belief in the Christian basis on which our institution was founded, of understanding the outlook of young men whom we wish to serve and to meet that outlook with an inspiration that will build in them the finest ideals of living."

Mr. Abbott is president of the D. R. Emerson Company of Boston, trustee of the Winchester Savings Bank, incorporator of the Home Savings Bank of Boston and a trustee of Northeastern University. As chairman of the prudential committee, he has been active in the First Congregational Church of this town. He is a member of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, Boston City Club, Winchester Country Club and a 32d Degree Mason in the DeMolay Commandery of the Knight Templars of Boston. Mr. Abbott is the father of six children, five of whom are boys. Mrs. Abbott is clinical psychologist at the Judge Baker Foundation, president of the Boston Chapter of the American Association of University Women and a member of the executive committee of the Boston Women's Club.

MINORS' POLL TAXES ASSESSED TO PARENTS

Considerable confusion and not a little hard feeling has been caused by the action of the local Board of Assessors in assessing the poll taxes of minors to the parents. Poll taxes are levied upon males at the age of 20 years, but until last year the minors received their own poll tax bills which according to law the State could not collect.

Accordingly, conforming to law, it was determined to levy the tax upon the parent and the bills, given this year by the assessors to the collector, for collection are so made out. There is, however, nothing upon the bill to indicate what the extra charge is for, nor does the receipted bill show that a father has also paid the poll tax of his son.

Those receiving poll tax bills for four, six or more dollars with no explanation, naturally wondered why and many wrathful male citizens of the town have presented themselves at the collector's office for satisfaction of one sort or another.

The explanation that the extra amounts levied were for their sons' poll taxes did not seem in many instances to appease the anger of those to whom the bill were issued and the consensus of opinion seemed to be that at least, the poor taxpayer should know for what he is paying.

Tax Collector Nathaniel Nichols appealed to Superintendent of Taxes Albert B. Fales at the State House and was told by Mr. Fales that if the assessors give to the collector the names of the minors for whom the taxes are levied the said names may be put upon the bills issued.

It is likely that the assessors will take some such action since there has been so much dissatisfaction with the present system. After all everyone likes to know what he's paying for. And don't forget those poll taxes are due when issued and must be paid to avoid a summons by July 25.

BASEBALL TOMORROW

Winchester Town Team will have another strong opponent tomorrow afternoon when the local boys will hook up on Manchester Field with the Gate of Heaven nine of south Boston. Manager Farrell's ponies lost a tough battle last Saturday to the Woburn City Club but those who were present at the game were well satisfied the locals were not outclassed. Winchester is out to win tomorrow and in an effort to strengthen his club Manager Farrell has been busy this week signing new talent.

George Smith, all Mystic Valley pitcher of Watertown High, will pitch tomorrow with "Tom" Martin catching. Manteno, all Mystic third base choice, is down to play the hot corner and there will be one new high class outfielder.

There is no dissatisfaction with the work of "Olio" Lee, but the latter's new playground job makes Saturday baseball for him rather problematical from now on.

Aside from the changes mentioned above the local nine will take the field as it did against the City Club. Game starts at 3:15 p. m. Buy a tag.

Shortly after 5:30 Tuesday afternoon while engaged in a good natured scuffle with some of his friends Charles McKenna of Stoneham, an employee of the Winchester Laundries Division, stuck his arm through the rear window of a Whippet coach, parked near the laundry plant. He sustained a bad gash on the arm which required the services of Dr. Milton J. Quinn.

WINCHESTER'S FOURTH BIG DAY

Huge Bonfire Featured Night Before—Sports, Band Concerts and Fire-works on Holiday—Murphy Won Special Mile Race

Winchester's first Fourth of July celebration under the direction of the local Legion Post was successful from the standpoint of providing plenty of activity throughout the night before and during the entire holiday. Handicapped by uncertain weather conditions it is not likely that the big carnival proved as successful financially as the Legionaires had hoped, though the various booths on Manchester Field were on the whole well patronized.

The official celebration started at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening when the carnival booths opened and dancing began on the platform at the northern end of the playground. Cullen's six-piece orchestra furnished music for the dancing which continued until midnight. Spotlights were set up to flood the dance floor, the entire effect being very novel.

The night before crowd was somewhat smaller than would have been the case had the weather been warmer. Shortly before midnight the crowd left the field for the town dump where at 12 o'clock the monster 40 foot bonfire was lighted in the presence of about 4000 people.

Traffic Officer Edward O'Connell who was on duty at Railroad avenue estimated that more than 200 automobiles went past him to the dump by way of the shore road. There were several traffic jams but no accidents were reported.

Following the bonfire several aerial bombs were set off, arousing much glee or indignation according to whether or not the listeners happened to have retired for slumber.

Police officials reported the night before as very quiet and orderly. The crowd was well behaved and there was no sign of rowdiness.

Early in the morning of the holiday Patrolmen James E. Farrell, John Boyle and Joseph Derro took into custody on Washington street, four Woburn motorists whom they locked up, charged with driving while under the influence of liquor and drunkenness. At headquarters the men gave their names as John Tenney, Patrick Grallon, Edward Haley and Patrick Durant. All were admitted to bail and appeared in the District Court at Woburn this morning.

The firemen had little to bother them, a single false alarm being pulled in from Box 411 at 3:55 Thursday morning. Chief David H. DeCourcy took the Chief's car to the bonfire as an emergency measure, but there was nothing to mar the enjoyment of the latter event.

On the holiday morning the booths opened early, but the crowd did not begin to put in an appearance until time for the field sports which opened about 10:30.

Most of the events on the sports program were well contested and very interesting, the finishes in the girls' races especially being unusually close.

Interspersing the races there was an open air vaudeville show for the children at the dance platform with clowns, a punch and judy and a magician to keep the crowd in an uproar. Ice cream was also distributed to the youngsters.

The feature race of the forenoon was the open mile for which a good field was entered. The contest soon narrowed to a three cornered fight among Henry McCormick and Harold Ambrose of Winchester High and Richard Murphy of Grinnell College, ex-high school athlete.

McCormick set the pace for much of the way with Murphy running easily in second place. On the final lap the latter passed McCormick to win by seven yards in 5 minutes and 20 seconds. Ambrose, who thought there was another lap to run, started his sprint too late to catch the leaders and finished third.

Other noteworthy efforts were Roger Newell's win in the senior 100-yard dash and Josephine deFillippo's victory in the egg and spoon. Both winners outclassed their fields.

Two of the most exciting races were the 40 yards dash and potato race for girls. Edna Hanlon won a close victory from Mabel Foley in the dash while the victory of Anna Colucci over Julia Luongo in the potato scramble was hairline. It was unfortunate in this event that Beatrice Mills was obliged to run her final race immediately after winning the third heat. She was obviously tired and could do no better than third in the race for prizes.

The summary of events follows:

Sack Race for Boys—1st, Fred McCormick; 2nd, Jack Hanlon; 3rd, Robert Donaghey.

Three-Leaved Race for Boys—1st, Norman Dalrymple; 2nd, Robert Donaghey; 3rd, Jack Hanlon.

100 Yards Dash (senior)—1st, Roger Newell; W. H. S.; 2nd, Kenneth West; W. H. S.; 3rd, Neil Kerzian; W. H. S. Time, 10/4.5s.

MAHONEY—RENNERT

Miss Alice Rennert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick I. Rennert of 69 Mystic Valley Parkway, and Charles Anthony Mahoney of 26 Beacon street, Woburn, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Mahoney, were quietly married Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock in the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. S. Winchester Adriance of this town.

Miss Rennert was attended by her sister, Miss Viola Rennert of Winchester, and Mr. Mahoney had for his best man his cousin, Charles Augustus Mahoney of Woburn.

The bride wore a gown of pale green chiffon and velvet, carrying a bouquet of valley lilies and butterfly roses. Her maid of honor wore green and yellow chiffon and carried tea roses with baby's breath.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony, the young couple being assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Rennert. The house decorations were multi-colored cut flowers attractively arranged against a background of ferns and palms.

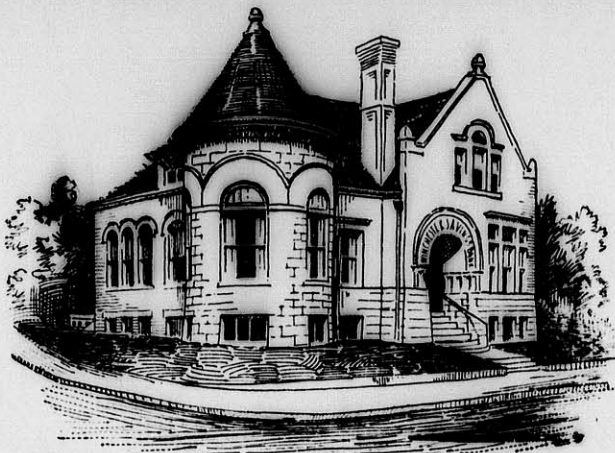

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Mahoney left for a honeymoon to be spent motoring through northern New England and Canada. Their future home is to be made in Winchester.

The bride is a graduate of the Winchester High School and attended Wheaton College before being graduated from Simmons College with the class of 1927. Mr. Mahoney was graduated from Woburn High School and attended the Museum School of Fine Arts in Boston. He is now associated with the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

Tuesday was New Year's Day for Winchester Rotary Club. Our recently elected board of officers entered upon their duties, and nearly all of our members who were in town were present to greet them. There was a notable lack of visitors, however, which doubtless was due to the fact that the date of our meeting was changed for this week only.

A letter from the Winchester Tuberculosis Committee was received and read at this meeting. The summer camp for undernourished children which is conducted by this body is well underway. This is one of the most worthy undertakings in which our citizens have interested themselves, and our Rotarians are heartily in sympathy with it. We sincerely hope that still more citizens will avail themselves of the opportunity presented, to play the part of the good Samaritan.

We had as our guest at this meeting Mr. Dwight B. Hill, Commissioner of Boy Scouting in Winchester. Mr. Hill very kindly addressed us, giving a brief outline of the Boy Scout organization, and telling us what the Winchester boys have accomplished.

Few activities have been of so much value to our youth as the Boy Scout troops. The movement as a whole is in a most flourishing condition and membership is increasing rapidly. It is not a military body, although some of the training is along military lines. It is chiefly concerned with instilling into the youthful mind every precept which will properly influence the boy in his physical and moral development and care is taken to see that opportunity is given for the practical application of these precepts. The result has been that these boys who have received this training have been practically free from those errors and offenses against society which are common to the period of adolescence.

This work is of particular interest to Rotarians. At a later date, there will be an announcement from our club in regard to our program for the local troop of Scouts.

Our next meeting will convene at the regular time, Thursday, July 11. A welcome awaits all.

Charles F. Ridgway of 37 Bodland street, Boston, was found guilty in the District Court at Woburn Monday morning of operating a car while under the influence of liquor and drunkenness. Ridgway was arrested at 8:30 Saturday evening on Washington street at Swanton street, while driving a Hupmobile sedan, by Patrolman James E. Farrell of the Police Department. The defendant was fined $50 on the two counts.

Where Customers Receive Courteous Attention

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

If mayhap sometimes a Winchesterite finds a thistle,
Pray do not turn away in rage and scorn;
For where'er roses flame and blue birds whistle,
There will be swooping hawks and wreaths or thorn;
Oh, there are sorrows in each life adorning,
But there are smiles that shine through vales of tears,
As every night must give way to the morning,
Down through the swinging pendulum of the years.

Conceding on the one hand that there is frivolous by many of Winchester's younger set, it is held that many more see beyond the cigaret. As for dress and spooning—so's your old buggy ride.

There are 3867 kinds of lunatics, including the one who thinks horn-toting will clear up a traffic jam in Winchester square.

One Winchester fellow used to call his wife an angel, but he doesn't any more. He says he has found out the difference: angels do not care anything about dresses.

Overheard in Winchester Square
"Yes, sir, that fellow is a hypocrite, if there ever was one. While professing the warmest friendship for me, he was a whole year stabbing me in the back, and I never knew it."
Wonder what kind of a back that fellow's got?

There is a certain man here in Winchester who practices much self-denial. He is constantly denying his own statements.

Life in and out of Winchester has little after all.
But our own strength to bear it.
And with our brothers when they fall
To lift their load and share it.

"Before we were married," said a Winchester club-woman, "his displays of affection were positively overdone, and now they are very rare."

A Winchester literary fellow of our acquaintance has given up prose and is going to devote himself to poetry hereafter. That is to say, he is going from bad to verse.

"O, where does beauty linger?" demands the aforementioned poet. As a usual thing she lingers in some other room until her mother has cleaned up the kitchen.

A cynical Winchesterite says woman is a good deal like the accordion. You can draw her out, but she "makes music" if you attempt to shut her up.

A question recently agitated a group of veranda sitters. It was whether the harmonica is a musical instrument or a toy. Which seems to us a good deal like debating whether an oyster is a fruit or a vegetable.

Important matters will come before the council meeting to be held Monday, July 8. We will have an exemplification of the First Degree. All members should attend.

The Massachusetts State Council, Knights of Columbus, extends an invitation to all students and others interested in literary and dramatic development to participate in a competition to be held under its auspices, having for its objective the depicting of the scenes and episodes prior to concurrent with and subsequent to the voyage of Columbus and his discovery of America. Those who desire to enter this competition should indicate their intention by writing to State Deputy John E. Swift, Knights of Columbus Headquarters, 120 Boylston street, Boston.

Fifteen decorated automobiles full of local Legionnaires and their friends spent last Saturday evening in an extensive out-of-town advertising campaign for the big "Whoopie" carnival which the Post staged at Manchester Field on the "Night Before" and during the holiday. The occupants of the machines were armed with red flares, torpedoes and megaphones to the end that everywhere crowds were attracted by the flying squadron. The route of the party included Woburn, Stoneham, Reading, Wakefield, Melrose Highlands, Melrose, Malden, Medford, West Medford, Arlington and return to Winchester.

WOBURN CITY CLUB EDGED WINCHESTER IN EXTRA INNING GAME

Cail and Lee in Mound Duel—Whitaker Starred Afield

Woburn City Club won a thrilling 7 to 6, 10-inning baseball game from the Winchester Town Team last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field. With the weather a bit uncertain at game time there was a scanty attendance and those who stayed at home missed an exciting battle. It was any one's contest all the way.

Winchester's "Olio" Lee deserved a kinder fate. He held the heavy hitting visitors to 8 bingles while the locals were blasting the veteran "Art" Cail's delivery for 13 safeties. Cail, however, was very good in the pinches and got better support than Winchester vouchsafed its kid right hander. Two of the visitors' tallies were the direct result of sloppy outfield play and there were other times when heads-up ball might have cut off runs.

The locals had plenty of opportunity but couldn't connect when the runs were on the sacks. The big break of the game came in the 7th when Winchester lost two runs as "Harpy" Fitzgerald was hit by a batted ball from his brother's war club while running from second to third.

Woburn wasted no time. "Bobby" Burns, first man up, walked and was sacrificed to second by Shea, Lee getting the assist. Snyder singled into center, scoring Burns. Connolly hoisted to Halwartz and Keating rapped to Whitaker, Walter tagging out Snyder on the baseline.

Winchester evened the count in its half. Halwartz singled to center and Dolan sacrificed him to second, Cail making the assist. When Shea lost Whitaker's grounder Halwartz scored and Walter stole second. "Jim" Fitzgerald grounded to Burns and was out at first, Whitaker being doubled at third, trying to steal, Doherty to Keating.

The locals went into the lead in the second when "Nicky" Fitzgerald blasted a long fly to far centerfield and made the circuit when Cuneo fell down while trying to catch the ball. In the fourth Woburn went out in front. After Whitaker had thrown out Keating Lee hit Doherty, but "Joey" was erased at second on Carey's rap to Dolan, Whitaker getting the put-out. A double play was in the making but Walter's arm is not so hot these days and "Maxey" beat his soft throw to first. Carey went right down and was safe when Martin pegged into centerfield. Fitzgerald was asleep at the switch and "Max" dashed for third, beating "Harpy's" late peg. Lee dusted off Cuneo and the latter went right down. Cail's single past third scored Carey but the scoring should have stopped there. Burns popped an easy fly into left and when the usually reliable Frank Vallely dropped the ball Cuneo counted. With second and third occupied Shea blasted what looked like at least a double into left center. "Fitzzy" however, started with the crack of the bat and gathered in the ball on the run, a life-saving clutch.

Woburn got a cheap one in the 6th when Flaherty, who had replaced Vallely in left, misjudged Carey's fly and the hit went for a home run. The locals got one back in the 7th and might have won the ball game, but for a bad break. Burns threw out Lee for a starter, but Halwartz was hit by a pitched ball and stole second. Dolan fanned, but Whitaker singled through shortstop to advance Halwartz and "Jim" Fitzgerald was up. Cail wouldn't give "Harpy" a good one, but the big Tufts first sacker reached away out and literally placed a single past Doherty, scoring Halwartz and sending Whitaker to third. "Fitzzy" went down and Whitaker had a great chance to score when Snyder rained a slow throw to second. With "Harpy's" great bulk between Shea and the plate an accurate return throw would have been next to impossible, but Walter held his base. "Nick" Fitzgerald hit between Burns and Keating what would have been a single, good for two runs, but the ball hit brother James as he ran along the baseline, retiring the side for the big break of the matinee.

Woburn scored in the 8th. With one away Cail doubled to center and when Fitzgerald's peg to third got away from Halwartz, advanced to third. Burns rapped sharply to Whitaker, who held Cail at third and then threw into the dirt at first, giving the batter a life and permitting the Woburn pitcher to tally. Burns was out stealing, Martin to Whitaker and "Bill" O'Connell took Shea's hoist in right.

Winchester staged a rally in the 9th. Carey made a wonderful running catch of Lee's bid for a hit along the left field foul line, but Halwartz singled to left and reached second when Dolan worked Cail for a pass. Both runners advanced while Shea was throwing out Whitaker and once again "Fitzzy" was up in the pinch. The big boy meant business, but had no chance to hit as Cail kept the ball away from the alley and finally hit "Harpy" to fill the sacks. There was plenty of excitement when "Nicky" Fitzgerald's grounder went through Keating at third to score Halwartz and Dolan, but O'Connell took a called third strike to end the frame. With one away in the 10th Carey of Woburn singled to left and stole second. Cuneo's single to right advanced the runner and the "Sheik" went right down. Cail topped one and the ball rolled along the third base line. Halwartz tried to head off Carey at the plate and when Martin lost his throw both "Max" and Cuneo counted. Whitaker threw out Burns and Halwartz tossed out Shea.

Winchester's last ditch rally fell one run shy. Flaherty fouled to Keating, but Martin slapped one into center which hopped badly to smack Carey on the temple. "Maxey" was very groggy, but gamely recovered the ball in time to hold Martin at second. "Olio" Lee came through gloriously in the pinch with a line single into center to score Martin and made second on the throw in. The tying run was on, but Halwartz struck out and Keating tossed out Dolan to end the game.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Winthrop Dolan of Granville, Ohio, who was graduated from the Winchester High School in 1924, has been elected to membership in the honorary scholastic fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa, at the end of his junior year at Denison University.

Ex-Commodore Sydney Beggs' yacht, Ruwenda V, won the Class R, 20-Rating, 7 1/2-mile race over a wind blown course at the Eastern Yacht Club, Marblehead, last Saturday afternoon. The race was one of the prettiest of the afternoon, developing into a real fight for honors between Commodore Beggs' yacht and the Menace IV, owned by Raymond Hunt. Many boats, entered for competition during the afternoon failed to put in an appearance because of the high wind.

We have them, the Kant Klog salt and pepper caster sets, at the Star office.

The Fire Department was notified by phone from the Metropolitan Garage last Friday evening that an electric car was on fire on Main street in front of its building. A piece of apparatus responded and put out the fire with only slight damage.

Mr. Alden H. Symmes will sail on the 28th of this month on the new motor ship St. Louis for an extended trip abroad. He will go with the Advertising Club of Boston to attend the convention of the International Advertising Clubs of the World, which will be held in Berlin, Germany. In making the trip Mr. Symmes will tour England and Scotland, Holland and Belgium, and Germany and France. He expects to return about the middle of September.

Henry Knowlton and Paul Kendrick, recently appointed supervisors at Palmer street and Leonard Field playgrounds, have tendered their resignations to the Park Department. In their places the department has appointed Robert Lee, crack high school pitcher and football player, and Lemert Clark, a former varsity football player at Winchester High.

Mr. Frederick Alexander of this town, a junior at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, returned last week from a cruise in the tropics on the S.S. San Blas of the United Fruit line.

Mr. Daniel B. Badger of Prospect street was a member of the committee in charge of the outing sponsored by the Old Schoolboys' Association of Boston and held last week at Salem Willows.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick N. Pierce of Wellesley are the parents of a daughter, born June 28. Mrs. Pierce was before her marriage Miss Marion Nichols and is the elder daughter of Tax Collector and Mrs. Nathaniel M. Nichols of this town.

The men of the Park Department have completed the work of resurfacing the running track on Manchester Field. The track is now in the best condition since its installation. Everyone can assist in keeping the oval in good shape by refraining from digging it up while loafing about the playground.

An Oakland touring car, owned and operated by Walter H. Knight of 29 Winslow avenue, Somerville, and a Ford truck, owned by Carter & Young Company of Winchester and driven by Thomas Lynch of 9 Grove place, were in collision on Bacon street at Ravenscroft road last Saturday evening. Both machines were damaged but no one was reported injured.

Mr. Charles A. Gleason, well known real estate man of this town, as chairman of the important post-convention trips committee, was a busy man during the 22nd annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards which closed with a general session in the Hotel Statler last Friday.

TO ENJOY EUROPEAN TRIP

Mr. William N. Beggs, son of Mrs. William E. Beggs of 6 Madison avenue, and Mr. Allen Gleason of Arlington sailed from Montreal on the Duchess of Atholl, July 3, for England. After a week in London they will cross to the continent visiting Germany, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Switzerland and France. Following an extended stay in Paris they will sail from Cherbourg arriving home about Sept. 1.

Mr. Beggs has just completed his second year at Boston University School of Law and was recently initiated into the National Fraternity of Phi Delta Phi. Mr. Gleason is a teacher of English at Kent School, Kent, Conn.

TOZIER FISHING PARTY HAD FINE LUCK

A party headed by Dr. Charles H. Tozier has returned from a most enjoyable fishing trip to Northern Ontario, sponsored by the Canadian Pacific Railroad.

The fishermen were accompanied by an official of the railroad and by a camera-man who took still and moving pictures of the party's activities. The films will undoubtedly be shown at the Sportsman's Show in the fall. Among the Winchester sportsmen in the party were H. Wadsworth Hight and son, Donald; Waldo Hart, Jerome W. Gates and Doctor Tozier.

Prof. William N. Morse of the Department of Dramatics at Tufts College who has been living on Fairmount street during the past year is to take up residence, this fall, in West Medford where he has purchased a home. He is to spend the summer at Grey Rocks, Amherst.

It is reported that the so called white pine borer has been very active and has done considerable damage to the young evergreens which the Town has set out on the watershed about the reservoirs. The borers get into the leaders of the small trees, causing them to die or making removal imperative. The trees, while not destroyed by the borer, are disfigured by its activities.

An outstanding feature of the Special and Advanced Six Coupes (both of which have big rumble seats in the rear deck) is the Twin-Ignition motor. These larger models also have the famous Bijur centralized chassis lubrication, and hydraulic shock absorbers (Lovejoy and Houdaille).

All "400" models are fully factory equipped with front and rear bumpers, hydraulic shock absorbers, spare tire lock and tire cover. In your delivered price there's not a dollar added to the factory price for these features.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Any man who boasts of his ancestry admits a shortage of his own virtues.

He who abuses others must not be too particular about the abuses he receives.

A man cannot leave a better legacy to the world than a well educated family.

All people should guard their thoughts for they may break into words at anytime.

When you argue with a fool, be sure he isn't similarly occupied.

The new Baptist Church, now that it is in clear and full view to passing traffic, is coming in for great admiration. Winchester has some handsome churches, not omitting the grand old edifice on the Congregational Hill, but the committee and architect who planned the new Baptist edifice certainly are to be congratulated.

It is to be hoped that our Selectmen, in installing new signal lights to govern traffic about town, will give consideration to the proper height of such signs. Low signal lights, easily hidden by cars and trucks, are very prevalent and more than annoying to drivers. Not long ago we were held up in a neighboring city for passing a newly installed light. No driver, unless one having previous knowledge of the light, could have seen it, for it was completely hidden by a parked truck. If traffic signals could be installed of a uniform height which would clear the top of the average sedan, it would greatly aid in insuring proper signal observance.

The general trend in some town departments to run municipal affairs to suit their own convenience in one instance and to change long established customs to conform strictly with what the law permits in another, is in great contrast with the methods of present day business firms in simplifying and clarifying their methods of dealing with the public and their customers. It seems a backward step rather than maintaining progress, and while history has it that a celebrated citizen once made a famous remark to the effect that the public be damned, it has long since been proven that he was mistaken. If our Collector of Taxes had received from the Board of Assessors the names of minors for who he billed poll taxes to their parents, he would have so specified. He can hardly be blamed for omitting the names if they are not furnished him. Likewise he has a very reasonable excuse for not selling property condemned for unpaid taxes if he cannot secure its description from the Assessors. And still likewise a disgruntled taxpayer cannot be blamed if he gets huffy when he cannot learn when this same board meets for abatement discussion. In years gone by, simple business was a complicated thing, no doubt, but in this enlightened age the public likes some consideration to say the least—especially when it is their own business.

Complaint of the mosquito nuisance will undoubtedly create enough sentiment to provide an adequate fund next March to make a start in this town in combating this pest. This should be. In a small way, as comparison of the whole, our Waterway's Committee has done considerable in clearing out breeding places along the northwest section, but much remains to be done. With our extensive ponds and the river flowing through from one end to the other, it is high time we undertook some systematic method in handling the mosquito. No better way can be devised than to turn the matter over to the Waterway's Committee and provide that body with funds to handle the situation as it proceeds with its plans for clearing and beautifying our waterways. Winchester has never been so over-run with mosquitoes. This whole section is so infested that outdoor recreation during the evening hours is a trial rather than a pleasure. On Mystic Lake, which today is Winchester's chief water asset from a standpoint of beauty and pleasure, the mosquitoes are so bad that use of the lakes during evening hours is practically abandoned. Our residents are having the desirability of the improvement to them very forcibly this summer, and while the scourge will not be present next March, it seems as though the memory must. Bear this in mind when appropriations for town improvements are made.

Valuable Invention

Ell Whitney patented his famous invention, the cotton gin, on March 14, 1794. This machine separated the seed from the cotton. Soon after the invention the output of cotton was about thirty times greater than it formerly was.

Must Watch His Weight

A weasel, since much of his time is spent in traversing tunnels of rats and mice, to the terror of all the inmates, must never grow fat, says Nature Magazine. His welfare depends on a long slender body.

A brisk southwest wind blew away the clouds for the afternoon program and a big crowd was on hand for the whippet races which got under way about 3:15 over a course laid out along the first base foul line in front of the baseball bleachers. The dogs ran in lanes at great speed, the event proving very interesting. The holiday marked the first time whippets have run in Winchester.

Three heats and a semi-final were necessary to reduce the field for the final race which was won in fast time by Gherka, owned by S. R. Eddington of Boston. Annie Laurie, owned by Bayard Tuckerman of Hamilton was second and Diana, owned by G. W. Brookfield of Canton, third. P. T. Foley, Arthur Cameron and W. Allan Wilde were judges.

More than a dozen entries added interest to the doll carriage contest and this event was one of the real features of the day. Little Julia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Gibbons of Wendell street won first prize, dressed as a yellow chicken and trundling a cleverly conceived miniature chicken coop. Janet Hanlon, daughter of Patrolman and Mrs. John E. Hanlon, with a patriotic carriage, decorated to depict Uncle Sam took second prize. Norma, Leo and Barbara Haley tied for third prize and fourth went to the contest's only boy, David Goodwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Goodwin, who rode a tricycle and was dressed as a butterfly. The judges for the doll carriage contest were Mrs. W. Allan Wilde, Mrs. Allen H. Wood, Jr., Mrs. Sewall Dunton and Miss Elizabeth Robertson.

A party of 50 disabled veterans from the Veterans' Hospital at Bedford were special guests of Winchester Post during the afternoon, occupying seats on the bleachers. They were transported to and from the hospital in automobiles by members of the Disabled Veterans' Group under the direction of Mrs. George Dutton. Among those who drove cars were Mrs. Lillian Simon, Mrs. Charles Corey, Mrs. R. K. Miller, Mrs. Caroline Dresser, Miss Evelyn Toppa and Miss Marjorie Wood.

The high wind interfered considerably with the model airplane contests and it was finally necessary to judge the planes by excellence of construction. Several were wrecked while trying to stay aloft.

First prize for indoor models was won by Robert Millican with Fred Philbrick, second.

In the contest for outdoor models, sponsored by Jordan's Junior Aviation League, the winners were as follows: 1st, Nathan Markowitz of Boston; 2nd, Arthur Kronfeld of Arlington; 3rd, Peter Craice of Roxbury; and 4th Sidney Hobbs of Brookline. Kronfeld succeeded in getting his plane to stay aloft for some little time before it finally fell in the Aberjona. Arthur Cameron and W. Allan Wilde served as judges.

Dancing was enjoyed on the platform behind the backstop during the afternoon and an excellent band concert was played by the Winchester Post Band. The program follows:

March "Invercarigill" Litrow
Selection "The Fortune Teller" Herbert
Overture "Lustful" Keler, Bela
Concert Waltz "Italian Nights" Tobani
March "First Regiment Band"

Intermission

March "Independence" Hall
Selections "Woodland" Leaders Waltz "Old Times"
Overture "Poet and Peasant" Von Suppe
March "Washington Grays"
The Star Spangled Banner

The police detail at the field was in charge of Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy and comprised Patrolmen Archie O'Connell, Daniel Kelley, Edward O'Connell, John Boyle, John Murray, John Hogan and Charles Harrold.

The usual large crowd was on hand for the evening band concert and fireworks, both of which were unusually good. The Parkway and streets about the center were lined with cars and the playground was black with people. The fireworks display included many fine set pieces and the customary rockets and bombs.

The evening program by the band was:

March "Post, 97, American Legion" Selection "Prince of Pilsen" Leaders
Popular Selections
(a) "Where the Shy Little Violets Grow"
(b) "Precious Little Thing Called Love"
(c) "Happy Humming Bird" Overture "William Tell" Rossini
Popular Selections
(a) "Mean to Me"
(b) "Weary River"
(c) "Down Among the Sugar Cane"
Concert Waltz "The Flowers of Italy" DeStafano

During the evening Comdr. W. Allan Wilde of the Legion presented the prizes to the various winners of the day's sporting events at the band stand. Dancing was enjoyed on the platform at the field.

WOBBURN BOY DROWNED IN WINTER POND

The first drowning accident of the summer in Winchester took place Tuesday afternoon when Ralph Bonnell, 18-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Bonnell of 20 Water street, Woburn, lost his life while swimming in Winter Pond.

Bonnell went to the pond with some younger boys and was swimming off the north point about 30 feet from the shore when he gave a warning cry and sank. His companions were unable to help him and their cries for assistance brought Harry H. Mathews of 6 Upland road to the scene. Mathews is unable to swim but waded into the water as far as possible, being just able to reach the struggling young man. He was unable to maintain his grip upon Bonnell and to save himself was forced to retrace his way to shore.

He notified police headquarters of the accident and Sergt. William H. Rogers with Patrolman James P. Donaghey hastened to Winter Pond in the police car. Meanwhile Chief of Police William R. McIntosh notified the Fire Department and Deputy Chief John J. Gorman with Firemen Alexander MacKenzie, Frank Duffy and Fred Fitzgerald responded with the department's life saving boat on the wire car.

When the firemen arrived Bonnell had sunk from view. The boat was quickly launched and rowed to the spot where the young man was last seen. The men were about to commence grappling when John E. Morgan of 28 Pond street offered to dive for the youth. On his first attempt young Morgan, who is an expert swimmer, brought Bonnell to the surface and the work of resuscitation was commenced at once under the direction of Dr. Richard W. Sheehy.

For more than an hour the doctor with Sergeant Rogers, Deputy Chief Gorman and the police and firemen worked upon the young man in an effort to revive him. Albert Jones of the Edison Light Company also assisted in the work.

Bonnell had been in the water for about 15 minutes and all efforts to revive him failed. During the fight to save his life Medical Examiner Vernon C. Stewart of Woburn arrived at the pond and finally pronounced the young man dead of accidental drowning. The body was taken in charge by Undertaker E. P. Sullivan of Winchester and later returned to Woburn for funeral arrangements.

Ralph Bonnell was a popular member of the Sonhomore Class at the Woburn High School and was to commence his junior year in September. It is reported that he had not been in the best of health and had been confined for some weeks in a hospital with injuries sustained in an automobile accident. Besides a younger brother, Harold, he is survived by his parents who were prostrated at the news of their son's tragic death.

DONALD HARRISON MEEK

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Meek of Park road have the sympathy of their many friends in the loss of their two year old son, Donald Harrison Meek, who died June 29 at the Winchester Hospital. The little boy's brother, Charles W. Meek, Jr., with three of the latter's friends, Lawrence Stewart, Thomas Donaghey and Robert McTague served as bearers at the funeral which was held Monday morning in the Church of the Epiphany with the pastor, Rev. Truman Hemmings officiating. Burial was in Wildwood.

"There's a home for little children
Where Jesus reigns in glory,
A home of peace and joy.
So home on earth is like it,
Or can with it compare.
For everyone is happy,
Nor could be happier there."

Intelligent Locusts

The locusts are the only living beings that "have made the world safe for democracy." They are the only one who have actually learned the secret of co-operation. They have absolutely no overhead charges. They do not have to support a king, nor pay a horde of professional politicians and government officials to manage them, while they themselves do the work. By some masterly system of "get-together" they perfect an excellent organization without leadership, and without internal dissension. That is more than any collection of human beings has ever been able to accomplish.

How to Get Into Print

When we tell somebody that if we had sufficient money we'd stop writing, the invariable comment is, "Oh, you might stop for a little while, but you'd be at it again soon." Maybe so, but maybe we couldn't get anything printed. Well, if we had to get our name in print again, if the urge were too strong, we know what we'd do. We'd write one of those Letters to the Editor—of any paper at all. The letter would begin, "I wish to express my appreciation of your editorial."—F. P. A., in New York World.

"Tell her," interrupted the busy manager, "that she simply didn't come up to scratch."

A few minutes later the boy returned to the office once again.

GLIDING AND SAIL FLYING

The crashing of a sail plane which killed its driver, Ferdinand Schulz, world record holder for a motorless flight, attracts sad but dramatic attention to Germany's quick advance in the comparatively new art of gliding.

A recent communication to the National Geographic Society by Howard Siepen describes this new chapter in man's conquest of the air.

School Boys Flying Recruits
In Germany today hundreds of school boys are flying. The Society correspondent writes, Three thousand took official instructions in 1928. To understand fully the rise and amazing growth of Germany's gliding machines, one must look back—back to the pioneer makers of airplanes. The Wright Brothers, for example, and Lilienthal made their first aerial dashes in gliders. Then grew the idea of applying an engine with propeller to drive the glider.

So successful have motor driven aircraft become, however, that the world's attention has been largely diverted from air travel by simple gliders. For nearly two decades only a few enthusiasts kept the art alive; but today, due to amazing increase in air commerce, man is more interested than ever in the air as an element—in that soft, light, flexible medium through which his flying ships must sail. So now the vast overhead aerial ocean, its whims and its peculiarities, afford a new and fascinating subject of study.

Handicaps Now Are Aids
Already, from more recent adventures in gliding machines, it appears that man is coming to share what birds have always known about the air. He finds it will support him, as water carries a swimmer, if he will but handle his glider wings as soaring birds handle theirs. Even wind gusts, squalls, and clouds, which pioneer experimenters with gliders used to dread, are now recognized as useful aids to motorless flying craft.

Between gliding and what they call "sail flying" the Germans make a sharp distinction. During a glide the plane steadily loses altitude till it lands. A "sail flight," on the contrary, is one in which the machine, while pointing downward, is lifted by upward air currents, and thus either maintains or increases its elevation.
For training a beginner in flying the simple glider is used; but it is the sail plane which actually flies. In build it is more sensitive than a simple glider and capable of responding to vertical air currents.

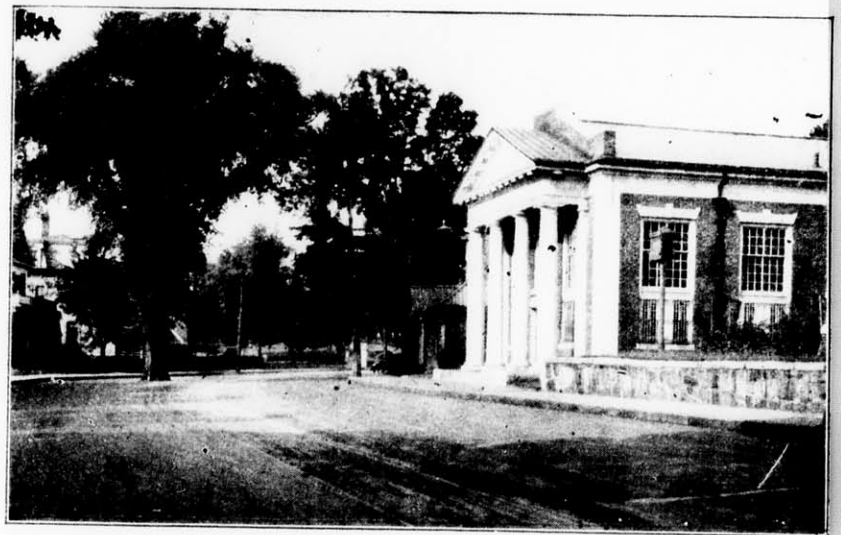

Long Wings Feature Planes
Flying a plane with no motor in it seems less miraculous to the man on the ground when he hears how it is built. The conspicuous feature of the sail plane is its very long, narrow wings—sometimes as much as 59 feet in length and less than five feet in width. Narrow the wings must be, for broad ones would create too many eddies, and long they must be to provide the surface to lift a man's weight.

While simple gliders often start merely by sliding or being dragged down a hill side, so light in structure is the sail plane that were it started slowly it would only tumble about like thistledown in the wind and get at once out of control. Hence, in launching, an elastic rope device is used, which shoots the plane into the air like a stone from a sling.

Earth's Gravity Is Glider's Engine
The pilot must maintain this speed by pressing down the nose of the plane, which decreases the angle of the tilt of the wings. The earth's gravity will then draw the plane downward in a gently slanting line of flight, which is called a glide. Thus the gravity of the earth is the engine of the engineless airplane.
Speed, of course, is a prime factor in motorless flying; the faster the airman can glide, the quicker he can get from one vertical air column to the next. Sometimes, to get from one such column to the next, he has to glide against a strong wind. Hence there are "low-wind" and "strong-wind" machines.

So, then, speed, gliding figure, and sinking velocity are the three factors in the ideal sail plane. So far, the Germans have found it practically impossible to combine these three factors perfectly in any one plane. It is still a battle between the aero-dynamical best and the technically possible.
Germany's special interest in motorless flying has been attributed in part to the fact that under the original provisions of the Versailles Treaty certain restrictions were placed upon the nation's aircraft development; so that her air-minded students perforce turned to the study and development of engineless flight.

The present world's record for a flight with one passenger, made by Ferdinand Schulz, is 3 hours and 21 minutes. He flew with Heinz Reichardt like a shuttlecock between Rosaiten and Pillokopen, two villages on the coast of East Prussia.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

During the summer months we have discontinued our regular business meetings, but will resume on the second Thursday of September. Watch the Star for further announcement.

On Thursday, July 18, the members of the local branch and their friends will commute by motor coaches to Salem Willows for the annual Guild outing. The affair is in charge of an able committee who are making plans for the enjoyment of all who attend. Sentinel B. Young is chairman of this committee and all reservations should be made by communicating with her direct. This outing is not limited to members, but anyone interested in Guild affairs or acquainted with the Guild members is most welcome. Games and other amusements will be arranged to suit all tastes.

It was the consensus of opinion of all those who attended last year's outing that such a good time was had that this year we should have our outing earlier in the year so that weather permitting there might be opportunity for a second one.

About 100 members were in the party and thoroughly enjoyed an old-fashioned clam bake, followed by "skeet" shooting which is a form of trap shooting. The editor of the "National Sportsman" was in direct charge of the sport and Mr. Henry had the honor of being the high scorer, breaking 42 of the clay pigeons out of a possible 50.

Chairman Edmund C. Sanderson of the Water and Sewer Board informed the Star that he expects by next week that Winchester will be connected with the Metropolitan high pressure water system at Bear Hill through the Town of Stoneham. The new connection is the third which the Town has made, previous ones having been completed with Arlington and in two places with Woburn.

A group of Winchester fishermen spent last Saturday enjoying their favorite sport at York Beach, Me. Mr. Simon Delorey of Salem street was the winner of the prize for the largest fish caught during the outing. Motorcycle Officer "Eddie" O'Connell's luck was distinctly not so good. Many a speeder undoubtedly wishes he could have the same good fortune in avoiding "Eddie" as did the fish.

Miss Marion Henderson of Cabot street, a graduate of the Winchester High School, has been appointed a teacher in the public schools of Newton. For the past three years Miss Henderson has been teaching in Waltham.

Winchester friends of George Salver who was graduated from Dartmouth this June will be glad to learn that he was one of the seniors admitted to the Dartmouth chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa honorary scholastic fraternity. Salver was prominent in student activities during his four years at Hanover, serving as student manager of the Dartmouth "Players" the college dramatic society.

Mr. Herbert K. Miller, who has been attending the 11th annual conference of the Unitarian Young People's Religious Union at Star Island, Isle of Shoals, N. H., conducted the candle-light service last Sunday afternoon in the old stone church of Gosport. Mr. Miller is superintendent of the local Unitarian Sunday School and is active in church work here.

Elbridge Taylor of Bacon street has accepted a position for the summer at the Harbor Club, Seal Harbor, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward V. French are at Westville, N. H. where they will remain until the middle of September.

An interesting local feature has been brought to light in connection with the restoration of "Old Peppersass," the first locomotive to climb a mountain and the original engine of Mt. Washington Cog Railway. The railway was conceived and built by Sylvester Marsh of Littleton, N. H., whose family at one time lived in Winchester and whose daughter, Mrs. F. Patterson Smith, still makes her home here on Cambridge street. "Old Peppersass," after being lost for a quarter of a century, was found in the collection of President Daniel Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. The old upright, wood burning engine, somewhat resembling a donkey engine, has been renewed in the B. & O. shops and is to be displayed permanently at the Bretton Woods Station of the Boston & Maine Railroad.

TO TOUR EUROPE BY MOTOR

Word was received in Winchester this week of the arrival in Liverpool on Tuesday, July 2, of Mrs. Isaac E. Sexton of Wedgemere avenue with her daughter, Miss Helen Renfrew, and son, Edward W. Sexton.

The Sextons crossed the Atlantic on the White Star liner, Cedric, taking their automobile with them, and are to tour Scotland, England, France, Switzerland and Germany, returning from Cherbourg, Sept. 4 on the new steamship, Bremen.

Miss Helen Sexton was graduated in June from the Cambridge Haskell School while her brother received his S.B. degree at the recent Harvard commencement exercises. Mr. Sexton served as chairman of the Class Day Committee at Harvard and was one of the 1929 Class Marshals. With Arthur French, another Winchester boy who was First Marshal, he had the honor of leading the senior parade into the Stadium and was one of those to speak over the microphone to the huge throng assembled in the big concrete horseshoe for the Class Day exercises. He was socially prominent during his undergraduate career at Cambridge and was a member of the A. D., Phoenix, D. K. E. and Hasty Pudding Clubs. He is to enter the Graduate School of Business Administration at Harvard upon his return from Europe in the fall.

C. A. LANE RESIGNS OFFICE

"Charlie" Lane, it appears, was appointed scavenger for the Conomo Point Yacht Club last week. This job included among other things clearing up the wrecks and disabled boats during the weekly races. On Saturday, it may be recalled, there was a full gale, and the water made racing not only interesting but extremely hazardous. "Charlie" got his first job shortly after the race opened, when one boat lost its tiller about two miles out. According to his account he did not know of the trouble until his attention was called to the disabled boat, but he promptly responded, much to the detriment of his white flannels and parama. In fact by the time the two miles were covered he wished he had his bathing suit on. At any rate, he rescued the tiller, after extended search and took the disabled craft in tow. Before he reached the yacht club pier another boat parted a mast stay and slid over on the deck, giving him a good hour and a half of heavy and somewhat moist labor before it was pulled off. "Charlie" reports that he was highly commended upon his efficient work for the Star boys that he handed in his resignation then and there.

MADE NEW PRODUCTION RECORD AT BANES, CUBA

A recent announcement from the United Fruit Company states that John M. McKenzie, a former Winchester boy and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. McKenzie of Hemingway street, in his first year as production superintendent at Banes, Cuba, broke the world's record for the production of sugar in a so-called tandem mill.

Mr. McKenzie, or "Jack" as he is known to his many Winchester friends, has been for the past seven years in Cuba and previous to his appointment to the Banes post served the United Fruit Company as assistant manager of its Preston plant. He is a graduate of the Winchester High School and during his schoolboy days made an enviable reputation as an amateur athlete, later playing much semi-professional baseball throughout this district. Before joining the United Fruit organization in Cuba he was a student at Boston University. He is married and is spending his summer vacation in Winchester with his parents.

LORING AVENUE PLAYGROUND

The tennis tournament at Loring avenue was a splendid success. The first prizes went to Margery Poland and Harold Donovan. The consolation doubles were won by Kenneth Cullen and Mary Brown.

Next week a boys' and girls' doubles in classes according to age will be played.

Later there will be a tournament for the very little players as well as a croquet match and a baseball series.

Owing to the large numbers of autos at the playground every evening, Mrs. Elizabeth C. McDonald has petitioned the Selectmen to place a "Go Slow" sign at the junction of Hill street and Fitzgerald avenue.

INJURED WHEN AUTO CRASHED INTO BEACON

Miss Annie Kelley of Lowell sustained injuries which necessitated medical attention about 8:45 last Saturday morning when the Buick roadster in which she was riding south on Cambridge street crashed into the traffic beacon at the junction of Cambridge, Church and High streets.

The Buick was being operated by Mrs. Anna M. Hughes of Main street, Tewksbury, and the accident was caused, according to the police, when the latter swerved her machine sharply to avoid a collision with another automobile which went up High street towards Arlington.

Mrs. Hughes' car was wrecked and Miss Kelley was hurled through its windshield. She sustained several cuts about the head and a bad gash on the thigh. She was removed by Albert Lynch of Swanston street and Edward A. Walsh of Watertown to the Winchester Hospital where she was treated by Dr. Milton J. Quinn. After treatment she was taken to her home.

DONALD HARRISON MEEK

Donald Harrison Meek, 2-year old son of Charles W. and Sadie (McCulloch) Meek, died Saturday morning, June 29, at the Winchester Hospital after an illness of several weeks. Besides his parents the little boy is survived by three brothers. Funeral services were held in the Church of the Epiphany at 10 o'clock Monday morning with the Rector, Rev. Truman Hemmings officiating. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Radio Idea Old

Radio communication is not an invention, nor in reality a discovery. The theory was known long before anybody was able to apply it in practice. Numerous inventors were trying to devise apparatus that would make the theory work. For this reason, several different practical systems of wireless telegraphy appeared about the same time. Marconi had the good fortune to be first, but he distanced his nearest competitors by only a short time. It was only by accident that electrical communication by wire was perfected before electrical communication without wires, as both are implied in the electrical knowledge that preceded them, and inventors were working in both fields for many years before anybody in either group succeeded.

Criminals Only Sick?

Crime is a disease, and can be cured as easily as any other malady, in the view of Doctor Toulouse, a well-known surgeon of Paris. Study of the criminal will open roads to the doctor, who then will be able to apply his theory.

INDUSTRY IN WINCHESTER

In its issue of June 8, "Industry," published by the associated industries of Massachusetts, has the following interesting article regarding the history and progress of many Winchester industries:

As early as 1640-45 Edward Converse employed water power to drive his corn mill, in Winchester, and on the site of this enterprise other types of manufacture followed, mahogany being sawed in quantities, while veneers were cut in 1843 by Harrison Parker by machinery of his own invention. When his mill was burned in 1845, it was promptly rebuilt. Amos Whittemore installing therein one of the first machines for pegging shoes.

The Bacon Felt Co.

In 1825 Robert Bacon engaged in the manufacture of felt hats, at a location on the opposite side of the river from the site of the present mill of the Bacon Felt Co.

Some time during the first 25 years of operation, the making of felt hats was superseded by the manufacture of all-wool sheet felt for the wall paper trade, and for polishing marble, and for other mechanical purposes.

In 1850 Robert Bacon took his son, John H., into the firm, who continued business after the death of Robert Bacon. In 1876 the business was conducted under the firm name of Charles N. Bacon, son of John H. Bacon, and the mill was removed to its present location. Charles N. Bacon invented, and patented, a felt wheel, made round from the start, of equal tensile strength in all directions, which was very superior at that time to all other wheels made from sheet felt, or by any other process. During this time an office was maintained in Boston, under the management of a son-in-law, Fred F. Smith.

About 1895 Charles N. Bacon retired from the business, leaving it in the hands of his sons, Charles E., Louis A. and Robert who operated under a so-called partnership of Bacon Brothers, with Fred F. Smith continuing to manage the Boston office. In a short time Louis A. Bacon left the firm, and in the fall of 1903, fire destroyed the main factory buildings, leaving only the boiler room standing.

The plant was rebuilt on the same site, and passed through many vicissitudes, until in 1908 the company was incorporated, under the name of the Bacon Felt Company and Robert Bacon became secretary, but later on took over the entire control as president and treasurer. The Eastern Felt Co. of Winchester was formed by former employees of the Bacon Felt Company.

The Whitney Machine Co.

The Whitney Machine Co. is one of the oldest manufacturers of hide-working and beam house machinery in the world, and was a pioneer in the production of roller-type unhairing and fleshing machines.

Since 1844, when the concern was established by Joel Whitney, it has devoted its attention exclusively to the manufacture of labor-saving devices for the tanning industry.

Arthur E. Whitney, son of the founder, developed the company and brought out a number of machines, which have become widely used in the tanning trade, all over the world.

The enterprise was incorporated in 1917, and upon the death of Arthur E. Whitney in January of that year, the management devolved upon his son, Robert E., who is president and treasurer of the company.

Specializing in fleshing, unhairing, working-out, scudding, putting-out and setting machines, the products of the Winchester concern are in use in all of the leading tanneries in this country, and of Canada, Latin America, Australasia, South Africa and Europe.

J. H. Winn's Sons

Whether or not B. A. Goodell and James H. Winn were encouraged in launching their project of engaging in the manufacture of watch hands by officials of the Waltham Watch Co. is not definitely determined, but that these two skilled mechanics were very closely connected with the company. Mr. Goodell was a foreman in the Waltham plant and Mr. Winn was employed by the Sibley Machine Co. of Waltham.

In April 1868, Goodell equipped a machine shop in his barn, in Waltham and employed Mr. Winn to assist him in the manufacture of watch hands by machinery. Undoubtedly Goodell had been led to attempt the venture because of the experience of an ambitious young man of limited financial means, probably an employee of the Waltham Watch Co., who decided that the price the concern was paying for hands was so large that their production here ought to yield a splendid profit. He had built in his Waltham home some machines for their production, but reaching the end of his financial rope he approached Mr. Goodell who examined the unfinished hands and the machinery produced by the young man, and the apparatus and incomplete hands were purchased.

Messrs. Goodell and Winn worked evenings in developing the crude machinery to a point where satisfactory production was possible, and finally employed Misses Jennie and Carrie Cummings, sisters of Mrs. Goodell and Mrs. Winn, and employees of the Waltham Watch Co.

The first products were sold to the local concern and orders were given by it for additional supplies. In September, 1868, a partnership was formed under the name of Goodell & Winn, the original capital consisting of machinery and tools valued at about $500. Thus was born the first American factory for the manufacture of watch hands.

Soon the National Watch Co., the E. Howard Watch Co., the New York Watch Co., and the Illinois-Springfield Watch Co. were included among the customers of the infant concern.

Before 1868 ended the need of power for their machinery became evident and water rights in the village of Cumminsville, a part of Woburn, were purchased and a water-wheel was installed, and operations were transferred there from Waltham, four or five employees assisting the partners. Due to the irregularity of the watch supply, removal of the business to Winchester was made about 1870, where a privilege which had been in existence since 1787 was acquired, and where the Richardson grist mill stood. This structure was demolished and a two-story wooden factory, 20 by 30 feet, was erected. In 1896, Mr. Goodell sold his share in the business to Frank W. Winn, second son of his partner, and the firm name was changed to James H. Winn & Son.

On Jan. 1, 1913, Arthur L. and Harry T., two other sons, became partners and the name was changed to J. H. Winn & Sons. Upon the death of James H. Winn that year, the three sons purchased from his estate the interest in the concern formerly held by him, and since Jan. 1, 1914, the name has been J. H. Winn's Sons.

In 1900 the original Winchester factory was removed to adjoining land and remodeled into a dwelling. A three-story brick factory was erected and gasoline engines installed for motive power, due to the impurities in the water of the Aberjona River, flowing from waste chemicals deposited therein by the Woburn tanneries. Within recent years electric motors superseded the gasoline engines. In 1910 a two-story wing was added and ten years later another two-story structure was built. The company is now contemplating another addition in 1930. Until about 20 years ago the raw materials were imported, but the Crucible Steel Co. is now providing steel of a quality satisfactory for their work. Machinery has been simplified and processes improved.

The radio, television and other triumphs of electricity which have brought with them a demand for a multiplicity of measuring devices, requiring indicator hands, have resulted in broadening the market for the products, and today the General Electric Co. is the concern's largest customer. The decrease in the orders of watch manufacturers has been more than offset by the needs of manufacturing instruments of all kinds, and indicator hands now outrank watchhands in volume of orders and production. Meter, clock and watch hands are made at the plant up to eight inches in length.

For more than 60 years when conditions or the nature of the demand changed, the operations of the company were altered accordingly, and machinery and the attendant processes were studied, designed and perfected within the plant. While much of the success achieved is due to quality product, the Yankee ingenuity displayed by the founders, who saw and seized their opportunities, has been transmitted to the sons of one of the founders. About 60 operatives are employed at the Winchester plant.

Beggs & Cobb

In 1860, William Beggs and Elisha W. Cobb founded the firm of Beggs & Cobb, leasing a small shop in Peabody and removing to Woburn at the close of the first year's business, where they rented a factory, and where, in 1884, they built a currying plant having a capacity of 200 sides a day. In 1889 they began a tanning in the John Maxwell factory in Winchester, leasing the next year the Alexander Moseley tannery in that town at that period the largest upper leather plant in the United States.

On June 1, 1906 the firm was incorporated as the Beggs & Cobb Co. with $850,000 capital, and today the concern employs 700 hands in Winchester and Woburn, and controls auxiliary plants in Pennsylvania and Tennessee. The Winchester plant is the largest tannery of upper leather in the world, and is valued at approximately $1,000,000. The foreign trade of the company represents upwards of a third of the total yearly sales. Today the concern is capitalized at $2,000,000—a sizable increase on the $450,000 with which the founders began business less than 50 years ago.

The Eastern Felt Co.

In 1896, Daniel Murphy, Thomas J. Donnelly, Patrick T. Walsh, and Patrick Noonan formed a partnership under the name of the Eastern Felt & Buffing Wheel Co., all four having long been in the employ of the Charles N. Bacon Felt Co. of Winchester.

In 1904 the concern was incorporated as the Eastern Felt Co. with Mr. Murphy as president, Mr. Noonan as vice president, Mr. Walsh as secretary and Mr. Donnelly as treasurer, these officers still serving in these capacities.

The goods manufactured are all wool and are termed sheet felt and felt polishing wheels. In 1904 the capital of the concern was $50,000 which in 1922 was increased to $80,000 common and $100,000 preferred. The company is the oldest original group that has continued operation without change in personnel.

The New England Laundries, Inc. On Friday, Aug. 13, 1898 Arthur T. Downer, possessing net capital of $1500, opened the Winchester Laundry with seven employees. He is still alive despite the adage that one who begins anything on a Friday will never live to finish it. It is yet unfinished because the original enterprise is still prospering. Mr. Downer's individually owned establishment has grown from its single plant to eight, from the seven employees to more than 600, and from its original of $1500 to $2,500,000.

In 1906 the Winchester Laundry was incorporated with a capital of $25,000, and seven years later it re-capitalized for $125,000, increasing this in 1921 to $500,000, when it became The Winchester Laundries, Inc. In 1918 a plant was established in Lowell and in 1924 a modern unit was erected in Newton, these three divisions being known as—The Winchester Laundries, Inc.

In 1926 The Winchester Laundries, Inc., was asked to control a merger composed of the following well known Massachusetts concerns: Taylor Bros. Laundry and the Highland Laundry of Dorchester, the Quality Laundry of Somerville, and the Brightwood and City Laundries, both of Springfield. Since that time the New England Laundries, Inc., has shown a steady growth. Its eight plants, operating a fleet of almost 100 trucks, cover 62 cities and towns in Massachusetts, and serve approximately 25,000 homes. Four of the company's plants are located in Middlesex County.

Bay State Saw and Tool Mfg. Co.

In 1915, the Bay State Saw & Tool Manufacturing Company, Inc., was established and began business in Roxbury. The following year a site was purchased and a new building erected in Winchester, for the manufacture of hack saw blades, which three years later was enlarged to take care of increasing business. That year, E. T. Bailey of Woburn, became sole owner by the purchase of all the stock of the corporation. In 1926, fire destroyed the greater part of the plant, which was at once rebuilt, and was successfully operated until 1928 when the business was purchased by The Henry G. Thompson & Son Co. of New Haven, Conn., to which city it was removed and where it is still operated. E. T. Bailey being president of the concern, which carries on under its original corporate name.

Waitt & McLatchy Co.

On May 1, 1919, the Waitt & McLatchy Co. was incorporated to do a Patent Leather business and on Sept. 1, 1920 this company was dissolved and the A. H. McLatchy Co., Inc., was formed, and incorporated with capital of $10,000, and at the outset had a capacity of 360 sides of patent leather daily, and employed 30 operatives. The plant has been enlarged in the intervening years until today it has a capacity of 1250 sides and employs 85 men. Allen H. McLatchy is president and treasurer, and Arthur F. Ray is clerk.

The William F. Baird Co.

Prior to 1921 it was the common practice to surround ice cream cans with a mixture of ice and salt in order to maintain the product in a frozen state during transit. That year William F. Baird conceived the idea of manufacturing truck bodies of the "ice-casing" type, and he not only succeeded in doing away with the annoyances of dripping brine and excess weight, but was enabled to maintain temperatures lower than by any other system using ice and salt.

Cracked ice is put in through hatchways and surrounds the metal refrigerating compartment on the top and four sides, occupying the space between the compartment and the insulated walls of the truck body. All cold brine is retained to chill the interior, a brass gate valve allowing drainage only when desired. The bodies maintain constant sub-zero temperatures on the hottest days, despite frequent opening of the doors.

Shortly afterwards the concern introduced bodies refrigerated with frozen brine sealed in metal containers, the brine having previously been frozen in a cold storage, or ice cream hardening room, one set being frozen while the other set is in use in the truck. The containers are suspended from hooks and are held motionless by brackets. In 1926 the Baird mechanically refrigerated body was introduced, power being derived when the motor truck is running, through an electric generator. No auxiliary gasoline engine; or heavy batteries, are employed, thus eliminating additional machinery, and danger from carbon monoxide fumes when the unit is operating indoors.

In 1928 the company began the manufacture of bodies refrigerated with solid carbon dioxide, which delivers nearly twice as much refrigeration per pound as ordinary ice. For eight years the concern has constantly carried on original research along lines calculated to improve its refrigerator bodies and has been eminently successful in this work. Patents are pending on several features employed in the mechanically refrigerated bodies and in the company's system of controlling the temperature by solid carbon dioxide. The company's products are sold throughout the United States, and in foreign countries as wide apart as Denmark and New Zealand.

William F. Baird is the sole owner, and 40 employees are carried on the roll at Winchester, and at the Boston office, 934 Little Building.

Other Industries of the Town

The Lamb & Nash Co. is engaged in the manufacture of machinery, at its Winchester factory, and maintains a Boston office at 131 State street. Henry W. Lamb is president and treasurer and Francis M. Guidry, secretary.

The Puffer Manufacturing Co., with capital of $408,400, employs 125 operatives in the manufacture of soda fountains, carbonators and marble work. Alvin W. Puffer is president, Leon H. Puffer, vice-president, Stanley B. Puffer, secretary, and Luther W. Puffer, Jr., treasurer.

The J. O. Whitten Co. employs 100 hands in the manufacture of gelatine. The concern is capitalized for $250,000. George R. Whitten is president, C. A. Perkins, secretary, and Charles O. Whitten, treasurer.

The Winchester Brick Co., of which John J. Gallagher is president and treasurer, and James E. O'Connell, secretary, is engaged in the manufacture of sand, lime, brick, and employs 75 operatives.

Hindsight

We would be several thousand miles nearer the millennium if people expended as much energy trying to prevent disasters as they expend trying to explain them and place the responsibility.

"Boiling Pot"

While credence is given to several interpretations of the meaning of the Indian word Kalamazoo, first applied to the river on which this community is situated and later adopted as the name of the city itself, the most widely accepted translation is "boiling pot." Large boulders in the river at this point gave it a considerable turbulence, hence the description is apt.

JULY 3, 1929

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

"Fox Movietone Follies of 1929" will be the headliner at the University for four days beginning Sunday. On the same program is "The Shady Lady" starring Phyllis Haver.

"Fox Movietone Follies" is lavish in music, dialogue, dance, youth, beauty and romance with a cast which includes Sue Carol, David Rollins, Dixie Lee, John Breeden, Lola Lane, Stephen Fitch, Sharon Linn, Nick Stuart, Jeanette Dancy, Frank Richardson and a host of others.

In "The Shady Lady" Miss Haver appears as an American who is hiding in Havana to escape prosecution for a murder of which she is accused. She becomes involved in a gun-running world in Cuba. With Robert Armstrong, Louis Wolheim and Russell Gleason in supporting roles.

For the last three days of the week the features are "The Rainbow Man" with Eddie Dowling and "Ned McCobb's Daughter" with Irene Rich.

In "The Rainbow Man" the plot has to do with a small time minstrel man who meets a little girl in a Southern town and falls in love with her. He loses his job through a misunderstanding, and goes to New York, penniless, to hunt for work. After many heart-breaks he finds a job, returns to the Southern town with his minstrel troupe again, and one day sees the girl he had deserted in the audience. The ending is a happy one.

When a trusting wife discovers that she had been deceived by her husband and she comes face to face with the other woman, there's bound to be trouble. So it was with Carrie Callahan, heroine of "Ned McCobb's Daughter" when she orders Jennie, her hired girl to leave her home.

"Strong Boy" starring Victor McLaglen, is the feature picture now playing at the Orpheum Theatre, Malden. This is a smooth, fast comedy which reveals McLaglen at his scrappiest and his sunniest. Leatrice Joy plays the leading feminine role and her piquant beauty and charm are shown to great advantage. Her work shows the indelible mark of talent and artistry. Clyde Cook, Slim Summerville, Tom Wilson, David Torrence and Farrell MacDonald are cast in strong supporting roles. The second feature on this program will be another thrilling episode of the dramatic mystery serial "Queen of the North Woods" starring Walter Miller and Ethylene Clair.

"The Devil's Apple Tree," the feature picture coming to the Orpheum Theatre for the first three days of next week is a story of romance beside a palm-fringed shore and of thrills and terrors in the heart of a South Sea jungle. Dorothy Sebastian is featured in the role of a mysterious girl who wins the love of the plantation owner's son, played by Larry Kent. The second feature on this program will be "Why be Good" starring Colleen Moore. This is a story of the roaring jazz mad youth of today in which Miss Moore portrays a young lady who is rather wild but of the type "thoroughly able to take care of myself." Neil Hamilton has the leading male role opposite Miss Moore.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

The list of contagious diseases reported to the Board of Health for week ending Thursday, June 27, follows:

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"Innocents of Paris," a romantic comedy-drama starring Maurice Chevalier, is the feature picture now playing at the Granada Theatre, Malden. The supporting cast headed by Sylvia Beecher is excellent in spite of the fact that Chevalier is the kind of star who doesn't need support.

"Louise" the theme song of the picture is a haunting melody that Chevalier puts over in his own inimitable way. In addition to this feature there are special all-talking short subjects, Pathe News and comedy.

The supreme achievement of modern motion picture art has been reached in "The Desert Song" which will be the feature picture at the Granada Theatre, all next week. It is a staggering, bewitching succession of rapturous melodies and scenic tilating scenes presented with boundless magnificence. The story of "The Desert Song" is full of heart throbs, many of which are based on the love of the Red Shadow for Margot, the French girl who is strangely attracted by the masked bandit chieftan, but has no eyes for his other self, Pierre Birabeau. John Boles and Carlotta King have the leading roles and Louise Fazenda, Myrna Loy and John Miljan head the supporting all-star cast.

First Public Library

Perhaps the real pioneer of public libraries was Sardanapalus, the Assyrian, who, six and one-half centuries before the Christian era, collected at Nineveh 10,000 works, written in cuneiform on tablets of clay, for all to read.

According to Chairman Edmund C. Sanderson of our Water Department, recently published reports stating that Winchester's water supply is very plentiful are more or less incorrect. While the Town has an excellent supply and plenty of water for all immediate needs, our water is not quite so plentiful as has been reported. It was recently announced that during one dry day 1,750,000 gallons of water were used, almost double the amount ordinarily used daily.

A crowd of boys living in the vicinity of Oak and Holland streets took an old deficient automobile from the town dump and were making "whoopie" while running it about through the neighboring district. While engaged in their sport they struck Gerald and ran over him. The little boy was removed by E. P. Sullivan of Spruce street to the office of Dr. R. W. Sheehy who took two stitches to close a cut on the youngster's head and also treated him for numerous bruises.

Nicholas Lombardo 8, of 9 Florence street, sustained injuries to his right hand last Friday evening when he was struck and knocked down while on Swanton street near Holland street by a bicycle ridden by Robert Haggerty, 11-year old son of James Haggerty of 161 Swanton street. The little boy was treated by an out-of-town physician.

NEW BUS LINE STARTED SUNDAY

The new motorcoach line which has replaced the old Wakefield-Stoneham-Winchester trolley line of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company began its operations Sunday, July 7, within five weeks of the former electric service. The last trolley to be run on the old line left Wakefield square at 10:37 last Saturday night.

Busses are to run under the new arrangement from Winchester center to Wakefield, via Stoneham. Electric cars will run from the Highland avenue turnout on Forest street to Arlington center.

The present time schedule provides for busses to leave their stopping place at Hevey's Pharmacy for Wakefield on week days, commencing at 7 a. m. Service is half-hourly until 8 a. m. and then hourly until 5 in the afternoon. From 5 until 7 p. m. the busses run every 30 minutes and then continue on the hour until 11 p. m. when the last bus leaves the center. Sundays the service is hourly commencing at 8 in the morning and continuing until 11 p. m.

Busses leave Wakefield for Winchester week days commencing at 6:33 a. m. and every half hour until 8:33 a. m., then hourly until 4:33 p. m. From 4:33 to 7:33 p. m. the busses leave every 30 minutes and from 7:33 to 10:33 the service is hourly. The last bus leaves Wakefield for Winchester at 10:33 p. m. Return service from Wakefield to Winchester on Sundays starts at 8:33 a. m. and continues hourly to 10:33 p. m.

The machines in use on the line are new Studebaker motor coaches, having a capacity of 29 passengers. The work of removing the tracks from Forest street started Wednesday, a large derrick being employed to rip up the rails. It was expected at the Melrose headquarters of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company that the work would take only three or four days. The rebuilding of the roadway, a part of route 128, is to be begun by the State Highway Department as soon as the rails are removed.

GRADE CROSSING BOARD ORGANIZES

Senator Arthur W. Hollis of Newton was on Tuesday elected chairman of the special commission on abolition of grade crossings at the first meeting of the commission in the State House, and George E. Burnham was elected secretary. The first hearing was set for 10:30 o'clock on July 30 in Room 370, State House.

The commission was created by the Legislature on recommendation of Governor Allen in order that some plan may be worked out for the gradual abolition of the grade crossings of the State, which are becoming an increasing menace to automobile traffic. Hearings are to be held in the central and western parts of the State as well as in Boston.

The members of the commission are Senators Hollis and Robert E. Bigney of Boston, Representatives Victor F. Jewett of Lowell, Arthur A. Hansen of Waltham and John P. Higgins of Boston, the commissioners of the Departments of Public Utilities and Public Works, and William F. Williams of New Bedford and George M. Thompson of Wakefield.

It is expected that the first action of the commission in the elimination work will be on the crossing here in Winchester.

WAS PRESENTED LAMP AT ROLL CALL

Although Patrolman Henry P. Dempsey rather stole a march upon his brother members of the Winchester Police Department when he was quietly married during the late winter without previously announcing his intentions at headquarters, there is apparently no hard feeling.

To prove this fact beyond a doubt Sergt. William H. Rogers at roll call Tuesday evening presented Officer Dempsey on behalf of his brother officers with a handsome floor lamp, accompanying his presentation with an expression of the best wishes of the entire department.

Officer Dempsey briefly expressed his thanks and it was unofficially announced that the police quartet comprising Patrolmen William Cassidy, James Donaghy, Archie O'Connell and John Noonan rendered several vocal numbers. This last report, however, we were unable to verify.

The lamp is of an especially pleasing design, executed in brass with a marble base and handsome parchment shade.

WON FOURSOME TITLE

The annual mixed foursome championship of the Winchester Country Club was won by Mr. Charles S. Eaton and Mrs. Franklin A. Flanders who defeated Mrs. Wallace F. Flanders and Mr. Franklin A. Flanders in the final round which was played off Wednesday of this week.

Police Headquarters was notified last Saturday evening of an accident which occurred on upper Main street shortly after 8 o'clock when a Packard touring car, owned and operated by Frank J. Gavanagh of 141 Lexington street, South Boston, was in collision with a Chevrolet sedan, owned and driven by Mack C. Dodson of 10 Thompson street. According to Dodson he was about to make a right turn when his sedan was struck by the Packard. The Chevrolet was tipped over by the force of the impact but no one was reported injured.

LIEUT. COL. ROLAND H. SHERMAN

Lieut.-Col. Roland H. Sherman, M. N. G., retired, a prominent Boston attorney and resident of Winchester for the past 24 years, died suddenly of heart disease last Saturday afternoon, July 6, at Camp Devens where he had gone for a two weeks' tour of duty with the 26th Division of the Massachusetts National Guard.

Lieutenant-Colonel Sherman, a former judge advocate of the division and attending camp this year as a member of the inspectors' division of the State Military Corps, was stricken shortly after 3 o'clock in the afternoon while he was attending an officers' conference at the headquarters of the State inspectors, called to discuss inspection problems. He died before medical assistance could reach him.

The news of his death was communicated to the Division Commander, Major General Alfred Franklin Foote, and to Col. E. H. Cloke, regular army camp commander. The latter ordered the flags in the camp placed at half staff.

Roland H. Sherman was born 55 years ago in Lawrence, son of the late Judge Edgar Jay and Abbie (Simmons) Sherman. He came from an illustrious family, being a lineal descendant of Roger Sherman, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. His family connections included the late General William Tecumseh Sherman, and the late John Sherman who framed the celebrated "Sherman Law." His father, Judge Sherman, was judge of the Massachusetts Superior Court.

Mr. Sherman attended Holderness School at Plymouth, N. H., and prepared for college at Dummer Academy, maintaining an active interest in the South Byfield school which he served for many years as trustee and to which he sent two of his sons. He was graduated from Boston University School of Law with the degree of LL.B. in 1896, was admitted to the Bar and for nine years practiced law in Lawrence under the firms of Bradley & Sherman, Sherman & Ford, and finally Sherman & Sherman. In 1905 he came to Boston and was for six years assistant district attorney of Essex County. At the time of his death he was a member of the Boston law firm of Sherman, Barry, Smith & Kelley with offices at 20 Pemberton Square.

He had a distinguished military record, rising from the rank of lieutenant to that of lieutenant-colonel at the time of his retirement. In 1895 he enlisted in the 8th Massachusetts Infantry and three years later was appointed second lieutenant in Co. L, 8th Massachusetts, U. S. V. After three months' service he resigned following several weeks' illness of malarial fever at Chickamauga Park, Ga., but in August, 1899, he was chosen captain of Co. L, which post he held until he resigned to go with General Whitney. He served as judge-advocate of the 2nd Brigade and was retired with the rank of lieutenant-colonel Jan. 1, 1906.

During the 24 years of his life in Winchester Lieutenant-Colonel Sherman made his home at 14 Everett avenue. He was active in community affairs, serving as Town Counsel in 1918 and as a member of the War Memorial Committee of 1919. He was especially interested in the work of the above committee which sought to perpetuate the sacrifice of Winchester's soldier dead by the erection of a memorial hall and athletic plant on Manchester Field. He was active in the affairs of the Parish of the Epiphany and had served the church as vestryman. He was a member of William Parkman Lodge of Masons, of the Winchester Country Club, the Army and Navy Club, the Naval and Military Order of the Spanish-American War, the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, also of Winchester Lodge of Elks and the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Alma (Haele) Sherman, two daughters, Mrs. H. L. Tibbets of Worcester and Miss Nancy Sherman of Winchester; and three sons, Edgar J. Sherman, 2nd of Charlotte, N. C.; Roger Sherman and Roland Henry Sherman, Jr., both of Winchester. There are also five grandchildren and three sisters, Mrs. Henry Souther of Bass Rocks, Gloucester, Mrs. Delbert Carney of New York and Mrs. Fred H. Eaton of Andover.

The funeral services which were held at 11 o'clock on Tuesday morning were attended only by members of the immediate family and a group of commissioned officers from Camp Devens. Major-General Foote, commander of the Yankee Division, was represented at the funeral by his Aide-de-camp, Capt. Terrell M. Ragan. The officiating clergyman was Rev. J. J. Hemmaway, rector of the Church of the Epiphany. Lieutenant-Colonel Sherman was dressed in his uniform and the casket was draped with the National Colors. Flags throughout the town were flown at half staff.

At the conclusion of the service the remains were escorted by the military to Wildwood Cemetery, a detail of six officers serving as pall bearers. Rev. Mr. Hemmaway read the committal prayers and as the casket was lowered into the grave the officers stood rigidly at salute while taps was sounded by a bugler.

CENTER TIED UP

Accident at Railroad Crossing This Morning

A seven and a half-ton truck, loaded with seven and a half tons of wet sand, owned by a Woburn trucking firm, went through the tunnel carrying the steel cables used for raising and lowering gates in the center this morning. Down to its axle, with its rear end over the outward track, it effectively blocked the track.

Trains were all delayed and traffic in the center was jammed. The accident occurred at about 7:45 a. m., just as the rush hour started. Fortunately no trains were approaching the crossing when the truck went down, but the 7:51 outward express arrived immediately after, it being held up at the station, where it makes a regular stop.

All of the available police officers were rushed to the center and these officers did efficient work in handling the traffic, the volume of early morning autos and the many commuters creating the greatest traffic jam in months. Officers Donaghy, Noonan, Farrell and O'Connell had their hands full until late in the forenoon.

The truck was owned by J. A. Ackerson of Woburn. The driver, in crossing the tracks, went close to the south gate on the east side to stop and buy a paper. When his rear wheels went over the tunnel the weight was too great for the surface and one wheel went down until the chassis rested on the street.

No attempt was made to unload the truck and haul it out. Instead, after over a half-hour's wait, the Ackerson firm sent a spare truck from its plant in Woburn and attempt was made to raise the 15 tons by jacks. The truck was moved about 9 o'clock. The gates on the east side of the south crossing were put out of commission and a flag man stationed there to stop traffic during the passage of trains.

OLD ICE BRIDGE TO BE FILLED IN

Work was begun today by the City of Woburn on the filling in of the old ice bridge on North Main street in this town. Arrangements have been made by Supt. Henry V. Macksey of the Woburn Public Works Department to have the contractor engaged in the reconstruction of Forest street dump his excess gravel into the old railroad bed, thus filling up the arch. A partition will be erected on the side of the bridge adjacent to the property of J. F. Winn & Sons.

The so called ice bridge arches the old Horn Pond Railroad bed, formerly used by the Horn Pond Company when it was a spur line of the Boston & Maine, extending from the Woburn loop, through North Winchester to the old Boston ice house, now Lynch Park, in the City of Woburn at the southern end of Horn Pond.

When the Boston Ice Company abandoned its plant in Woburn the railroad was of little use and was purchased by the City of Woburn for one dollar with the obligation of maintaining the ice bridge.

Woburn purchased the road with the idea of freighting the city's coal over it, but the roadbed was in such poor condition that the B. & M. would not permit its rolling stock to go over its rails and while repairs were hanging fire the advent of the motor truck made the use of the railroad impractical.

Woburn, however, was held to its contract and has on several occasions been obliged to repair the bridge above the railroad tracks. The city has sold to J. F. Winn & Sons the portion of the railroad east of the bridge and subsequently to Ralph Sylvester, local realtor, a large portion of the bed for a development in the valley. It now holds only one parcel just south of Horn Pond which may prove valuable if the city ever puts in the proposed bathing beach at that point.

WINCHESTER WON FROM SOUTH BOSTON TEAM

Defeated Gate of Heaven Nine, 7 to 1
—Local Pitcher Injured

Winchester Town Team broke into the win column last Saturday afternoon when Manager Farrell's boys won a 7 to 1 ball game from the Gate of Heaven nine of South Boston. The locals made their best showing of the season to date, hustling all the time and looking very well both at the bat and in the field.

Rotundi, a slow ball right hander from Stoneham who will be remembered for having engaged in some notable pitching duels with Winchester's Francis Tansey when both were chucking high school ball, toed the slab for the Town Team and allowed just three hits during the 7 innings he toiled upon the mound. The visitors couldn't seem to do a thing with the hook and change of pace employed by the Italian boy while the support accorded the latter was gilt edged.

It seems just a bit tough that Winchester always tosses in a fine fielding exhibition whenever "Olie" Lee is not pitching. Give Lee the same support as that given Rotundi last Saturday and he would be a very hard young gentleman to beat.

McKeon, who pitched for South Boston, went along like an eight day clock for two frames, but starting the last of the third Martin doubled to left. Rotundi attempted to sacrifice, but McGowan dropped McKeon's throw at first and both runners were safe. "Tom" Dolan laid one down to advance Rotundi, but Martin was held at third. It looked like the "squeeze" but Martin was flat-footed and there were two on and one away.

"Jomma" got one to his liking and belted the ball to far center field for a real triple, scoring Martin and Rotundi. When McKeon uncorked a wild pitch Dolan counted and the game was on the well known ice. Whitaker drew a pass but "Nicky" Fitzgerald hoisted to Linahan and O'Connell popped to Walsh.

Winchester got another in the fourth. Flaherty drew a pass with one away and on the hit and run Martin poked one hard at Walsh. Too late to get Flaherty at second Walsh threw to first and "Flats" kept right on to third. Martin was out but Wilkinson's throw to third was wild and Flaherty scored. Rotundi fled to Wiseman ending the rally.

That finished the scoring until the 7th when Rotundi got a life as Walsh messed up his grounder. The Winchester pitcher apparently wrenched his side and retired from the game. O'Connell going in to run for him. Catcher Cronin's error permitted "Bill" to reach second from which he scored on "Tom" Dolan's single to right. Dolan stole second, but brother "Jomma" struck out and Whitaker was retired at first by Wilkinson, unassisted. "Nicky" Fitzgerald brought Dolan home with his second hit, a clean single to left. When Linahan lost the ball Fitzgerald went to second, but was out trying for third, Linahan to Burns.

"Jomma" Dolan went in to pitch the 8th inning, Flaherty replacing him at shortstop. The outfielders moved over and Procopio went out to right field. The visitors were unable to dent Dolan in the 8th but the locals added a run to their total in their half. With one away Mantenuito, Watertown boy playing third, singled to left and stole second. Flaherty's single through shortstop sent the runner to third and he scored on a delayed steal while Walsh was throwing out Martin. Procopio fanned for the third out.

Linahan started the ninth for the visitors by belting a triple to right. The ball was high and might have been caught by an experienced fielder, but Procopio misjudged the pill and the speedy South Boston left fielder easily made third. "Nicky" Fitzgerald made a nice running catch of Cronin's foul, but McKeon singled to right to score Linahan. Dolan had to move fast to take Walsh's liner in left but brother "Jomma" threw out Wilkinson at first to end the game.

CONOMO IN HARD LUCK

Since Charlie Lane resigned as Scavenger, Conomo Point appears to be in hard luck. On the 4th, it was another Winchester man who figured in the excitement, for "Vin" Farnsworth was setting off the fireworks on the wharf when a leaky roman candle or some kid's firecracker started the whole display. Everyone scurried for cover while the trees and bushes were immediately decorated with red, white and blue, to say nothing of the row boats tied up alongside. "Vin" and his assistants wasted no time in laying flat on the wharf and hanging their heads over the side. We don't know what they hung their heads over the side for, but that's the way we got the news. Perhaps they thought this the most important part of their anatomy. Anyway, the whole assortment, about $150 worth, went off in one grand and mighty display. Fortunately no one was hurt or even burned, and the excitement was such as to satisfy all the flappers. Next fourth, it has already been decided, the fireworks will be set off by a professional. Further dispatches from Conomo are eagerly awaited.

WINCHESTER FAMILY BURNED OUT AT CLIFTON

The summer home of Mr. George A. Sexton of Cabot street, located on Surf street, Clifton Heights, was burned down, together with an adjoining house, in a disastrous fire last Friday noon. The fire, which caused damage estimated at $50,000 was so menacing to the entire summer colony that help was summoned from Marblehead, Salem, Lynn and Swampscott. The fire is reported to have started in the Sexton residence, which is owned by Charles Traiser.

A Packard touring car, owned and operated by Louis A. Blanchard of 54 Orchard street, Medford Hillside, and a Chrysler coach, owned and driven by Harold E. Hammond of 55 Hemingway street, were in collision shortly after 6 o'clock on Main street at Clark street Monday evening. The Packard was headed north while the Chrysler was pulling away from the curb to make a right turn into a neighboring yard. Both machines were damaged but no one was injured.

POSTMASTER LOCHMAN TALKS TO ROTARY MEMBERS

Explains Workings of Winchester Post Office Department

Mr. Wallace has asked me to give you a short talk on the Post Office. This is a big subject and one could talk on this matter and the postal service, all day and not repeat themselves, and yet not cover the whole subject.

I take it for granted that you do not want to listen to a mass of statistics, but rather that you more particularly would like to hear something about this particular office. The United States' postal business is the biggest business in the world, employing over 300,000 people in about 50,000 post offices. There is nothing else in the world so cheap, no other business from which the public expects, or receives, so much for their money. There is no other business in the world as accurate as the United States postal service, and yet we do, of course, make mistakes, for the human equation naturally enters into the matter, but the percentage of errors even in our local office is less than one-tenth of one per cent, and in normal times we will average about 15,000 transactions daily.

If any one thinks the position of Postmaster is a "bed of roses," I want to ask them to "guess again." There are so many regulations, divisions of classifications and rates, as to puzzle a Philadelphia lawyer to decipher them, and to require an expert accountant to figure out, and keep accounts correctly. Most of these regulations are worded as a lawyer writes a legal document, with so many "Wherefores," "Whereas," and "Provides" that when you finish reading them you are off times at a loss to know just what they "do" mean. For example, a new law in regard to 10 per cent increase in pay for night work, says in part, "Supervisors are entitled under this act to 10 per cent extra for night work, but as no provision has been made for paying Supervisors for such work, they will not be paid for such work." Night work is classed as any work done between the hours of 6 p. m. and 6 a. m. As we keep open until 7 p. m., all clerks who work from 6 to 7 p. m., get 7 or 8 cents extra in addition to their regular pay. In addition to all this bookkeeping or figuring, some are paid at the rate of 100 per cent salary and some at the rate of 96½ per cent, the 3½ per cent being the deduction for the retirement or pension fund.

In regard to accounts; each separate item of each denomination of stamps, and each size of stamped envelopes of each denomination, has to be balanced separately, and of course the grand total has to balance. As to separate accounts, for instance, envelope sales are rendered to the department in the equivalents of 500. That is, 1000 number 5 envelopes sell for $21.72; if these 1000 envelopes are sold over the counter in small lots such as 2 for 5 cents, 5 for 11 cents, 25 for 55 cents, etc., it will amount to quite a bit more than $21.72 for the 1000, consequently the clerk has to keep account of the "excess," that is, the difference between $21.72 and what was actually obtained by selling in small lots. This applies to 14 different sized and priced envelopes. We carry 31 different denominations of stamps, ranging from ½ cent each to 50 cents each, the latter being the highest priced stamp we keep in stock.

Now just a word as to the running of the post office department. Contrary to what I think is the general belief, the post office department does "not" pay for itself. There is a deficit of about 50 million dollars yearly, although the appropriation last year was about 650 million dollars. Our "contribution" to the deficit mentioned, last year, was about an even $200. Many people think that because they pay taxes they are entitled to any service they may wish, no matter what the cost of that service may be. That may be true to a certain extent, but the department says all people are entitled to "reasonable" service. The argument comes on just what "reasonable" service is. People come to this town from Somerville or some other city, buy a house on the outskirts of the town, on unfinished, unsurfaced streets, and when they realize that they are not entitled to delivery, some of the things they say to me and call me, are not fit for publication. Then the next thing they say is, that if I do not give them delivery at once they will take it up with Washington. Well, if I "did" give them delivery which they were not entitled to, Washington would take it up with "me" all right. Many people think that the Postmaster can do what he pleases in the matter of delivery, that is, if he "wants" to give certain people or certain sections delivery, or delivery of a certain kind or class, that he is at liberty to do so. Such is not the case. I have inspectors watching me as a cat watches a mouse, and if we give delivery contrary to regulations we hear from it in no uncertain manner. The regulations require that the district must be 50 per cent improved, that all streets must be of good hard surface, and that there must be sidewalks that will be in good condition at all seasons of the year. That does not mean that they must be of concrete or cement, but that they must be of such construction that spring rains and frost will not render them unfit for travel. One particular section was denied delivery by an inspector and a resident thereon remarked, "the road is all right for our women and children to travel over, but unfit for the poor letter carrier."

In organizing, arranging and laying out carriers' routes, the post office department is guided by clear and definite principles, subject to the restrictions of laws fixing the hours of service of employees. The daily service of letter carriers cannot exceed eight hours, and this service must be performed within a period of 10 consecutive hours.

The arrangement of carriers' routes is made with a view to securing eight hours' work on the part of the carriers and with a view of effecting the delivery of the mail in such manner as will result, as nearly as possible, in universal satisfaction to the patrons.

The length of a carrier's route depends upon the number of delivery trips made daily over the route. The number of trips made daily over the route depends upon the volume and importance of the mail for the route. The starting point of the carriers depends upon which end of the route receives the greater volume of mail. The time of beginning the first delivery trip depends upon the time the places to which mail is to be delivered are accessible to the carrier, consideration being given to the reasonableness of the hour at which the carrier is directed to start preparing mail for delivery.

The post office department estimates each year how much money is needed to run 50,000 post offices for that particular year. That amount is submitted to the Budget Department who usually cuts down the amount submitted. After the Budget Department gets through with it, it is submitted to Congress, who may cut down that figure, and they usually do so. When the amount is finally settled upon and referred back to the post office department it is pro-rated among the 50,000 offices according to the receipts of the individual office, and some clerk at Washington proceeds to tell me how much money I need to run my office for the year. If I am lucky, I may get what I ask for; sometimes I get it and sometimes I don't. When I don't, I have to fight and fight hard. One Christmas they informed me that I was "assuming considerable temerity in setting my judgment against that of the department." But I got after Congressman Dallingier and Senator Butler and finally got what I asked for.

You may ask, "how does the department arrive at the amount estimated as needed for the year?" Well, I'll tell you. Every year we get a questionnaire which reads something like this: What was the population of the town in 1920, in 1925, in 1928? What will it be in 1930, in 1931? How much did you expend for auxiliary help in 1927, in 1928? What was your estimate for 1929? How much will you need for 1930, for 1931? If the amount estimated for 1930 and 1931 is an increase over that of 1928, state reasons as to why you will need the increase. Now don't smile—these are facts I am giving you.

Psychology has a great deal to do with whether a person thinks he is getting good service or not. For instance, if you think the carrier is not making two deliveries a day to your house, you think you are not getting proper service. As a matter of fact, there is very little mail of the first class which comes in after the carrier leaves on his first trip, and there may not be a letter for you on the afternoon delivery more than twice a month. One carrier went out the other afternoon with only 16 letters for his whole route. That was all the mail of the first class for his section since he went out on his first trip, and there are 350 houses on his route. There may not be any mail for your house in the afternoon, but because the carrier does not "stop" at your house, you take it for granted that he does not make a second trip.

One feature of our work that is not given much consideration or thought by the public, is the forwarding of mail, more especially in the summer or vacation months. In Winchester we have a large number of people who go away for the summer. One of our carriers has had as many as 400 letters to forward in one day. Our total for one day last summer was over 2500 forwards. One family of five each had a different forwarding address. When the carrier goes on his vacation he leaves a list of names for the substitute carrier, which we call the forwarding list, which, of course, is the list of people who are out of town. As you may imagine, it is quite a task for a substitute to keep his mail forwarded correctly and make no mistakes.

I have said that our office did not pay for itself. The expenditures exceeded the receipts last year by $200, the receipts being $45,599.63 and the expenditures $45,798.09. The amount of help or the number of men allowed us is supposed to be based on the receipts of the office; that is the amount of money received from the sale of stamps and stamped envelopes, which, in our case is manifestly unfair as Winchester is a residential town, and "incoming" mail especially of the first class, is much heavier than the "outgoing." More especially is this the case at Christmas time when the proportion is about 3 to 1, and this may be a good time to tell you something about our business this Christmas just passed. During a 10-day period from Dec. 17 to Dec. 27, we handled over 600,000 pieces of first class mail.

—that is, letters and cards. This is an average of over 60,000 a day. Of this number 150,000 was outgoing. Ninety-nine per cent of these had to be picked up, faced, and run through the cancelling machine which counts each letter as it goes through the machine. I say these had to be "faced." Let me explain just what I mean by "faced." That means that each letter has to be faced the same way and the postage stamp has to be in a particular place or position. That doesn't sound very difficult does it. Well, you know how you feel when playing bridge or whist and the pack accidentally drops on the floor, you have to pick them up and straighten them out. Multiply that difficulty by three and the number by 300 and you will get "some" idea of what we had to do each day. It doesn't sound very hard as you listen to my telling it, perhaps, but try it for a few days, and before you get to the end of the third day along about 10 o'clock at night, you will begin to get seasick in the stomach. These letters, keep in mind, are not all the same size, but vary in width from three inches or less, to 10 inches long. Some of them are "baby" envelopes, about 2x3 inches. In thickness they will vary from the thickness of the envelope itself, to one-half an inch thick. After being run through the machine they are sorted at the racks. We have three double faced racks for local letters, so that six men can work at one time. For the outgoing mail we have one double rack, with an emergency, smaller rack. How are these outgoing letters handled?

A great many people have the idea that after they drop a letter in the post office, that all we have to do is to cancel the stamp, throw it in a sack, tie up the sack, take the sack to the train, and it is on its way. Well, let's see what really happens. Your drop your letter in the mail box from which it is picked up by the carrier, brought to the office and dumped on the sorting table. Here it is gathered up with its numerous companions, faced, and run through the cancelling machine, whose capacity is about 400 a minute. The outgoing are sorted into their respective pigeon holes of which there are 97 in each "nest." In other words, we have 97 different separations for outgoing mail, many more than the majority of offices of our size. We have five or more separations for Boston proper, Station A, Hanover street, Essex street, Back Bay, etc., Charlestown, Chelsea, Revere, East Boston, South Boston, Brookline, the Newtons, separately, West Medford, Medford, Woburn, Stoneham, Malden, Lynn, Salem, Worcester, Winchendon, Winchester N. H., (and by the way, there are 20 Winchester in the United States) Winchester, Va. is about the same size as Winchester, Mass., and the post office building is almost exactly the same as ours. For other States we have separate pigeon holes for every one. The towns of Massachusetts are sorted into east case, west case, north case, and south case, depending on the location of the town. Even Italy has a pigeon hole of its own, to say nothing of Ireland. All of these 97 different separations are tied up in individual bundles, labeled and deposited in their respective sacks. They are not dumped all in the same sack, but each sack is labeled according to the district to which it belongs. All of the above is done to save Boston and other stations or offices handling individual letters over again. They handle only the "bundles" which are all labelled as to destination. We have 14 outgoing mails daily; of these two are direct to Woburn, 2 p. m., and 6 p. m. Two are direct northerly; 7:30 a. m. and 12:30 p. m. For incoming mail, we have 20 each day. Eight of these are very heavy, arriving before the carriers go out on their first trip, and it is a great hustle to get it all sorted and ready for them. The center of the town and the Town Hall has four collections daily from boxes, including 7 a. m., and 6 p. m. The balance of the town has three collections; the early collection being about 7 a. m. and the others by the carriers as they make their trips. We have 37 boxes located at different points about the town.

The matter of establishing a late collection in the residential section was given careful consideration by an inspector recently, and he declined to recommend such a collection, stating that the collection service in Winchester is on a par with that at all other post offices of similar size taking into consideration the train connections and the volume of mail which would be handled, and to make such late collection would entail unwarranted expense.

For parcel post at Christmas time, we averaged over a thousand outgoing packages every day, and every package was sent "out" of our office the same day it was mailed, so if your parcel was delayed in reaching its destination the fault was not ours. That reminds me; a woman called me up on a Wednesday and said, "I mailed a package in your office last Friday and you haven't sent it out yet." I replied, "My dear woman why do you make any such statement as that?" She replied, "Well, I just called them up in Malden and they said they hadn't received it." I replied, "Well, why blame us for that? Your package was sent out of this office within two hours, at least, from the time you mailed it."

To get back to Christmas for a moment. We averaged over 325 outgoing insured parcels a day. That means a separate receipt for each package. One woman put in 47 at one time! Forty-seven different receipts to be made out for one customer. You can imagine the feelings of the people waiting in the line behind her. To get back to first class mail for a moment (and I am dwelling on this because I think it will also give you an insight into conditions in general. All outgoing first class mail was sorted each night before we left the office with the exception of Dec. 23, but "all" first class outgoing was sorted before we went home the night before Christmas, and that which was going out of town was "sent" from the office that night. Of the incoming, we were 25 hours behind the night before Christmas, but it was all cleaned up and sent out by the carriers the 26th, even that which was received on Christmas Day. We had four extra carriers on duty. Each carrier would average over 2500 pieces of first class mail and daily papers each day. Magazines at that time were a secondary consideration. We had three trucks out with nine men, and all parcel post received up to noon time was delivered that same day.

Some may say why don't you hire more men to help you sort mail. Well, the answer to that is, a "green" man is worse than useless for sorting mail or waiting on the window. As far as stamps were concerned we had 1 and 2-cent stamps for sale at Butterworth's, Hevey's and the Paper Store. A green man would be just as useless to us for the above named purposes, as it would be for brother Richardson to hire a man to cut meat who had never worked in a meat store, or for brother Anderson to hire a boot black to repair a brake lining. The department says to hire students to sort letters by streets. Well, that means first of all double handling and so to my mind, a waste of time. Furthermore, many streets have two or more carriers delivering on them. Highland avenue has four carriers, Washington street has four, Church street has three, etc. Extra carriers work out better, for the regular carriers sort their mail for them. When a carrier leaves the office he does not take all his mail with him, he cannot, it is too bulky and heavy. One man had 216 pounds of mail for his first trip one day, and that was not at Christmas time either. So it is relayed in bags to points along his route, and picked up by him as he reaches the point where his bag or bags have been left, and delivery continued from that point.

In regard to service in the office, we haven't clerks enough (and it would be poor business from a monetary standpoint to give us clerks enough to keep a man at the window continuously. They must all do other work, therefore a customer must at times, necessarily be obliged to wait a moment or two before he can get service. Now this waiting for a two-cent stamp, is, I acknowledge, very exasperating, but you will go into a bank and wait your turn, go to a barber's and wait for the call of "next," or wait your turn at a gas tank without complaint. You may be impatient, but you don't complain. Why I went into Richardson's Market the other day and had to wait eight minutes (no exaggeration) before I could get waited on, but the two clerks who were on duty were busy and I did not complain although I had to get the policeman to hold the trolley for me. I hate to think what would happen if any one had to wait seven or eight minutes for service in the post office.

As most of you probably know, we have recently been given authority to put on two additional carriers, who at present, are working as auxiliaries. These two additional carriers would undoubtedly have been authorized long before while still in the old office had we had working space for them. It was a huge proposition to readjust and rearrange 12 routes and get them arranged to the best advantage, and the end is not yet—it will be some time before we can be reasonably certain as to the best arrangement. You know somewhere in the good book it says "the first shall be last and the last shall be first." Well, in this rearrangement some of the people who got their mail "early" under the old arrangement, being at the start or beginning of the route, are "now" at the ends of the new routes and get their mail late, and most of them are busy telling me what they think of me, but they can offer no reasonable solution of the problem. A man living on the west side wrote Washington that postal conditions in Winchester were deplorable, and much worse than they were before the extra men were put on. Washington of course sent the letter to me, and I replied that the only deplorable thing about the service in Winchester was the fact that this particular man, owing to the readjustment of the routes got his mail half an hour later than he did before.

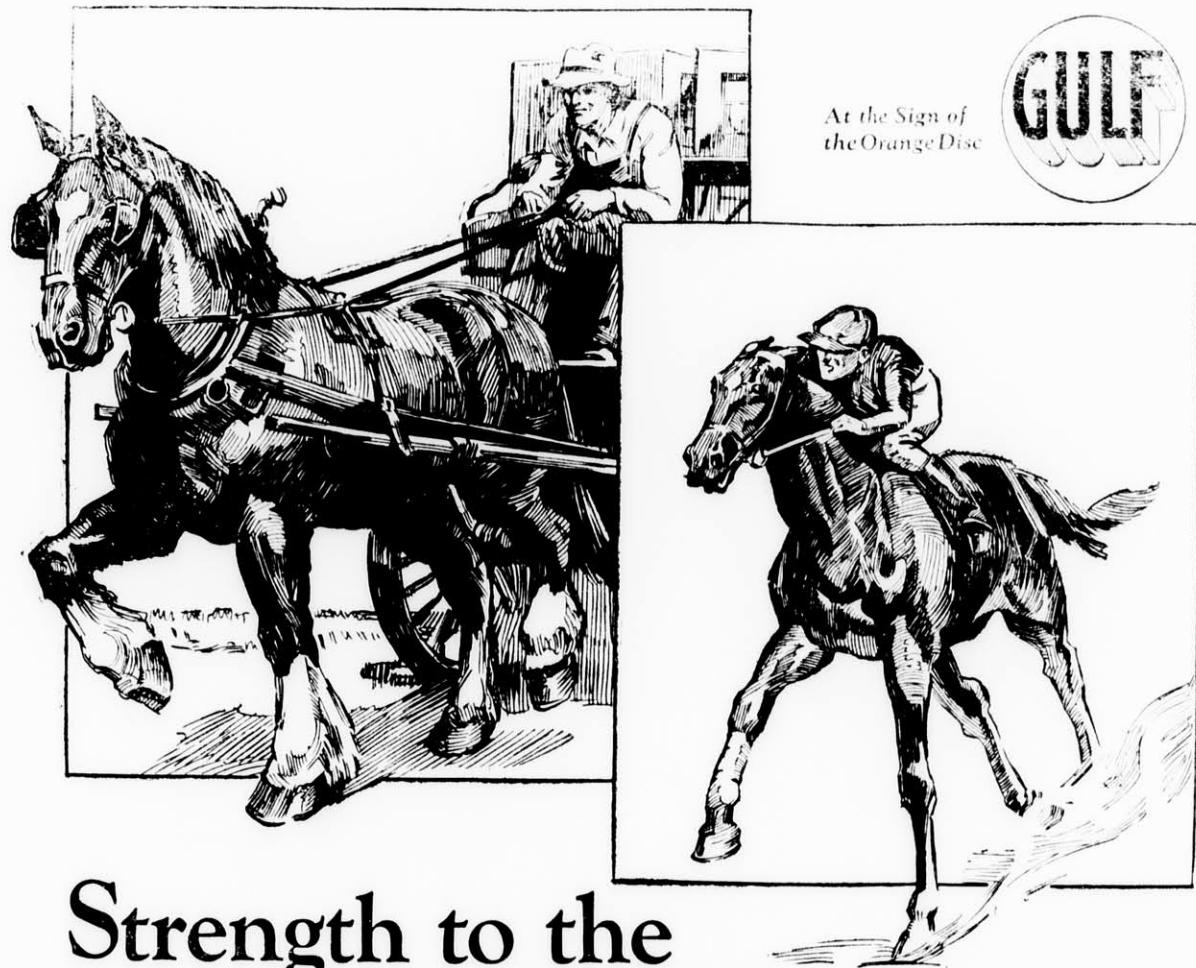

Now, what makes your mail late, as for instance, why should it take eight hours for a special delivery letter to get from Brookline to Winchester, when you can go in the trolley in about two hours. Well, how "did" it happen? It happened on a day when there was a heavy snow storm. The letter was dropped in a street letter box about 9:30 a. m., just after a collection had been made. The next collection was an hour later, and on account of the heavy going just missed the 11 o'clock mail. The next mail from Brookline was 1 o'clock, and still on account of heavy going the truck was late in reaching the South Postal Station. From there it just missed connections at the North Postal Station and the next mail for Winchester was at 4:33. It arrived in Winchester at 4:55 p. m., and was left at the address at 5:30 or earlier, but the addressee was not at home and did not arrive home until 10 o'clock, and consequently did not actually receive the letter until that time, and so, a day or two later an article appeared in the Boston papers stating that it took 13 hours to get a special delivery letter from Brookline delivered in Winchester.

Let me explain the difference between special "delivery" and special "handling," the rates for each now being about the same. Special "handling" means that your parcel will get the same handling and expedition as first class mail "while in transit." It does not necessarily affect it after arrival at the office of address. Special "Delivery" means that it will get the same handling and expedition as first class mail while in transit, and "also" special delivery after arrival at the office of address. So if you are in doubt as to whether to employ special delivery or special handling, use special delivery.

Some people think we are too fussy or don't know our business. A woman came in a few days ago with a sealed package going to New Zealand. We told her as it was sealed it would require first class postage. She replied "no, as it was a customs article it would go all right sealed at parcel post rates." We insisted that we were right in our decision, and she said she would take it to Boston where they were not so fussy. Well she did take it to Boston, and they did send it, but it came back to our office from San Francisco with instructions to collect 22 cents additional postage, consequently there was two weeks unnecessary delay which might have been avoided had she been content to rely on our interpretation of the postal laws and regulations.

We are often blamed for delay in mail to and from Winchester, but I want to say right now that not once in a hundred times is the fault at this office. I don't want to criticize Boston for I know the congested condition they are in, and what they are up against, but the fault is "not" here, and I can't make that statement too (strong) and it is noor policy to "knock" your own office. We have townspeople who tell us that they go

To be what we are and to be capable of what we could be is one of the greatest things in life.

Life is more like a grindstone. It will grind you down or sharpen you up depending on the stuff you are composed of.

A contented mind is like a continual feast.

A man's riches won't heal a discontented mind.

Life is not so short, but that there is always time to extend courtesy.

IN OPPOSITION TO BILLBOARD ON LORING AVENUE

At last Monday's meeting of the Board of Selectmen Mrs. Catherine McGuerty of 10 Loring avenue, Mrs. Nora O'Melia of 16 Loring avenue, Joseph A. Mitchell, J. J. Kenney and R. M. Armstrong, representing John Donnelly & Sons, the Building Commissioner and Town Counsel appeared in connection with the application of Donnelly & Son for the Board's sanction to the renewal of a billboard permit, to be granted by the Department of Public Works; said billboard to be erected at 15 Loring avenue.

Mr. Mitchell, speaking for Donnelly & Sons, hoped that the Board would agree to the granting of the license while Mrs. McGuerty, Mrs. O'Melia and the Building Commissioner opposed the granting of the permit.

The Board has already gone on record as opposing the permit and has so informed the Department of Public Works. The meeting was declared closed and the clerk was instructed to notify the Department of Public Works of the Selectmen's opposition to the granting of the permit with the request that the Board be given an opportunity to be heard by the Department in the matter.

Mrs. Milton J. Quinn with her niece Miss Ruth Poland is vacationing at Hyannis.

Mrs. F. K. Wallburg of Wildwood street is at her summer home in Allerton.

Miss Mary Cullen of Stone avenue was operated on for appendicitis at the Winchester Hospital on Monday. She is convalescing satisfactorily.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Rice of the Parkway are spending the summer cruising off Marblehead on their auxiliary sloop, "Bobolink II." Their headquarters is at the Boston Yacht Club.

While driving his automobile in Woburn at the junction of Main, Campbell and Salem streets Wednesday evening, Gaspar Maggio of 92 Swanton street struck and knocked down Mrs. Mary Maloney of 14 Campbell street, Woburn. The accident occurred as Maggio was backing into a gasoline filling station. The Winchester man took Mrs. Maloney to the Choate Hospital in Woburn where she was treated by Dr. Thomas Caulfield. He found her to be suffering from injuries to her right leg and knee.

The street lists or poll tax books are now ready at the Assessors' Office. Don't crowd.

Why not start these hot summer days right? Have your tasty breakfast, 7 to 9, in the "open spaces," on the cool veranda of the Fireside at 17 Church street. Quick service.

Breakfast, luncheon, tea or dinner served in the cool green rooms and the open veranda of the Fireside, 47 Church street.

The Town of Stoneham, through its Selectmen, is protesting the erection of a billboard 50 feet long and 12 feet high on the top of a new building recently erected in its square. A protest has been made to the Highway Commission against the granting of a permit and a hearing has been demanded.

Frank Tansey, great little portside of Winchester, held Reading to 4 his last night while winning his twilight game for the league leading Quincy Club. Francis also aided with his war club, banging out a hefty triple.

A return to our regular schedule of meeting brought the visitors whom we missed so much last week. Surely a very great deal is lacking when visitors are absent from our gatherings. Rotary is essentially a social organization, it is rapidly covering the world. Unquestionably the freedom with which a member can visit any club in the Rotarian domain, has had much to do with the substantial growth of Rotary.

As an illustration of the above it is interesting to note that during the week past, one of our Winchester Rotarians attended a meeting of the Rotary Club at Calais, Me., on the eastern boundary of the continental United States, while another Winchester Rotarian attended a meeting of the Rotary Club at Los Angeles, Cal., on the country's western rim. A good spread for a small club.

President Roscoe requests that all members get in touch with "Bill" next Thursday the 18th, or previously in regard to the fund for the Tuberculosis Committee.

Our guest and speaker at this meeting was our fellow-townsmen, Mr. Nelson Hawley.

Mr. Hawley spoke about the Winchester Home for the Aged. Having been connected with the administration of the Home for many years, he is exceptionally well qualified to give information as to its history and work.

Founded in 1894 by a fund contributed by the late Philip Waldmyer and the constant recipient of constructive attention on the part of our citizens the Home is an organization in which every Winchesterite may well take pride. Having been fortunate in securing sympathetic management it has always been possible to maintain its atmosphere of contentment, and few indeed of the residents have really been unhappy. On the contrary having been relieved of the cares which commonly burden those who are in the evening of life, those who have accepted the hospitality of the Home are usually much benefitted physically and provided with more pleasant surroundings.

The Home has expanded from its original capacity of six residents until it is now capable of caring for 18. While it is not entirely self-supporting, yet the management rarely meets with refusal from such of our citizens as are approached for aid. We know full well that our contributions are used wisely, and who forsooth, is positive that he or she will never be in need of such service as the Home can supply.

Again we bring to your attention the well-known fact that many of our members are out of town. Let every man who is here make especial effort to come to our summer sessions. Our June attendance was good. Let us make July at least equally good.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE PROGRAM

Clara Bow fans will have the opportunity of seeing and hearing their favorite in her second all-talking Paramount triumph which comes to the Metropolitan Theatre under the title of "Dangerous Curves" the week starting Friday, July 12. Richard Arlen, the handsome young screen artist who has won his way to stardom since this picture was released, plays the leading role opposite the princess of personality and pep. Loving for love—that is the theme of this newest dialogue film opus in which the favorite of millions seizes the opportunity to delineate the character of a girl who we all can't help but admire for her sterling qualities.

Kay Francis, whose superb portrayal in "Gentlemen of the Press," has placed her in the foremost ranks of the new screen era, does a notable performance as the siren who brings the necessary contrast in character for story purposes. T. Roy Barnes, and Jack Liden are included in the cast of principals.

"Garden of Love" is the principal stage attraction featuring Ted Claire and the matchless stage band in addition to Bayes and Speck, Renoff and Renova, Betty Taylor, William Cleary, The Dorothy Berke Girls, and the Felicia Sorrel Daisy ballet with Michael Angelo.

Guy Harrison will present another musical thrill in the form of "Slavonic Rhapsody," interpreted by the Metropolitan Greater Orchestra.

Richard Bonelli, Chicago Opera star, will render "Pagliacci" through the medium of Fox Movietone.

Starting Friday, July 19, a most unusual and delightful treat is in store for Metropolitan theatre fans, who will see and hear Mary Brian, Buddy Rogers, George K. Arthur, and a superb cast in Paramount's all-talking photoplay, "The River of Romance," which will be the stellar attraction of a huge gala program.

TRANSCOAN FLIGHTS BRING FAME TO LANDING PLACES
Seven relatively unknown places in the Old World have flared to fame as a result of the unscheduled landings of transoceanic airplanes from America, according to a compilation made by the National Geographic Society. The places, the flyers, and the dates of landing are as follows:

Horta, Azores Islands. Comdr. A. C. Read, U.S.N., piloting the U. S. Navy seaplane (biplane) "N-C 4," from Trepassy Newfoundland landed May 17, 1919. (After a delay the plane flew on to Lisbon, Portugal.)

Clifden, Ireland. Capt. John Alcock, British Army, and Lieut. Arthur W. Brown, U.S., flying a biplane from St. Johns, Newfoundland, landed June 15, 1919.

Ver-Sur-Mer, north coast of France near Havre. Comdr. Richard E. Byrd, with Noville, Acosta and Balchen, flying from New York in the monoplane "America," landed July 1, 1927.

Eislaben, central Germany (Prussian Saxony). Clarence D. Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine, flying the monoplane "Columbia," from New York landed June 6, 1927.

Dead Man's Island, Spitsbergen. Capt. George H. Wilkins and Lieut. Carl Ben Eielson, flying from Point Barrow, Alaska, landed April 16, 1928.

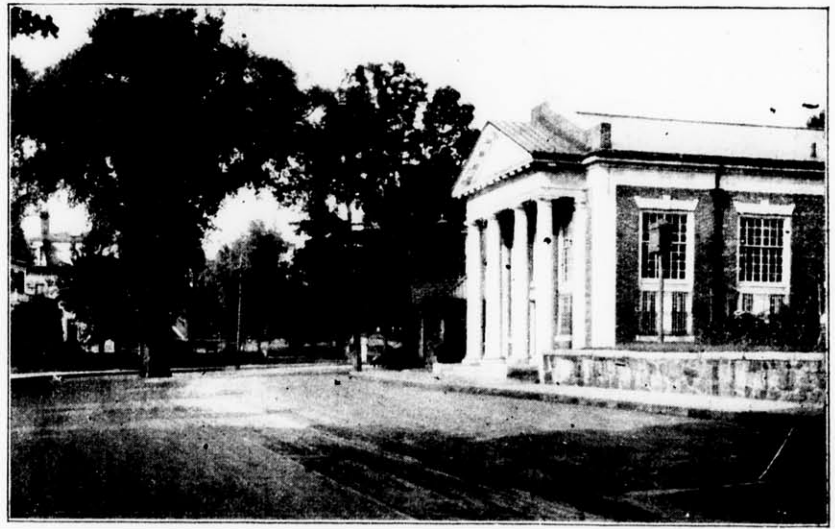

Burry Port and Llanelli; south coast of Wales near Swansea. Amelia Earhart with Wilmer Stultz and Louis E. Gordon, flying from Trepassy, Newfoundland in the monoplane "Friendship," (seaplane) landed June 18, 1928.

Comillas; north coast of Spain near Santander. Jean Assollant, Rene Lefevre, Armand Lotti and Arthur Schreiber, flying from Old Orchard, Maine, in the monoplane "Yellow Bird," landed June 14, 1929.

In addition to these transoceanic flights to out-of-the-way places, two flights from North America to Europe have gone directly to their original objectives: Lindbergh when he flew from New York to Paris, landing his "Spirit of St. Louis" on May 21, 1927, at Le Bourget flying field; and William S. Brock and Edward F. Schlee when they flew from Harbour Grace, Newfoundland, to London, landing their "Pride of Detroit" at Croydon Airdrome, Aug. 28,

WINCHESTER STAR

Fame has fallen from the sky upon New World communities much less frequently. Port Natal, Brazil, has had the news spotlight played upon it twice as the result of landings of transatlantic flights. On Oct. 15, 1927, the French flyers, Costes and Le Brix, landed there on a non-stop flight from St. Louis, Senegal, Africa. On July 5, 1928, the Italian flyers, Ferrarin and Delprete came to earth near Port Natal after a non-stop flight from Rome.

Greenly Island, between Labrador and Newfoundland, is the spot in North America made famous by the only east-west, non-stop, airplane flight over the North Atlantic. It was the landing place of "The Bremen," April 13, 1928. The ship, carrying Capt. Herman Koehl, Comdr. James Fitzmaurice and Baron von Huenefeld, flew from Dublin.

to other offices to send their mail because they can get better service. Well, the answer to that statement is that we have business people come to our office from Arlington, Woburn, Malden, and other places, regularly, who inform us that they come to Winchester because they get much better service. So that's that, as they say.

It is strange how firmly convinced some people are in their own minds that they are speaking the truth, when we are positive that they are mistaken. Let me give you an instance. A lady, very prominent in town affairs, came to me a short time ago, and stated that she mailed in our office "with her own hands," 30 to 40 letters all addressed to Winchester and "none" of them had been delivered. She was quite excited and very much exasperated and disgusted. We pacified her as best we could but did not succeed in convincing her that she "might" be mistaken. Two weeks later we got a bundle of letters from the Boston Post Office containing 24 letters all addressed to "Town." As Boston had recognized the streets they had sent them to us. Well, of course we did not know who had mailed them although we had our suspicions. About a week later we received a second bundle from Boston, and it so happened that a lady to whom one of them was addressed was in our office when they arrived. We asked her if she would kindly open it and tell us who sent it, and sure enough, it was from the lady who was so positive that she mailed them herself right in our office. We immediately called her up and told her the circumstances and she said, "O yes, I remember now, I did give them to my husband and he must have mailed them in Cambridge." Just one more incident. A prominent lady wrote to Washington complaining of our poor service, enclosing an envelope which had contained a dividend check which she stated was mailed in New York on the 20th of the month and which was not delivered to her until the 29th. Washington, of course, refers all complaints to me, and at first glance it looked as if she was right—the New York postmark certainly looked like the 20th. I couldn't figure it out so I finally got a magnifying glass and examined it and found that the postmark was in reality the 28th and it was delivered to her on the 29th. I took the envelope and magnifying glass over to her house and convinced her that she had had first class service. I hope I have not bored you with all this, but I simply want to prove to you that things are not always what they seem.

Now some people say "let's get into the Boston district and we will get better service." Don't fool yourself, you won't. In the first place, the Boston Postal District is the largest postal district in the United States and you will find yourself only a very small toad in a very large pond, and I'll tell you why you won't get better service. We get down here at 7 a. m., and find a carrier out sick—sometimes three of them, and we have had as many as four out in a single day. It is hard enough and takes time enough as it is to get men to take their places, but if we were in the Boston district we would have to telephone to Boston and wait until the men could get out here, and then the chances are that they would be men who had never been in Winchester, know nothing about the town, and would be all day making half a trip. In Stoneham a while ago, they phoned to Boston for a sub-carrier. A man came out who had never been in the town. He finally got started on the route, delivered three streets, came back to the office, threw down his mail and said, "to Hell with the job, I'm going back to Boston" and he did. Another thing, practically all parcel post from Boston for such places as Arlington, Belmont, Waverley, etc., instead of going direct to those cities or towns are sent to West Medford and re-routed from there. Speaking of late deliveries you sometimes think a carrier is late in getting to your house. I have a relative who lives in a neighboring town in the Boston district whose house is only an eighth of a mile from the office. A short time ago she received her first delivery at 4:30 p. m. And I guess this is the proper time to tell a good one on us. About a month ago, we had occasion to use one of our subs who had never carried for us before. We got him started out about 10:30. By 4 o'clock people were beginning to call up and ask where their mail was. At 5 o'clock he hadn't shown up at the office and I sent out a man to look him up. He was just finishing his route, but he had not made a mistake, and he has since developed into one of the best carriers who have for that work.

I am not going to say much about rates, for I personally don't pretend to know very much about them, they vary too much and change too often for a postmaster to attempt to keep track of them, as he does not have the necessary time to study them. I will only say that there are 32 countries to which you can send a letter for two cents. You know a postmaster who is in a government building is also custodian of said building. This increases his work and responsibility fully 25 per cent but he gets no additional salary.

Just a few interesting incidents. A party called up the other day and said, "I got a money order there yesterday for $97.40 to go to Ireland. I gave the clerk $100 and he only gave me $1.60 change. I think your clerks should be more careful about giving out change, he owes me a dollar." I replied, "Wait a minute let's look it up." She said, "Well that's all he gave me was $1.60." I said "Your money order was for $97.40?" "Yes," she said, "and all he gave me back was $1.60." I replied, "Well your money order was for $97.40 and the fee was $1.00—10 cents for each $10 so the total was $98.40 and your change was right." A man came with a suit case, put it through the window and said, "I want to send this through the mail." The clerk looked it all over and finding no address, asked "where is it going?" "Hell" said the man, "have I got to put that on?" Another man came in with a letter addressed to "John Smith," California. The clerk asked what part of California. The man replied, "I don't know. California." The clerk told him it must be addressed to some city or town or it could not be delivered. The man replied again, "O, anywhere." The clerk said, "will I make it San Francisco?" "Sure," says the man, San Francisco. So it went to San Francisco. And speaking of blind addresses. We received a letter a while ago addressed to a nurse who was visiting some one in Winchester. The envelope had no street address, and was not addressed in care of the party with whom she was visiting. I made six telephone calls trying to locate her as the letter was special delivery, and I "did" finally locate her and the letter was delivered.

Does it pay to be obliging? Sometimes we think it does not. We are frequently called on the phone after the parcel post man has left the office with all the mail that arrived up to the time of his departure, by some one who is looking for a package that has been a long time in transit, and are asked if we will not look and see if we cannot find the package. We reply that the parcel post man has left the office with all the mail that has arrived up to that time, but as two or three mails have arrived since then, we will look and see. So we dump four or five sacks, sometimes more, and finally find the package, and inform the inquirer that it has just arrived on the last mail. The reply we get about eight times out of 10, is "Well I knew it was there all the time."

We have been called up Sunday mornings as early as 7 o'clock, and week days as late as 11 p. m., to answer questions about the mail; all of which, is, of course, part of the job. Just a few examples of peculiar names of post offices or towns, and odd combinations. These examples are copied verbatim from the "Postal Bulletin" and are establishments of new routes or mail connections:

In North Carolina, "Sheets to McGrady," Indiana, "Lincoln to Santa Claus," and "Arms to President," Kentucky, "Sarah to Stephen," and "Catherine to Nancy," and in Colorado, "Wagons to Holyoke." In West Virginia there is a post office and town by the name of "Loonyville."

In conclusion let me say: Don't address your letters to "Town."

Don't place any writing or typewritten matter in parcel post or second class matter. It makes your package subject to first class postage. When asked what your parcel contains, don't fail to answer frankly and freely. By so doing you may save yourself considerable trouble and inconvenience.

Don't fail to put your return address on "all" of your mail. Over 20,000,000 letters go to the dead letter office yearly because of wrong or insufficient address.

And finally let me say: If you want to get your watch repaired you would not take it to a carpenter. If your car needs attention, you would not apply to a blacksmith. Therefore, if you want any information in regard to the service or the workings of the Winchester Post Office, call us up or come to see us; don't take the word of an outsider who has no way of knowing what we are or are not, doing or what service we are rendering. Rest assured that your Postmaster will do everything he can do for you.

The buses for the annual Guild outing will leave the Town Hall at 9:15 on Thursday morning, July 18. This year's outing will be held at Salem Willows. Anyone desiring to attend should communicate with Sister B. Young so that reservations may be made. Attendance is not limited to members but all friends of the Guild are welcome.

On Wednesday afternoon, July 24, Sister Murphy will entertain the members and their friends at a garden party at her home on Salem street. Bridge and whist will be enjoyed followed by refreshments on the lawn.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

James J. McKenna of 23 Arthur street, Francis M. Tansey of 81 Nelson street, Lawrence J. McLaughlin of 287 Washington street and John M. Delorey of 21 Salem street have been appointed special police officers for three months to serve on the road construction job to be done on Forest street.

Shortly after 1 o'clock Wednesday morning the police were notified that a Chrysler roadster, owned by Robert W. Hart of 11 Glengarry, had been wrecked as the result of colliding with a tree on Bacon street on the Lakeview road. The occupants of the car were taken to their home by passing motorists and were reported as uninjured. The accident is said to have been caused by a bursting tire.

Assistant Town Engineer and Mrs. John H. Sharon of Webster street are the parents of a daughter, born July 9 at the Winchester Hospital.

At a recent meeting of the Finance Committee the School Committee was granted $1500 for repairs to the ventilating system of the George Washington School. The School Committee's original request was for $4000 of which $3000 was to be spent for the Washington School ventilating system and $1000 to be spent for the removal of water from the basement of the Lincoln School. After some debate the School Committee cut its request to $2500 and this amount was voted by the Finance Committee to $1500.

Mrs. Annie M. Hanlon, past president of the Winchester Emblem Club who has been seriously ill at her home on Cutting street, is reported as sufficiently improved to be able to get about a bit.

W. B. C. NOTES

The Winchester Boat Club made its customary few entries in the annual July 4 regatta held under the auspices of the New England Amateur Rowing Association, in the lower Charles River Basin. As is often the case with regattas, water conditions were such that smooth watermanship was out of the question. Shells were continually swamping, the upsets were many, and finally a gloom was cast over the whole day by a drowning accident. A member of the Omicron-Delta crew of Waltham, lost his life when that crew capsized just prior to the war canoe event. The police and press boats hurried to the rescue; the ill fated paddler's own crewmates did their utmost; despite all possible efforts the tragedy could not be averted. It was afterwards learned that the paddler could not swim. It is difficult to understand just why an individual unable to take care of himself in the water, will risk his own life and the lives of others, by indulging in a sport obviously unsuitable for him. And yet, very occasionally a serious accident will happen due to just such a reason, and in spite of all possible precautionary measures being taken by the officials. The accident was a sad one, regrettable and to make matters even worse, avoidable, had common sense been applied.

Aside from this, the regatta was a success. The races were all interestingly close and in several cases thrills were provided by close finishes. The first Winchester club entrant to go to the mark was Kenneth Pratt, who seems to be our chief exponent of the single blades. In the single-singles race, Kenneth found the rough water conditions nearly too much for his fragile and unseaworthy shell. He managed to keep afloat but as he was compelled to paddle at a relatively low stroke, he finished in the second division of a large field of contestants.

Philip Hight entered in the singles-double blades race was next to go to the starting line. His ability in this event is well known and as was expected, he turned in a good showing, placing second. Hight got away to a leading start but was soon overtaken by Higgins, crack Crescent Canoe Club paddler. Higgins gradually built up a commanding lead, but in the last eighth mile Hight sprinted making a splendid bid for first honors. At the finish line, he had all but caught the leader who won by not more than a margin of two feet. This race was the closest of several very exciting ones.

David Downer and Kenneth Pratt were teamed for the tandem-single blades event. This youngster-veteran combination proved to all that single blade racing is not entirely a lost art to the Mystic Lakers. They paddled a strong, finished race and crossed the line fourth, being nosed out of third place by a crack West Roxbury pair. They were well up in all stages of the race and their effort is fully deserving of honorable mention.

Winchester had two teams in the tandem-double blades race. Capt. Edward Sandberg and Alan Hovey made up one and the youngster team composed of Daniel West and "Honus" Wagner, the other. In this event the Sandberg and Hovey combination eked out a slight lead at the start, maintaining the advantage to win. Higgins and Mosher of the Crescent Canoe Club were a very close second. Winchester's younger entry found the back wash very bothersome and were lacking in experience. The boys showed plenty of racing spirit and grit, however, and if they continue to practice, will soon be leading the older teams home.

The club four, double-blades race was Winchester's major event. The new four man shell, winner in the Omicron-Delta W. B. C. meet, June 8, was rechristened to the satisfaction of all, and crossed the finish line the winner by a wide margin. For a time the Crescent Canoe offered stiff competition, but after two or three bids, was left behind. Finally the Crescents capsized, thereby giving second place to the Dedham four which was several lengths behind them. The Winchester crew was composed of Edward Sandberg, stroke; Philip Hight, 2; Alan Hovey, 3; and David Downer, stern. The first three named have paddled in the four in previous races. David Downer, the youngest of the crew filled the stern position to the queen's taste and therefore becomes a fixture in that position.

This four combination is now practicing every evening in preparation for the Eastern Division, A. C. A. regatta on July 29-31. The paddlers will at that time travel to Providence, R. I., where they are hopeful of meeting and defeating the Pendleton Canoe Club four, which is regarded as the champion outfit of all "Canoe-dome." Headed by Ernest Reidel, world's champion double blade paddler, the Pendletons must be conceded to be the decided favorite. The Winchester crew fully recognizes this, but feels that they have a slender, outside chance which they intend to take advantage of. They are hopeful of at least making a good showing. In this regatta, Hight will again take care of the single-double blade assignment and he can be counted upon to make a good showing.

OUTBOARD DOINGS

Last Saturday afternoon at Winchester Boat Club the second of the series of races for the outboard motor boat was held.

Three 5-mile races made up the program and they were run so that the turn came in the bay in front of the Winchester club house. There is an added note of suspense and interest in this sort of course. The boats start in the bay, whirr out through the narrow toward the boulevard and down the lake, right out of sight they go and the spectators have the added thrill of wondering which boat will burst into view again and be in the lead. When they do rush through the narrow again, there comes the quick slewing turn which is the crowning spectacle of the event.

James Fitch, with his "Itch," Dwight Hill with "Vee Square" (V2), and you will have to pardon us, in our last racing article we called it

"Vee Two" which was wrong, and Mal Reed, with his "Pumpkin Seed," were the racers. Harry Moulton and "Brad" Hill are away for the summer, so they could not take part.

In the first race Mr. Hill was the winner and he is still the honor driver on the turns, gaining all that the others take from him on the straightaway. "Mal" Reed was not bad on the turn, and even without a fin on his craft he maneuvered a pretty turn. "Jimmie" Fitch's boat we are afraid is not built to slide in close to the pole and turn short as a spill would result if he tried to cut it like Mr. Hill. "Jim" Fitch took second in this encounter and "Mal" Reed's "Pumpkin Seed" spouted for third place.

The second race, a handicap event, was won by "Mal" Reed. He got the "Seed" away to a better start in this one. Dwight Hill took second place and "Jimmie's" "Itch" was third.

In the last 5-mile encounter the "Vee Square" piloted by Mr. Hill again crossed the line first, "Jim" Fitch had second honors and "Mal" Reed and "Pumpkin Seed" came in third.

We understand these races are to be held weekly with points, time and handicaps being kept to see who is "champ" at the end of the season.

Mr. Dwight B. Hill is not only a racing pilot but he is also a willing chauffeur for water sport stunts. With his outboard boat he towed several

Winchester B. C. members in a canoe, singly, and gave them quite a thrill and a splash. Some of the boys rigged up an aqua-plane by building out the sides of an old toboggan and letting Mr. Hill tow it at about the rate of 20 miles an hour. This proved real sport. A number of swimmers became quite expert at riding the "sea-skimmer."

"Jimmie" Fitch was first to master the art, and he was quickly followed by Clarence Russell, Nancy Wilson, Malcolm Reed and Barbara Guild. Everybody took a spill or two but always came back for more. The wind was blowing a gale from the south-west, and on the turns, as quickly as the plane rode out beyond the wake, the rider would be pitched headlong into the "drink." So long as Mr. Hill headed ed straight the aqua-star was O. K., but when he turned about, oh, boy!

The only Winchester Boat Club participants in the Medford Boat Club's water sports program last Saturday afternoon each won a race. Miss Nancy Wilson won the 50-yard swim for girls. She also was a very close second in the mixed tandem canoe race with "Tillie," just being beaten by a couple of feet.

"Ken" Pratt won the single single canoe race and another ash tray (he doesn't smoke). The Winchester boys are all laughing.

The Fire Department was called at 1:42 Tuesday afternoon to put out an over-heated motor in the cellar of Murdoch's ice cream parlor at 23 Thompson street.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

When the girls of Winchester bundled themselves inside of bales of clothing the men couldn't talk too much about it, and now that the girls aren't wearing anything to speak of, it is about the only thing the majority of Winchester's male population do speak of.

Reducing the size of the paper currency solves one problem anyhow. We newspapermen will not have to have our pockets enlarged to accommodate our pay envelopes.

The "resourcefulness" of a certain fellow here in Winchester inspires us to poetize thusly:

Corrected his wife with a chair.
At the very first stroke
The furniture broke,
So he dragged her around by the hair.

Winchester's professional gossipers start off with "and they say."

Detractors of fair Winchester are as scarce as silver dollars minted in 1804.

According to one townsman of our acquaintance another rather nice kind of home insurance is a good garden and a flock of chickens.

Some Winchesterites long for wealth and fame,
And others social standing;
But what we'd like the most of all,
Is the gift of understanding.
We'd like to read the hearts of men,
Not judge by outward seeming,
And know just when to sympathize,
Not stand by idly dreaming.

Gold, stage coaches, a spectacular race, six shooters and some mighty thrilling stunts of the star Ken Maynard are all combined to make "The California Mail" the feature picture now playing at the Orpheum Theatre, Malden, an unusual western motion picture. "The California Mail" is a story of the west during the Civil War and points out the fact that the western gold mines played a tremendous part keeping the union army in the field and maintaining the credit of the nation during its times of stress. Dainty Dorothy Dwan has the leading feminine role. The second feature on this program is another episode of the mystery serial, "Queen of the North Woods" starring Walter Miller and Ethlyne Clair.

This is a story of the Northwest Mounted Police, who have been an inspiration for song and story for generations.

"Girls Gone Wild" the feature picture coming to the Orpheum Theatre for the first three days of next week is a clever story of a care-free flapper, spoiled by indulgent parents and permitted to shatter laws with impunity, who goes in search of a "thrill" and becomes involved in a blood feud between desperate gangsters. Sue Carol portrays the girl. Nick Stuart who is co-featured with Miss Carol plays a highly sympathetic role and extracts the utmost from it. Hilarious comedy and deeply tender romance succeed each other in rapid succession in "George Washington Cohen" which will be the second feature on this program. George

Jessel plays the title role, the boy who in living up to his name becomes involved in amazing adventures that provide riotous laughter from start to finish.

WINCHESTER PLAYERS IN NEW-BURY TOURNAMENT

Several Winchester players figured prominently in the recently concluded annual invitation tennis tournament at the Oldtown Country Club in Newbury. William Packer paired with Francis Smith to win the final match in men's doubles from the Newton High combination of Arthur Noble and Donald Scott, 6-3, 1-6, 6-3.

The final match in mixed doubles brought together two Winchester teams, Francis Smith and his sister, Janet, being opposed by the Packers, Louise and William. Francis and Janet proved successful, winning in two interesting sets, 6-3, 9-7.

Louise and William Packer put Marry Cutter and Robert Coit out of the mixed doubles running in the second round, winning from the Winchester High player and her partner, a former Winchester boy, after a stubborn fight, 10-12, 6-2, 6-4.

going east on the Parkway and in making a left turn into Bacon street, crashed through the fence at the east side of the roadway. The accident was caused when Caruso swerved his car to avoid a collision with another machine. The Moon was towed away from the scene of the accident by the Anderson Motor Company's wrecker.

DANIEL FRANKLIN HOLMES

Daniel Franklin Holmes of 34 Oxford street, formerly for many years engaged in the trucking business in Boston, died at noon on Friday, July 5, in the Winchester Hospital where he had undergone an operation.
He had been for some months in failing health.

Mr. Holmes was the son of John and Mary Ann (Crockett) Holmes and was born Jan. 15, 1852, at Buxton,
Me. After being educated in the Buxton public schools, Mr. Holmes went as a young man to Boston where he entered the trucking business and became a partner in the Moulton & Holmes Trucking Company, with which concern he was actively identified for 42 years. He retired from business in 1921.

Nine years ago Mr. Holmes came to Winchester and had since made his home here. He was much interested in the work of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce and had served for some years as a member of the Chamber's board of directors. He was past president of the Master Truck-man's Association and Past Master of Adelphi Lodge of Masons of South
Boston. Surviving are his wife, Mrs.
Mary Louise Holmes, and one son, Walker B. Holmes, the latter engaged in the paper manufacturing business in Holyoke.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the late residence and were conducted by the Rev. George Hale Reed, pastor of the Unitarian

Church. The interment was at Hampden.

Box 24 was sounded at 12:03 Tuesday morning for a fire which started in the Ford sedan of Mr. Daniel J.
O'Leary while the machine was in the garage at 16 Kendall street. How the fire started could not be determined. The interior of the Ford was badly burned and some smoke damage done the garage.

Last Saturday morning a Chevrolet sedan, driven by Marguerite B. Baker of 181 Forest street, was in collision on upper Main street with another Chevrolet sedan, owned and driven by Raymond M. Leslee of 7A Grove street, Woburn. According to the police the Baker sedan, while headed north, skidded and sideswiped Leslee's machine which was going south. No one was reported injured but both cars were damaged.

NASH '400'

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

This is the Sedan you will buy, if you Compare in the $900 Field

WE will not need to urge you to buy the Nash "400" Standard Six Sedan if you only compare it to other Sedans in the $900 field.

First of all, it is a Nash, built in the traditional Nash manner, with precision workmanship in every part.

And second, it is a Nash "400", and that means something in today's lineup of motor cars.

It means more powerful, more durable,
more enjoyable motor performance.
The engine in this sedan is a new high compression type with 7 bearings instead of 3 or 4, with aluminum alloy (Invar strut) pistons instead of cast iron pistons, and with full pressure lubrication to every single bearing point. Even the connecting rods in this Nash engine are rifle drilled, to supply oil under pressure up to the wrist pin bearings.

Other "400" features which this car brings to you are the world's easiest steering—a luxury and refinement of interior decoration far beyond expectation at its price—size and capacity for five full grown passengers—riding ease attained by alloy steel springs individually designed for its size and weight, plus outboard mounted, Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers.

And finally, no extra charge for bumpers, front and rear, Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers, spare tire lock and tire cover. There's nothing except a spare tire to buy—none of these other items, customarily charged for as "extras" at retail prices, to pay for, when you buy the Nash "400"!

Price Range (f. o. b. factory) of 23 Nash "400" Models, $885 to $2190 including Touring, Roadster, Coupe, Cabriolet, Victoria and Sedan Models

Last Sunday afternoon Patrolman James F. Donaghey of the Police Department arrested in the center of the operator of a Dodge touring car for driving without a license and while under the influence of liquor. When booked at headquarters the man gave his name as Frederick G. Field of Roslindale. He appeared in the District Court at Woburn Monday morning when his case was continued until Tuesday.

He defaulted on Tuesday and a warrant for his arrest was issued. He appeared with counsel at court Thursday morning and had his case continued until July 23. The man is believed by the authorities to be the possessor of an interesting police record.

According to returns at the Town Hall Robert H. Likens of this town and Elinor Berry of Melrose were married July 1 at Melrose by the Rev. Hugh W. Smith.

The office of the Collector of Taxes has been a busy place during the past week, two extra clerks having been put on to aid in the work of getting out the excise tax and water bills.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Winchester Lodge of Elks is to join with Woburn Lodge in a monster outing to be held at Martin Luther Grove, Tynsboro, on Aug. 3. Exalted Ruler Benjamin Cullen is in charge of local arrangements and a more detailed announcement of plans for the occasion will be given in a later issue of the Star.

The Fire Department's life saving boat has been mounted upon a carriage and equipped with rubber tired automobile wheels so that it can be immediately towed wherever necessary. A certain amount of time was consumed in loading the boat upon a truck in previous instances and the new arrangement will get the boat to its destination in the quickest possible time. The department's carpenter, Harry Brown, made the cradle for the boat and the whole rig is a neat looking job. Efficiency always, is the Fire Department's motto.

Driver Edward D. Fitzgerald of the Fire Department's Engine 3 began his annual vacation on Wednesday.

The police were notified on Tuesday by Trustee Robert Fay of Association Hall on Vine street that a lock had been broken on one of the doors and several panes of glass smashed in the rear of the building.

Complaints are being repeatedly received at Police Headquarters about dogs barking at night in various parts of the town. It is particularly thoughtful to permit a barking dog to disturb those in the neighborhood who do not sleep as soundly as those who own the yelping animal.

Dr. George A. Barron of this town attended the demonstration of the new Myoculator, held for optometrists on July 1, 2 and 3 in Boston at the Parker House. The Myoculator is an instrument for correcting eye deficiencies such as cross eyes, partial blindness, etc. without the use of lenses and has already been used in many cases with marked success. Following the demonstration Dr. Barron left for his regular visit to his patients in New Hampshire, returning to Winchester this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Flanders are among the Winchester colony summering at Megansett.

Elbridge "Arbie" Taylor of this town, who recently graduated from Tilton Academy where he played upon the varsity football and baseball teams, is located for the summer at the Harbor Club, Seal Harbor, Me.

David A. Carlu, local painting contractor, has had a crew of men busy this week renovating the public library.

MUSIC HATH CHARMS

There are times during the long, hot summer when the well known "Deserted Village" by comparison with Winchester, would resemble Scollay Square on election night in the gay nineties, a very busy place. Even the center, upon occasion, drowns into somnolence and those who perform must linger in the local marts of trade welcome anything which can even momentarily break the existing monotony and send them back to their everyday grind with something different to talk about, a novelty in the daily routine.

And so it was on Tuesday morning that we were all rejoiced to see come upon the scene two minstrel sons of Italy who made exceedingly good music upon a much battered oboe and a one time ornate accordion. They were, it would appear, father and son; the younger of the two performing upon the oboe and the senior member of the firm accompanying him upon the accordion. Everyone thought they were good, especially when they commenced a serenade of Traffic Officer John H. Noonan, on duty in the sentry box.

It is whispered that Patrolman James P. Donaghy was in a measure responsible for the musician's choice of "The Wearing of the Green" for Officer Noonan's benefit and we are dead sure that Officer Noonan sent the minstrels to play "Where Do You Work John" and several Irish jigs for big John Conlon at the railroad crossing.

John was delighted with the boys' skill, but deplored their lack of knowledge of such Celtic classics as "The Boyne Water," "Criskeen Lawn," and "Father O'Flynn." "Bob" Sullivan, however, was not as critical and became so pleased with the rendition of "The Irish Washerwoman" that he did a few double shuffle dance steps which left no doubt in the minds of onlookers as to his ability in the days when dancing was an art.

Quite a little gathering was enjoying the minstrel efforts which ranged all the way from "Sonny Boy" to "Santa Lucia" and "La Paloma." Their Irish repertoire was limited, but their general fund was alright. The audience dispensed largesse and was delighted when the musicians repaired to the Auto Lunch and broke out with "La Marseillaise" for the benefit of George LeDuc.

The minstrels were generous with their music and proved familiar with the National Anthem of their adopted land by playing the "Star Spangled Banner." A fifteen minute serenade under the windows of the STAR composing room was much appreciated and the consensus of opinion among the boys upstairs seemed to be that they had heard a whole lot worse music over the radio on many occasions. In fact the only disappointed person we met in the whole square was "Bill" Nicholson, who arrived too late to get the boys to play a bit of Scotch melody for "Alex" MacDonald. Or maybe, "Bill" wanted to find out if the musicians knew any of those Gloucester fishing chanteys.

OZRO H. HOLBROOK

Ozro H. Holbrook of this town died suddenly last Friday, July 12, in Portland, Me., where he had gone with other members of Aleppo Temple of the Mystic Shrine to attend the annual outing at Old Orchard of Kora Shrine of Lewiston, Me.

Mr. Holbrook collapsed after marching with the shriners from the Eastland Hotel to the Union Station. He died while being rushed to the General Hospital. The exertion of the long march from the hotel to the station was thought to have been responsible for the heart attack which caused his death. He was 68 years old.

The deceased had made his home in Winchester for the past five years. He was a native of Swansea, N. H., and for 21 years was in the employ of the Boston & Maine Railroad at the North Station. He retired from active business four years ago and had since acted as caretaker of the property at 179 Washington street where he made his home.

Mr. Holbrook was a widower and is survived only by one step-daughter, Mrs. William Mooney, at whose home in Somerville the funeral services were held Sunday afternoon. The remains were taken to Swansea for interment.

WINCHESTER A. A. DEFEATED LEXINGTON

The Winchester A. A. broke into the win column with a vengeance Tuesday night on Manchester Field, defeating the Lexington Town Team by the one-sided score of 12-3. The locals outclassed the visitors who were unable to do a thing with the veteran "Joe" Mathews, on the mound for Winchester.

"Joe" might have had a shut-out had he continued to bear down, but with the ball game won the ex-high school star took things easy and Lexington succeeded in scoring three runs. "Jimmy" Fitzgerald, brother "Nicky," "Appa" Parsons and the veteran "Chucker" Roche did some timely hitting for Winchester while "Ray" Fields, colored Woburn boy, looked very good at shortstop.

Lexington arrived minus a player and Winchester's "Dusty" Ambrose played left field, looking good both afield and at the bat. The summary: Inning 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 Winchester 3 0 0 0 0 4 0 0 x-12 Lexington 0 0 0 0 0 0 3 0 0-3 Batteries—Winchester, Mathews and Martin; for Lexington, Britt and Molloy. Umpire—Jack Hevey.

Last Saturday evening at 7:35 Box 34 was sounded for a slight fire in the barn of the Parker & Lane Company on Cross street. Sunday evening at 7:07 the Fire Department was called to put out a fire in a Cleveland sedan on Salem street.

TOWN TEAM WON FROM REVERE

Murphy too Good for Visitors—Leads Batters With Triple

Somerville's "Johnny" Murphy proved too good for the Revere A. A. batters last Saturday afternoon and the Winchester Town Team won its ball game with the boys from Mayor Cassasa's town on Manchester Field, 8 to 5.

The Somerville portside was very wild, walking five and tossing in a couple of wild pitches which proved costly. He had a world of speed and must have had plenty on the ball, judging by the difficulty Martin experienced in catching his slants. Three hits were the sum total of the visiting sluggers' efforts.

Winchester was not too good afield and in a closer game its errors might have proved disastrous. O'Brien, who pitched for Revere, had one bad inning, though he was hit hard throughout the game. His support was better than that accorded the Winchester pitcher, both LaFrenie and Queenan playing gilt-edged ball.

The visitors started away like world beaters. LaFrenie got a life when O'Connell dropped his hoist in right and a wild pitch by Murphy allowed him to reach second. Queenan fled to J. Dolan and Keafs laid it down along third base line. Murphy's throw to first came in right over Keafs' shoulder and when Fitzgerald lost the ball LaFrenie scored. Crivello sacrificed Keafs to second, Murphy getting the assist, but Cronin fanned to end the frame.

Murphy was directly responsible for the visitors' run in the second. Nolan drew a pass but was held at first as O'Brien skied to Valley. A wild pitch sent the runner around to third from where he scored on Friewald's long fly to right. O'Connell made a sweet throw home, but his peg was just a bit late to catch the runner. O'Toole fanned for the final out.

Winchester tied the score in its half. Captain Whitaker led off with a nice double to center and scored when Fitzgerald belted one safe over second. When O'Toole let the ball go through his legs "Nicky" got around to third and scored when Murphy punched one safe between first and second. O'Connell fouled to Friewald but Murphy advanced while Queenan was throwing out Valley. Keafs tossed out Martin to end the inning.

In the third the locals got to O'Brien in real earnest. T. Dolan doubled to left for a starter and was sacrificed to third by brother "Jomma." Mantenuito's single past Keafs scored Dolan and when O'Toole again lost the ball the Winchester third sacker sprinted around to third. Whitaker's single to right scored Mantenuito and Walter stole second. Fitzgerald's single through short sent him to third and both he and "Nicky" rode home on Murphy's triple to right. O'Connell hoisted to Queenan but Valley's single to right scored Murphy. Martin skied to O'Toole to end the rally.

Revere got a couple in the 5th. Friewald got the first visiting hit when he punched one to right and he advanced when Murphy walked O'Toole. O'Connell made a great running catch of LaFrenie's foul but Friewald advanced after the out. Queenan then blasted a double to left which Frank Valley did well to knock down. Friewald and O'Toole scoring. Keafs fanned and J. Dolan threw out Crivello.

Winchester added one in its half. Fitzgerald singled to left and reached third on Murphy's single to right. O'Connell drew a pass and Fitzgerald scored on Valley's sacrifice fly to right. O'Connell's coaching was sound asleep and "Bill" was caught off second on the old hidden ball trick. Queenan making the putout. Martin fanned to end the inning.

The visitors scored their final run in the 8th. With one away Crivello got a life when his grounder hopped badly for Mantenuito. Martin and Whitaker got the Revere third sacker stealing but Murphy walked Cronin and Nolan in a row and there were two on. O'Brien then came through with a hit to right which scored Cronin but Murphy tossed out Friewald for three away.

Revere got a couple on in the 9th but two force plays at second killed their hopes. O'Brien held Winchester safely after the 5th.

IMPORTANT CAPTURE ON WEST SIDE

Charge Prisoner With Attempt to Murder Patrolman Archie O'Connell

The jamming of a .32 calibre revolver in the hands of a man whom he had arrested as a suspicious character saved the life of Patrolman Archie O'Connell of the Police Department shortly before 10 o'clock Wednesday night.

Patrolman O'Connell was on his beat on the West Side as usual when he came upon a Hupmobile sedan, parked on Everett avenue opposite the estate of Mr. Clarence A. Warren and in front of a house in process of construction on the other side of the street.

The sole occupant of the machine was a woman and upon being questioned by Patrolman O'Connell she stated that the car was being driven by her husband who was in Mr. Warren's residence and for whom she was waiting.

After taking a look around Officer O'Connell decided to await the coming of the driver of the car and after a while a man appeared coming from the rear of the new house between Sheffield West and Glen road.

When asked for his license and registration papers the man stated that he must have lost them, the woman reminding him that he had left them at home.

His suspicions aroused, Patrolman O'Connell arrested the man and woman as suspicious characters and, securing the services of Frank S. Black of Everett avenue as chauffeur, entered the machine with his prisoners and ordered the young man to drive to police headquarters.

En route to the station, the man suddenly whipped out a revolver with which it is alleged he attempted to shoot Officer O'Connell. The gun, a .32 calibre revolver, jammed and the policeman quickly drew his own weapon and disarmed his prisoner.

Patrolman O'Connell then ordered Black to drive to Police Box 15 at Church and Bacon streets where he instructed the young man to phone headquarters for assistance.

At headquarters the prisoner was found to have, in addition to the revolver, a long screwdriver, secreted inside his belt and a diamond for cutting glass. A valuable sealskin coat and other articles were found in the car.

When booked by the police the man gave his name as George L. Brooks, 28, of Miami, Fla. He told Chief of Police William R. McIntosh and the other officers who questioned him that he had purchased the automobile which he was driving from an auto thief in North Carolina, stealing the number plates it carried in Springfield. Florida numbers were found in the car.

His companion gave her name as Alma Cartier 32, and said she was born in Lowell. She stated that she was married, but was not living with her husband in Worcester. She gave the number of a house on Ocean avenue, Revere, as her present address and said that Brooks had "picked her up" at the beach.

Brooks claimed that the sealskin coat and revolver were in the car when he obtained it. He was locked up, charged with assault with intent to murder, with having firearms illegally in his possession, with having burglar's tools in his possession and with larceny of an automobile. Mrs. Cartier was booked on the assault charge and was also charged with larceny of the fur coat from a person unknown.

When arranged in the District Court at Woburn Thursday morning Brooks pleaded guilty to the charge of carrying firearms and was sentenced to serve six months in prison by Judge Morton. The judge found probable cause on the charge of assault with attempt to murder and bound Brooks over for the Grand Jury in bonds of $30,000. Probable cause was also found on the charges of larceny of the coat and automobile and additional bail of $5000 was imposed on these counts. No probable cause on the charge of having burglar's tools was found.

"WUXTREE"

The North End married men beat the ball team of the single men of the district last night 7 to 5, on the Loring Avenue Playground. The benedicts could do nothing with the southpaw slants of "Bobby" Callahan, ex-high school twirler, but fell upon the pitching of Walter Skerry, a good second baseman, for enough tallies to win. "Ton" McKee hurled for the "better halves" and was ably abetted among others by "Jack" Maguire, "Dinnv" Collins, "Bill" Gibbons, "Edie" O'Connell, "Scrippee" Joyce and "Cy" Young.

FORMER WINCHESTER RESIDENT DEAD AT WINTHROP

Word was received of the death this morning at Winthrop of Calvin Robinson, retired Boston produce dealer and a former well known resident of this town. He was in his 85th year and had been for some time in failing health.

Mr. Robinson came to Winchester in 1877 and for many years made his home at 132 Washington street, his daughter, Miss Vena Robinson, being employed as a clerk in the local postoffice. During his residence here Mr. Robinson retired from active business and in 1921 left town to make his home in Winthrop.

Besides his daughter, Mr. Robinson is survived by his wife and one son, Calvin Robinson of Denver, Col. Arrangements for the funeral had not been made when the Star went to press.

MIDNIGHT GOLF AT COUNTRY CLUB

Ouimet and Winton Play Around by Electric Light

Golf has been for some time now pretty much an all year round game, with the more hardy devotees continuing their activities in and out of season, except for such time as they are actually prevented by snow from getting onto the course. And now it looks like golf at night will soon become more than a fond dream with the boys of the mashe and nible.

A start on the way to night golf was made at the Winchester Country Club on Sunday when Francis Ouimet of Woodland and Willie Winton, junior club professional, played an unofficial 18-hole match over the local course, commencing at 9:30 p. m.

A gallery of about 600 was present as the boys started away and quite a delegation of spectators followed the players around.

The match was arranged by Harry Bowler, popular pro at the Winchester Country Club, and was made possible by the use of portable electric lights, similar to searchlights, which are capable of piercing the darkness at great distances and a flood light which was set up on the greens. The portable lights were carried by Mr. Bowler and R. L. Smith, the flood light being in charge of another professional.

Neither Ouimet nor Winton experienced the slightest difficulty in playing under the unusual artificial conditions. Neither lost a ball and both had 82s for the 14 holes they negotiated before the match was called off at midnight.

Winton had a birdie 4 on the 13th and in scoring a birdie 3 on the 3rd his second shot rolled a foot past the cup. The gallery was intensely interested in the novel match which was characterized at the club house as successful in every way.

No records are available to show that golf has ever before been played in this country with the aid of portable lights and it may be that the first match in the history of the game under such conditions was played at Winchester on Sunday. Cleveland has a fully illuminated golf course but even there the game has never been played as it was at the Country Club.

Whether or not night golf will prove practical is merely a conjecture. As to its popularity, there can be no doubt.

AN INVITATION

Republican Party to Observe 75th Birthday

The 75th birthday anniversary of the organization of the Republican Party in Massachusetts will be observed in Worcester on Saturday, July 20, at 3 p. m. when, with appropriate exercises, a marker will be placed upon the spot where the first meeting was held.

The Republican State Committee cordially invites all Winchester Republicans to be present at the ceremonies. Many prominent Republicans from Massachusetts and elsewhere will be present, and a personal representative of President Herbert Hoover will address the gathering.

Mrs. Alonzo F. Woodside, founder and honorary president of the Women's Republican Club of Winchester and vice chairman of the Winchester Republican Town Committee, is among the guests who will attend the dinner preceding the exercises.

WINCHESTER BOY TO WED NEW YORK GIRL

Invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Barbara Lord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Lord of Nyack, N. Y., to George M. DeCamp, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. M. DeCamp of 241 Highland avenue. The ceremony is to be performed on Saturday, July 20, at the home of Miss Lord's parents and after an extended trip through the West the young couple will reside in Detroit, where Mr. DeCamp has been engaged in business since his graduation from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1928. Miss Lord was graduated from Howard Seminary at West Bridgewater.

Later in the afternoon the comrades were entertained at afternoon tea by Mrs. Francis R. Henderson at "Rosslyn," her summer home, which adjoins the Thompson place.

The veterans who were 85 and 87 years of age declared that July 16 was a "Red Letter" day for them.

PLANS FOR ITALIAN DAY ANNOUNCED

Chairman Frank Dattilo of the committee in charge of arrangements for the annual observance of the Feast of the Assumption by the Italian residents of the town stated to the Star this week that the celebration this year will be of two days' duration, starting with a small display of fireworks and a band concert on Manchester Field, Wednesday evening, Aug. 14.

Thursday's program will be much as in other years, with two parades, morning and afternoon, and a band concert with a big display of fireworks in the evening on Manchester Field.

Already the committee has secured the services of the Chirusano Band of Boston and is angling for a second band to assist with the big program on the 15th. Plans for the fireworks display and other minor features have not as yet been completed, but Chairman Dattilo announced that no effort nor expense will be spared to make this year's celebration the equal of its predecessors.

WINCHESTER MAN HEADS RMA

At the fifth annual convention of the Radio Manufacturers' Association held last month at Chicago in conjunction with the Radio Trade Show Mr. H. B. Richmond of 30 Swan road was elected president of the association for the coming year. Mr. Richmond is well known in the radio field as the treasurer of the General Radio Company of Cambridge.

The Winchester A. A. will play a twilight game tonight on Manchester Field with the Stoneham Town Team, starting at 6:30. Next Tuesday night the attraction will be the Woburn City Club.

BASEBALL CIVIL WAR STARTS SATURDAY

Town Team to Play Five-Game Series With A. A.

The magnates have convened. The die is cast, the Rubicon is sealed and all that sort of thing. Tomorrow afternoon at 3:15 on Manchester Field "Dukes" Farrell's Town Team and "Connie Mack's" A. A. will start a five-game series to decide the baseball championship of Winchester. At the conclusion of hostilities (which will be at the end of three games, according to both "Mack" and the "Dukes") a representative team will be selected from the members of both clubs to play Woburn for the championship of the Mystic Valley.

The series is in sporting parlance, "a natural" and should awaken the flagging local interest in the national game. Both clubs have their followers and seem off-hand to be pretty evenly matched. The managers have stated that no "ringers" will be played except as necessity dictates. Players working for the love of it can't be held to appearance if clover appears in other pastures.

"Chucker" Roche, ex-Tufts star and the present baseball coach at Woburn High, will handle the playing end of the A. A. and it goes without saying that the former "Jumbo" outfielder knows his stuff. Another former Tufts' star, Walter Whitaker, will look out for the Town Team strategy and it also is a safe bet that "Dukes" club will make no glaring mistakes of judgment.

Old time fans will remember Whitaker as the kid right-hander who went so big for Winchester back in 1910 and '11. At Tufts under "Jack" Slattery he was one of the very best college pitchers in the business and was signed with Philadelphia upon his graduation in 1916. Always a great batter, he still is very dangerous with the willow and, as is the case with any one coached by "Ray" Tift and "Jack" Slattery, knows baseball from A to Izzard.

MRS. W. L. THOMPSON ENTERTAINS

Mrs. W. L. Thompson of Ridgecrest entertained the comrades of S. C. Lawrence Post, 66, G. A. R., of Medford at luncheon on Tuesday. The comrades were accompanied by officers of the S. C. Lawrence Corps 5 who provided transportation. Covers were laid for 18 and luncheon was served in the spacious sun porch. After the meal the comrades indulged in reminiscences of the Civil War which were of great interest as they had to do with the experiences of the 1st Maine and 18th Massachusetts Regiments, both of which were in active service and took part in many engagements. Commander Stokell spoke of his experiences while a prisoner at Andersonville and told of the exchange of prisoners later. He lost an arm in the Civil War. Commander Greene had several souvenirs of the war, eating implements, photographs and the notebook of a comrade who was killed in one engagement.

The hostess later exhibited bullet moulds, swords and other souvenirs of the Revolutionary War which were of special interest as having belonged to the ancestors of Mr. Thompson.

Later in the afternoon the comrades were entertained at afternoon tea by Mrs. Francis R. Henderson at "Rosslyn," her summer home, which adjoins the Thompson place.

The veterans who were 85 and 87 years of age declared that July 16 was a "Red Letter" day for them.

PLANS FOR ITALIAN DAY ANNOUNCED

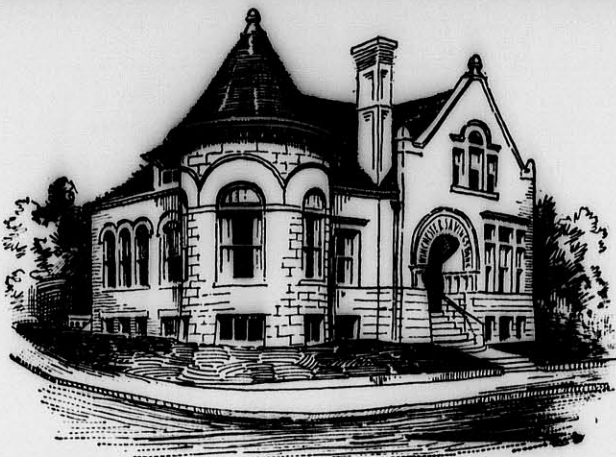

Chairman Frank Dattilo of the committee in charge of arrangements for the annual observance of the Feast of the Assumption by the Italian residents of the town stated to the Star this week that the celebration this year will be of two days' duration, starting with a small display of fireworks and a band concert on Manchester Field, Wednesday evening, Aug. 14.

Thursday's program will be much as in other years, with two parades, morning and afternoon, and a band concert with a big display of fireworks in the evening on Manchester Field.

Already the committee has secured the services of the Chirusano Band of Boston and is angling for a second band to assist with the big program on the 15th. Plans for the fireworks display and other minor features have not as yet been completed, but Chairman Dattilo announced that no effort nor expense will be spared to make this year's celebration the equal of its predecessors.

TRADERS' DAY AUG. 7

President George F. Arnold of Winchester Chamber of Commerce announced this week that the annual observance of Traders' Day will come this year on Aug. 7. Housewives and others who regularly transact business in the square will do well to bear this date in mind as stores generally will be closed all day on the above date.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

"Every bit of spare time I have for the rest of my life will be given to this cause." These words are the crux of an article appearing in a recent metropolitan paper. At first sight you will credit the words to some heroic figure in history, whose life has been devoted to God and home and humanity. But no! they were voiced by the chairman of a group of women who, according to the press report, are hoping to effect an organization to oppose the strong prohibition program of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Frances E. Willard once said, "Recognizing that our cause is and will be combated by mighty, determined and relentless foes, we will, trusting in Him whose price of peace, meet argument with argument, misjudgment with patience, denunciation with kindness, and all our difficulties and dangers with prayer."

As we write these words there rises before us the face of Miss Willard who in her brief span of life led the fight for the rights of little children, for personal purity, and for the home against the saloon. Her life and work are recognized today in every country on the globe.

Over against such as she there appears the figure of the present-day woman who, if the press has quoted her correctly, now proposes to devote her life to a "cause." That cause she designates as "reforming prohibition."

Since no single suggestion has been made for reform it is perfectly obvious that the word she spells, "Reform" we spell "Repeal." When we remember that she is the wife of the treasurer of the association against the Prohibition Amendment, the picture becomes even more clear. Down through the centuries the names of women have stood as synonymous for sacrificial service to humanity and to country. Unnumbered are the tributes paid to womanhood. But never before in the history of the world has a woman come forward to champion such a cause as this. It remained for 1929 to bring out the woman who thus dedicates her life to making liquor respectable. Will she succeed? It is for the million women allied with the Woman's Christian Temperance Union to give the answer.

Abundant resources may make some people here in Winchester lazy but the mosquito family is not affected that way.

There are people here in Winchester who can remember when a skirt that hung down behind and up in the front was considered a home-made mess instead of an evening gown.

"If worms attack chairs they should be rubbed with paraffin," says a household note. Rubbing with paraffin is too good, we think, for worms that attack chairs. In our perhaps too vindictive opinion, they should be tarred and feathered.

A woman not afar from Winchester is contemplating an action for divorce on the ground that her husband not only finds fault with her taste in cigarettes but also addresses unkind remarks to her pet dog.

In a nearby community an important haul has been made by the police in the shape of 14 syrup cans said to be filled with something else. You see, they were being transported through the city syrupticiously.

One Winchester woman says she has no objection to cigars unless they are lighted.

The largest room in the world has been found right here in Winchester—the "room for improvement."

The Winchesterite who jumps at conclusions may take a leap in the dark.

The sea serpent has become as obsolete as the cigar store Indian.

Nothing succeeds like the other fellow's success.

We overheard a well known Winchesterite say, "I'm all run down." Wonder if he got the number of the automobile.

"Winchester faces the same old problem," muses a fellow townsman. "What shall we take for snake bites this summer with the 18th amendment the law of the land?"

What are you doing in the "swat the fly" movement.

A Winchester gentleman is very insistent that he believes in free speech. That's just how we, too, feel about the matter. It would be an awful thing to have to pay for most of it.

If plants can talk we wonder what will the tobacco plant say about its output being used by women?

A one-eyed man can see prosperity in Winchester. Wouldn't it be grand if a Winchesterite could "cash in" on an hallucination?

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

The feature pictures at the University for four days beginning Sunday are "The Valiant" starring Paul Muni and "His Lucky Day" with Reginald Denny.

In "The Valiant," Paul Muni gives a splendid portrayal of a condemned murderer who goes to the electric chair hiding his identity to the end that his family may be saved from disgrace and sorrow. The title is derived from a Shakespearean couplet: "The coward dies a thousand times; the valiant taste of death but once." "The Valiant" features Paul Muni, Marguerite Churchill and John Mack Brown.

In "His Lucky Day" Denny as a real estate agent, gets into plenty of hot water when he rents the house next to his prospective father-in-law's home to a family that turns out to be a gang of society black-mailers and crooks. Pretty LeRayne DuVal is the girl. Others in the cast are Otis Harlan, Cissy Fitzgerald, Eddie Phillips, Harvey Clark and Tom O'Brien.

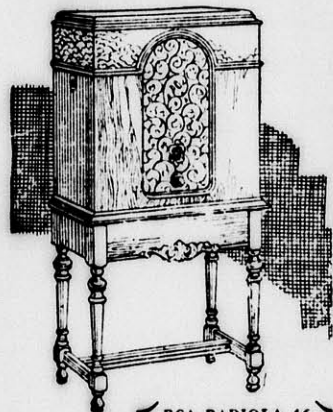

For the last three days of the week the features are "Eternal Love" starring John Barrymore and "The Flying Marine" with Ben Lyon and Shirley Mason.

The story of "Eternal Love" is laid in Switzerland, high in the Alps. Barrymore, the village ne'er-do-well, loves a spiritual type girl who becomes the wife of another man. The mountain code forces him into a loveless marriage with a girl who in America would be classified as a gold-digger. His heart still belongs to his first sweetheart, whose jealous mate plots against the life of the man he believes is breaking up his home.

NEWS FROM CONOMO

Latest news dispatches from Conomo disclose additional reason for "Charlie" Lane's sudden resignation as scavenger of the Conomo Point Yacht Club. We did think that his untoward activity during the Saturday's racing preceding the Fourth was reason enough, but it seems the final impetus for his resignation (which it is reported he had been prevailed upon to reconsider) came during the past week-end when Charles, aided and abetted by "Vin" Farnsworth, and at some considerable effort, removed from the Conomo Point water line a derelict boat of uncertain vintage and origin which had been outraging the sensibilities of frequenters of the yacht club until the gentlemen from Winchester could countenance it no longer.

The maritime disgrace was towed, as we said above with much labor, to a point where "Charlie" judged it might either sink or be swept away to a less artistic neighborhood, the knowledge of a hard job well done making Charles and Vincent proud and happy.

"Came the dawn," and the boat was once more back in its place upon the Conomo Beach. Two boys had seen it bobbing about upon the waves and had, also at considerable effort, towed it back to the place from which Messrs. Lane and Farnsworth had removed it. It is likely that moment when the prodigal's return was reported to "Charlie" was the precise time when the latter decided that he no longer cared to serve the Conomo Yacht Club as official scavenger. Personally we can't find it in our heart to blame him.

We are informed, however, that Mr. Lane has not entirely severed his official connections with the summer colony. He has been elected "Mayor" of Conomo, a title conferred upon him as the head of the Point Improvement Society. There is also a rumor going the rounds that broadcasting is to begin at Conomo. Everything considered it should prove worthwhile.

GULF NO-NOX MOTOR FUEL
NEW AVIATION GRADE

It may be truthfully said that most motorists appreciate quality in all things. Quality fuel or quality oil means quality performance of the motor.
When the motor goes well—all is well. Automotive engineers are seeking to perfect the motor by reducing the size of the combustion chamber thereby increasing compression.
This increased compression calls for a slow burning fuel that ignites with a powerful push downward instead of just an explosion. The old time gasoline and even the modern knockless fuel has not proven to be efficient to the extent required—hence it has become necessary to increase the efficiency of "Gulf No-Nox Motor Fuel" to a point almost 50 per cent greater.
This increase takes "No-Nox" into the aviation class of motor fuels. Motorists who have been using "No-Nox" to their satisfaction will be amazed at its performance since the change—speed —power—pick-up—in fact, everything that may be desired will be found in this new fuel. Aviators and motorists may purchase from any Gulf Service Station or Dealer—this improved "No-Nox" from the same pump.

Some motorists may confuse color with efficiency—which is not the case.
The orange color has nothing to do with efficiency—it would be just as good if water white in color. You may identify "Gulf No-Nox" by the orange color. The Gulf Refining Company was the first to color gasoline orange for identification purposes on account of orange being a trade color in the orange disc.

ORPHEUM THEATRE, MALDEN

"The Lone Wolf's Daughter," starring Bert Lytell, is the feature picture now playing at the Orpheum Theatre, Malden. This is a comedy-drama in which crooks are mixed into society life in such a way as to cause many laughs which go to relieve the tense drama throughout. Mr. Lytell as the ex-crook gives a most satisfactory performance and Gertrude Olmstead is very charming as the daughter. It is a most interesting picture in which the interest is upheld until the final scenes. The second feature on this program is another episode of the thrilling mystery serial, "Queen of the North Woods" starring Walter Miller and Ethlyne Clair.

"The Gate Crasher" starring Glenn Tryon and Patsy Ruth Miller will be the feature picture at the Orpheum for the first three days of next week.
This is a fast action comedy in which the laugh provoking situations are piled one upon another. The hero, a country boy, one of the those smart alecks who are very trying at times, is well impersonated by Mr. Tryon.
This time Tryon is an embryo detective when he is not working at his job of billposter. He meets the heroine when her car collides with his and from then on he does his best to make an impression on her. His efforts consist of most everything from racing in his dilapidated car with an express train to crashing into a theatre where she is performing, disguised as a Roman soldier and nearly breaking up the show. "The Physician," the second feature on the bill is a powerful drama about a man with a brilliant mind and the ability to sway people with his personality, who preaches temperance in order to cover up his incurable addiction to drink.
Miles Mender plays the part of the dipsomaniac, the man whose impassioned appeals to young people make him a famous temperance reformer.
It is a stirring, thrilling story of a man with a dual personality, a sinner who would be a saint, a man to be pitied rather than scorned who could not practice what he preached.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Fairy Tale: The defendant was pretty as a picture, so the jury voted to hang her.

Woman is not a machine, even if she does sometimes sound like a phonograph.

Most people do not worry about what a thing costs—so long as the first payment is not over $5.

Nearly every town has a city manager whether it has adopted that form of government or not.

If a girl is really clever she can get so close to a man that when he tries to kiss her she can't get away.

Winchester's poll tax books are out and seem this year fully as popular as in the past, if one can judge by the steady stream of applications for them at the office of the Assessors. It appears that as a whole we are much more interested in the age and occupation of our neighbors than we are in the Town's business. How many in comparison would make it a point to walk to the Town Hall to secure a copy of the Town report?

The Town's fire alarm boxes have received their annual coat of fresh red paint and at the Central Station it was announced that those who like to use the boxes as autograph albums and memorandum pads can secure paper suitable for such purposes upon application to Chief DeCourcy. The chief also extends his generosity to include ash-trays for those who like to use the boxes for cigar and cigarette receptacles.

The Star believes that the Park Board might well extend a helping hand to those who attempt to furnish baseball for the summer stay-at-homes, and erect a wire barrier along the river in left field to prevent baseballs from rolling into the water. Such a barrier need not prove expensive nor difficult to install, yet it would save considerable in lost balls. Baseballs are expensive and when as many as a dozen can be rendered worthless in a couple of games the problem becomes one worthy of consideration. The present condition of the river renders balls which remain for any length of time in its waters worthless. The judicious use of some chicken wire would prove a real boon to local baseball managers.

If there is to be no police protection at the ball games on Manchester Field the players should see to it that the kiddies are not permitted to sit or lie upon the ground along the first base foul line where they are in great danger of being hit. We have seen the limp body of an unconscious child, struck on the head by a batted ball, carried from a ball park and the sight is not a pleasant one. There is danger enough when the youngsters are seated in the stands or at a reasonably safe distance. They should not be allowed too near the playing field.

The Star was glad to note a statement, reported to come from Registrar of Motor Vehicles Parker, announcing that upon complaint of a fire chief he stands ready to revoke the license and registration of any motorist racing with fire apparatus en route to fires. We have in these columns repeatedly called attention to the extreme thoughtlessness of such driving and have pointed out the danger involved. We should be glad to see those who have threatened the safety of our local firemen deprived of their right to drive.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

The members and their friends had a most enjoyable outing at Salem Willows on Thursday of this week. The real success of the outing is due to the untiring efforts of B. Young who had the affair in charge and personally looked after all the details which go toward making such an affair a real pleasure for all.

All interests of the Guild are now centered on the afternoon lawn party to be held on the grounds at the home of Sister Mary Murphy on Salem street on next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. It is planned to have a few tables of cards, whist or bridge, for those who care to play and following the card games there will be refreshments served by the hostess and assistants.

HENRY BROWN TINDALL

Henry Brown Tindall who had lived on Cabot street for many years, died last Saturday in New Ipswich, N. H., at the summer home of his daughter, Mrs. Theodore C. Hurd of this town. Funeral services were held there on Tuesday afternoon, followed by interment in the New Ipswich Cemetery. Rev. George Hale Reed of the Winchester Unitarian Church officiated.

Mr. Tindall is survived by Mrs. Tindall who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Serens Nickerson of Cabot street, a daughter Mrs. Theodore C. Hurd and one grandchild.

Mr. Tindall was born in Aurora, Ind., 70 years ago. In his later childhood he lived in Cleveland, Ohio until in his youth he came East to New Ipswich, the home of his maternal forbears.

There for several years he was a student at Appleton Academy, one of the oldest New England educational institutions which has many well known and distinguished alumni. Having finished his studies at Appleton Academy he came to Boston and started to learn the sugar refinery business, but soon went to work in the freight department of the Boston & Albany Railroad. It was the beginning of a long career in railroading in which he became widely known as an expert in the freight and traffic departments of that business.

His first experience was in the offices of the Boston & Albany freight terminal at East Boston where he lived for a long time, including the years he was in the Boston offices. Then he was transferred to Medford, where he spent several years, but returned to Boston to remain filling positions of responsibility in both freight and traffic departments. Later he was connected with the Merchants Despatch Co.

Mr. Tindall found his recreation in life and relaxation from business in good books. He was a great reader and no Winchester resident was seen more frequently at the Town Library. His associates and friends were constantly conscious of the impressive fund of information and knowledge that he had accumulated in his wide range of reading.

Mr. Tindall came from Winthrop to Winchester 20 years ago and remained a resident of the town until his death a week ago.

DOLAN—KEEFE

A wedding of interest here took place in St. Joseph's Church, Wakefield, Wednesday morning when Miss Margaret Alice Keefe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Keefe of 6 Stark avenue, Wakefield, became the bride of Jeremiah F. Dolan of 47 Water street, Winchester.

Rev. John B. Morse of St. Joseph's Church, performed the marriage ceremony and was celebrant of the nuptial mass which followed. The Wedding March from Lohengrin was played as the bridal party entered the church.

Miss Keefe was accompanied by her sister, Miss Mary E. Keefe of Wakefield, and Mr. Dolan had for his best man his brother, James H. Dolan of Medford. Daniel J. Keefe, Jr. of Wakefield and Clarence Chamberland of Winchester were ushers.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white tulle and tulle with a long veil of Venetian lace caught with orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of brides' roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a gown of coral georgette with a contrasting picture hat and carried an arm bouquet of sweetheart roses and larkspur.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, the young couple being assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. Keefe and the groom's sister, Mrs. Dennis J. Collins of Winchester.

Upon their return from a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Dolan will be at home after Sept. 1 at 47 Nahant street, Wakefield.

THE LAW SAYS "MUFFLE 'EM"

To the Editor of the Star:
I should appreciate it greatly if I could use your newspaper to call to the attention of the various owners of outboard motors operating on Mystic Lake, the following provision in the General Laws, Massachusetts, the same being Chapter 102, Section 15:
"Whoever uses a boat propelled in whole or in part by gas, gasoline or naphtha, unless the same is provided with a muffler or an underwater exhaust, so constructed and used as to muffle in a reasonable manner the noise of the propulsion, shall be punished by a fine of not more than twenty-five dollars."

While I appreciate the pleasure which may be derived from one of these boats, on the other hand, I think that it could easily be and should be arranged that their enjoyment should be consistent with the pleasure and peace of the land owners abutting on Mystic Lake. I should suppose that it would not be an unreasonable request to ask that they be equipped with mufflers or underwater exhausts. While I do not care to interfere with anyone's pleasure and would certainly not want to demand the enforcement of the statute which I have quoted, on the other hand, we are anticipating a compliance with our request.

Thanking you in anticipation of your courtesy in publishing this letter, I am Very truly yours,
Edward A. Neiley

IMPORTANT CAPTURE ON WEST SIDE

Mrs. Cartier was bound over for the Grand Jury on the charge of larceny of the sealskin coat. Her bail was fixed at $3000. No probable cause was found on the assault with intent to murder charge lodged against her.

Following the trial Brooks told the police that he had stolen the coat from a West Side home not far from where his car was discovered. With Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Officer O'Connell he went to the home of John L. Cayting at 11 Sheffield West and showed the authorities how he had gained access by jimmying a window in the rear of the house with the screwdriver found on his person. He said he had found the coat hanging in a moth-proof bag which was later discovered near the Cayting home, closed for the summer in the absence of the family. A sum of money in Brooks' possession and some articles of jewelry are thought by the police to have been taken from the house with the coat.

Feeling that his prisoner might be the possessor of a prior record Chief McIntosh at once communicated with Federal and State authorities with interesting results.

Brooks, it seems, has a long record in the files of the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta and is also wanted on the charge of shooting an officer in New Jersey. Officer O'Connell apparently owes his life to the fact that the gun Brooks was carrying could not explode the sort of shells with which it was loaded. The police say the revolver was stolen in Lynn where it is believed Brooks and Mrs. Cartier had been working. An automobile was seen leaving the scene of a break in that city which it is thought is the one in which the pair were captured here. According to the authorities the machine was stolen May 11 in Jacksonville, Fla., and is the property of Roy D. Smith of that city. While in the South, Brooks went under the name of Leroy Cook.

The prisoner's complete record is expected to be in Chief McIntosh's hands sometime today, but already enough information is available to make Officer O'Connell's capture loom as one of the best in the annals of the local department.

NEW HOPE BAPTIST PICNIC

The Sunday School picnic of the New Hope Baptist Sunday School was held yesterday at Pleasant Pond Grove, South Hamilton. Three busses left Winchester at 9:30 in the morning and many made the trip in private cars.

There were field sports, a picnic lunch, boating and swimming and as the crowning event, a ball game between the married and single men. No score was kept after the third inning.

The return trip began about 7 p. m. The Winchester party joined the church schools of several out-of-town churches in a most pleasant day.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE

Another moving picture of the super-sound type will be offered at the Bowdoin Square Theatre beginning Monday. John Barrymore will be seen in his great film success, "Eternal Love," a Wenst Lubitch production with a cast of great screen stars including Camilla Horn, Victor Varconi, Hobart Bosworth and Mona Rice. The story is a most appealing one with Barrymore as an Alpine daredevil, who as a bold adventurer falls in love with a most attractive girl. Apart from the romantic story the scenic effects are also good. George Lemaire and Louis Simon will be seen in the talking feature, "The Plumbers Are Coming." Buster Keaton and Dorothy Sebastian will appear in the sound picture, "Spite Marriage" and the Pathe News together with selected vaudeville features will make up the bill. Concert every Sunday at 3.

Splendid Security

If a person wants to build or buy a home, he can often get a larger loan, and at no higher rate, from a co-operative bank.

How do we make such loans safely?—a fair question.

Our loans are "amortized" loans. The borrower pays one dollar back every month for every two hundred dollars borrowed, by which method the loan becomes fully paid and is cancelled in about twelve years.

At the time the loan is made, the property is good security, and no real estate property is likely to depreciate in value as fast as loans are being paid off.

In fact,—our average security on all loans outstanding, is very high indeed.

WINCHESTER ROTARY CLUB

During the summer months Winchester may fairly be called a quiet place. Many of our residents are regularly out of town at this season, so that practically all of our activities are retarded. At this season the Rotarian finds his Club a real boon. Invariably he can look forward to a hearty welcome and friendly handshakes. Always the cheery conversations and interchange of items of mutual interest. Indeed it is a part of one's life which he does not willingly sacrifice.

We were pleased to greet Fred on his return from a trip West. Fred left us in good hands while he was away, but we are indeed gratified to see him back at his post.

President Roscoe read to us a card from Irving, mailed at Sacramento, Cal. Irving is having a grand time, but does not forget his home Club. We expect that he will be with us again shortly.

We are indebted to "Tom" for procuring the speaker at this meeting, in the person of Mr. Josef Sandberg, a well-known Winchesterite and veteran instructor in Manual Arts in the public schools of Boston.

The system of instruction in this department maintained by the City of Boston probably is not excelled in any city in the United States and Mr. Sandberg has had no small part in bringing this system to its present state of efficiency. His description of the work and the marked benefit to the students which accrues from it, was extremely interesting.

Next week President Roscoe will be in attendance at the annual assembly of the 31st District, R. I., at North Attleboro. In his absence vice-president Loring will be in the chair. Loring is keen to look every Winchester Rotarian in the eye at the sound of the bell next Thursday. Do not venture to disappoint him.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE

The Metropolitan Theatre, Boston, enters upon a new era of de luxe entertainment beginning Friday, July 19, when for the first time in New England Paramount presents the all-talking photodrama sensation, "The Greene Murder Case," starring William Powell, as Philo Vance, the fascinating character created by S. S. Van Dine. A notable cast is in support of this brilliant star, who portrays to perfection the character made famous in "The Canary Murder Case." Those who have previewed this highly entertaining and exceedingly interesting film declare that it is superior in many ways to its predecessor.

Jean Arthur, Brandon Hurst and Florence Eldridge are featured in the supporting cast, numbering 16 talented artists, whose combined efforts will give you one of the most thrilling and delightful pictures made to date.

The Metropolitan Theatre management requests those who see the picture to refrain from divulging the identity of the guilty one, as revealed on the screen.

Gene Rodemich's return to the Metropolitan Theatre the week of July 19 signals a new era in stage entertainment presented from the mammoth stage. The Publix Theatres Corporation has succeeded in securing his services under a long-term contract to appear as Master of Ceremonies with the lavish Publix revues each week. During his former appearance at the Metropolitan, he became one of the most popular theatrical personalities in the East, and his return will be a gala affair, as the management has prepared a generous program of brilliant features to mark the event.

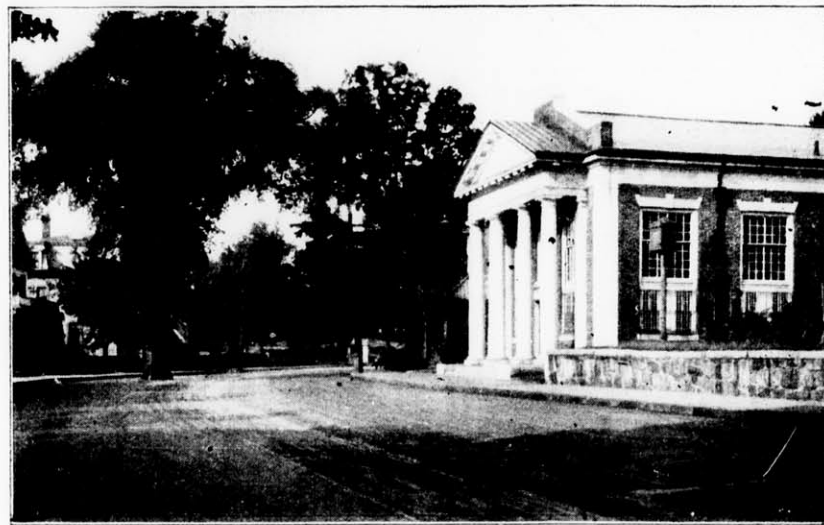

The Publix stage extravaganza for that week, "Vacation Days," will include in its talented cast, Senator Francis Murphy, of comedy fame; Zastro & White, with Bernice Marshall, Sunny Schuck and the Wisner Sisters; and in addition, George Harper and the Dave Gould girls.

Guy Harrison and the Metropolitan Grand Orchestra will vie with other features in winning public favor, through the masterful rendition of the most popular compositions known to music lovers.

Arthur Martel will continue at the organ console, and in addition there will be other short features to make the coming programs each a notable and distinct success.

GRANADA THEATRE

"The Trial of Mary Dugan" is a great show for those who like 100 per cent effective melodrama intelligently handled. An all-talking production which carries more "punch" than any stage play, is the current attraction at the big Granada Theatre in Malden where it will be shown the remainder of this week. The picture has been scoring a tremendous hit at the Granada all this week and will rouse any person who sees it to an extreme point of enthusiasm. There is not a single unexciting moment in "The Trial of Mary Dugan," which is a film version of the famous play by Bayard Veiller. The talkies version of this play contains some of the best dialogue ever written and this fact combined with the cast headed by Norma Shearer and Lewis Stone make it one of the outstanding talking pictures of the year. The pace and tempo are perfectly adjusted so that the audience is gripped in continual suspense until the very last minute of the play. At the same time there are a sufficient number of comic episodes to prevent the tone of the piece from becoming too morbid. This is Norma Shearer's first talking picture and her voice turns out to be ideal for recording purposes. Lewis Stone, Lilyan Tashman, H. B. Warner and Raymond Hackett are other featured members of the cast.

"The Time, the Place and the Girl," an all-talking picture with Betty Compson, Grant Withers, James Kirkwood and Gertrude Olmstead as the stars, will head the double feature bill the Granada will offer starting Monday. "The Time, the Place and the Girl" is a joyous comedy about a football hero, the toast of all the colleges, who graduates and just naturally drifts into the bond selling game. His attempts to sell the men are a joke but with the women it is a different story. He makes a first down on every play as far as the ladies are concerned. It is a bright, amusing farce comedy that will tickle the risibilities of everybody.

The second feature for all next week will be "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," the sensational selling novel by Thornton Wilder. This story created a furore when published and won the Pulitzer prize for the best novel of the year. The screen version follows the book very closely and makes a highly interesting movie. Lily Damita and Don Alvarado are the stars.

ARRESTED ON LARCENY CHARGE

Last Saturday afternoon Chief of Police William R. McIntosh and Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy arrested at his home, 275 Main street, Arthur F. Dow, a former Boston broker with offices at 40 Court street, who is charged with the larceny of stock valued at $25,360 from Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Childs of Ashland. Mr.

Dow was turned over to Inspectors Connolly, Decker and Loughlin of Boston Police Headquarters.

It is alleged that Mr. and Mrs. Childs transacted business with Mr. Dow's office more than four years ago. They told the police that certain stock was given the defendant with orders for the purchase of other stocks. The complainants allege that Mr. Dow reported he had carried out the transactions and the stocks were allowed to remain in his possession.

Mr. and Mrs. Childs said that they received statements from Mr. Dow as to their accounts in October, 1928 and February, 1929, but since that time they discovered he closed his office about a year ago. Demand was made on him for the stock early in June, it is alleged, and, when he failed to send it, a warrant was obtained for his arrest.

Mr. Dow was arraigned Monday morning before Judge James H. Devlin in the Boston Municipal Court. The defendant was represented by counsel who asked for a continuance until July 22 which was granted. Bail set at $2500 was furnished and it was intimated that Mr. Dow, who lost considerable money recently, but who soon expected to raise funds, would endeavor to make full restitution to Mr. and Mrs. Childs.

The Sharon Veteran Farm on the Boston-Providence road at Wrentham was the scene of a merry party on Monday, when Mrs. W. L. Thompson and a party of friends numbering 14 motored down there for one of the famous duck dinners. As the engagement of one of the party was announced, a mock wedding was staged and much enjoyed. Mrs. Carrie E. Young of Medford being the expectant bride.

Tax Collector Nathaniel M. Nichols claims that wherever he goes he can't seem to get away from taxes and matters pertaining thereto. Last Sunday while on a brief outing in the mountains he attended with his daughter, Miss Doris Nichols, the morning service in the little church at Chatham, N. H. The minister, without so much as a glance in Mr. Nichols' direction, preached his sermon upon Zacharias, the tax collector of biblical times.

Scholl of the Calumet Club and the latter's son, Fred, Jr., returned to Winchester Tuesday night from Los Angeles, Cal., where they attended the Elks' National Convention. While going through Glendale, Cal., Mr. Fallon met a former Winchester boy and brother Elk in the person of Ralph Arnold who has been making California his home for some years. We'll wager "Tom" and Ralph had a real party discussing old times.

Clifford Gorman, assistant manager of the Winchester Town Team, was painfully injured at Manchester Field last Saturday afternoon when he was struck flush on the right eye by a thrown ball. The whole side of Gorman's face swelled badly, but despite his discomfort he gamely stuck to his task of getting the battle between the Town Team and the Revere A. A. under way and then went about as usual collecting stray quarters among the crowd.

Dr. Harold E. B. Speight of Hanover, N. H., was assisted by Rev. Owen R. Washburn of Orford in performing the ceremony which took place out of doors on the lawn where a background of spruce, bracken and flowers lent added charm.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Frederick J. Ham of New York City. She had for her matron of honor, her sister, Mrs. Paul R. Mrs. Holman wore a gown of yellow point d'esprit. Her horse hair picture hat and shoes were blue and she carried larkspur with yellow roses. Miss Guild's gown was of powder blue chiffon. Her picture hat and shoes were yellow and her flowers, yellow roses with larkspur.

A reception to about 100 guests were held following the ceremony, from 4 until 6 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Hodgson being assisted in receiving by Mrs. Holman and Miss Guild. House decorations were of blue and yellow to harmonize with the gowns of the bridal attendants.

The bride was graduated from Choate School in Brookline and from the Cleveland School of Art. Mr. Hodgson was graduated from St. Paul's School at Garden City, L. I., and from Springfield College. Miss Barbara Lord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Lord of 85 First avenue, Nyack, N. Y., and George M. DeCamp, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. M. DeCamp of 241 Highland avenue, were quietly married last Saturday afternoon, July 20, at the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. Dr. William Neeley Ross of Nyack.

They are to make their home in Detroit, Mich., where the bridegroom is associated with the Hudson Motor Company. Mr. DeCamp was graduated in 1928 from Massachusetts Institute of Technology and his bride is a graduate of Howard Seminary at West Bridgewater.

THREE RUNS LAST SUNDAY

The Fire Department was called upon three times during last Sunday, the first alarm coming in by telephone at 11:41 A. M. from the Metropolitan Police for a brush fire in the Fells between Border road and the West Dam.

During the afternoon the Metropolitan Police again summoned the firemen, this time to put out a grass fire along the railroad below Bacon's Mill.

At 9 o'clock in the evening District Manager Frank E. Randall of the Edison Light Company notified the Central Station that he was on the outside of his tightly locked dwelling at 29 Nelson street, minus that all important means of entrance, the key. Driver David Meskell with a ladder from the fire alarm car battled very satisfactorily for the missing bit of metal and soon had Frank cosily ensconced in his home. Unfortunately the latter is no longer a member of the Town's finance committee so his personal gratitude will be of no particular good to the department in its efforts to overcome the aversion which the financiers have felt to the salary raised granted the firemen at the past town meeting.

JOHN W. LUFKIN

John W. Lufkin, a well-known Boston business man who died Sunday in that city, was a former resident of Winchester, making his home for some years on Main street at Lawson road. He was a native of Boston and was the inventor of several successful machines, including a buttonhole machine, conceived when he was in his early twenties, and a tailor's pressing machine.

Mr. Lufkin was 80 years of age and a widower. For the past 15 years he had made his home in Boston at the Hotel Brunswick where funeral services were held from Room 303 at 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. Masonic services were held at the Waterman Funeral Chapel on Commonwealth avenue, Boston.

Mary Cutter and Louise Packer have survived the first rounds of the North Shore tennis tourney being played at the Essex Country Club. Maribel Vinson was eliminated in the third round by Marjorie Sachs of Cambridge.

PATROLMAN HANLON GETS MARINE DESERTER IN SUSPICIOUS CHARACTER

One of two men arrested at 9:30 Sunday evening by Patrolman John Hanlon of the Police Department proved upon investigation to be a deserter from the United States Marine Corps barracks at Paris Island, S. C.

Patrolman Hanlon first noticed the two men loitering about the stone wall on Cambridge street near Everett avenue. After watching them for some time he questioned them and receiving no satisfactory reason for their presence in the neighborhood, decided to search them.

His search brought to light two dummy guns, in imitation of a .32 calibre revolver, flash lights and a quantity of automobile and house keys. After completing his search Patrolman Hanlon placed the men under arrest and took them to headquarters where both were booked on a charge of vagrancy.

The men gave their names as Elmer C. Parlow of Brockton and William M. Strickland of Raleigh, N. C. They said that they were on their way to New Hampshire and after much questioning, Parlow told the police he had deserted from the Paris Island Marine barracks.

When arraigned in the District Court at Woburn Monday morning, both men were found not guilty by Justice Jesse W. Morton. Chief of Police William R. McIntosh, however, detained Parlow and communicated with the Marine authorities at Charlestown. As a result of his conversation Patrolman Hanlon took Parlow to Boston and turned him over to the Marine provost at the Charlestown barracks.

HAD BEEN VISITING MOTHER HERE

Russell F. Keehn who graduated from the Winchester High School in 1909, and in 1913 took his degree with honors from Harvard, has been spending a few weeks with his mother, Alice V. Keehn on Hancock street after an absence of over seven years in Argentina, South America. It will be recalled that Mr. Keehn entered the cotton and worsted mills of the Ameskeag Manufacturing Company in Manchester, N. H., immediately after graduation from Harvard. There he held several responsible positions and became their representative in Argentina and Uruguay while they were exporting to those markets.

During the last few years Mr. Keehn has established and is now managing knitting mills in both these countries and at present is on leave of absence, during which he is traveling in the U. S. A. and Europe. He sailed, accompanied by his wife, on the SS. Olympic for England last Friday and after a tour of England and the Continent will return to his textile interests in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

WINCHESTER A. A. SWAMPED STONEHAM

Winchester A. A. continued its winning stride last Friday evening by swamping the Stoneham Town Team on Manchester Field, 15 to 2. Stoneham had previously defeated "Mack's" boys at Stoneham but the locals presented a strongly reinforced lineup for the second battle and experienced no trouble with the visiting boys.

"Joe" Mathews, on the mound for Winchester, held Stoneham to a measly 3 bingles while his mates were hammering Rising and Theroux all over the lot. Big "Jim" Fitzgerald hit one of the longest home runs ever seen on Manchester Field when he poled the ball across the running track beyond center field into the tall grass by the river. The swat went for nothing as John Costello ruled that "Fitzzy" had failed to touch second and called the big boy out. Martin, Shea and the veteran "Chucker" Roche also contributed home runs to the swat-fest.

The game had to be called at the end of the 5th because of darkness. We can only guess at the final score, had the regulation nine frames been played. Batteries, for Winchester: Mathews and Martin; for Stoneham: Rising, Theroux and White. Umpire, John Costello.

TOWN TEAM LOST AT WOBURN

Winchester Town Team lost a close game to the strong Woburn City Club at Library Park Sunday afternoon, being nosed out by "Ernie" McDonough's club, 5-4. "Art" Cail, slim City Club right hander, and "Olio" Lee, orthodox flinger of the locals, staged their usual pitching duel with honors about even.

Winchester got none the best of the umpiring, one of Woburn's runs being scored by "Doc" Doherty on his ancient trick of cutting through the box to the plate without going through the formality of touching third base. To make it unanimous, "Doc" knocked the ball out of Martin's hands and got away with it. "Joe" Snyder saved the game for Woburn when he made a circus catch of "Nicky" Fitzgerald's great bid for a home run with three men on and two away. Lee featured the hitting with a pretty home run.

Batteries for Woburn: Cail and "Bart" McDonough; for Winchester: Lee and Martin. Umpire, Taylor.

EDISON COMPANY PLANS FRIGIDAIRE PARTY IN ARLINGTON

The Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston is planning a series of Frigidaire parties at its Arlington shop, 699 Massachusetts avenue, for each day next week beginning Monday, July 29.

At these parties an extensive display of various models of Frigidaire Electric Refrigerators will be shown, the largest exhibit which has ever been held at the Arlington shop by the Edison Company and believed to be the largest exhibit ever shown by any electric refrigerator manufacturer in Arlington.

The use of these refrigerators in the home not only for preserving food but for "cooking" food will be demonstrated. Electric refrigerators with their accurately controlled degree of concentrated cold make possible the preparation of many more cold and frozen salads and desserts than can be made in an ordinary ice cream freezer or ice box.

Miss Priscilla Willey of the Edison Home Service Division will be hostess at the Arlington Edison Shop daily from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. and will demonstrate the preparation of many delicious salads, dainty frozen desserts and ice cold punches. These will be served to all who visit the shop. Frigidaire recipe books, giving a written record of how these various dishes are prepared, will be distributed without charge.

WOBURN C. C. TOOK WINCHES-TER A. A.

In a well played nine inning game of ball on Manchester Field Tuesday evening, the Woburn C. C. nosed out the Winchester A. A., 3 to 2. Both clubs played good ball, but the City Club strengthened by the addition of "Brad" Coates and "Tony" Colucci had a slight edge.

Keating was on the hill for the City Club and was relieved by Murray. The veteran "Joe" Mathews went the route for Winchester. Each club made four hits.

Home runs were contributed by "Joey" Connolly, ex-Buffalo star, and "Joe" Mathews, the latter getting in the longer belt. "Lavin" McNeil, in left for Winchester, robbed "Doc" Doherty of a sure fire home run when he made a corking catch at the edge of the running track and plunged down the hill, still holding the ball.

"Brad" Coates, at third, gave one of the best fielding exhibitions seen on Manchester Field in a long, long time while "Ernie" Mathews and "Dom" Shea broke up a Woburn double steal in high class fashion. The batteries, for Woburn: Keating, Murray and McDonough; for Winchester, J. Mathews and E. Mathews. Umpire, McDonough.

MISS EDITH JOHNSON ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. M. Johnson of 8 Wilson street, this town, announce the engagement of their daughter, Edith Anna, to Mr. Ernest Leighton Parker of Quincy, son of Mrs. William McLaughlin of Raymond, Minn. No date has been set for the wedding.

WINCHESTER WOMEN AT SCENE OF "PEPPERSASS" TRAGEDY

Two Winchester women were among the 200 passengers who were forced, by the tragic accident to the historic engine, "Old Peppersass," to make a prolonged stay on the summit of Mt. Washington last Saturday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. F. Patterson Smith of Cambridge street, as daughter of Sylvester Marsh, inventor of "Old Peppersass," was one of the guests at the forenoon exercises at the base of the mountain and her daughter, Miss Harriet Smith, a councillor at the Barta Camp, made a special trip from her duties at Casco Lake, Me., to be present.

Both ladies were among those who made the trip to the top of Mt. Washington in the regular trains, remaining on the summit until about 4 o'clock in the afternoon when the trip down the mountain began.

The train in which Mrs. Smith and her daughter were passengers had gone but a short way when it was brought to a stop and proceeded no further. After quite a wait it was announced that "Old Peppersass" had met with an accident and that it would be impossible to descend by the railroad route.

Mrs. Smith stated that she did not see the accident and did not believe many of those in the train realized the extent of the tragedy. There was no confusion, no "women's cries," no panic. The passengers returned to the top of Mt. Washington and made the best of their enforced stay there. Neither of the Winchester ladies suffered the slightest discomfort nor were there any signs of hardship in the party so far as they could observe.

About midnight regular Pierce Arrow busses took the party down the mountain to the base and Boston & Maine busses took the members to Bretton Woods where trains were obtained for Boston. Bretton Woods was reached just as day was breaking and the trip to Boston was made without incident. Miss Smith was unable to make connections for an immediate return trip to camp and accompanied her mother to Winchester. The report that she had been making a hiking trip through the mountains is without foundation.

WINCHESTER WON AT LEXINGTON

Winchester A. A. won its return baseball game with the Lexington Town Team at Lexington last Sunday afternoon by the one-sided score of 12 to 2. The local sluggers took kindly to the slants of "Joe" Donahue, ex-Arlington High ace, and finally forced him to retire in favor of Stoneham's "Jigger" Kingsley.

The venerable "Chucker" Roche, outfielder par excellence, did the twirling for Winchester and proved that ordinary hitters can be stopped as easily by intelligent pitching as by a dazzling assortment of curves and speed.

"Chucker" allowed a paltry 4 hits while Winchester was collecting 20. Fields, Shea, Costello, Roche and "Ernie" Mathews leading with 4 apiece. "Lavin" McNeil's left field play was a revelation to the Lexington fans.

Batteries, for Winchester: Roche and Mathews; for Lexington: Donahue, Kingsley and Molloy. Umpire, Sweeney.

MRS. ALICE B. BURNHAM

Mrs. Alice B. Burnham, widow of Arunah A. L. Burnham of Taunton and mother of Charles A. Burnham of 33 Everett avenue, died Saturday, July 20, at the summer home of her son in Sanbornville, N. H. For the past six months she had been in failing health. She was a native of Middleboro and was born Sept. 8, 1851.

Funeral services were held on Monday at Sanbornville with the Rev. Benjamin Patterson Browne, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating, assisted by Dr. Nathan E. Wood of Gordon College. Burial was in Pine Grove Cemetery, Lynn.

Besides her son, Charles A. Burnham, the deceased is survived by a sister, Mary A. Eaton of Middleboro, by five grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

SELECTMEN COMMEND PATROLMAN O'CONNELL

The following letter was sent this week to Patrolman "Archie" T. O'Connell of the Police Department by the Board of Selectmen. A copy of the same was also sent to Chief of Police William R. McIntosh, to be read at roll-call.

July 24, 1929

Mr. Archibald T. O'Connell,
31 Elm Street,
Winchester, Mass.

Dear Sir:
The Board of Selectmen wish to commend you on the heroic capture and arrest on the evening of July 17, 1929 of one George L. Brooks, alias Leroy Cook, apparently a criminal with a long and varied record; and also of the capture and arrest at the time of one Alma Cartier.

To show their appreciation of this act, the Board has voted to give you three days' extra vacation, with pay, after the other patrolmen in the department have returned from their vacations.

Yours very truly,
Mabel W. Stinson,
Acting Clerk of Selectmen

THIS IS IT!

POLICE CAPTURE LOOMING AS MORE AND MORE IMPORTANT

While from the first there was no doubt in the mind of Chief of Police William R. McIntosh that the man and woman captured last week on the west side by Patrolman Archie O'Connell were the possessors of interesting criminal records, subsequent events and information indicate that the catch is the best yet made in the history of the local department.

Patrolman O'Connell arrested the pair shortly before 10 o'clock last Wednesday night on Everett avenue near Sheffield West on suspicion after the man had failed to show a registration for the Hupmobile sedan he was driving.

On the way to the Station House in the machine it is alleged the man attempted to shoot the local policeman and the charge of assault with attempt to murder was lodged against him by the authorities together with larceny of the automobile, illegal possession of firearms, and having burglar's tools in his possession. His companion was charged with the larceny of a handsome sealskin coat found in the car and with assault.

She gave her name as Alma Cartier, 32, of Revere, and the man said he was George Brooks, 28, of Miami, Fla. Mrs. Cartier, who said she was not living with her husband in Worcester, stated that Brooks had picked her up at the beach while the latter said he had bought the machine in which they were riding from an auto thief in North Carolina. He added that the revolver and sealskin coat had been in the machine when he obtained it.

In the District Court at Woburn Thursday morning Brooks was sentenced to serve 6 months in the House of Correction for having firearms illegally in his possession and was bound in $35,000 for the September session of the Grand Jury on the charges of assault with intent to murder and larceny of the coat and automobile. Mrs. Cartier was held for the Grand Jury, charged with larceny of the coat, but in her connection Judge Jesse W. Morton found no probable cause on the charge of assault with intent to murder. Judge Morton also found no probable cause on the charge of having burglars' tools in his possession, preferred against Brooks.

Neither the latter nor Mrs. Cartier could raise the bail exacted and were committed to prison at East Cambridge. Following the trial at Woburn, Brooks told the police that he had stolen the coat found in the car from the home of Mr. John L. Cayting at 11 Sheffield West, where an investigation disclosed the burglar had gained access by jimmying a rear window with a long screwdriver found on his person at the time of his arrest.

In addition to the sealskin coat it was found that a sum of money had been taken from the Cayting home.

A check-up on Brooks disclosed an interesting criminal record in the files at the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta. The prisoner had been identified as Leroy E. Cook and is wanted on the charge of shooting an officer in New Jersey. He has been indicted and was sentenced to serve a long prison term for burglary at Trenton, N. J., having been subsequently paroled. The machine in which he and Mrs. Cartier were riding at the time of their arrest was discovered by the police to have been stolen on May 11 in Jacksonville, Fla., from one Roy D. Smith.

The Home Insurance Company of Boston and New York took the car on Wednesday from the Central Garage where it had remained since the night of Cook's arrest.

Meanwhile the police of Winchester and other towns and cities were active along other lines in connection with the case. It was believed that Cook and Mrs. Cartier had been busy throughout this district for some little time previous to their arrest, and after a thorough search the Somerville Police succeeded in locating an apartment in that city which the pair had occupied for three weeks.

Stolen property valued at about $2000 was recovered in the apartment the exact location of which is withheld. Already goods found there have been linked with breaks in Newton, Lynn, Worcester, Medford and Arlington, and two pawn tickets, among other things, led to the recovery by Sergt. William H. Rogers of the Police Department in a Boston pawn shop on Wednesday of a fur coat and another garment stolen from the residence of L. R. Chamberlain at 51 Wildwood street, entered sometime previous to July 15. The revolver with which it is alleged Cook attempted to shoot Patrolman O'Connell was stolen in Lynn.

When Cook and Mrs. Cartier are arraigned before the Grand Jury in the fall they will face an imposing indictment of charges and it is likely that both will receive long term sentences. Cook, especially is likely to be dealt with severely in view of his previous criminal record.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

Mrs. Mary Murphy of Salem street who on several previous occasions has proved herself a most hospitable hostess, acted in that capacity again on Wednesday afternoon of this week at her home. The members and their friends enjoyed card playing on the well-shaded lawn where also other amusement was offered and a cake sale was conducted.

Following the bridge and whist playing and other entertainment a most delightful refreshment hour was enjoyed. Much appreciation is extended Sister Murphy for her ability to entertain so pleasantly on these occasions.

There was no particular program for the outing and the day was spent according to the pleasure of the individual. Some enjoyed bathing, others played bridge and still others found a keen enjoyment in roaming about the spacious grounds of the Cummings estate. A group picture of the outing guests was taken as well as many other photographs.

Mr. and Mrs. Cummings and their daughter, Dorothy, proved perfect hosts, sparing no effort to provide complete enjoyment for their visitors.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

In Philadelphia a number of society leaders have ceased to serve drinks at their social functions and guests are accepting this move as indicative of the purpose of Philadelphia's women leaders to support the President. It is beginning to be considered "bad form" to expect liquors at such gatherings, for, as one woman expressed it, "it simply isn't being done any more."

This has been due to a great extent to the influence of Mrs. George H. Strawbridge, of ancient Quaker lineage, who some time ago sent out letters to the various "first families" of Philadelphia calling their attention to and urging them to follow the lead taken recently in Washington by Mrs. Edward H. McLean, "in order to create sentiment for prohibition in support of President Hoover's efforts to make the prohibition law effective." "My thought is simply of people whose wealth and position clothe them with the power of example can be induced to set an example, as Mrs. McLean is trying to do, we could be of inestimable aid to our President in carrying out his program for law observance and law enforcement by the people themselves," said Mrs. Strawbridge. She has sent the same letter to Chicago social leaders, and similar letters will be sent to Boston, Baltimore, Washington, Cleveland, San Francisco and other cities, with a view to organizing several groups all over the United States, having the same object of co-operation by law observance.

Itch Made Best Record for Three Events Last Saturday

Three interesting five mile races for outboard motors were held last Saturday afternoon on Mystic Lakes under the auspices of the Winchester Yacht Club. Albert "Doc" Stearns of Railroad avenue, a well known employee of the Kelley & Hawes Company, was painfully injured Tuesday forenoon while engaged in a moving job on Washington street. A heavy stove, in falling, pinned his hand to the floor and inflicted numerous bruises and a bad cut. Mr. Stearns was taken by Motorcycle Officer Edward O'Connell and Patrolman James E. Farrell of the Police Department to the office of Dr. Arthur L. Brown on Church street where his wounds were dressed. He got back on the job after treatment.

Mr. Richard Parkhurst of this town, commissioner of the Boston Port Authority, was one of the guest passengers to return last week from New York on the S.S. Leviathan. The occasion marked the first time the huge vessel had docked in Boston since she was taken over from the government by private interests.
William A. Meagher of 14 Febron street, Woburn, reported to the police that while he was driving an International truck east on Holton street Monday he lost control of the machine which struck a tree and broke down a section of hedge in front of the residence of Mr. John Hall.

TOWN TEAM WON FROM TWI- LIGHT CLUB

Came From Behind After Spotting Four Runs

"Dukes" Farrell's Winchester Town Team spotted "Connie" Mack's A. A. four runs last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field and then clubbed its way to an 11-5 win over the twilight dandies in the first battle of a five-game series to decide the championship of the town.

The biggest crowd of the year, or for several seasons, was on hand and saw an interesting game, crowded with hard hitting and studded here and there with fielding gems.

For a couple of frames the A. A. looked like a sure winner, taking advantage of some of the loosest play the Town Team has shown since early season to roll up four big runs.

"Lefty" Flaherty went along very smoothly for the A. A. until the 4th when the Town Team began to fathom his slants. It is only fair to say that the Woburn twirler was hit on the throwing arm by a pitched ball in the first of the 4th and the blow in all probability did him no particular good. Whether he could have held the Townies' in check, had the accident not occurred, is open to debate.

It surely wasn't "Lefty" Dyer's fault that the A. A. scored their first four runs. He held the heavy-hitting A. A. batters well in check after the second, and might have gotten by the first two innings, had he been able to bear down. Martin, however, was unable to hold him up at first and his backing in the field was miserable.

Fields, first man up for the A. A. singled into right and was sacrificed to second by Shea, Dyer getting the assist. The speedy little colored boy made third when Dyer uncorked a wild pitch and scored when Martin let a fast one slip through his hands.
Whitaker threw out Desmond, but Pagluccia walked. Mantenuito threw out Roche.

Whitaker threw out Ambrose to start the second, but McNeil drew a pass and stole second. Parsons fanned, but Martin lost the third strike and while he was throwing out
"Appa" at first McNeil made third.
Flaherty rolled to Mantenuito and when the ball took a bad hop into the Watertown boy's chest, McNeil scored and the runner made first. When Whitaker bobbed on Field's soft grounder Flaherty advanced to score on Shea's hit through shortstop.
Windsor's throw to the plate went into the crowd and Fields counted.
Shea making third. Desmond struck out to end the rally.

This finished the scoring until the 4th when the Town Team came to life. Fitzgerald lined a single to left and moved along when Windsor drew a pass. Mantenuito skied to Fields and Daugh, who had replaced O'Connell in right, topped one along the third base line. When Flaherty's peg got away from Parsons at third Fitzgerald and Windsor tallied, Daugh making second. Martin walked and both runners advanced while Desmond was retiring Dyer at first. "Tom" Dolan walked but J. Dolan skied to McNeil.

The Town Team tied it in the 5th.
Shea threw out Whitaker, but Fitzgerald singled to left, only to die stealing. Pagluccia to Shea. Windsor drew a pass and went to second on Mantenuito's hit over second. In trying to flag Windsor, stealing, Pag-luccia threw past Halwartz, "Bucky" scoring and Mantenuito taking third.
Daugh's double to center scored Mantenuto with the tying run, but Martin fanned to end the frame.

The 6th was a tough inning for the
A. A. Dyer hoisted to Shea, but "Tom" Dolan walked and rode all the way home on brother "Jomma's" triple to center. Whitaker flied to Ambrose and J. Dolan counted when Pagluccia muffed "Dusty" Ambrose's perfect throw to the platter. Nicholas of the House of Fitzgerald tripled lustily to right and Windsor drew his third straight pass. Both came in on Mantenuito's double to center. Daugh popped to Desmond to close the inning.

"Lefty" Dyer was going along very smoothly and the A. A. sluggers proved very impotent. The Town Team began to play ball afield and the 8-4 clocking looked safe enough.
Desmond went into pitch the 7th for the "Mackerels" and got by safely, retiring the side in order.

The A. A. put over one in the 8th when Roche singled to center and made third on Ambrose's double to right. "Chucker" scored while Whitaker was throwing out "Nod" Murray, who had replaced McNeil, but
J. Dolan threw out Halwartz.

Three big Town Team tallies trickled over in the last of the 8th.
With one away Whitaker hit over second and was safe when Fields lost Shea's throw to force him on Sayce's roller. Windsor hoisted to Fields, but "Johnny" Mantenuito belted one into the river for a homer, scoring Whitaker and Sayce ahead of him. Daugh fouled to Pagluccia.

The A. A. got a couple on in the 9th, but Dyer tightened and forced Desmond to fly to Daugh in deep right field, fanning Pagluccia for the final out.

Dyer Straights
Dyer, who pitched for the "Farrels" is the old University Club southpaw. He had plenty of stuff Saturday and Martin had a tough time holding his slants. Forkhanders seem to bother big "Tom" a lot.

Both clubs showed somewhat revised lineups. It's our opinion that Desmond and Pagluccia strengthened the
A. A. fully as much as Windsor and Daugh helped the Town Team.
The latter outfit had a distinct edge in the box.

"Chucker" Roche expected his old pal, "Bill" Cleary, ex-North Cambridge twilight leaguer, to play center field, but some other manager must have shaken the long green in the eyes of the prize umpire baiter.
The fans at last saw Walter Whitaker miss one when he lost Fields' roller in the 2nd.

"Bill" O'Connell snould not feel badly because he was removed from the game. The big Winchester boy is shy of experience as yet and will do much better with another year of high school ball under his belt. The fans have expected altogether too much of this youngster.

"Jomma" Dolan is playing the best shortstop we've seen him show in several seasons. He's covering that shortfield like a tent.

"Jerry" Pagluccia, behind the bat for the A. A., is the Everett High catcher whom most critics picked for all scholastic honors. He is a nice receiver and has a great arm.

"Nicky" Fitzgerald continues to hit that old apple. He got three out of four Saturday, including a triple.
"Tommy" Dolan turned in the real fielding gem of the matinee when he ran straight back and made a great catch of Pagluccia's bid for a triple in the 5th.

"Dusty" Ambrose made a sweet peg to the plate in the 6th after catching Whitaker's fly to center. "Jomma" Dolan was trying to score and Pag-luccia lost the ball, trying to make a bare handed catch, with an easy put-out in sight. The error robbed "Dusty" of an assist and Whitaker of a sacrifice fly.

"Chucker" Roche may be slowing up, but he is still a master outfielder, and can't be hit that cripple.

"Livin" McNeil removed himself from the game after striking out in the 4th. He's a great kid, is "Livin," and a sweet ball player.

This boy Mantenuito, is a favorite with the fans. He's a hustler and hits 'em hard and often.

Whitaker showed the advantage of baseball experience when he let a run score in the 8th to get the runner at first. A kid ball player would have played for the plate and likely lost both men.

Mr. Charles Chamberland of Thompson street is able to be about again after being confined to his home for some time with a fractured hip. He is still very lame.

PRICED TO GIVE YOU GREATEST VALUE

CONSIDER the delivered, fully equipped price of this charming Nash "400" Sedan, and you'll see immediately it is a car you certainly should consider, when you get ready to buy.

For here, at a delivered, fully equipped price much lower than you would expect to pay for a car of its size and character, is an Advanced Six "400" Sedan with the Twin Ignition, high compression, valve-in-head, 7-bearing motor—with the beauty and style that have made the "400" a heavy favorite among all the year's new cars—and with a host of other costly-car features never available before in this price field.

Such features, for instance, as Bijur Centralized Chassis Lubrication which oils 29 chassis points at the pressure of a pedal. And alloy steel springs individually designed for its size and weight, correlated with Houdaille, double-action, outboard-mounted, hydraulic shock absorbers. And the "world's easiest steering!"

These are only a few of the features of this Nash "400", but they give you an idea of its greater value and the extraordinarily fine performance you may expect from it.

The delivered, fully equipped price on this, and on all "400" models is lower, for the simple reason that all this equipment—Bijur Centralized Chassis Lubrication, Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire lock, and tire cover—is installed at the factory and included in the factory price. Some dealers charge as much as $50 to $60 extra for bumpers alone.

Neither must you expect all the good qualities of motor oil to be found in oil

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

The man who hangs himself dies of his own free will and a cord.

Do not take too seriously. You will never get out of it alive.

When you have a fight with your conscience and get licked—you win.

Progress: Garters used to be a necessity—now they're an attraction.

Men no longer hide behind a woman's skirt. And neither do the women.

A longtime Aberjona-Mystic canoeist dropped into the office this week to announce that he had regretfully given up his favorite sport because of the condition of the river and upper lake. We're wondering how he lasted as long as he did.

The Star is indebted to Assistant Assessor F. Percyval Lewis for the news that Winchester's population in April was about 12,600. The town has been growing and apparently continues to grow, despite the Aberjona River and the dearth of "movies."

Complaints have reached the Star that the busses on the Winchester-Wakefield line are not leaving the center on schedule. Apparently, if upon arrival at the stop in the center there are no passengers in sight, the driver does not wait until the scheduled time for leaving. Several commuters have been obliged to wait for an hour because they were not at the bus stop ahead of time.

The Star's prediction that some

"kiddie" would be hurt at the ball games on Manchester Field came true last Saturday afternoon when a youngster sitting along the first base line was struck a glancing blow on the face by a hard hit foul ball. The boy sustained a painful bruise and had his glasses broken, but fortunately the ball did not strike squarely enough to do the greatest damage possible. Something should be done to prevent children from getting into such dangerous places, and if the management of the teams can not afford to hire police protection at the Saturday games, when youngsters are most in attendance, the town should provide an officer. The cost entailed is negligible when one stops to think that it is weighed in the balance against the possibility of losing a child's life.

THAT AUTOMOBILE EXCISE TAX

History tells us that our forefathers became embroiled in the great war which led to American independence largely because they objected to what they considered unjust taxation. After receiving our motor excise tax and entering at the assessors' office into an informal discussion of what the tax entails, we are left wondering just how the stern visaged patriots, who bedecked themselves in Indian garb and tossed tea into Boston Harbor because they objected to a tax thereon, would submit to a levy which demands payment for something the taxpayer did not have. As far as we know the colonists were privileged to drink the tea upon which the unjust tax was imposed. They could enjoy the fragrant drink while deciding to combat the tyranny which had imposed an assessment on tea not in keeping with American ideals of justice. Our forefathers seem to have us one up in the matter of justice when the motor excise tax is compared with that on tea in the old days. For if one happens to buy an automobile in May, he is called upon to pay taxes on the vehicle from Jan. 1st, even though he did not have the machine and even though it had not been manufactured at that date. Four months' taxes are exacted on a motor car which the taxpayer did not have! Four months' taxes on a car which was not in existence! The case of the citizen who trades automobiles previous to July 1st is also worthy of note. He is called upon to pay taxes for several months upon two automobiles when he has had but one. In our own case we traded automobiles in April and find that we must pay four months' tax on our old car and an entire year's tax on our new machine. We are entitled to an abatement on the car we traded in provided application is made within 60 days of the date of transfer of the car or, if the tax had not been committed when transferred, within 60 days of receipt of the assessment. And if we didn't happen to know about the 60 day limit for filing applications (and there is nothing on the tax bills to so inform the ignorant) then we are distinctly out of luck and can't get any abatement. All of which is great fun, if one's sense of humor is acute enough to grasp it. A man, or woman, gets his or her tax bill along in April and pays it, as a good citizen should pay his taxes and later, say in June, decides to trade cars. He has to pay a whole year's tax on his new machine and if he did not make application for abatement within 60 days of receipt of his tax bill on his old car, he has to pay for a whole year on that too. It all looks like double taxation to us and we've always been led to believe that double taxation isn't legal. One thing we do know, and that is that few understand the provisions of the new excise tax law and less than that few seem to think the law is equitable. It is our opinion that a test case would not get far in court. Taxing a man for something he did not have and which wasn't in existence for several of the months for which levy is made does not strike us as in any way just. We suppose that the new law was made with the idea of getting a yearly motor vehicle tax from automobile owners and to make it impossible to avoid payment. As the excise tax works out the motorist in many instances is called upon to pay several months in excess of a year's taxes. The new law seems so unfair as to be ridiculous, if it did not cost so much to laugh!

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

The school savings system for the year ending in June showed a total deposit of $52,207.71 with 97.2 per cent of the pupils depositing. This is not only a large sum of money for school children to have deposited to date, but it shows a very high percentage of all pupils saving something regularly.

The public schools will officially open on Tuesday, Sept. 10 with professional meetings held by the Superintendent of Schools on Monday, Sept. 9. The opening is a little later than usual. The committee changed the date to accommodate a large number of parents during Labor Day week. They strongly urge that every child who expects to enter the public schools, enter promptly on Sept. 10, both for the pupils' interest as well as for the teachers.

Pupils to be admitted to the kindergarten must be five years of age on or before Jan. 1, 1930. Pupils to be admitted to the first grade must be six years of age on or before Jan. 1, 1930. If there are parents who believe that their children may have advanced more rapidly mentally than their age would indicate, they may arrange with the office of the Superintendent of Schools, Winchester 1780, for a special mental test which will be given at the Superintendent's office on the following dates: Sept. 5, 6, 7, 9, 10.

The office of the Superintendent of Schools will be open during the month of August from 9 to 12 in the morning and from 1:30 to 4:30 in the afternoon, and on Saturdays from 9 to 11:30.

The Committee have carried on the usual necessary maintenance program during the summer. Some interior painting has been done at the High School with other minor repairs. The wood exterior of the Wyman, Mystic and Noonan Schools will be painted during the summer.

NEWS FROM CONOMO

Things are moving smoothly at Conomo since "Charlie" Lane laid aside the responsibilities attendant upon the post of official scavenger to assume the mayoralty toga. Some 40 committees are working harmoniously on schemes of various magnitude, all pointing toward activity and good times at the point.

Only one mishap is recorded this week and that took place only a short time after Charles resigned as club scavenger.

It seems Harris Richardson, local business man, Rotarian, Selectman and all around good fellow, got a ducking last week which may or may not have been accidental. Harris was stretched prone upon his stomach on the bowsprit of "Frank" Lane's yacht as the craft approached the Conomo wharf, ready and willing to pick up moorings. There were others aboard the boat beside Harris and the skipper and just as the former was about to reach out for the line they suddenly ran for'ard. The combined weight with the sails the boat carried quickly rolled Harris "scuppers under" and gave him an impromptu, but very thorough bath. In the absence of any official scavenger he was obliged to shift for himself and soon succeeded in scrambling to safety. Harris is saying little, but we'll wager that some one is likely to pay well for his unsought immersion.

Miss Mary Cullen, niece of Mrs. Rose McGowan, of 49 Canal street, who recently entered the Training School for Attendant Nurses conducted by the Household Nursing Association of 222 Newbury street, Boston, has just completed her training at the school and has now entered the Norwood Hospital in Norwood for her hospital work.

FRANCIS OUMET SETTING HOT PACE IN WINCHESTER FOUR-BALL TOURNAMENT

Francis Oumet of Woodland is dominating the four-ball tournament at the Winchester Country Club, his individual score for the qualifying round on Wednesday and his two matches yesterday being 8 strokes under an average of even par. His team mate, Percy Chase of Winchester, has been very much on his own game with the result that the combination has thus far waded through all opposition.

In the morning round of the first flight yesterday, Chase and Oumet eliminated F. E. and R. M. Smith of Winchester and in the afternoon defeated R. V. Bean of Cohasset and R. V. Smith of Winchester. Bean and Smith won from the Winchester team of W. A. Jackson and E. T. Barton in the forenoon.

G. L. Barton and H. K. Olmstead of Winchester remain in the competition in the second flight as do Sears Walker and L. D. Wood and G. C. Naylor and Chesley Whitten in the third. J. H. Joy and T. R. Abbott are the local combination surviving in the fourth flight.

The opening day of the tourney Wednesday saw both Johnny Merwin of Concord and Francis Oumet of Woodland broke the course record for individual play, the former turning in a 71, only to have Oumet slice off a stroke for a 70.

Oumet's individual card read:
Out 4 4 4 4 4 3 3 3 3 3 3
In 1 3 4 5 3 4 4 4 4 3 70

The Woodland golfer was conceded a soft put at the third hole, but with that slight exception he had a legitimate 70. Young Merwin's 71 was legitimate in every way and his score replaces lower rounds made before the course was stiffened. His card read:
Out 4 4 4 4 4 3 5 5 4 3 71
In 1 3 5 4 3 4 4 4 3 31 71

Three teams tied for the better-ball medals as follows:

Francis Oumet, Woodland and A. P. Chase, Winchester
Out 4 4 4 4 4 3 3 3 3 3 35
In 1 3 4 5 3 3 3 4 4 33 68

G. W. Moore and W. H. Donnelly, Jr., Woodland
Out 3 4 4 4 4 3 3 3 3 3 33
In 1 3 5 5 2 4 4 5 3 35 68

John Merwin, Concord and Alan Howard, Vesper
Out 4 4 4 4 4 3 4 3 3 3 34
In 1 3 5 4 3 4 4 4 3 31 68

The entire field numbered 92 teams. All the 77's and one 78 qualified for the first division. There were only three "no cards." Following are the local teams in the qualifying round with their scores:

R. V. Bean, Cohasset and R. L. Smith 35 37 72

Howard Gary Chapin of 718 Commonwealth avenue, prominent Boston business man who years ago was associated with the firm of Chapin, Trull Company, Charlestown distillers, died suddenly yesterday at the Faulkner Hospital, Jamaica Plain. Mr. Chapin had been ill for a short time with pneumonia and passed away at the hospital while undergoing an operation.

He was born in Charlestown 55 years ago, the son of George F. and H. Frances Chapin. After attending primary schools there he went to Boston English High School, where he was later graduated. While still a young man he entered his father's firm, the Chapin, Trull Company, then one of the oldest and best known distillers in Charlestown and New England. The firm was established by his grandfather.

When the company was broken up by prohibition, Mr. Chapin became associated with the Universal Safety Tread Company of Boston and Waltham. He was treasurer and held the controlling interest in the firm at the time of his death.

Mr. Chapin resided here for about 25 years.

A member of the Boston Athletic Association for more than 25 years, he was one of its most prominent and well-known members. Other organizations with which he was affiliated included the Corinthian Yacht Club, Henry Price Lodge of Masons, Charlestown, and the Royal Arch Chapter of Masons. He was president of the Winchester Home for Aged Women in Charlestown for several years.

Besides his wife, Grace (Greenough) Chapin, he is survived by his mother, two sisters, Mrs. F. William Hall of Scituate and Mrs. Harriet F. Munroe of Winchester and a brother G. Edwin Chapin.

The funeral services will be held on Sunday at 2 p. m. at the home of his mother, 1 Everett avenue. The burial will be at Mt. Auburn.

BADLY BITTEN BY CHOW DOG

Little Francis Smith of Sylvester avenue was badly bitten about the face last Sunday evening about 9:30 when he attempted to fondle a chow dog, owned by his grandfather, Charles O. Smith, who makes his home with Francis' parents.

According to the police, the boy went to pat one of a pair of chows, tied in the yard of his home, when he was attacked by the animal and badly bitten. The child's cries attracted his father, Charles Smith, and also his uncle, Earl Smith of Main street. Both were bitten in the scuffle which ensued while they were getting Francis away from the dog.

Motorcycle Officer Edward O'Connell, whose home is on Sylvester avenue, hastened to the Smith residence and shot the snarling animal. Little Francis was treated by two Woburn physicians who were obliged to take 25 stitches to close a bad gash on his face. It is reported that the sight of one eye is permanently impaired.

Earl Smith was treated for his injuries by Dr. Milton J. Quinn at the Winchester Hospital. Francis' father, Charles Smith, who was bitten about the hands, was treated at home.

FUNERAL RITES FOR CALVIN F. ROBINSON

Funeral services for Calvin F. Robinson, who died last Friday morning, July 19, at his home, 107 Bowdoin street, Winthrop, were held on Monday afternoon in the Kelley & Hawes Chapel with the Rev. John E. Whitley, pastor of the Second Congregational Church, officiating. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mr. Robinson was born in 1843 at Cornville, Me., the son of Calvin and Nancy Robinson. As a young man he came to Boston and entered the produce business on Blackstone street in the market district. Later he became associated with the Boston firm of Lewis Mears and was identified with that South Market street house until his retirement from active business in 1909.

In 1871 Mr. Robinson married Miss Clara C. Brown at Rutland, Vt., and shortly thereafter came to Winchester. For many years he made his home at 132 Washington street, his daughter, Miss Vena Robinson, being employed in the local post office.

Eight years ago, upon the advice of his physician, Mr. Robinson left Winchester to make his home nearer the water front in Winthrop. He was a member of the Boston Fruit and Produce Exchange and was the oldest member of Beacon Lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen.

Surviving are his wife and daughter, at the family home in Winthrop, and one son, George N. Robinson of Denver, Col. There is also a granddaughter, Miss Dorothy Robinson of Denver.

Saturday until 1 P.M.

There will be no specified hour to come, but instead, you may stop in whenever convenient. In this way... Miss Willey will be able to talk more intimately with individuals, or small groups... about the particular things in which they may be interested.

There will be ample opportunity to leisurely sample the delicacies she prepares... and to inquire into their preparation—or into the preparation of other frozen dishes that are a source of delight to so many thousands of Frigidaire users.

FRIGIDAIRE RECIPE BOOKS

The popular Frigidaire Recipe Books, which have met with such widespread favor throughout the country, will be furnished free to those who have not as yet been able to obtain one.

EXTENSIVE DISPLAY of latest FRIGIDAIRE MODELS

One of the real features of this week's activities will be the exhibit of various Frigidaire models.

Ordinarily it is not possible to see more than one or two models in suburban stores. But in order to give all residents of this vicinity the chance to inspect a real extensive display without going in town, we have brought a "main showroom" display of chests out here to the local Edison Shop.

This display will be here for only one week. While it is here we urge everybody to see it. You are welcome to come in at your convenience, any day next week, and spend as much time as you wish looking over these Frigidaire models.

3 Reasons to buy a FRIGIDAIRE Now!

1 ONLY 10% DOWN

A down payment of only 10% of the purchase price places a Frigidaire in your home... The balance is payable monthly on your regular electric service bill, with six, twelve, or eighteen months to pay, as desired... These liberal terms are available to all Edison Service Customers (slight additional charge for terms).

2 MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

If after a thorough trial, you are not convinced of the merit of electric refrigeration, notify us any time within thirty (30) days of purchase. We will take out the refrigerator and refund your money in full. This guarantee applies to all self-contained model Frigidaires purchased by Edison Service Customers between now and August 31, 1929.

3 NEW COLD CONTROL

Cold Control is a simple dial showing six different freezing speeds... It enables you to regulate the time required to make ice cubes, unusual frozen desserts... delicious new ices. If you want them ready in less time, just set the Cold Control. It's an exclusive feature of Frigidaire.

WILL OF FORMER WINCHESTER MAN LISTS PUBLIC BEQUESTS

Nearly $200,000 Bequeathed Institutions by John W. Lufkin

The recently probated will of John W. Lufkin, retired inventor and a former well known resident of Winchester, who died July 20 at his home in Boston, conveys an estate estimated at approximately $800,000. Personal legacies provided total $162,000 and the public bequests amount to $195,000. The only heir-at-law, a sister, Miss Elizabeth A. Lufkin of Squantum, is left $50,000 outright and with three others shares in the residue of the estate.

Public bequests list $5000 to the Boston Square and Compass Club, $15,000 to the New England Home for Deaf and Dumb at Danvers, $25,000 to the Winchester Hospital and $25,000 each to the Winchester School for the Blind, New York; Home for Aged Couples at Roxbury, Morgan Memorial, Young Men's Christian Association, Young Women's Christian Association and the Salvation Army.

Miss Winnie Knapp of Chestnut street shares in the personal bequests as do several employees of the Hotel Brunswick, Boston, where the deceased made his home for many years.

The executors named are Thekla Gresham, Harry P. Tilden and the United States Trust Company who share equally in the residue with Miss Elizabeth Lufkin. If any legatee should contest the will, that legacy is to be revoked.

FRUIT AND VEGETABLES

The Home for Aged People possesses no vegetable garden. Early apples and fresh vegetables are very much appreciated by Mrs. Moore and members of the family at 110 Mt. Vernon street. Those having a surplus in their own gardens and orchards can render the Home a real service.

The Fire Department was called at 1:03 Wednesday afternoon to put out a fire caused by an explosion in a gas stove at the home of Mr. Everett Scammon on Lincoln street.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT OF MISS DAY TO ARTHUR E. FRENCH

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Day of Gramercy Park, Manhattan, N. Y., and Short Hills, N. J., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Pauline Pope Day, to Arthur E. French, son of Mrs. Arthur E. French and the late Mr. French of Highland avenue. The wedding is to take place in the early fall.

Miss Day was educated at private schools in Boston and attended Boston Art School. She has travelled extensively abroad and on May 25, 1927, was presented at the Court of St. James.

Mr. French prepared for college at Winchester High School and Worcester Academy where he gave promise of the athletic prowess displayed later at Harvard, from which he was graduated in June. He was captain of last season's winning Harvard football team, president of the student council and first marshal of the senior class. He is now learning the real estate business in New York but will return to coach the Harvard freshman eleven in the fall.

Miss Day's mother is the granddaughter of the late James Monroe Taylor, one of the early settlers in Gramercy Park, whose nephew and namesake was president of Vassar College for over a quarter of a century. Her father, Mr. Joseph P. Day, is one of the most prominent real estate men of New York. Miss Day's uncle, J. Monroe Taylor Pope, was a Harvard '93 man, and her three brothers are recent graduates of Harvard.

Mr. French's father, the late Arthur E. French, was a prominent architect of Boston.

ABBIE FRANCES CUTTER

At the Home for Aged People on Sunday, July 28, Miss Abbie Cutter passed peacefully away. She was born at the old homestead on Main street at the foot of Cutter's Hill, 85 years ago, the daughter of Sullivan and Abigail Brooks Cutter and was perhaps the last immediate member of one of the oldest and most respected families of Winchester. Her life had been closely identified with the First Congregational Church of which she became a member in 1858. For 25 consecutive years she taught in the Sunday School and after that she was ready and willing to substitute whenever her services were needed.

After the death of her parents she lived quite alone for many years at the old home. Four years ago it became evident with the increasing infirmities of age that she could not continue to live independently. Although it cost her a great effort to leave her old home where she had lived for 80 years under the same roof, she finally entered the Home for Aged People. These past four years have been very happy ones for her. She has never lost an opportunity to express her gratitude for the home and for all that has been done for her. She herself has radiated kindness and joy and she will be missed by those with whom she has been associated.

Services were held on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Ripley Memorial Chapel, conducted by Rev. S. Winchester. Delia Whitney played organ selections. Miss Cutter was buried in the old family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

PROGRAM FOR "ITALIAN DAY" ANNOUNCED

Chairman Frank Dattilo of the committee in charge of the local observance of the Feast of the Assumption by Winchester's Italian citizens announced to the Star this week that plans for the event had at last been completed.

The celebration of the feast day which is internationally observed by the Roman Catholic Church is to follow rather closely the lines of others held here in previous years.

It is to be of two days' duration, commencing on the evening of Wednesday, Aug. 15, when the Chirisan Band of Boston will play a concert at the bandstand on Manchester Field from 7:30 to 10:30. A small display of fireworks will accompany this concert.

Two bands have been secured for the next day's program, the Chirisan Band being assisted by the Napoli Band, also of Boston.

The morning parade with both bands and the celebration committee in line will march through the principal streets of the Italian section of the town. The religious parade which will feature the afternoon will form at St. Mary's Church at 2 o'clock and proceed to the center and thence to Swanton street by way of Main street. Many of the principal streets of the East Side will be covered before the line of march breaks ranks.

In the evening the two bands will compete in a music contest on Manchester Field, commencing promptly at 7:30. The big fireworks display will begin about 10 o'clock. The Pearl Fireworks Company of Centerdale, R. I. has been secured to furnish this year's display and has promised the committee the best fireworks ever.

FOOD SHOP CHANGES HANDS

Mrs. A. C. Granger has sold the Food Shop, which she has conducted for the past three years on Church street opposite the Trust Company. The new owner is Mrs. Adelaide Bowen of Boston. The transfer was effected this week and the place comes under the new management on Monday.

A dog, owned by Bernard Boyle of Oak street, was struck and injured on Mt. Vernon street Wednesday morning by an Essex coach driven by Clarence W. Lord of 225 Essex street, Melrose. Lord reported the accident to the police.

HE LAUGHS BEST

Every one knows the old saw about the last laugh and two out-of-town boys were forcibly impressed with its truthfulness Monday forenoon when in a spirit of fun they loosened the tailboard of a big truck carrying crushed stone through town, causing the contents to be strewn along Church street from Dix street to the Trust Company.

The incident was noted by Patrolman James E. Farrell of the Police Department who made after the boys and succeeded in heading them off on Dix street near the Calumet Club.

Returning to where he had stopped the truck Officer Farrell procured a couple of shovels and started the boys on the job of returning the scattered crushed stone to the truck.

The stone was heavy and well distributed along the street. Officer Farrell was painstakingly thorough and the day was warm, very warm. Perspiration rolled freely from the youngsters, toiling in the sun, and there was many a chuckle as passer-by took in the situation. The boys, however, failed to crack even the proverbial smile. They had enjoyed the laugh previously.

WINCHESTER ELKS TO JOIN WOBURN "BILLS" IN OUTING

Saturday is the time, Martin Luther Grove, Tyngsboro, is the place and the event is the big outing of Winchester and Woburn Lodges of Elks. Elaborate preparations have been made and the party looms as a real red letter event of the local mid-summer season.

The members of Winchester Lodge will assemble Saturday morning at the lodge room, Lyceum Hall, ready to leave for the grove about 10:30. Transportation is to be by private automobiles and is being arranged by E. L. K. "Jack" Donaghey.

A sports program is to include the inevitable dashes, with a fat man's race, pipe race, three-legged race and quilt pitching, but the real feature of the outing will be the ball game between teams representing the two lodges.

Harold McDonald is captaining the Woburn outfit and is apparently keeping his lineup rather "cozy." "Jack" Donaghey, captain of the Winchester team states that his nine is ready to go and will include such ex and near stars as "Doc" O'Connor, "Jack" McKenzie, Leo Finnegan, John F. Sullivan, Archie McDonald, Johnnie Murphy and others.

Luncheon will be served from 11 a. m. until 2 in the afternoon with a piping hot turkey dinner at 4 p. m. Exalted Ruler "Ben" Cullen announced that the outing will be held in rain or shine or what have you and further states that a good time awaits every one who attends.

CHAPIN WON FOUR MILE CANOE RACE

Thirty-four canoeists participated in the first annual four-mile canoe race, sponsored by the Medford Boat Club last Saturday afternoon. The contestants started near the Winchester Boat Club and paddled down the big lake into Lower Mystic and the Mystic River, finishing opposite the Lawrence Light Guard Armory in Medford.

Howard Chapin of the Omicron Delta Club of Waltham finished first and as a result of his victory has one leg on the silver loving cup, presented by Mayor Edward H. Larkin of Medford. The cup must be won three times to come into permanent possession.

Edward Hahn, also of O. D., finished second, 20 yards behind Chapin, and Gerald Mosher of the Crescent Canoe Club, two time winner of the Samoset 26-mile canoe race, finished three yards behind Hahn.

After dinner, cards will be enjoyed on the piazza followed by a concert such as only the C. D. of A. can stage.

NEWS FROM CONOMO

The July clam bake took place at the point last Saturday evening under the watchful supervision of "Vin" Farnsworth, and as usual, the habitual "good time" was enjoyed. Conomo bakes are clam bakes "as are" clam bakes, the clams and etceteras being roasted in sea weed in the most approved fashion for added fragrance and digestibility. Other Pride so thoroughly enjoys Conomo bakes that last Saturday he laid aside the rigorous diet by which he usually governs his eating and partook so heartily of everything that he was forced to forego an evening of bridge to recover from the effects of his gastronomic indiscretion. How a menu which only included such light items as roast clams, lobsters, frankfurters, green corn, roast onions, baked sweet potatoes, water melon and coffee could effect anyone is beyond us and only goes to show how delicate Ober's digestion really is.

Mayor "Charlie" Lane was present at the bake and for one reason or another acted as deputy to his son, "Frank," who is by virtue of official appointment chairman of the official disposal committee at Conomo. For some time after the clam bake was but a pleasant (or unpleasant) memory Charles was a very busy man tuting the remnants of the feast to the gulls off the point.

ALTERATIONS TO NATIONAL BANK

A room for the use of lady customers and new space for the officers of the bank will be added while the directors' room, coupon room and working space will be changed and much improved. The interior of the bank will be completely redecorated. The work is being done by Contractor Fred C. Alexander of Winchester and is expected to be completed soon after Labor Day. The alterations are being made without any inconvenience to the customers of the bank which will observe its usual summer banking hours.

CALUMET CLUB ENTERS NEW MYSTIC VALLEY LEAGUE

The Mystic Valley League will be re-incarnated this fall and will consist of eight clubs among which will be: Kernwood, Malden, Central, Middlesex Sportsmen's, Calumet, Medford, Melrose Highlands and Towanda. It is expected that a special committee of live wires will be formed from Calumet's Club to take care of the various events at which Calumet Club will be represented.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed with the Town Clerk, as follows:
John Francis Hogan of 28 Middlesex street and Mary O'Flaherty of 101 Bowdoin street, Medford.

Ernest Lionel Paquette of 15 Austin street, Newtonville, and Catherine Alice Ward of 15 Kendall street, Richard Gerard McCarthy of 507 Massachusetts avenue, Boston, and Mary Frances Quirk of 23 Nelson street.

Mrs. Florence R. Scales is at Ocean Park, Me.

HEAVY SHOWER

Winchester experienced a real old fashioned thunder storm yesterday afternoon, one with plenty of thunder, lightning and rain. In fact it was a sort of machine gun affair, two showers converging on the town at the start and being followed by first one, of a milder nature, and then another nearly as heavy as the first. Outside of the great amount of water which fell, the feature of the storm was the intense darkness which preceded the first downfall. The storm lasted just about an hour, and during that time one and a half inches of water fell, a particularly large amount.

Streets and cellars about town were flooded by the water, which, at the height of the storm resembled snow as it blew about the streets. Autos were stalled, street cars held up, and for a time it looked as though the town would suffer serious damage. Fortunately nothing serious resulted. There were big floods about the center, and coming between 5 and 6 o'clock, during the rush hour, there was considerable traffic congestion.

North Main street at the Colonial Station was flooded from side to side, with water high over the sidewalk. South Main street at Converse place was a still larger lake, the water running into the Gas office, Barnes' store, Chitell's, the Nash Agency and the Cameo Studio. At the fire station on Mt. Vernon street the water found its way into the river after flooding the walks a foot or more deep. Church street at Wildwood and Oxford streets was turned into two lakes, and in the center the railroad tracks were under water for a time.

No serious damage occurred. The town departments will be busy for a few days scraping up sand and gravel and filling washouts, and the Park Department must refill and repair the tennis courts on Palmer street, which were badly washed.

The lightning apparently only struck at one place in town, a hen house on High street owned by Mary A. Wilson being hit and burned. The Fire Department received three calls during the storm, a chimney fire on Elm street calling out Ladder 1 just as the rain started and a telephone call from Sheffield west taking the chief's attention after some of the vivid lightning had been thought to have started a fire in the electric wiring. There was no damage in either instance, and Box 521 was sounded for the Wilson fire.

MR. PIKE NOT PRIMARILY CONCERNED WITH GASOLINE TAX

Metropolitan accounts of the hearing before the special commission on the elimination of grade crossings, held Tuesday at the State House, would indicate that Town Counsel Addison R. Pike appeared solely for the purpose of advocating an increase of the gasoline tax to meet the cost of abolition. Such was not the case. Mr. Pike reviewed the history of Winchester's efforts to eliminate its grade crossing in the center from the very first agitation to the disallowance of a new commission by Judge Greenhalge. He quoted from the Selectmen's traffic count figures and stated that the authorities here consider the local crossing one of the worst in the State.

He told the commission that the Town feels it is entitled to a certain priority because of the fact that Winchester's petition was filed in 1905, and a report had been made which was pending but which had not been carried into effect solely because the Public Service Commission felt that a better plan could be devised.

He left with the commission a small plan of the town, showing the three grade crossings, and a copy of the Selectmen's report upon the abolition problem.

In reply to questions Mr. Pike stated that Winchester was primarily interested in the public safety involved in the grade crossing elimination and further felt that the abolition of any and all crossings should be decided upon their respective and individual merits. He said that he felt the proportion for abolition payable by the railroads is too high in that the abolition has become more of a highway than a railroad problem. Winchester, he added, had been at all times ready to meet the Boston & Maine Railroad on any fair basis of apportionment.

In the course of his remarks Mr. Pike did state incidentally, that it might be possible to increase the gasoline tax to meet the cost of abolition, since the increased traffic is occasioned to some extent by trucks operating in competition with the railroads.

JAMES H. KELLEY

James H. Kelley, a former resident of Winchester, died early Thursday morning in the Choate Hospital, Woburn, where he was taken the previous evening, following an attack of acute indigestion.

The deceased was a native of Boston and was 50 years of age. He came to Winchester at the age of 13 and made his home in this town for more than 30 years.

He is survived by his mother, by nine children and by eight grandchildren, all of Woburn. The funeral will be held Saturday morning from the late residence, 50 Mt. Pleasant street, Woburn, with a requiem high mass celebrated in St. Charles Church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in Calvary Cemetery.

TAX RATE $1.20 HIGHER

Winchester's new tax rate, as announced after Wednesday evening's meeting of the Board of Assessors, is $27.20, just $1.20 higher than the even $26 per thousand of last year. The total valuation is announced as $30,484,325, a decrease of $584,700. The operation of the new excise tax on automobiles has meant a loss of $1,618,500 in the personal property figures.

ROTARY CLUB OF WINCHESTER

August brings five meetings to our club, every one of them worth while. The first has already passed into history and a jolly good meeting it was. Really Jim should be congratulated for his success in the double role of pianist and song leader. We are bound to miss Doc this month, but with Jim at the keyboard there will be plenty of action. Our appreciation of Jim grows as our acquaintance lengthens.

President Roscoe was with us today with increased enthusiasm for Rotary as a result of his attendance at the annual assembly at North Attleboro last week. He favored us with a short talk about his experiences, and brought back a great deal of material for future consideration. Roscoe was most favorably impressed by our new District Governor, Tom Kenney. Much constructive work will surely be done during his administration. Our club is expecting a visit from the District Governor in the near future and we are planning to give him a rousing welcome. Announcements in regard to this matter will shortly be forthcoming.

It is time to be making plans to attend the fall convocation which will be held at Poland Springs this year, as usual. The days assigned to our club are Oct. 3 to 6, inclusive, Thursday to Sunday. The convocation always attracts a very large number of Rotarians and the indications are that more than ever will be present this fall. In the matter of reservations, the early bird will be the lucky bird.

At this meeting it was our pleasure to greet Irving for the first time since his return from his tour of the West. Irving did not allow the pleasurable distractions of travel to diminish his loyalty to Rotary. On the other hand we have no doubt that his affiliation with this organization served to enhance the pleasures of the trip to a very great extent. Irving gave us a short talk descriptive of his welcome at the Rotary Clubs of Los Angeles and Pasadena. He met several acquaintances of former years whom he would not have seen without the intervention of Rotary. This is a common experience and demonstrates the ever-increasing value of Rotary to each member. We urge all Rotarians to visit other clubs, whenever they can make arrangements to do so.

Several of our members will be away for vacation this month. Those who are in town should be sure to attend the home meetings. The record of last month can easily be improved. Let each man do his part.

EMBLEM CLUB NOTES

The club's annual and long awaited outing was held on Wednesday when two big buses left the center early in the forenoon for Hampton Beach, N. H. About 50 members with their families and friends made up the party, the long rides to and from the beach being much enjoyed.

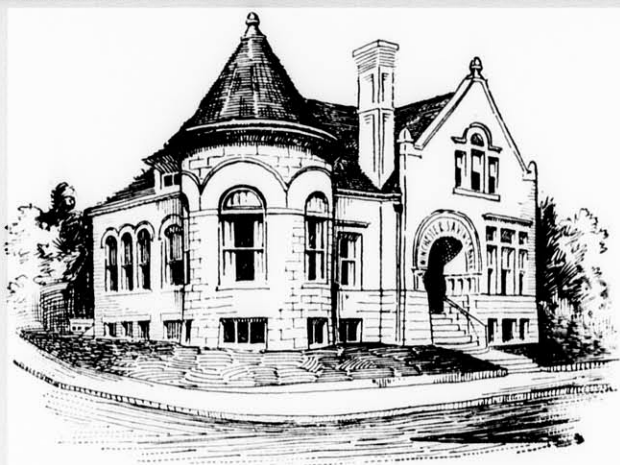

No program of sports was arranged for the outing this year since it was "children's week" at Hampton and the committee felt that there would be plenty to occupy the attention of every one.

Such proved to be the case and the Emblem Club ladies were kept busy watching the "kiddies" enjoy themselves. A big old carriage parade attracted many entries and several of the Winchester children participated. There was free ice cream for the youngsters and those who took part in the parade were given balloons. A delicious dinner was served at Munsey's Sea Grill and the return trip to Winchester got the party to the center about 9:30 in the evening.

Vice President Bernice M. Gorman was assisted with the arrangements for the outing by President Caroline L. Coakley.

On Friday evening, Aug. 27, Mrs. Joseph Scott will be hostess for a lawn whist to be held at her home on Loring avenue. Many fine prizes will be offered and special arrangements have been made to render the mosquitoes impotent for the occasion. Vice President Gorman and a committee is assisting Mrs. Scott with the arrangements and the proceeds will go to the club fund.

The New England Gelatine Company and the New Atlantic Laundries, Inc. are two of the Massachusetts corporations out of the 153 participating in the State-wide inter-plant contest for the reduction of their accidents which have finished the first six months of the year without a lost-time accident.

NEW ENDURANCE RECORD BIG BOOST TO AVIATION

Lubricating Oil Big Factor

By proving the possibility of keeping a plane in the air approximately 300 hours, during which time it has travelled approximately 18,000 miles or a distance three-fourths of the way around the earth, Pilots O'Brine and Jackson have made an extremely valuable contribution to aviation.

The St. Louis-Robin is powered with a Curtiss Challenger Motor. Stop to consider that in 300 consecutive hours of operation this motor at three-fourths throttle makes 25,000,000 revolutions and as the engine is a 6-cylinder Radial there would be 75,000,000 explosions. The piston travel for all six cylinders would be over 25,000 miles or a distance greater than around the world at the equator.

These figures help to convey some idea of the gruelling test which this plane and motor have so successfully made in the skilled hands of Pilots O'Brine and Jackson.

In such a test, lubricating oil is necessarily a most important factor. It is the lubricating oil which prevents metal to metal contact throughout the more than 25,000 miles of sliding friction between pistons and cylinder walls and protects the bearings for the more than 25,000,000 revolutions of the motor. This protection had to be continuous and uninterrupted.

Gulf Pride Oil 120 was selected for this flight and the wisdom of its selection is well attested to by the results secured. This same grade of oil has been used in establishing a number of other world and American records for aircraft and automobiles.

Gulf Pride Oil is a Gulf Refining Company product.

GRANADA THEATRE

"The Pagan," starring Ramon Novarro, in which this star's singing voice is heard for the first time, is one of the two features the big Granada Theatre in Malden is offering all this week. While it is generally known that Novarro always preferred singing to acting in pictures not even the producers were aware of the quality of his voice. In "The Pagan" he sings a number of times the now popular hit, "The Pagan Love Song," which is the theme song of the production. Mr. Novarro has a tenor voice of unusual range and sweetness. "The Pagan" is a vivid story of the South Sea Islands with Novarro in the role of a young chief, torn between his own and the white man's civilization. Dorothy Janis has the role of his native sweetheart; Renee Adoree is cast as the white adventuress, and Donald Crisp plays a ruthless white trader who attempts to separate the boy and his sweetheart. The picture was actually photographed at its locale the South Sea Islands and abounds in beautiful scenic shots.

"The Idle Rich," the new 100 per cent talkie, which is the second feature on the current bill, is a picture of the stage play "White Collars," a story of an American family that is delightfully intimate and very real in dialogue, action and atmosphere. Conrad Nagle, Bessie Love and Lelia Hyams are the featured players. Nagle is cast as a multi-millionaire who marries his middle-class stenographer, Lelia Hyams, in the picture. Miss Love, who will be remembered for her triumph in "The Broadway Melody," is cast as her snappy little sister who is satisfied with her truck driver sweetheart and perky $8 dresses.

Starting next Monday the Granada will offer George Bancroft in his new talking hit, "Thunderbolt." Given a strong, he-man role, Bancroft is in his element and the plot of "Thunderbolt" was made to order for him. It is a crook drama with a new twist of plot. It is an all-talking production and Bancroft's great voice is heard in nearly every scene. Richard Arlen and Fay Wray are the other members of the cast.

JUVENILE CIRCUS MUCH ENJOYED

An amateur circus was held Saturday afternoon, July 27, on the grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Scudder Klyce, 12 Highland terrace, the star performers being Miss Dorothy Klyce, Miss Florence Farnham and Earl Andrews, Jr. These juvenile players displayed their agility and versatility by their acrobatic stunts and playlets.

A good sized audience attended and thoroughly enjoyed the entire performance. Junior Saltmarsh of 192 Highland avenue fittingly celebrated his anniversary (three months old) by attending. Refreshments were served.

Miss Elinor Gould, popular Commercial teacher at the Winchester High School is spending her vacation abroad. Postcards recently received by fellow teachers and pupils state that she is at present in Germany.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

A certain wet metropolitan newspaper recently began a leading editorial with a phrase which read something like this: "A subscription to (naming a prohibition organization) is a subscription to murder." The tenor of the wet papers—news, editorials and cartoons—is that the friends and advocates of the prohibition law and its enforcement are a blood-thirsty lot of individuals, willing, and even eager to accomplish their object—the enforcement of an "impossible law"—at the expense of human life. Cartoonists picture prohibitionists as cruel, wild-eyed creatures gloating over their innocent victims. An incident in the House of Representatives recently, in which its members applauded the bravery of a Washington policeman in doing his duty trying to arrest a notorious criminal, a bootlegger, has been misrepresented by the wet press around the world as applause by the members of Congress over the accidental death of an innocent young man.

Inferentially President Hoover, as the head of an administration pledged to enforcement of the dry law, is included in this murderous crowd—Herbert Hoover who has been the means of saving unnumbered human lives!

It is good in the face of these outrageous charges to have President Hoover's calm, wise statement on this subject:

"I deeply deplore the killing of any person," he wrote in reply to communications that came to him in regard to the killing of persons by customs border patrols. "The Treasury Department is making a constant effort to prevent the misuse of firearms. I hope communities along the border will help the Treasury to prevent the systematic war being carried on by international criminals, which I believe is the root of all our troubles."

With President Hoover we "deeply deplore" the taking of human life by any officer of the law, but we realize that the "root of all our troubles" is not the reckless use of firearms by prohibition agents but the tactics of the criminal desperadoes in the bootlegging business, who make it necessary for prohibition agents to go armed and often to use firearms in self protection.

Nor should the public be permitted to forget that these same lawless individuals engaged in the traffic in illicit liquors are constantly being encouraged by the wet press which devotes much space to so-called "prohibition killings."

The organ playing of Mr. Paul Stanton of Woburn is occasioning much favorable comment at the union church services being held at the First Congregational Church. The young man is one of the more experienced pupils of Mr. J. Albert Wilson and has been playing during the winter at Trinity Church in Woburn.

For successful living—health

For health—clean bodies, clean food, clean homes.

Doctors advise frequent hot baths—washing the hands before every meal, before touching the baby or handling food, scalding dishes, scouring everything about the kitchen, sterilizing the razor, wearing clean clothes. All are tested ways to help. And all require hot water. At least one third of the water you use in your home should be hot.

Gas is necessary if you would have a quick, constant, dependable supply—day or night.

Let us advise what can be done with gas in your home to give you comfort, cleanliness and health.

WINCHESTER LOST TO NAVY PLAYERS

U. S. S. Southery on Long End of 9 to 5 Score—Sailors Hard Hitters

The Winchester Town Team caught a tartar last Saturday afternoon when the Navy Red Sox, a snappy bunch of ball tossers from the U. S. S. Southery, clubbed their way to a 9 to 5 victory over "Dukes" Farrell's ponies on Manchester Field. A good sized crowd viewed the battle and those who neglected to trek down to the playground missed the most interesting game staged in town for some time.

The Red Sox brought a strong team to Winchester, an alert club which combined fast fielding with a real batting punch. The sailors were a clean cut, athletic bunch of hustlers who wasted little time in crabbing but who played ball every minute.

There was nothing fluky about their win, though the score need not have been so large, had the locals accorded "Lefty" Dyer a bit better support. The big 7 in the Winchester error column as against the 1 in the mis-play box of the Red Sox just about tells the story, though the visitors outthrew the home club, 12 to 9.

Watley, on the hill for the Navy, had one bad frame in which Winchester tallied all its runs, but with the exception of that one let-down was pretty much master of the situation. Nicholas "Fitz" was the only Winchester batter to fathom his slants consistently.

The sailors went down in order in the first while the locals threw away an easy chance to tally when over conservative coaching held "Jomma" Dolan to a single base on Fitzgerald's single past third.

A couple of visiting tallies trickled over in the second. Pohlmeier lined a single over second and went down on a passed ball. He made third when Martin lost one of Dyer's fast ones and scored on a wild pitch. O'Neil singled through short and advanced when Dyer walked Milligan. When J. Dolan lost Smith's fast grounder O'Neil scored and Milligan made third. Watson hoisted to Whitaker and Watley hit into a double play, Mantueto to Fitzgerald to Martin.

Winchester got into the game in the third when "Tom" Dolan got a single to center after Mulligan had tossed out Dyer. Brother "Jomma" hit over second, sending "Tom" to third and a pass to Whitaker filled the cushions. Fitzgerald hit the first ball pitched to him far to center field for a triple, scoring three runs and was over a minute later himself on Windsor's triple to left. "Bucky" kept running up and down the baseline and finally drew a wild throw from catcher Pohlmeier, scoring easily on the error. Watley then pulled himself together and fanned both Murphy and Mantueto to end the frame.

The sailors added 2 in the 4th. Pohlmeier batted a hot shot to center which some sloppy fielding and poor relaying permitted him to turn into a home run. Dyer hit O'Neil and when Fitzgerald dropped Dyer's throw on Mulligan's attempted sacrifice both runners were safe. Smith's rap to J. Dolan forced Mulligan at second but Whitaker's throw to first was too late for a double play. O'Neil taking third. Watson struck out on three pitched balls, but Watley lined a hit to right, scoring O'Neil. A great pep by Murphy cut off Smith at the plate on an attempted score from second.

The next inning saw the visitors tie the score. Sharton singled to center and was sacrificed to second by Frisk. Mantueto making the assist. McClure's double along the first base foul line scored Sharton and the former made third on the throw-in. McClure was erased at the plate as Pohlmeier rapped to Whitaker and when the navy catcher attempted to make two bases on O'Neil's single to right Murphy uncorked another great throw to Mantueto, getting the runner six feet from the bag.

With one away the sailors scored in the 8th. Mantueto gave Pohlmeier a life when he muffed up his soft roller and the runner rode all the way in on O'Neil mighty homer into the long grass to the right of the bandstand. Martin threw out Milligan after losing the third strike and J. Dolan threw out Danielson, who had replaced Smith in right.

Came two more in the 9th. Dyer hit Watson for a starter and the latter made second on Watley's single to center. Sharton's single to center filled the bases and when one of Dyer's fast ones glanced off Martin's glove Watson counted. Watley moved up but was cut off at the plate as Frisk grounded to Fitzgerald. McClure hoisted to Murphy and when Martin dropped "Johnny's" beautiful throw to the platter Sharton was over. J. Dolan threw out Pohlmeier for the final out.

Winchester kept trying but after the big third inning didn't succeed in getting a man to third base. Only Fitzgerald and Whitaker were able to get as far as second.

Boxin' the Compass
The Navy boys were accompanied to Winchester by quite a little delegation of rooters, composed largely of wives and sweethearts. A C. P. O. with several "hash marks" and a marine corporal in dress blues sat on the visiting bench.

McClure, Pohlmeier and O'Neil made up a real "murderers row," battling three, four and five in the Navy order. They got 7 of the visiting hits among them.

Smith, who started in right field for the visitors, looked like an old timer who knew what it was all about. He had one of those "fightin' jaws" made famous by Dartmouth's "Dave" Morey and Harvard's "Eddie" Mahan.

This same Smith took a lot of joshing from his team's fair rooters and also from the kids. He liked it and was a big favorite with the crowd. Sharton's southern drawl in center field was a treat, and so was his out-field play. We haven't seen that middle garden played any better for a long, long time.

Martin got to the game late and had to go in without warming up. His work during the first few innings was very sloppy, but as the game progressed he looked up a lot. He's a hard man to get by at that home plate.

No better throwing could be seen in the big leagues than that displayed by Winchester's "Johnny" Murphy. He made three perfect pegs in three chances, the one which Martin muffed in the 9th being from deep right field on a line to the platter.

"Johnny" Mantueto, Winchester's sturdy little third sacker, showed the value of his football training when he put Murphy's sweet throw onto Pohlmeier in the 5th. He rode the big catcher into the bag in the most approved fashion. The Navy catcher evidently thought "Mannie" should have been penalized for unnecessary roughness and talked earnestly with the latter at the time of the putout and when the local player came to bat.

Watley, the Red Sox pitcher, retired the locals in order in four of the nine innings and bar his one bad inning was in danger of being scored upon only in the first. He robbed Martin of a hit in the 9th when he knocked down the Winchester catcher's vicious liner through the box.

QUIMET-CHASE TEAM ELIMINATED IN SEMI-FINAL ROUND

Their Conquerors Defeated in Finals by Maher and Crossley

Francis Quimet of Woodland and Perley Chase of Winchester, favorites to win the first flight competition in the four-ball tournament at the Winchester Country Club last week, were eliminated in the semi-final round of play last Friday morning by Johnny Merwin of Concord and Alan Howard of Vesper. Quimet and Chase were away below the form they showed earlier in the tournament and though they kept pace with Merwin and Howard over the first few holes of the match, after the 11th hole the game of the younger combination would not be denied.

The better ball figures of the match were:

Out
Merwin-Howard	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	36
Quimet-Chase	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	35
In
Merwin-Howard	5	2	4	3	3	4	4	5	34
Quimet-Chase	4	3	4	3	3	4	4	5	34

After eliminating Quimet and Chase the Merwin-Howard combination was rather favored to win its championship match with Eddie Maher and Wilfred Crossley of Norfolk who were not especially fancied by those in the know before the tournament started. Favorites, however, meant nothing in the lives of the last named pair who overcame a one-hole lead to win the final 2 up.

The real break of the match came at the 11th hole where Maher's 4 was a winner, and when Crossley came out of a bunker at the 11th to leave himself a good put which he holed for a win the Norfolk players were up, never to be headed. Merwin rimmed a 50 foot put on the 7th and on the 8th succeeded in sinking one fully as long.

The better-ball cards of the championship were:

Maher-Crossley

WINCHESTER T. A. BLANKED WINTHROP

Winchester Tennis Association continued its winning stride last Saturday afternoon, blanking the Winthrop Tennis Team, 7 to 0, in an Old Colony League match on the Palmer street courts.

The local singles players did not lose a match and only one set was deuced by the visitors. "Steve" Thompson took the number one match from Peterson of Winthrop in straight sets at 6-2.

WINCHESTER A. A. WON FROM ARLINGTON

Winchester A. A. won a 7-inning verdict over the Arlington Town Team last Friday evening on Manchester Field, 3 to 2.

"Lefty" Hatch, Tufts freshman hurler, was on the hill for Winchester and held the visitors to 5 hits while fanning 11. Both Arlington runs came as the result of home runs by the Hurd brothers.

Winchester outthrew Arlington 10 to 5 and also played the better fielding game. The Fitzgerald brothers, James and Nicholas, did the heavy swatting for the locals, big "Jim" getting in a screaming double which almost tore the centerfielder's arms from his body. "Nicky" pulled the fielding stunt of the evening when he galloped into short right field to gobble up what looked like a sure Texas leaguer.

The batteries: for Winchester, Hatch and E. Mathews; for Arlington, Hurd and Wilson. Umpire, Weaver.

SMITHS PLAYING GOOD GOLF

"Bobby" Smith and his father, Francis E. Smith, of Wolcott terrace have been playing plenty of good golf this summer as shown by the following record.

In the second division of the Plymouth-Scituate Golf Tournament "Bobby" and his dad won the combined net prize with an average of 67½. The following week Francis E., playing with his son, won the low gross prize at the Stoney Brae tournament in the second division with a 74, and "Bobby" that week won the prize at the Rockport week-end tournament for the best nine "going out" with a 37. He and his father each finished at Rockport with a 79.

In the Winchester four-ball best-ball qualifying round the pair had a best ball of 76, though their individual rounds were 81 for "Bobby," and 83 for Francis E. Smith.

Mr. William Allen, well known clerk at Hevey's Pharmacy, is enjoying his vacation, touring Yarmouth, Quebec and Montreal.

NASH "400"

LEADS THE WORLD IN MOTOR CAR VALUE

"400" Advanced Six Ambassador

Delivered, Fully Equipped, Nothing More to Buy!

THE AMBASSADOR BY NASH —TWIN-IGNITION-MOTORED

THOUSANDS of people who drive the Twin-Ignition-motored Nash "400" Ambassador have discovered that the most luxurious type of motoring is not necessarily prohibitive in price.

Obvious to every eye is the style and thoroughbred character of this charming motor car. There is beauty in the purity and grace of every line and curve. There is luxury in every item of interior dress and decoration, from inlaid walnut panelings to the deep, overstuffed cushions, upholstered in fabrics restricted to fine car manufacture.

And equally obvious, to those who know good motor cars, is the high quality of "400" engineering and Ambassador performance. Here, in this moderately priced car, is the Twin-Ignition motor, the year's most notable achievement in power. Another very attractive "400" feature is the "world's easiest steering."

And the Ambassador is one of the easiest riding cars ever built. The wheelbases 130

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

"He who obeys with modesty, appears worthy of being allowed to command."

Knowledge of your weaknesses is your greatest strength.

Women who "never had a thing to wear" are now wearing it.

So many people go dead broke by following what they thought was good advice.

There are but few people who are willing to sacrifice a few necessities in order that they may enjoy a few luxuries.

We can all aid the police in their efforts to prevent the theft of automobiles by taking care to remove the ignition keys from our machines whenever we have occasion to leave them alone, even for only a little while. Automobiles left parked for any length of time should be locked as securely as possible. Comparatively few of the cars stolen are taken by professional thieves for the purpose of sale. This fact is demonstrated by the number of machines recovered by the authorities, abandoned, often at no considerable distance from the place where they were taken. The overwhelming desire for a "joy ride" is responsible for the theft of many automobiles and those who take them for this purpose as a general thing do not bother with the car which will be difficult to appropriate. The young people who take many of the cars stolen for a good time are not equipped, as is the professional auto thief, to steal a locked machine without the ignition key. They pick up the machine which invites theft because of its owner's carelessness.

Because the Aberjona continues to wend its noisome, slimy way through the town, many seem to believe that the waterways improvement campaign has ceased to function. Such is not the case, as the Star was informed this week by Mr. Richard Parkhurst of the Board of Health, the members of which are actively engaged in co-operation with the Waterways Improvement Committee in the tremendous job of cleaning up the town's ponds and streams. On Monday an inspector from the State Board of Health visited Winchester to determine whether both Russell Brook and Horn Pond Brook are to continue to carry pollution into Wedge Pond. The local Board of Health has been actively engaged in cleaning up Wedge Pond and wished to be certain that additional pollution is not to enter the pond after their efforts are completed. The town has no jurisdiction over Russell Brook and theoretically any cleaning up done in its waters must be done by the State. The local Board, however, has cleaned up its end of the brook to the Woburn line and is anxious to learn whether action can be taken to prevent pollution of the water in Woburn. The inspector, accompanied by Maurice Dinneen, agent of the local Board of Health, made an exhaustive survey of conditions about Wedge Pond and both Horn Pond and Russell Brook. He will very probably submit rather a complete report to the Winchester authorities in cleaning up its waterways have thus far been confined to those parts of the system furthest north, on the theory that until danger of continued pollution from that source is definitely removed, work done upon the Mill Pond and lower Aberjona will be largely wasted. Little of a permanent nature can be accomplished until the trunk line sewer situation is completely worked out.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

An unusual story with a superb cast headed by Antonio Moreno and Noah Beery combined with Vitaphone to make "Careers." Billie Dove's first starring feature showing at the University for four days starting Sunday, one of the season's finest films. The story involves the ambitions of the members of the British diplomatic circle in training. It is highly dramatic, tense at moments and will place Billie Dove as a talking star of great merit.

The companion feature "Divorce Made Easy" starring Douglas MacLean in a rollicking comedy abounding in side-splitting situations brought out both in action and dialogue.

The program beginning Thursday features "Fashions in Love," ideal as the first picture presenting the matchless Adolphe Menjou on the talking screen. He is ably supported by two very beautiful stage personalities, Miss Fay Compton and Miss Miriam Segar.

The companion feature is "Masked Emotions," a dramatic picture starring George O'Brien, J. Farrell MacDonald and Nora Lane.

BASEBALL TOMORROW

Winchester Town Team will play the Medford Town Team Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field at 3:15. Medford is the home of many fast ball players and the visiting club is reputed to be a good outfit.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE

Metropolitan Theatre patrons will have the opportunity of viewing one of the most unusual European photo-plays ever presented in America, starting Friday, Aug. 2. Seldom do Americans have the opportunity to enjoy the Continental touch on the screen as is made possible in "Hungarian Rhapsody." It brings to the American screen not only one of the most beautiful women in Europe, but also one of the most talented artists. Lil Dagova wins her audiences instantaneously with her sincere and artistic portrayal in a story rich in romance and inspiring music. The scenes are impressive in their beautiful simplicity, while the photography is all that could be desired.

The musical score, played with the film, is sure to lift audiences with its thrilling passages. It is perhaps one of the most perfect musical adaptations yet accomplished. Each mood of the story is interpreted, with exquisite feeling.

Many will remember Willy Fritsch, the dashing hero of "The Last Waltz," and now the central male figure of this heart-gripping story. Gene Rodemich enters his third happy week with the popular Playboys band, this time in "Creole Nights," a miniature musical show, produced by Frank Cambria for Publix. The story is based on the love of a Frenchman for a Spanish girl, and is laid in the early days of New Orleans. This decided stage novelty is gorgeously set in colorful scenes and lighting effects, all breathing the atmosphere of the languorous South. The musical score is unusually spirited! In the cast are such well-known stage stars as Lang and Haley, comedians; the Three Rolling Stones, a dance trio; the Chantal Sisters, brilliant pianists; Anita La Pierre and Tom Green, both talented vocalists; and a generous ensemble of Dorothy Berke dancing beauties.

Guy Harrison and the Metropolitan Grand Orchestra will present the impressive "Il Guarany" as the overture feature by the renowned Brazilian composer, Antonio Carlos Gomes.

Arthur Martel will preside at the concert organ console, and in addition there will be a special Paramount News Weekly, a striking review filmed in natural colors, and other short features of interest.

Starting Thursday, Aug. 8, under the new Metropolitan policy, "The Mysterious Dr. Fu Manchu," from the sensational story by Sax Rohmer, will be brought to the screen. This powerful photoplay was scheduled for the previous week, but will be definitely shown beginning Thursday, Aug. 8. In the cast are such favorites as Warner Oland (Dr. Manchu), Jean Arthur, Neil Hamilton, William Austin, Tully Marshall, and nearly a dozen other featured artists. This is one of the most thrilling mysteries ever filmed by Paramount, and is done entirely in dialogue. The action of this gripping melodrama, written around a sensational character, will excite the most blasé movie fan. Gene Rodemich will continue as the principal personality in another stunning Publix stage gem, "Velvet Revue."

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE

At the Bowdoin Square Theatre beginning Monday the management will provide another excellent picture and vaudeville bill. William Haines will be seen in the sound picture, "A Man's Man," a comedy romance of Hollywood and its surroundings. It is alive with thrills and action from start to finish. In the cast will be viewed such favorites as Josephine Dunn and Mae Busch. "The Squall," a 100 per cent talking picture, the story of a gypsy girl Nubi who steals the love of father, son, and master. In this Vitaphone offering will be seen and heard, Alice Joyce, Myra Loy, Richard Tucker, Zazu Pitts and Loretta Young. "Hurdy Gurdy," a talking comedy will also be heard. The Pathe News and selected vaudeville on the stage will be seen. Concert Sunday at 3.

OLD HOWARD THEATRE

The Old Howard Theatre, famous the world over as the leading burlesque house of America, will reopen the present season on Monday, Aug. 19, playing the big attractions of the Mutual burlesque circuit. These shows will be bigger and better than ever this season, there being nine principals in the cast instead of seven as formerly and the comedians, too, will introduce many new faces and some of the old time favorites. There will be a chorus comprising 16 singing and dancing girls and all have been selected for their beauty and talented ability. The shows will all be bright, snappy and replete with pep and personality. The G. E. Lothrop management will also offer high grade R. K. O. vaudeville from the world's biggest circuit. Pictures will also be featured. There will be a midnight show every Friday starting at 11:30. The slogan, "Always something doing" will still be in vogue. Everything points to a big season at the famous Old Howard.

TENNIS

The Winchester Tennis Association defeated the Winthrop Tennis Club last Saturday on the Palmer street courts, 7-0 while Arlington Heights was taking West Medford into camp. Winchester by its win goes into 3rd place ahead of West Medford. Bellevue Golf Club by defeating Winsor went into first place and Winsor into second place. There being only three points difference between the first three teams.

At the end of the season the Club winner of each division will meet in a match for the championship of the league followed by tournament of the members of the clubs in both divisions

The summary:
Singles
S. Thompson defeated Peterson, 6-2, 6-2.
L. Freeburn defeated Young, 6-0, 6-3.
J. Riley defeated Snow, 6-0, 6-4.
H. Gamage defeated DeMinico, 7-5, 6-3.
Doubles

CAMP WINCHESTER

The 1929 camp conducted by the Winchester Council, Boy Scouts of America, opened on Saturday, July 27, at Searsmont, Me. The enrollment this year is the largest ever, nearly one-third of all the Scouts in town having registered for some part of the camping period and most of them for the full four weeks.

As in former years the camp is divided into two teams to compete in all phases of camp activity. The Hawks include the following: Burns, Cosgrove, Dotten, Eubanks, Good-nough, Holland, H. McDonald, R. McDonald, Nason, O'Neil, Rania, Razee, Riley, Welch, Wood, McGann; Councilors, J. Flaherty, W. Hession, F. Gaffney.

The Eagles comprise: Cooper, De-war, Farrar, Ficiello, Gann, J. Hakanson, W. Hakanson, Hamilton, Hill, E. Hichborne, W. Hichborne, Horne, Mohls, O'Brien, Raymond, Smith and Stevens.

Ray Halwartz, a senior Red Cross life saver and a former High School athlete, is in charge of the water work assisted by Herbert Wadleigh of Exeter. All boys are rated as to their proficiency in swimming and are either members of the life saving, regular or beginners' groups.

Mornings are largely spent in Scout work and a court of honor will be held the final week at which badges will be awarded for work done this summer.

Sunday saw all Scouts in church, the Catholic boys attending mass in Belfast while the Protestants hiked to Searsmont to attend the local service. Sunday afternoon a nature hike was held under Junior Council George Philbrick. The first nature contest was won by Goodnough with W. Hichborne second and Farrar tied Nason for third.

Richard Riley, "Bobbie" Eubanks, Warren Hichborne, William Hession, Harold Smith and Arthur Razee have passed the camp canoe tests.

WINCHESTER TEAM WON NET PRIZE IN FATHER AND SON TOURNAMENT

Winchester's annual Father and Son golf tournament, played Wednesday at the Country Club, attracted a field of 143 pairs, probably a record entry for such a tournament hereabouts.

C. Sidney Cook and his son, J. Gould Cook, of Brae Burn tied with "Jim" and "Willie" Reidy of Wachusett for gross honors with a medal of 76. Low net went to the Winchester team of W. D. and C. S. Eaton whose handicap gave them a 64. Five teams were under 80 and two of the five were local combinations. The Eatons had a gross of 77 and J. L. S. Barton and his son George, a 79. "Joe" Barton with his sons "Ed" and George, was tied with "Jim" Reidy and the latter's John and "Willie" for net honors in the side event for fathers who played with two sons. Both teams had 139s.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

The Winchester B. E. C. lost its first game Tuesday evening at Lexington, 5 to 3, to the strong Minute Boys' nine of that town. Amico, pitching for Winchester held Lexington to 3 hits but local errors proved costly. The big break of the game came when a sure hit by Tofuri, with the bases filled hit the umpire and was turned into a putout.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Eldredge of Quincy, formerly of Winchester, are rejoicing in the arrival of a little son, Donald McGregor Eldredge, Jr., born Thursday, July 25, in the New England Baptist Hospital. Mrs. Eldredge was before her marriage Miss Lydia Kunkel of Harrisburg, Pa.

Tuesday the fire alarm cable on Forest street was ripped up by the steam shovel at work upon the road construction there. Boxes 321, 64, 65 and 32 were put out of commission until the Fire Department's repair crew could rig a temporary overhead line.

Miss Ekman has closed her millinery shop and will spend the next two weeks in Portland, Me.

The U. S. Southern baseball team returned to Winchester Tuesday evening to win a 6 to 2 decision over "Connie Mack's ball tossers in a well played game on Manchester Field. Excepting one big inning the sailors were able to do little with the veteran "Joe" Mathews while the local batters hit Watley hard but couldn't drop them safely. Singles by "Livin" McNeil and "Brad" Coates were responsible for both the A. A.'s runs. Winchester presented a strong lineup, but couldn't bring home the bacon.

Francis Tansey, Winchester left hander who has been pitching Quincy to so many victories in the Greater Boston Twilight League, has jumped the circuit and will pitch for East Douglas in the Blackstone Valley League, a club better known as Schuster's Millionaires. It was simply a case of more money for the little fork-hander who has been enjoying his best season this year.

Miss Ethel Drinkwater is enjoying her vacation cruising along the Atlantic Coast. She will go as far south as St. Augustine before the return trip commences.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Mr. and Mrs. Irving L. Symmes returned this week from a month's trip to California and the Pacific coast.

Thomas Farrell, 3 years old, was hit by an automobile yesterday afternoon on Main street. The child was running across Main street to his home at 55 Vine street and was struck by a Ford coupe driven by Frank D. Graham of Woburn. He was taken home by Mr. Graham.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

Well, at any rate, Winchester folks are not worrying about the empty coal bin at this time.

Before you find fault with the work of a fellow Winchesterite, be sure that your own work is above criticism.

"If one drops a knife and it sticks up is it bad luck?" asks "a Star reader." It certainly is if it drops on your foot.

Winchester is safe! An astronomer says the sun will continue to give off sufficient heat for the next billion years.

A judge down in New Jersey has ruled that the term "sousehead" as applied by one gent to another, "is neither undignified nor offensive." But do not fear for The Paraphraser dear Star readers. We are not going to New Jersey to test the sincerity of the jurist by applying that term to him. More important tasks command our attention right here in Winchester.

If a Winchesterite loves his neighbor as himself, why does he not let his hens ruin his garden?

Those Winchesterites who feel that they work too hard and believe that we do not have enough holidays will be cheered by the thought that recent achievements make it now possible to create a few new days for rest. We may add to our holidays, a Lindbergh day and a Byrd day. Then why not a Helen Wills day? And a Gene Tunney day? Let's have a few more holidays. Why do any of the world's work at all?

Since prohibition numbers of Winchester's citizens—not a great many, however—are anxious to get on the floor just under the ground floor and better known as the cellar.

A most unwise woman lives here in Winchester. Not long ago she showed her bald-headed beau a lock of her first husband's hair. That was

A woman in her gladness
When she is glad,
And a woman in her sadness
When she is sad,
And, yes, a woman in her badness
When she is bad,
Simply is not in it.
With a Winchester woman in her madness
When she is plumb mad.

Our Questionnaire

1. How many baseball players make a "nine" as the umpire sees them when a bunch of Winchester fans begin to kick about his decision?
2. Did any baggage man in or out of Winchester ever try the experiment of throwing around an elephant's trunk?
3. Have you discovered that some of these "dyed-in-the-wool" Winchesterites are dead in what the wool grows on?
4. What Winchesterite who travels is able to undress with ease in an upper berth?
5. When a Winchesterite is looking for trouble, how many helpers will volunteer to help him?
6. What well known Winchester man referred to his wife as a kitchen utensil?
7. What was the approximate value of the shoes and rice thrown at Winchester's June brides?

A Winchester gentleman rises to remark that lots of us will not choose to come back from vacation, but we will come just the same. No, we will not come "just the same" because we had money when we left Winchester and we will return broke. And we will not choose to come back to Winchester that way, either.

"Is fear obsolete?" It is with a lot of men with wives here in Winchester who (the men, not the wives) have long since quit trying to come home at 1 o'clock in the morning and explaining where they have been.

Give some fellows in Winchester a set of balloon tires and they want to fly.

We are glad to hear that one young man here in Winchester is getting up in the world since he took a job in Boston as an elevator boy.

A word of advice to Winchester autoists:

Drive careful.
Keep to the right.
Dim your lights at the right time.
And let the other fellow go to the hospital.

Give a wise Winchesterite health and he will give himself everything else.

One woman of our acquaintance could think of but 17 different ingredients to put into her mince pies, and she wept at the idea of losing her power of memory.

The Paraphraser will never know how much his column in the Star is read until he makes a mistake.

Kissing in a crude form was popular 50,000 years ago, declares a scientist. Nothing crude about it in the Winchester of 1929.

A prominent resident of Winchester who does a lot of automobiling about the country suggests that a standardized system of traffic laws all over the nation would do a great deal toward clearing up the present muddle to a great extent.

Some folk here in Winchester have a lot of confidence in their neighbors. They go on a vacation and leave it up to their neighbors to feed their pet cats.

We know a certain Winchester business man who pores over figures at his office all day and then drives down to Revere Beach to look 'em over for the balance of the evening.

Does the Star follow you on vacation?

A householder here in town has a parrot which swears something dreadful. Well, there is this consolation—the parrot neither drinks nor smokes.

The Winchesterite who takes the road to make a lot of money can tell you better than anybody else about the detours.

A retired schoolmaster who is spending the sunset years of his life in Winchester excuses his passion for angling in season by saying that, from constant habit, he never feels quite himself unless he is handling the rod.

A Winchester woman gave her husband to understand that she did not think he was very smart. To which he retorted: "No, indeed, but a lot of people here in town know that I am fearfully shrew-ed."

Winchester A. A. will play a twilight game tonight on the Loring avenue playground with the nine representing the local A. O. H. Many former high school players will be in the latter lineup with "Bobby" Callahan doing the pitching against "Joe" Mathews of the A. A. The A. A. will play at Woburn Sunday afternoon and on Tuesday evening will meet the strong Cadillac-LaSalle team on Manchester Field.

We are now carrying Whittemore's "Cleanall," the instant spot remover. Wilson the Stationer.

Clarence J. O'Donnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. O'Donnell of 48 Swanton street, was this week commissioned a lieutenant in the United States Marine Corps. Lieutenant O'Donnell was graduated in June from Norwich University where he was captain of the football and basketball teams and a member of the baseball team. He is a former high school all-around athletic star and was a member of the 1922 football team which won the Mystic Valley championship. Edmund P. Rondina of 121 Highland avenue was appointed by the Board of Selectmen at its last meeting to serve as a special police officer until May 1, 1930.

Ex-Selectman Thomas F. Fallon appeared before last Monday's meeting of the Board of Selectmen to see if some other location than Manchester Field could be selected for fireworks displays. Mr. Fallon felt that the people living in the immediate vicinity of the playground were entitled to consideration. The Board asked Mr. Fallon to go over the town and suggest a new location.

The police were notified Wednesday morning by Robert Winton of 162 Forest street that a man was sitting on the doorstep of his home, apparently sick. Officers James P. Donaghey and Edward O'Connell took the man to headquarters where he gave his name as Charles Frest and stated that he lived in Stoneham. After allowing Mr. Frest to remain for some time at the station Patrolman Donaghey took him to his home.

LOUISE PACKER WON AT TEDESCO

Captured Final Singles Match From Dorrance Chase

After, for her, rather an indifferent showing in tournament play thus far this summer, due to a winter of inactivity on the court, Louise Packer, Winchester's southpaw tennis ace, crashed through last Saturday to win the women's singles championship of the North Shore at the Tedesco Country Club.

Louise, seeded fourth in the draw, was forced to battle through a three set match before she was able to vanquish Dorrance Chase of Dorchester, 5-7, 6-3, 6-2. Miss Chase was seeded third in the tourney and is a player whom the local girl had previously defeated upon three occasions. The fact that Louise had been decidedly off her game while the Dorchester girl has been going better than ever this season made the outcome of the fourth meeting between the pair very much in doubt.

Winning the first set apparently contributed largely to Miss Chase's downfall since she was called upon to burn up considerable energy in pulling it from the fire, 7-5, after Louise had built up a 5-2 lead. The second set saw the Dorchester competitor slipping appreciably while Louise continued to play rather a waiting game. The latter took the set at 6-3 and displaying some pretty placement shots, quickly ran out the final set of the match with the loss of only two games.

Miss Chase got partial revenge for her singles defeat by paring with Marjorie Sachs of Cambridge to eliminate Louise Packer and her sister, Gertrude, in the semi-final round of the women's double play.

In the mixed doubles tournament Mary Cutter and William Packer reached the third round before they were eliminated by the top seeded team of Virginia Rice and Kenneth Appel. Mary participated in the singles play of the tourney and made a good showing as did another Winchester girl, Maribel Vinson, the Olympic skating champion.

YOUNG AUTO THIEF HELD FOR GRAND JURY

As the result of his arrest early Sunday morning by the Billerica police, John J. Sutton, 18, of Stoneham, was held in bonds of $3000 by Judge Jesse W. Morton of the Woburn District Court for appearance before the September session of the Grand Jury, charged with the larceny of an automobile owned by Mr. Christopher L. Billman of 32 Foxcroft road. A companion, Blaine Morrison, 14, also of Stoneham, was sentenced by Judge Morton to an indefinite term at the Lyman School. He appealed and was held in bonds for appearance in the Superior Court at East Cambridge.

According to the police Mr. Billman's car, a Chrysler roadster, was stolen about 10 o'clock Saturday night from where it had been parked in front of the Winchester Chambers. Police headquarters was notified and Sgt. William H. Rogers immediately broadcast an alarm to surrounding cities and towns.

The machine was spotted in Billerica and captured after a chase by Motorcycle Officer McSweeney of the Billerica Police. The latter stated that the big roadster was going at a rate of speed in excess of 80 miles an hour. Officer McSweeney succeeded in arresting Sutton but young Morrison escaped in the woods. His identity was learned however and at 10 o'clock Sunday morning he was arrested by Sgt. William H. Rogers of the Police Department at his home, 26 Sunset road Stoneham.

Both boys were booked on a larceny charge. The police allege that they also stole the Hudson sedan found abandoned early Saturday morning on Garfield avenue by Patrolman John Murray. The sedan was stolen the night before from a Wakefield man.

After being treated she was taken to her home. She was not reported as badly injured.

AN URGENT APPEAL FOR BOOKS AND MAGAZINES

In accordance with its usual summer custom, The Boston Seaman's Friend Society is sending a launch down the harbor twice a week, distributing reading matter to the sailors who are on vessels, anchored in the bay. Approximately 1000 magazines and six libraries of about 15 books each, are given out each week. Our organization is the only one in Boston doing this harbor work.

Contributions of books and magazines of all kinds are greatly needed to carry on this service, which is greatly appreciated by the sailors. Packages may be sent by parcel post to the rooms of the Society at 287 Hanover street, Boston; or if the amount is too bulky, we will gladly arrange to call for them, in sufficient quantity. Used books and magazines, are perfectly acceptable and all donations will be most gratefully received.

Signed,
Rev. Carl M. Gates
Rev. Francis A. Poole
Rev. Arthur P. Pratt

COMMENDS WINCHESTER
POLICEMAN

The following letter was received at Police headquarters this week from the parents of Winnifred Cornier, 13, of Malden, who while visiting in Winchester on the evening of July 24, fell and broke her left arm. Her cries attracted the attention of Patrolman James E. Farrell who rendered first aid, set the arm in place and called Dr. Milton J. Quinn. The letter is self explanatory and shows conclusively that there are many who appreciate service even though rendered by those whose business it is to be of assistance to the public.

Mr. Duke Farrell,

Dear Sir:

We wish to express our thanks and gratitude for your heroic work on July 24, when our daughter broke her left arm. You set it for her and rendered first aid in her behalf. We are very thankful for the kind attention given her. She is much improved as the result of your wonderful work.

Most respectfully,
Mr. and Mrs. Henry White
25 Hanover street, Malden

The Home for Aged People possesses no vegetable garden. Early apples and fresh vegetables are very much appreciated by Mrs. Moore and members of the family at 110 Mt. Vernon street. Those having a surplus in their own gardens and orchards can render the Home a real service.

TWILIGHT GLIMMERINGS

"On Tuesday night 'Jiggs' Donahue's team from the Boston Market Terminal will be here to play the Winchester A. A. on Manchester Field at 6:30. This team is one of the strongest in Greater Boston and is composed of Donahue, 'Connie' Murphy of Dartmouth, 'Sonny' Foley of B. C. Cousineau, formerly of the Braves and other college stars. They have dropped one game in 15 starts.

Selectman and Mrs. Vincent P. Clarke returned to Winchester early last Sunday morning from an extended motor trip which took them by way of Yellowstone Park to the Pacific Coast. The Clarks reported a splendid trip with visits to San Francisco, the Yosemite, Los Angeles, San Diego, Mexico, the Grand Canyon and Pikes Peak. Their return trip was made over the southern route through Kentucky and other southern States. They encountered little or no rain and stated that in many places they witnessed considerable destruction from the prolonged drouth.

ROTARY CLUB OF WINCHESTER

We were glad today to welcome several of our members who have recently returned from vacations. The return from an outing ordinarily is a difficult experience for him who returns, but we believe that the privilege of attending the home club again serves to ease the rough spots.

"Jim" of Woburn rarely fails to be at our meetings but today he did not make the grade. His place at the piano was taken by Mrs. Florence Jones and we did not lose our singing exercise.

President Roscoe found occasion to impose some fines today. Up to this time he has been lenient in this respect, but evidently he is well aware of this authority which he possesses. It may seem bad for individuals, but it is splendid for the treasury.

We are receiving reminders that the Fall Conclave at Poland Springs will soon be at hand. Our club wishes to do its share in making this event the success which it is bound to be, and to that end President Roscoe has appointed a committee to have in charge all matters which have to do with our participation in the conclave. This committee consists of Past President Harris, Past President George and Vice-President Loring. We are assured that Winchester will be worthily represented at Poland.

Oftentimes we are well nigh bewildered by the rapid growth of Rotary, and truly it is marvelous. As an example of the virility of the Rotary movement, how many are aware that there is an organization of young men patterned after Rotary and known as the 20-30 Club. It flourishes mainly in the western United States. To be eligible a member must be 20 years old and his membership automatically ceases on the arrival of his 31st birthday. Many of these young men have graduated to Rotary Clubs with mutual benefit. The August Rotarian gives a full description of "Rotary's Younger Brother."

There are many other good things in this issue of the Rotarian. In fact all issues of this magazine will be found to have some contribution or contributions which are bound to interest each member. Cultivate the habit of reading the Rotarian and you will find no regular speaker at this meeting aside from "Pat" who enjoys peculiar privileges. After a period of general conversation the members dispersed and another enjoyable gathering ended.

WINCHESTER A. A. TOO GOOD FOR HIBERNIANS

The Winchester A. A. with its regular lineup proved too strong for the nine of Division 58, A. O. H., last Friday evening on the Loring avenue playground and won a 7 inning verdict over the Hibernians, 9 to 4.

"Bobby" Callahan twirled for the losers and fencers well in check. He seemed to weaken as the game progressed while the veteran "Joe" Mathews, on the hill for the winners, went along easily. Home runs were contributed by "Ray" Fields, A. A. shortstop, and "Nip" Chamberland, ex-high school captain, who trotted an outfield home for the Hibernians. The latter club moved anything but a joke aggregation and the game was by no means a slowly played engagement.

Batteries for Winchester A. A., J. Mathews and E. Mathews; for A. O. H., Callahan and Murphy. Umpire, T. McKee.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Everett R. Mountain of 69 Woodside road, announce the engagement of their daughter Ruth Klein, to Anthony Frederick Anderson, son of Mrs. N. Martin Anderson and the late N. Martin Anderson of West Townshurst, Mass. The wedding will take place in the fall.

An Essex coach, driven by Mrs. Henry J. Hughes of 11 Woodside street, Somerville, was in collision on Vine street in front of Association Hall Tuesday with a Graham-Paige sedan, owned and operated by Esther M. Lyden of 9 Lloyd street. The cars were going in opposite directions and both were damaged. Mrs. Hughes was learning to drive the Essex being in charge of her husband.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

In the outboard races of the past week-end, "Mal" Reed using Harry Moulton's boat captured the majority of races. The first race went to Reed through his ability to negotiate the turns with greater ease. "Phil" Hight, the novice special, driving "Mal" Reed's boat, amused the spectators with his spectacular driving after finally getting started and going around the course the wrong way, he finished by only being lapped twice.

In the second race, "Ed" Sandberg and assistants acting as starters, timers, second, etc., mixed up the signal flags a trifle and the racers ended one lap too soon. This was called a race though as Reed was well ahead of the others and "Phil" Hight had withdrawn early in the race because of various complications in engine trouble coupled with a bad start and considerable sundry mishaps.

The third race was won quite handsomely by Mr. Hill and "Jimmie" Fitch as in the two previous races, came in third. "Phil" Hight never appeared dangerous as a first place contender but merely as an obstacle, as it were.

Phil redeemed himself in the afternoon though. After much laboring for most of the time, in starting his motor, he finally started off for Medford. At this interval he had "Admiral" "Jack" Jones as a passenger.

Any one who was out on big Mystic Sunday afternoon realized that a heavy nor'west wind can kick up some little wave out there. It was quite rough! On nearing Medford Boat Club the speed craft encountered motor trouble and she died. After several minutes at pulling the rope Phil discovered the boat was being fast blown toward the dam. Also knowing that the "Admiral" is unable to swim he felt it best to make haste and do something, so he bent his back and paddled with considerable vigor, and he wielded rather a strong stroke! The paddle was unequal to the strain and parted with a loud snap leaving Mr. Hight with merely a short piece of handle in his grasp and the business portion of the paddle far from reach. The boat was now close to the falls and no assistance near at hand! With clothes and all, "Phil" dove out of the boat, seized the same, and swimming, towed it safely away from the falls without the "Admiral" even getting the slightest wetting.

Tomorrow, Saturday, Alan Hovey, "Ken" Pratt and "Phil" Hight leave by auto for the International Canoe Races at Thousand Isles, Can. Due to the unfortunate inability of Cant. "Ed" Sandberg to make the trip the double blade four boat combination will not be able to race this year. Two tandems and two single blade entries will be ready, however. This is the first time for three years that "Eddie" has missed out. H. B. Murphy will represent Winchester Boat Club in the deck sailing class.

SELECTMAN WORTHEN HAD UNUSUAL TRIP ABROAD

Chairman Joseph W. Worthen of the Board of Selectmen and Mrs. Worthen of Glen road returned to Winchester Sunday night after enjoying a most unusual visit to England and Scotland. They arrived in Montreal the previous Friday on the S.S. Montrose.

Mr. Worthen, a Rhodes Scholar from Dartmouth, with Mrs. Worthen sailed in June on the S.S. Empress of Scotland in company with some 60 others from America bound for the great British university, Oxford, to attend the first reunion of Rhodes Scholars, held since the inception of the scholarships 25 years ago.

About 100 from this country attended the reunion with an equal number from the Dominions and other parts of the British Empire. The men with their wives spent several days at Oxford, being royally feted. The principal dinner was that presided over by ex-Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, at which the address of the evening was made by the Prince of Wales.

The former Rhodes Scholars were tendered an official reception by His Majesty's Government at Westminster Hall, London, and there were various receptions and garden parties planned for their entertainment during their stay in the city. One of the most interesting was the garden party held at "Cliveden," the beautiful estate of Lady Astor on the Thames, at which the famous author, Bernard Shaw, was in the receiving line.

In addition to their attendance at the reunion the Worthens spent much time on walking and motor trips in Devonshire, about the English lakes and through the less frequented parts of the Scotch Highlands. They avoided the cities, spending as much of their time as possible in the country. One of their experiences was a three-day trip, made in a punt, from the head waters of the Thames 50 miles to Oxford.

PLANS FOR ITALIAN DAY COMPLETED

Everything is in readiness for the annual observance of the Feast of the Assumption by Winchester's Italian citizens, the two day program of events being scheduled to begin Wednesday evening, Aug. 14, at 7:30 o'clock.

At that time the Chirusiano Band of Boston will play a musical program from the bandstand on Manchester Field, to be followed by a small display of fireworks.

On Thursday, the 15th, the usual events of the actual feast day will take place. The Chirusiano Band will be assisted by the Napoli Band, also of Boston, and both organizations, headed by the local committee, will open the day by parading through the streets of the Italian section of the town.

In the afternoon the big parade of the festival will form at St. Mary's Church at 2 o'clock and proceed to the center, thence to Swanton street by way of Main street and through the principal streets of that part of the town.

The two bands will compete in a musical contest on Manchester Field in the evening, commencing at 7:30. The big fireworks display for which Winchester "Italian Days" have long been noted will take place about 10 p. m.

Frank Dattilo is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements, Ugo Rolli is treasurer and Alfred Rolli, secretary. The other members of the committee include Dominic Delasventura, Antonio Maggio, Alphonso Cucolo, David Masciolo, Pasquale Orlando and Dominic Ferraina.

CAMP WINCHESTER

The week just past was full of activity for the Winchester Scouts encamped on the shores of Lake Quanaabacook in Searsmont, Me.

The two camp teams, the Eagles and the Hawks waged war on each other in baseball, cricket, volleyball and touch football with honors even.

The Eagles were adjudged to have presented the better play on dramatic night and won 25 points in the camp contest by their clever presentation of "Selections from the Cocoanuts."

The Hawks have a slightly better record in daily inspection so the teams enter the second week of camp activity with no great difference separating them.

Every camper has spent at least one night in the open during the past week. Nine boys enjoyed a two-day canoe trip around the lake. Seventeen boys made a trip by automobile to Sears Island and spent the night there. Twenty-three boys climbed Mt. Tom and camped on the top.

The water work has been very successfully carried on under the direction of Ray Walworth. Almost every day now one of the beginners swims from the float to the diving float and back—the requirement to become a member of the regular group. The life saving class is coming along well. Its members are daily becoming more proficient in the various breaks and carries necessary to pass the life saving merit badge.

The camp paper published its first issue last Sunday and portions of it will be printed in future issues of the Star.

Visitors to camp will find the best route to camp by way of Augusta and then to Searsmont by route 102.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

The whist last Thursday evening under the auspices of the officers was a pronounced success. Many lovely souvenirs were awarded and a fine sum realized for the work of the Charitable Committee. At 10:30 a delicious lunch of toasted sandwiches and tonic was served by the Wonder Bread concern.

Next Thursday the members of the Court, their children and friends will leave town early in order to meet at Rowes Wharf to take the 10:15 boat for Nantasket. At 12 o'clock dinner will be enjoyed at Miss Elizabeth Crowley's cottage on Berkeley road.

Following dinner there will be a concert in charge of Sister Mollie L. Maguire. Also cards will be enjoyed on the piazza. A complete account of the outing will be printed in next week's Star.

Historian Katherine F. O'Connor spent the week as her brother's guest at his home in Stoughton and P. G. R. Annie E. Vayo spent a few days at Hampton Beach, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Dolan.

V. R. Mary E. Martin has returned from a vacation on the Cape. Sister Martin is busy planning a matinee whist at her home on Pickering street, the proceeds to be sent to Rev. M. J. Ahearn, S.J., to be applied to his research work in the splendid new laboratory at Weston.

BIG SERIES ON TOMORROW

The second game in the big series between the Winchester Town Team and the Winchester A. A. is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon on Manchester Field, commencing at 3:15. The first game was won by the Town Team, 11 to 5 and was an interesting battle. Winchester's "Connie Mack" predicts a different outcome for tomorrow's meeting while "Dukes" Farrell, manager of the Townies, is equally confident. Both clubs will in all probability present strengthened lineups and a good crowd is expected to view the hostilities.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Dietrick Conrad Smith of Minneapolis, Minn., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Pauline to Mr. Edward Riggs Wait, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Riggs Wait of Felsdale, Winchester.

FIREWORKS

To the Editor of the Star:

As there has been considerable talk around town the past week or so in which my name has been used in connection with the display of fireworks on Manchester Field, I want to set myself right with the Italian, and all other residents of Winchester, and will explain my connection with the affair.

About a year or so ago there began to come before the town, complaints about noise made by fireworks on Manchester Field, not only by the Italians, but also the display by the town.

Dr. J. Harper Blaisdell then chairman of the Selectmen of which board I was then a member, appointed myself and Selectman Dotten a committee to look into the matter of the display, and to see if there might not be some other place in Winchester on which it could be held without any inconvenience to the residents of the vicinity.

While I was on the committee several places were looked over, but none seemed to be what was wanted, and the plan came to a stop.

Since then many residents in the vicinity of Manchester Field have asked me to take up the matter and see what was being done, this I did about two weeks ago before the Selectmen. At this meeting I was told to look over the ground and select a better place, but have not done so.

Now in conclusion let me assure the Italian residents of Winchester, and for that matter all residents of the town, that I am the last man in Winchester who would attempt to throw a wet blanket on a celebration of any kind in this town, and it makes no difference to me where or when a display of fireworks is to be given.

While a member of the Board of Selectmen I did all I could to help all classes of citizens in the town and I am now ready to do the same.

WINCHESTER T. A. LOST TO WEST MEDFORD

Winchester Tennis Association lost its first match in several starts on the Palmer street courts last Saturday afternoon when it was nosed out by the West Medford club, 4 to 3, in an Old Colony League engagement.

The tournament was stubbornly contested and was all even when the singles matches were completed. West Medford took two of the three matches in doubles to gain its victory.

Only one of the singles matches was won in straight sets, the opener between Morton of West Medford and "Steve" Thompson of Winchester being a thriller all the way. The local number one player took the first set at 7-5, only to drop the second to Morton, 1-6. The deciding set was hard fought, but was finally captured by the West Medford ace 7-5.

The first set of the number two match between "Doc" Blackler of Winchester and "Hal" Bugbee of West Medford was one of the longest played on the local court. Blackler finally pulled it out of the fire, 17-15. The "Doc" dropped the second set, 5-7, but came through to run out the match in the next bracket, 6-1.

SINGLES

Morton, West Medford, defeated Thompson, Winchester, 7-5, 6-1, 7-5.
Blackler, Winchester, defeated Bugbee, West Medford, 17-15, 5-7, 6-1.

Former Comdr. Nathan Thumim of Winchester Post, A. L., has returned to Winchester after a six weeks' trip abroad. He was at sea on Independence Day and was chosen by the captain of the S.S. Minnekahda to deliver the Fourth of July address to some 1400 passengers. "Nate" was right at home on the rostrum after his radio broadcasting experience of the past winter. The editor received through his thoughtfulness a most unusual briar-root pipe which has been much admired. We are happy to welcome "Nate" home again, but are also glad he went abroad.

WINCHESTER GOLFER WON AT MARSHFIELD

Eaton Won From Lynch in Play-off

Two hundred and one golfers—a record-breaking crowd—participated last Saturday in the annual Marshfield open golf tournament, under the auspices of the Massachusetts Golf Association.

In the five-hole playoff for the low gross prize, C. F. Eaton of Winchester beat Joe Lynch of Albemarle by one stroke.

Only five 70's were turned in, while of the first 35 cards turned in, 17 were in the 80's, five in the 70's and 13 in the 90's. No cards were numerous.

Playing neck and neck for the low gross prize were the two junior champions, Lynch, 1927 titleholder, and Eaton, present wearer of the crown. Both required 74 strokes to traverse the nine holes twice, with Eaton making a gallant comeback on his second tour.

Lynch was out in 37 strokes, while Eaton, starting with a 7 at the first hole, reached the turn in 40 strokes. On his second trip over the course, Eaton took only 34 strokes, which was the lowest nine of the play. Lynch kept to his 37 mark—a 6 at the seventh hole on his second jaunt robbing him of the prize.

EMBLEM CLUB NOTES

Plans are going ahead rapidly for the big open-air whist which is to be held on Tuesday evening, Aug. 27, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. "Joe" Scott on Loring avenue. Apparently "Joe" is taking great pains to assure every one who attends a good time while the hospitality of Mrs. Scott is too well known to need comment. Many fine prizes have been donated for the occasion and as the proceeds of the whist are to go to the Emblem Club charity fund, it is expected that a large number will attend. Don't forget the date, Tuesday evening, Aug. 27.

A new supply of Moth-O-Kill is at the Star Office.

KAULA—JACKSON

A pretty home wedding took place Saturday afternoon at 4:30 at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. Arthur W. Pitman, 24 Yale street, when Henry John Kaula and Bessie Taylor Jackson, both from Somerville, were married by Dr. Paddock of Cambridge.

Miss Helen F. Kaula, sister of the groom was maid of honor while Mr. H. Frederick Taylor, brother of the bride, acted as best man.

The bride was gown in white embroidered georgette and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses.

The maid of honor wore Nile green georgette, wearing a large white picture hat and carried pale pink carnations with blue larkspur.

After a wedding trip, the young couple will be home to their friends after Oct. 1 at 137 Lovell road, Waverlytown.

WINCHESTER GIRL RECEIVED INVITATION FROM MRS. HOOVER

Miss Jacqueline West, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. West of 15 Central street, recently returned from a visit with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Irvine of Chevy Chase, Md.

Just after Jacqueline had departed for home an invitation was received by her grandmother, inviting Jacqueline and herself to a tea which was given by Mrs. Hoover to 30 ladies at the White House on July 31.

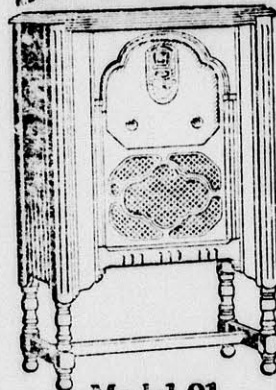

Since it was impossible for Jacqueline to attend, Mrs. Hoover sent her a Kilarney rose from the White House tea table, saying she would invite her again when next she is in Washington.

Miss Jacqueline has the honor of also being a warm friend of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, who first knew her while the Winchester girl was a baby and Mrs. Coolidge, the first lady of the land. Jacqueline has a photograph of the former president's wife, autographed with a message written by Mrs. Coolidge.

Only one Winchester team figured in the finals of the Jacques Cup tournament concluded last Saturday afternoon at the Country Club. "Eddie" Barton and Frank Nazro got as far as the semi-final round of the consolation flight before they were eliminated by John Slattery of Woodland and Jack Healey of Longmeadow. The first flight competition was won by Francis Hersey and Chester Rich of Wellesley.

WINCHESTER WON FROM MEDFORD

Winchester Town Team, with a patched up array of players, experienced little difficulty in defeating the Medford Town Team, 7 to 1, last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field.
The visitors were touted as a strong club, but fell away below expectations.
They arrived at the field minus a left fielder, and were obliged to pick up a player out of the crowd. In the 8th one of the Medford boys was injured and Winchester's "Bill" O'Connell was pressed into service to play right field. The threatening weather kept the attendance down two or three hundred, but the rain falling toward the end of hostilities.

Winchester was without the services of the Dolan boys who were away on vacation while "Johnny" Murphy was playing on the Cape. Curran, all scholastic shortstop from Cambridge, took "Jomma" Dolan's place in the infield while "Spike" O'Donnell, ex-high school star, filled in for "Tom" in center. "Bill" O'Connell patrolled Murphy's right field post. "Frankie" White, Somerville southpaw, did the hurling for Winchester and just breezed through without bearing down. How he will go against a real club remains to be seen.

The locals scored in the first on O'Donnell's single, Curran's sacrifice and "Nicky" Fitzgerald's terrific smash through Berce. In the third, singles by O'Donnell and Curran, a stolen base and Whitaker's sacrifice added another run.

Coates' double, a base on balls to O'Connell, Martin's single and a field-er's choice added a couple in the fourth and two more were over in the 6th on singles by Coates and O'Donnell, White's sacrifice and an infield
out.

The last Winchester run was scored in the 7th on successive singles by Curran and Whitaker, Nick Fitzgerald's long sacrifice fly and "Buck" Windsor's one shot to left.

Medford scored its only run in the 5th on an error, an infield out and Newton's single to center. "Brad" Coates got the team out of a hole in this frame when he gobbled up Berce's hot grounder, touched third for a force-out and then threw out the visiting shortstop at first.

Aside from this snappy bit of play,
the fielding gem was Berce's catch of Fitzgerald's lofty foul in the 3rd.
The Medford third sacker got the ball with his back to the plate, after a hard run, a fine bit of defensive robbery.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Many a man has failed because he let go too soon.

Petty irritations in a home often undermine the whole good will of the family.

One good way to break even with the present cost of living is to have a job that pays you more than you are worth.

Generosity is often the rank-est injustice.

Beauty without virtue is as a flower without perfume.

The following, clipped from an editorial entitled "Attractive Playing Fields," appearing in the Aug. 1 issue of "The League," official publication of the Bankers' and Brokers' Baseball League of Boston, is reproduced because it has in part a local application.

"If the national game was brought up to date by the Park Commissioners many more young men would play ball. The fault with the Park Department is that while it has watched carefully for the smallest defect in its bowling greens; aided the golf players in every way possible; surrounded the tennis players with pleasant conditions, provided the swimmers with instructors and coaches, it has neglected the great game of baseball.

The ball parks are not maintained for baseball as is the tennis court for tennis or the bowling green for bowling.

If amateur ball clubs were welcomed by the caretakers and if the grounds were green and free from dust and if the base bags were white and clean and if the foul lines were carefully marked out and if the bases were nicely trimmed and if the outfielders were well mowed and if the crowds were kept within bounds and if no other games were in progress at the far end of the field, perhaps baseball would win more young men to the parks."

Manchester Field has never been in such poor condition for baseball as this summer. The appearance of the grass cannot be helped. The long growth has led to its parched condition. And the field is kept well mowed. But the diamond has been sadly neglected. Weeds are growing in the baselines, the pitching rubber is badly in need of attention, foul lines have not been properly marked, holes in both infield and outfield have not been filled in and in general things have needed sprucing up. We're blaming no one, and least of all "Alex" McDonald, whose work on the common and town plots speaks for itself. But we do believe that serious attention should be given the playing surface of the playground. Winchester has in Manchester Field a playground so ideal in many respects that it is a pity to have its chief value, that as a place for the indulgence of organized athletics, spoiled for the lack of proper care.

Pray With Child, Is

Advice Given Mothers

Of course, the real way is not to teach children to pray at all, but, whether privately or in the family group, to pray with them. Here is a mother who still is trying to get an adolescent boy to bow at her knee each evening and say his prayers. She suspects that something is the matter. She can see that his dutiful desire to please her is under increasing strain.

Strangely enough, it never has occurred to her that both physically and mentally her method is wrong and that if she wants her boy to pray, from the beginning she should have been on her knees beside him praying with him.

She should see also that very soon she must take her hands off that intimate matter altogether and let him pray as he will, trusting not so much to anything she has told him as to the fact that he knows by observation the value of prayer to persons whom he himself has loved and admired.

Religion is something that only secondarily can be taught. It must primarily be absorbed, and then the teaching can persuasively set forth the meaning of the life that the child finds himself both observing and catching in the home.—Harry Emerson in the World's Work.

LETTER FROM DOCTOR EMERY

S.S. Duchess of York
June 29, 1929

To the Editor of the Star:
As this is a quiet time of the year for news and articles to fill your paper, and as I have plenty of leisure time on my hands, perhaps a little write-up on our trip would be acceptable to you.

The American Institute of Homeopathy convened in Montreal from June 21 to 27 at the Mt. Royal Hotel. Over 1100 physicians registered.

The meeting there has been a most wonderful success not only from an educational point but also from a social. The people of Montreal not only homeopathic and osteopathic physicians but also the hotel and natives did everything in their power to show hospitality. Even the Government stretched a point for your scribe when met over the line by the revenue officers and asked where he was going. On informing him I was traveling with A. I. of H. he did not ask me for my identification papers or even find out if I had any baggage while the rest of the people were opening up everything.

On June 27 at 2:30 about 420 doctors and their friends embarked on the Duchess of York and three tugs swung us out and into mid-stream of the St. Lawrence.

I might say in passing that this is only the fourth trip of the York. She is the last word in steamship construction. Even in fairly choppy weather you hardly feel a tumb of her engines let alone any pitching.

As to service and cost of traveling I can certainly say service is best and there is a feeling among all that they are not out to get your last dollar. Some items of interest to Winchester people are beer 10 cents for a large glass and $2.70 per quart for the best whiskey (I am told this).

The entire trip of seven days across was calm and smooth but cold weather. From 10 a. m. to 12 there were conferences on different medical subjects in the main saloon. In the afternoon games on deck, cards and walking were enjoyed.

We docked at Liverpool at about 2:30 on July 4. A special train was awaiting us at the dock and we were pulled through the most wonderful country side I ever expect to set eyes on consisting of very green fields, the typical birch English houses, with their little gardens, in perfect order, churches in the midst of cemeteries, and old English castles here and there.

From the number of flocks of sheep one would get the impression the English might supply the world with wool and mutton. Ayrshire cattle and Clydsdale horses are raised in great abundance. Most interesting are the canals and locks with the horse pulling the canal boat along.

We arrived in London at 8:50 p. m. after a 188 mile trip. The next morning we canyoned at the House of Lords and Prince George addressed us. His speech was as follows:

"Mr. President, my Lord Mayor, My Lords, ladies and gentlemen: It gives me great pleasure to come here this morning, not only to welcome distinguished friends from America—delegates from the American Institute of Homeopathy but also to be able to associate myself with the object of this important conference.

"It is also a pleasure to me to identify myself with the self-sacrificing endeavors of the medical profession. I trust that your labors will be fruitful for the advancement of humanity, for in any service there must be progress and the man who has ceased to learn has ceased to live.

"I am much interested to hear that you have just had an important series of meetings in Canada, where I am sure you met with a very hearty welcome, such as I have always experienced whenever I have visited that domain. And I trust that you will carry home with you warm memories of British hospitality and a fresh realization of what is so important to the peace and progress of the world, the unbreakable friendship of our people, of one race and of one language.

"I have now much pleasure in declaring this conference open and wish all success to its deliberations."

The Lord Mayor of London also addressed us and with him was his wife, Mary.

The meeting was then given over to the doctors and for three days medical conferences were in order. In the meantime ladies and those who wished visited the following places: St. Paul's Cathedral, Buckingham Palace, Westminster Abbey, the Lord Mayor's home, House of Parliament, Warwick Castle, Stokes Poles and the church where Grey's elegy in a country church yard was written, also Eaton College on the Thames, Windsor Castle which covers 13 acres, Hamilton Court built by Cardinal Wolsey and given to King Henry VIII when Wolsey was afraid Henry was going to take his head off.

On July 8 we crossed the English channel to Port of Hull, Holland. Through dyked land, grazed by Holstein cattle, dotted here and there by wind mills we came to the Hague in Holland, and our only regret was that we could not stay there for a week. There we rode about the city of 400,000, visited the Queen's palace in the woods and the Peace Palace. Here the soldiers were waiting for her at the railroad station to escort her from her summer home. We had the pleasure of walking over her carpet spread from the train to awaiting carriage.

I forgot to mention that while in London we were given a reception and dance at Selfridge's home. He was formerly a Chicago man and now has the largest department store in London. His daughter married a Lord. She and her father received us.

This is only a small part of the things we have seen and heard. If this is masticated, digested and assimilated I will give you more.

Yours truly,
R. L. Emery, M.D.

"FIREWORKS"

To the Editor of the Star:

Some 15 or 20 years ago a group of Winchester residents of Italian birth or ancestry decided to celebrate the Feast of the Assumption which falls yearly on the 15th of August. A subscription was taken up, donated to generously by the people of Winchester, which enabled a committee appointed for the occasion to give to the townspeople a band concert, followed by a display of fireworks on Manchester Field during the evening.

Each year since then, with the exception of that period during which the country was at war, the 15th of August has been observed as a feast day by the Italian residents of the town. Each year we have been given a little better concert of music, perhaps, or a little better display of fireworks. Never in all these years has there happened one single incident or accident to mar the day's celebration, in spite of the tremendous crowds that have been drawn to Manchester Field from Winchester and surrounding towns. Not a voice has ever been raised in opposition.

It is rather unfortunate that this year a former selectman should protest against the use of Manchester Field for a purpose which so evidently gives pleasure to a large majority of the residents of the town. Nothing is said about the town's Fourth of July fireworks display.

Are citizens and residents of Italian ancestry to be condemned because they, with several hundreds of other voters, used good sense and intelligence at last town meeting in helping elect to office men who in their judgment were so clearly better qualified to represent them on the Board of Selectmen?

The committee in charge of this year's celebration have completed their program for the usual observance of the day, which will end up by a band concert and fireworks display on Manchester Field as in former years. They feel that they can safely assure the public of at least as good a program as in the past. Let us hope for the usual large attendance.

CHINA'S NEW WOMAN

C. P. O. Box No. 1234
Shanghai, China
June 27, 1929

To the Editor of the Star:
Here comes a letter from this land of intrigue, graft, warfare, famine, suffering, chaos, to tell you and the readers of your excellent paper about China's new woman who has a share in the "goings-on."

If a woman in China, 20 years ago, had been given a Rip Van Winkle sleep, she would be more surprised than he was, should she awake today. Then women had to stay indoors and work something like domestic animals. Or, if of a better family, he cooped up at home and stay there. She was allowed to be seen only by her husband or brothers.

Now what a change! The modern Chinese young women skip around the streets with a spring, grace and freedom that's quite refreshing when one remembers the women formerly hobbling along on bound feet supported by amulets. Now girls bob, shingles, or permanent wave their hair. That's a sign of freedom. They ride bicycles, play tennis, basketball and engage in other athletics. Formerly the parents arranged their marriage. Now one often sees the young ladies walking very affectionately arm in arm with their "best boys." And the young people often do the most modest of any nationality.

Now women are often seen with short sleeves and very low-necked frocks even at mid-day. Sometimes they're seen with the most up-to-date up-beyond-the-knee short frocks and flimsy silk hose and very high-heeled shoes. Indeed the Chinese girls are quite amusing flappers sometimes—shocking sometimes—so much so that the officials have felt it necessary to issue proclamations commanding them to dress modestly. The mandarin them to dress to flit in the most up-to-date way. That's freedom! They dance in the latest style. They ride horses, astride, with boots and riding breeches. "That's English, you know."

Once the ideal for girls was that they be able to do beautiful needlework at home. Now they are doing work at home. Now they are clerks in other things. They are stenographers. Some are bankers. They play the organ or piano or other musical instruments. Some are becoming movie artists or actresses. Some are lawyers and judges and doctors. Others are teachers and kindergarten teachers. They even become soldiers and sometimes they become Generals' secretaries! Women also become Revolutionary politicians and scream Revolutionary platitudes such as, "Down with imperialism." "Give the people freedom." To beat the most zealous men Revolutionaries. Rarely do you see meetings for propaganda or riots without seeing girls or women taking active part in them, urging on the riots. I am glad to say that some few of them are taking part in the Red Cross work in relieving the suffering of those wounded in battle. Women, too, occupy places of influence in the government in Nanking. Once women's faces lacked all hope and ambition, and there are still great hordes of women who are the same drudges at home or worse—in great factories. But among the younger generation they have ambition—ambition that carries them to extremes.

I'm glad to say that there are many modest, motherly women who have gone through our mission schools who are making nice, clean, beautiful Christian homes where the children are brought up well and taught to be good useful members of society, children of whom they and missions can be proud and thankful. One can not expect great things from a nation in which the people have been brought up for ages in filth, physical and moral but a new generation is coming on, born anew in the church of Christ and in these clean Christian homes. We are expecting much for China from such.

Things are out of joint in China; but we hope and pray that the common sense of better Chinese and the deeply planted power of the Gospel will gradually overcome the criminal influences and that China will find peace, prosperity, and a place among the great nations of the world.

Yours in Christ's glad service,
(Rev.) H. G. C. Hallock

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

Winchester's pessimists will never be missed.

The happy Winchesterite is he who owes no bills.

The parents in Winchester should bear in mind first, last and all the time that the lives they lead are but copy-books to their children.

A prominent real estate agent confides to The Paragrapheer that in order to lease apartments to wealthy tenants it is necessary to admit dogs. Happily ensconced with their dogs the tenants need not be hounded for rent.

A certain individual here in Winchester told somebody that somebody else had said something disagreeable about somebody. So somebody immediately quashed the talk by saying that he was well aware it "emulated" from nobody.

A Winchester young woman warbles:

I want your arms to hold me close
When I embrace,
And when I smile, I seek a smile
Upon your face.
But when I cry then let me be,
In life, alone,
Because no tears could for your tears,
On earth, alone.

It is better for a Winchesterite to be wrong once in a while and acknowledge it than to be right only once and do a lot of bragging about it.

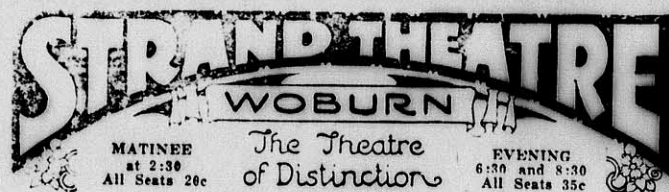

Speaking of superstition, there is a fellow here in Winchester who tears the cover from a two-dollar bill when he receives it in change.

"Cut monkey shines to retain your figure," says a New York beauty specialist. There are some people in Winchester who are going to retain their beauty.

A Winchester fellow said the other day if it wasn't for women, flowers and music, he'd go jump into Spot Pond. Need not go to that trouble, mister. There will be women, flowers and music in and out of Winchester a thousand years after he dies a natural death.

A friend of our heard the story of the absent-minded man who looked in a mirror and remarked, "Where have you been all my life?" It's safer that way, nobody being there to shoot him.

We know the laziest man. He could have made a fortune on strawberries, but he chose to raise bananas instead, because they grow in bunches. This laziest man lives a long way from Winchester, however.

According to a Star reader a little foolishness now and then will bring a giggle from any "old hen." And a little nonsense once in a while, will keep a Winchesterite's liver free of bile.

A weedless, spic and span Winchester, should be our slogan all the time.

In summer-time hard is the lot of a Winchester working girl: The heat takes all her make-up off, her hair won't stay in curl, Although her face and forehead's damp, her mouth and tongue are dry And perspiration stains will spoil each pretty gown she buys.

AND WHERE IS TOPOLOBAMPO?

Topolobampo, to which a United States Navy destroyer was dispatched to protect American interests, is a city of only 300 native inhabitants, yet it is an important port in the northern part of Sinaloa State, Mexico, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The town faces a large landlocked harbor with a deep water port inside, but a series of sand bars across the entrance of the harbor prevent vessels of more than 16-foot draft reaching the port's one dock. Topolobampo is the southern terminus of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railroad which, when completed, will connect the town with Kansas City, Missouri.

The Kansas City, Mexico and Orient is completed as far as Fuerte Sinaloa, about 65 miles northeast of Topolobampo. To this line, the port owes even its small development. The dock is owned by the railroad and the company maintains a hospital for its employees in the town.

Perhaps the greatest drawback to the port town is the fact that the Southern Pacific Railroad of Mexico intersects the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient at San Blas, about 25 miles northeast of Topolobampo, and much of the produce from the Fuerte Valley that would pass through the port is transferred to that line for United States and Mexican markets. The southern terminus of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railroad crosses the international border at Nogales, Arizona-Mexico, and, in its course down the west coast of Mexico, bisects Sinaloa State.

American-Owned Ranches Near Los Mochis
While sugar, bananas and cotton are important products of the region near Topolobampo, shrimp fishing has long been a leading industry among the Indians along the north coast of Sinaloa. The port derives its name from the shrimp fisheries, although translated into English it means "Tiger Travel." The natives will tell the traveler that a visit to the shrimp fisheries will convince him of the propriety of the name for the declining rays of the sun upon swarms of these golden crustaceans give the effect of a tiger's skin, mottled in purple and gilt and gray. The shrimps are dried for shipment to China by way of San Francisco.

An extensive area of American-owned property lies near Los Mochis, about 15 miles up the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient from Topolobampo. Tortillas, thin Mexican flatbreads, beans and pork are the outstanding articles on the native bill-of-fare in north Sinaloa, and it was the Americans' love for a more varied menu that instituted the establishment of an American Club at Los Mochis.

TWO BOYS HELD FOR GRAND JURY ON MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

Romulus Lucontoni, 13, of Belmont street, Woburn, and Attilio Tassi, 9, of 41 Irving street were held in bonds of $2000 by Judge Jesse W. Morton in the District Court at Woburn Monday morning on the charge of manslaughter, arising out of the accidental shooting and attempted burial of their playmate Arthur Gentile, 11, of 27 Bryant street, Woburn. The shooting occurred on Sunday. An additional charge of assault was lodged against Tassi, because it is alleged he threw dirt on Gentile's body after it had been placed in a hastily dug grave.

The boys are juveniles and the hearing was held in the judge's lobby. Both children were accompanied by their parents and the bail money was furnished by the father of young Lucontoni.

According to the police the boys were shooting with a .22 calibre rifle on Mt. Pleasant street off Arlington street in Woburn. They had fired several shots when young Lucontoni raised the rifle to fire at a tree. He told the authorities that he had just fired when the Gentile boy appeared from around the corner of the Berge & Cobb patent leather factory. The bullet struck the youngster in the forehead and he fell to the ground.

Terrified, young Lucontoni and Tassi ran to their homes and procured picks, shovels and a pail of water. They dragged young Gentile about 100 feet to a spot where they hastily dug a grave, some three feet deep. After washing the boy's face they placed him in the hole.

Their activities were noticed by Giuseppe Nardone of Abbot court, Woburn, who was busy cutting hay nearby. Upon investigating, he discovered the Gentile boy lying in the hole and after learning some of the details of the shooting, took the unconscious youngster first to his own residence and then to the Gentile home.

From there he was taken by the Woburn police to the Choate Hospital where he was found to be beyond medical assistance. He died about 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Meanwhile the authorities had rounded up young Lucontoni and Tassi who at first stated that a man had shot the boy and then ran away. Finally they admitted Lucontoni had fired the shot, but said that it was accidental. They said they had become terror-stricken and had dug the grave in the hopes that the shooting would not be discovered.

WINCHESTER AVIATOR TOOK WOBURN BOY HOME

Albert Luongo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Luongo of Florence street was one of the aviators who piloted the airplane, bringing little "Danny" Doherty, 14, from the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children at Springfield to the Woburn home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Doherty of 23 Chestnut street. The smiling youngster had been a cripple, following an attack of infantile paralysis, suffered when he was three months old. He was sent to Springfield by a Woburn tobacconist, Walter Scott, whose shop Danny used to pass daily on the way to the Parochial School. Mr. Scott, a shiner, became interested in the boy and arranged to have him sent to Springfield for treatment in March. He returned to his home last Saturday, minus his crutches and without the brace upon his right leg. In the fall he will return to the hospital where doctors are hopeful that the other brace may be removed. And did "Danny" get a real welcome home? He did, and how!

Mary Cutter, a member of the championship Winchester High School tennis team during the past two seasons, won the senior girls' singles championship in the Beach Club tournament at Magnolia last Saturday afternoon, defeating Betty Pope of Chestnut Hill, 6-2, 6-2. Mary paired with Edward Pugh of Cambridge to win the mixed doubles in the same tourney from Betty Pope and Paul Shaw, 6-3, 6-4.

Henry Worcester's "Squab" won the 4 1/4-mile race for Annisquam bird off Marblehead last Saturday afternoon in the first day's competition of the Eastern Yacht Club's race week.

ANOTHER CITY CHANGES ITS NAME

Trondhjem, Norway, which lies but three degrees from the Arctic Circle and is familiar to geography students as one of the most northerly cities of the world, is to change its name. Recent press dispatches say that after January, 1930, the city will resume its ancient name of Nidaros, by which it was known until the middle of the 16th century.

Modern Trondhjem is built on a peninsula formed by the River Nid and the Trondhjem fiord which indents Norway's west coast, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Its houses are cheerful frame structures painted in white or light colors, with potted plants making colorful spots at their windows. The royal palace, a huge, white building, is one of the largest wooden buildings in the world.

Tourists Shop for Furs
The shops have many unusual wares for visitors. Furs are sold and there is a demand for blue and silver fox, polar bear and ermine. Eider-down quilts, bear skin rugs, embroideries, carved wood souvenirs, and silver carved in old Norse designs are popular with tourists. Many of the larger shops are on Olaf Trygvasson street, which was named after the town's founder.

A City of Wood
Trondhjem has survived 15 fires and to prevent future conflagrations from spreading the principal streets have been widened to 100 feet or more. These wide streets give the place a spacious air. Trondhjem is a city of wood. With the exceptions of the Cathedral and some modern business buildings, the houses and warehouses are all frame.

Although it lies in the same latitude as southern Iceland, Trondhjem has summers like those of England, and its winters are no more severe than those of Germany. The river or the fiord are seldom frozen. In summer numerous trees and shrubbery give the town a semi-tropical appearance which the visitor had not expected.

The long Arctic summer daylight has its effect on the farmlands surrounding Trondhjem. Often there are two crops a year of produce which yields but one crop in temperate climates.

Market for Salted Herring
Trondhjem was the coronation place of ancient Norse kings and the present king, Haakon VII, was crowned there in 1906, when the union of Sweden and Norway was dissolved. The city has a population of some 55,000, much of its life centers about the water front. The ship building industry is brisk and there is a boat service between Trondhjem and Bergen and the North Cape. Numerous fishing boats come in with their cargoes of salted herring to be deposited in the tall, quaint gabled warehouses which line the quays.

The tall Gothic spires of Trondhjem Cathedral rise above the surrounding low buildings of purely Norse architecture in striking contrast to them. The Cathedral looks like a transplanted English church in a Norse setting. Its Gothic style may be attributed to Norsemen, living in England when the Gothic architecture was attaining its vogue, who preferred it to the simpler Norse style and incorporated it into the Cathedral. The structure was begun during the reign of Olaf the Quiet, between 1066 and 1093. It has been restored many times but each restorer has kept to the Gothic style and the present restoration has endeavored to follow the original building.

TOWLE-KIDDER

The wedding of Miss Caroline Kidder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kidder of 29 Everett avenue, and Edward Thurston Towle of Providence, R. I., son of Dr. and Mrs. Bernard L. Towle, took place last Saturday at noon in the home of the bride's parents. Rev. George Hale Reed, minister of the Unitarian Church, was the officiating clergyman. Mr. Kidder gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Mary Kidder of Winchester was her sister's honor attendant and another sister, Anne Kidder, acted as flower girl. A third sister, Miss Louise Kidder of Winchester, and Miss Adelaide Homer, also of Winchester, and a cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids.

Mr. Towle had for his best man his brother, Frederick G. Towle of Pawtucket, R. I., and another brother, William A. Towle, also of Pawtucket, served as usher with Seth S. G. Robinson, Charles Greenhalgh, Harry Fowler and Henry Crowe, all of Pawtucket, and Walter Hart Birnie of Springfield.

The bride wore a gown of flesh-colored satin with a bertha and trimmed with lace which was part of her mother's bridal costume. She carried white lilies of the valley, pink sweethearts roses and white orchids. The maid of honor was gowned in pale green chiffon and wore a horseshoe hat. She carried sweethearts roses and lavender flowers. The bridesmaids were in lavender chiffon and also wore horseshoe hats. The flower girl wore a frock of lavender chiffon in period style with a lavender poke bonnet and carried an old-fashioned bouquet.

A reception and wedding breakfast followed the ceremony, the bridal couple being assisted in receiving by their parents. After a wedding trip through northern New England and Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Towle will live in Providence, R. I., where the bridegroom is associated in business with Estabrook & Co.

The bride studied at the Mary C. Wheeler School in Providence and the Garland School in Boston. The bridegroom received his degree from Brown University and is a member of the D. K. E. Fraternity. He was prominent in athletics during his undergraduate days and was a regular end on the varsity football team. He is to be coach of ends at Brown in the fall.

DR. DREW WILL PREACH SUNDAY AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Next Sunday, the union services, now being held by the Baptist, Congregational, and Methodist Churches, will shift its meeting place to the new First Baptist Church, and will continue there three more Sundays.

Rev. Edward Payson Drew, D.D., who is considered one of the strongest preachers here last summer, will conduct the service. It is hoped that those who find themselves in Winchester next Sunday will avail themselves of this opportunity to hear this great preacher. The service will be at 10:30.

On Aug. 25 and Sept. 1, Rev. Grady D. Peagan, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Arlington, considered by many, one of the keenest thinkers of the denomination in the United States, will be the preacher.

On Sept. 8, Rev. Benjamin P. Browne, the popular pastor of the church, will preach. It is quite appropriate that Mr. Browne should be one of the preachers at the Union services held in the new meeting house which his courage made possible.

BASEBALL TOMORROW

The Winchester Town Team, fresh from its 9 to 5 win over the strong A. A. team with Francis Tansey up, will face another tough assignment on Manchester Field tomorrow afternoon when "Dukes" Farrell's workmen will cross bats with the crack Woburn Town Team, until this season the well known Highland "Midgets."

Manager McGah has been claiming the championship of Woburn, Winchester and what have you and seems to have a real ball club to back his championship contention. He was fortunate to pull out an 11-inning win over a patched up Winchester lineup last Sunday afternoon at Woburn. "Olio" Lee giving the veteran "Kiko" Weafer a real battle for pitching honors.

Weafer will probably hurl for Woburn tomorrow and the venerable right hander has always been a tough man for the locals to beat.

The Town Team, with its regular lineup, will not be especially soft for the Woburn boys unless an epidemic of fielding errors offends the real batting punch which the nine has shown all season.

The addition of "Bart" McDonough and "Brad" Coates has strengthened the team's defense appreciably and has also added batting strength. "Tommy" Dolan's return to center field will also add to the club's efficiency as this lad is a real ball hawk. Manager Farrell is uncertain about his pitching, but "Frankie" White may draw the assignment.

VISITING IN CHICAGO

Mrs. E. Langworthy Burwell, Sr. of Madison avenue west, is visiting her daughters Mrs. J. A. Rutherford (Amelia) Mrs. P. E. Heffley (Virginia) at Chicago and her sister, Mrs. F. B. Bennett at Madison, Wisconsin, having motored thither by car driven by her niece Miss Dorice Bennett of Sanford, Me., and Madison, Wisconsin, who will have her mother and aunt as passengers on the return trip.

Letter Carrier Hugh McElhiney is enjoying his annual vacation.

HOME FROM ICELAND TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Parkhurst have returned from a most enjoyable cruise on the Steamship Calgarie to Iceland, Hammerfest, the North Cape, Norway, Sweden, etc.

They spent four days within the Arctic Circle where the sun could be looked in the face every hour of the 24-hour, and for the three weeks they were on the northern part of the cruise, there was no night.

Their trip took them through the many islands and fjords of Norway, into the Baltic Sea as far as Stockholm and then to Denmark. Next they went across the North Sea to Edinburgh where they left the cruise, and took an automobile trip of seven days through the Highlands of Scotland, where the mountain tops were brilliant with the scarlet heather, and through the English Lake district to Liverpool, where they sailed for home on the Steamship Cedric.

Altogether they report one of the most pleasant vacations of their lifetime, and can recommend this outing to any one who desires a restful and enjoyable time on shipboard.

McKENZIE—FLOWER

Miss Katherine Josephine Flower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Flower of Grant street, Stoneham, and Alfred P. McKenzie of this town, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. McKenzie of Hemingway street, were quietly married last Sunday afternoon in the rectory of St. Patrick's Church, Stoneham, by the Rev. Fr. Lee J. Knapp.

Miss Flower was attended by the bridegroom's sister, Miss Ann McKenzie of Winchester, and John M. McKenzie of Banes, Cuba, was his brother's best man. Both the bride and her attendant wore plain traveling costumes.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie left by motor for Cape Cod where they will spend their honeymoon. Upon their return they will make their home in Stoneham.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

The members are invited to attend a reception at the Legion House on Aug. 21 at 8:30 p. m. This reception will follow a State meeting which is called for 7 o'clock. The guest of honor at the reception will be Sister Kevin of Uganda, Africa. She is the Superior in charge in the diocese of Uganda, the chapel of which was donated by the Massachusetts State Courts of the C. D. of A.

The many friends of P. G. R. Minnie O'Connor will be delighted to hear that she enjoyed a motor drive this week to Revere and Nantasket Beaches. We may look for her gracious presence soon. And this is indeed good news, for Sister O'Connor, even during her serious illness, has never lost her virile interest in the affairs of the Court.

At the second meeting in September a play will be staged under the directorship of Historian Katharine F. O'Connor.

Details of the Court's annual outing, held yesterday at Nantasket, will be published in next week's Star.

MRS. SARAH LOUISE MARSH

Mrs. Sarah Louise Marsh, widow of Charles F. Marsh and a former well known resident of this town, died Tuesday afternoon in the Winchester Hospital where she had been confined since Aug. 1 as the result of injuries sustained in a fall while visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Esther C. Richburg as proprietor of the restaurant which then stood on the site now occupied by Hutchinson's Market.

She conducted the restaurant for some years and made many friends among the older residents of the town. Her home was in the wooden structure replaced by the present Star Building. For the past few years she had lived in Somerville.

Besides Mrs. Richburg, Mrs. Marsh is survived by a sister, Mrs. Annie Cully of Roxbury.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon from Mrs. Richburg's home and were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Nutter, pastor of the Montvale Congregational Church. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

MRS. MARGARET LAWTON

Mrs. Margaret Lawton, widow of Dennis Lawton and a well known resident of Winchester for the past 40 years, died Wednesday night, Aug. 14, at her home on Pond street following a long illness.

Mrs. Lawton was 70 years of age and a native of St. John's, N. B. Her parents were William and Katherine (Sullivan) Tobin. As a young girl she came to Lowell, but following her marriage to Mr. Lawton, she removed to Winchester and had since made her home here, winning for herself a wide circle of acquaintances and friends. She was a member of St. Mary's Church and of its Married Ladies' Sodality.

Surviving are two sons, Henry D. Lawton of Medford and Albert V. Lawton of Winchester, six grandchildren and one sister, Miss Nellie Tobin of Lowell.

The funeral will be held Saturday morning at 8:15 from the late residence, 31 Pond street, with a solemn requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in Calvary Cemetery.

James F. Keaney of 145 Hillsdale road, Somerville, was injured and the Ford touring car he was driving badly damaged as the result of a collision Monday afternoon on Washington street near Cross street in which the touring car figured with an International three and one-half ton truck, loaded with sand.

TOWN TEAM WON SECOND GAME FROM A. A.Mathews Pitched Great Game for Winners—Tansey Hit Hard

Sterling pitching by the veteran
"Joe" Mathews, backed by hard and timely hitting gave the Town Team a 9 to 5 victory over the Winchester
A. A. in the second game of the series between the two clubs last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field.

Francis Tansey, on the mound for the A. A., was away off form and was hit to all corners of the lot by "Dukes" Farrell's ponies. Any time Francis yields 16 hits, walks 3 batters and uncorks a wild pitch with a man on third it is worth a conservative bet that the little fork-hander is not right.
He had two good innings, the 4th and 5th, in which he struck out 4 of the 6 men who faced him, but he couldn't continue in the form he displayed during that brief stretch.

Meanwhile Mathews was twirling supremely. The A. A. players were by no means weak stickers, yet they were well nigh powerless against the brand of pitching shown by the former high school right hander. Good support would have given Mathews a shut-out and he surely deserved one. He was never in a hole and gave one of the finest exhibitions of pitching to batters' weaknesses we have seen since
"Ray" Tift was working here.

The A. A. presented a strong lineup and was favored by many of the wise ones to come through. "Jimmy" Fitzgerald, "Joey" Connolly, "Hecker" Keating and Francis Tansey comprised a formidable list of players who did not perform in the previous game which "Mack's" club dropped to the Town Team.

The latter club was also strengthened by the addition of "Bart" Mc-Donough, catcher; "Brad" Coates, third base; and Mathews, who pitched the best ball shown by a Town Team hurler this season.

The clubs tossed up and the A. A. took the field. "Spike" O'Donnell singled to center and "Jomma" Dolan bunted along the third base line.
Tansey fielded the tap and threw to second, too late to catch O'Donnell, both runners being safe. Coates laid it down and when Tansey fubbed his roller the bases were filled. "Nicky" Fitzgerald struck out and Whitaker topped one, the ball rolling toward third. Tansey fielded the ball and O'Donnell was forced at the plate.
The runner might have scored since Mathews lost Tansey's throw, but "Spike" was flat-footed and "Ernie" recovered the ball in time to make the putout. With two away White singled to right, scoring Dolan and Coates. Windsor hit past J. Fitzgerald but McDonough fanned for the final out.

The A. A. came right back. "Livin" McNeil hit to center and Shea rapped to Whitaker. With a double play in the making Walter muffed up the hopper and both men were safe. Roche bunted along third base and when old
"sure-death" Coates hurled the ball into Rangeley, McNeil counted. J.
Fitzgerald hoisted to Mathews, but "Joey" Connolly tripled into right, scoring Shea and Roche. Mathews threw out Keating and Chamberland fled to Whitaker.

Mathews opened the second for the Town Team with a line single to right.
O'Donnell sacrificed and J. Dolan's single to left advanced "Joe" to third.
Coates' hit to right scored Mathews and Dolan. N. Fitzgerald popped to Connolly but Whitaker's single to right sent "Brad" across. White fled to Roche to end the frame.

The Town Team got a soft one in the third. Windsor singled sharply to left and was sacrificed to second by McDonough. He reached third on a passed ball and scored when Tansey uncorked a wild pitch. Mathews rolled out to J. Fitzgerald and Tansey struck out O'Donnell.

The sixth was a big frame for Farrell's workmen. McDonough drew a pass and advanced on Mathews' single through short. O'Donnell's single off Connolly's shins filled the bases and McDonough scored on Dolan's sacrifice fly to left. Coates skied to Shea but "Nicky" Fitzgerald singled through short, scoring Mathews. When McNeil's throw got away from E.
Mathews, O'Donnell counted but Connolly threw out Whitaker to close the rally.

This ended the "Townies" scoring but only a fast double play by Connolly, Shea and "Jimmy" Fitz with one out and the sacks loaded saved
Tansey in the 8th.

The A. A. put over a couple of questionable ones in the same frame.
Shea singled to left and when Whitaker erred on Roche's grounder "Dom" and "Chucker" were safe. Fitzgerald lined one into center which O'Donnell misjudged badly, allowing what should have been a routine putout to go for a triple, good for two runs. "Harny" tried to sneak home while "Bart" Mc-Donough was getting his mask but the latter made a great bare-hand catch of Mathews' peg and got the big boy at the plate. Dolan bobbled on Connolly's hopper but "Joey" was forced at second on Keating's rap to "Jomma." Call, batting for "Nipper" Chamberland, struck out.

That ended the scoring, though
"Bart" McDonough doubled to center in the Town Team's ninth. He went to third when Call threw in wildly but was out at the plate on a beautiful throw, Keating to E. Mathews.

Two in a Row

By game time there was a good sized crowd on the field and invariably the fans were figuring the A. A. to win. The way Tansey had been going with Quincy in the Twilight League and with East Douglas in the Blackstone Valley justified such an opinion.

Mathews was not without his back-ers and the big right hander lived up to the fondest hopes of his most ardent admirers. We haven't seen "Joe" pitch so well since he was hurling for the Legion team half a dozen years ago and won the Mystic Valley twilight championship for the Post nine by turning back Wakefield, despite the fact that the latter management had "rung in" "Tom" Fitzgerald, "Tacks" Connell and "Buck" Weaver to bolster up its lineup.

"Alex" MacDonald and his "bully boys" had the diamond nicely marked out and in the best condition it has been in this season. Many remarked on its improved condition. A whole lot of unremitting effort, however, will be necessary to restore the infield and outfield to good playing shape.
"Bart" McDonough made a big difference in the Town Team defense.
The Dartmouth baseball captain-elect is a smart backstop and has a great throwing arm. None of the A. A. speedsters cared to steal last Saturday.

"Nicky" Fitzgerald rather outshone his more famous brother, James, last Saturday and played just about the best first base we've ever seen him show. He was in the game every minute and turned in a great fielding play in the 4th when he grabbed Dolan's wide peg and tagged Chamberland for the putout on the line.

The younger Fitzgerald also turned in a nice play in the 5th when he leaped into the air to spear McNeil's great bid for a hit and force Tansey at second. As things turned out the robbery saved a run.

Whitaker had a tough day at second, but the Town Team captain got two solid hits.

Big "Jim" Fitzgerald crashed into "Bart" McDonough hard while trying to steal home in the 8th. He naturally knocked the Townie backstop off his feet but the latter held the ball for the putout.

Only 21 men faced Mathews between the first and eighth innings and in four of the six frames he required the side in order. Only three men faced him in the ninth and he didn't issue a free ticket all afternoon.

"Tommy" Dolan hadn't returned from his vacation and "Spike" O'Donnell patrolled his center field post.
The latter looked good at bat but does not compare with Dolan as a ball hawk. "Tommy" would have gobbled up Fitzgerald's three base hit with ease.

"Bucky" Windsor enlivened the afternoon with a series of war-whoops toward the end of the game. His two

WELCOMED STAR EDITORIAL

To the Editor of the Star:

We welcomed your editorial on playgrounds as we are particularly interested in Leonard Field. It has been sadly neglected the past eight or more years. The boys borrowed a wheelbarrow from the writer to fill some of the holes on the baseball diamond so that they could play ball. The canvas cover was torn from the sand box about the third day after it was put on. There is only one good swing that the children can use and nothing more for them to play with. The tennis courts are not properly cared for and the money spent for canvas roofs would have paid for a permanent house roof for the sand box.

We believe more interest should be taken in the care of Leonard Field and in the children in this part of the town as many of them stay at home all summer.

We hope the Park Department will make some improvements on this field next year including two more tennis courts.

REV. DR. LAWRENCE IS HIGHLY PRAISED AT CONFERENCE

The Rev. Dr. William I. Lawrence formerly of this town and until his retirement four years ago secretary of the Department of Religious Education, was the recipient of high praise at the recent general conference of the Unitarian Church at the Isles of Shoals, N. H.

The Rev. John C. Petrie gave an autobiographical lecture, "A Spiritual Pilgrimage." He told of his joining the Unitarian fellowship. In his talk, he said of Doctor Lawrence:

"I never heard a Dominican monk who could stir me more deeply than Dr. William I. Lawrence stirred me in the little chapel. We talked of the apostolic succession."

"I have been blessed by cardinals, by bishops and monks, both Catholic and Episcopalian."

"I have had all that the apostolic succession can give me, but I would exchange it all for the moment on this little pier when Doctor Lawrence came along, but his arms around me, and said, 'Bless you!'"

Doctor Lawrence, now nearing four score years, is minister of a church at San Jose, Calif.

Mrs. Joseph A. Scott has announced that the big open-air whist which she and Mr. Scott are to conduct at their home on Loring avenue Tuesday evening, Aug. 27, for the benefit of the Emblem Club charity fund, will be held in the event of rain on the following evening, Wednesday, Aug. 28, in Lyceum Hall. Many fine prizes have been donated for the event and because of its worthy object it is expected that a large crowd will attend.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

A team composed of Town Team, A. A. and Woburn City Club players, playing under the Winchester Town Team banner, lost an 11-inning 7 to 6 ball game to the Woburn Town Team last Sunday afternoon at Library Park, Woburn. The opposing pitchers were the veteran "Kiko" Weafer, ace of the Woburn Town Team staff, and "Olio" Lee, Winchester's kid right hander. Honors were about even, but Lee got his usual poor support, local errors being responsible for several of the Woburn runs. It may have just happened, but Lee was given plenty of new balls to throw up there while Weafer was invariably pitching a discolored sphere to the Winchester batters. At that the round right hander was hit harder than on any previous occasion this season.

Tuesday evening's twilight clash between the Winchester A. A. and the Boston Terminal team had to be called because of unfavorable weather conditions.

Officer John Hanlon of the Police Department began his annual vacation on Monday.

Timothy Callahan of the Street Department is enjoying his annual vacation.

Mr. Thomas Kean of Linden street is enjoying a two weeks' vacation at Buffalo, N. Y.

Miss Dorothy Smith of the Winchester Telephone Exchange underwent an operation for appendicitis on Monday at the Choate Hospital, Woburn.

Harold Elliott of Linden street continues to be a lucky fisherman. Visiting Gloucester last Sunday with a Winchester party, his 25 pound fish was the largest caught. Dennis McKeering had a 19 pounder for second prize.

A long line of motor busses went through the center Wednesday morning carrying the Woburn merchants, their families and friends to Rowes Wharf where an especially chartered boat carried the party to spend "Traders' Day" at Nantasket Beach. The fleet of busses was escorted to Boston by motorcycle officers of the Woburn Police Department. The city was literally locked up tight all day Wednesday.

The work of repairing the road bed on upper Main street where the old ice bridge stood was completed this week by Patrick Kenney and his repair men of the Highway Department. Superintendent of Streets Parker Holbrook was obliged to do some filling on the easterly side of the street before utility man James Noonan could erect the motor guard rails.

Miss Marion Dyson of the clerical staff at the Winchester Trust Company is enjoying her annual vacation.

Miss Margaret Lilly, clerk in the office of the Collector of Taxes, is enjoying a two weeks' vacation at Wells Beach.

The Winchester A. A. will play a return game with Division 58, A. O. U., on Manchester Field tonight at 8:30. These teams met in previous game on the Loring avenue playground and neither club was satisfied with the outcome. The Hibernians have strengthened their lineup considerably and expect to give the A. A. a real run for top honors.

BROKE HIP WHILE BATHING

Mrs. Charles E. Marstern of Madison avenue west suffered a broken hip while bathing in the heavy surf at Old Silver Beach, Falmouth, last week. She is now at the Cambridge Hospital.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Why Fight a Dying Cause?

If the prohibition cause isn't gaining ground throughout the world, why are the liquor interests organizing as never before to oppose it? If prohibition is the laughing stock of the other nations, as its enemies insist, why is the International League Against Prohibition massing all its forces and putting on a big campaign to prevent the progress of the dry movement? A decadent, failing enterprise does not call forth such active antagonism. A notoriously unpopular policy does not arouse such bitter resentment and vigorous opposition.

Note for instance the recent convention of the International League Against Prohibition that met in Copenhagen in June. Never had there been a bigger array of liquor dealers and their patrons and sympathizers, never greater efforts made to get all the countries to join the great combine to annihilate the prohibition idea.

Why is it that the drink interests of 13 European nations have united with a central office in Paris in a drive to make sentiment against prohibition, and even to carry the war into America by sending a representative over here to promote "temperance" in the interests of the wine growers of Europe?

Why is it that the drink traffic of the Old World is not adverse even to investing some of its money to help turn the tide against prohibition in the big republic that has had the temerity to outlaw the liquor traffic?

There can be only one interpretation of these attacks of the liquor forces of the Old World. They are desperately afraid of the "noble experiment" that had such a tremendously large following at the last election, and that as supported by a majority of both houses of Congress and a President and his cabinet. In its success they see the undermining of their business and its final overthrow.

Firemen Alexander W. MacKenzie and James L. Nowell, Sergt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Patrolman James P. Donaghey of the Police Department and Edward Cullen of the Winchester News Company were pleasantly surprised last week to receive individual gifts from Mrs. Caroline S. Fitts of Grassmere avenue in appreciation of the services rendered her son, Henry, and his friend, Truman Hemmway, on April 18. The two boys were taken from a sinking boat on Wedge Pond on that date by Firemen MacKenzie and Nowell, using the department's life saving boat. The police had been previously called but had been unable to assist the boys with the means at hand. Cullen was picked up by the firemen on the way to the pond and aided with the launching of the rescue boat. The boys were taken from the water in an exhausted condition and those who witnessed the rescue were unanimously of the opinion that it came in the proverbial nick of time.

Former Police Officer Robert J. White of 189 Forest street appeared in the District Court at Woburn Tuesday morning when he was held in bonds of $2000 for trial by the Grand Jury at the September session. White was arrested Monday by Officer John Regan of the Police Department on a warrant charging him with breaking and entering in the night

THE modern, high-compression, high-speed

motor demands an oil that will stand up under the excessive heat generated and will function as near perfectly as is humanly possible under the conditions prevalent in today's motors. The problem has been to secure in one oil the best qualities of the finest paraffine and naphthene crude oils. In our laboratories we have perfected a blend of lubricating oil made from two crude oils. It has advantages only to be found in a two-base oil. If you regard your motor with the affection you have for a favorite dog (as some of us do) you should at least try and note the results in performance and economy. Drive to the nearest Gulf dealer at the sign of the Orange Disc. Fill up your crankcase with the grade suitable for your car—then let your motor guide your choice in the future.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

The Board of Selectmen has received a letter from the Y. D. Veterans' Association, inviting the chairman of the Board to attend the dedication of the church, being rebuilt by the veterans at Belleau, near Chateau Thierry, France. The church is being rebuilt as a memorial to the members of the New England unit who died in France. (As Mr. Worthen has but recently returned from abroad it is not likely that he will accept the Y. D.'s invitation.)

Marriage intentions have been filed this week by William Edwin Clark of 219 Brattle street, Portland, Me., and Elinor Reed of 3 Sheffield West. Also by Oscar Gunnar Carlson of 378 Washington street, Woburn, and Ingrid Margaret Knutson of 14 Everett avenue.

Winchester now has 5608 registered voters, according to figures made public by Town Clerk Mabel W. Stinson yesterday. A year ago this time the figures were 4778. In February of this year there were 5950 registered voters in town, death or removal from town causing the present lower figures. One hundred and ninety voters moved from one voting precinct to another between April 1, 1928 and April of this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Parkhurst of Oak Knoll have returned to Winchester from a six weeks' European trip.

Mrs. Ethel Horn of Vine street, who underwent an operation at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital last week, is expected to return to her home today.

Mrs. Margaret Foley of Main street and her daughter, Miss Katharine Foley, sail from Boston today for a trip to Ireland. Mrs. Foley's sister, members of Sarah Curran Branch, I. N. E., visited her Wednesday evening, headed by Mrs. Nora O'Melia, and presented her with a purse of gold.

It is reported that Miss Louise Packer, Winchester's leading girl tennis player, has been forced out of recent tournament play by an arm injury. It is hoped that Dr. "Tommy" Richards, famous medicine man of Harvard football squads, will have her arm in condition to permit her participation in the nationals in September.

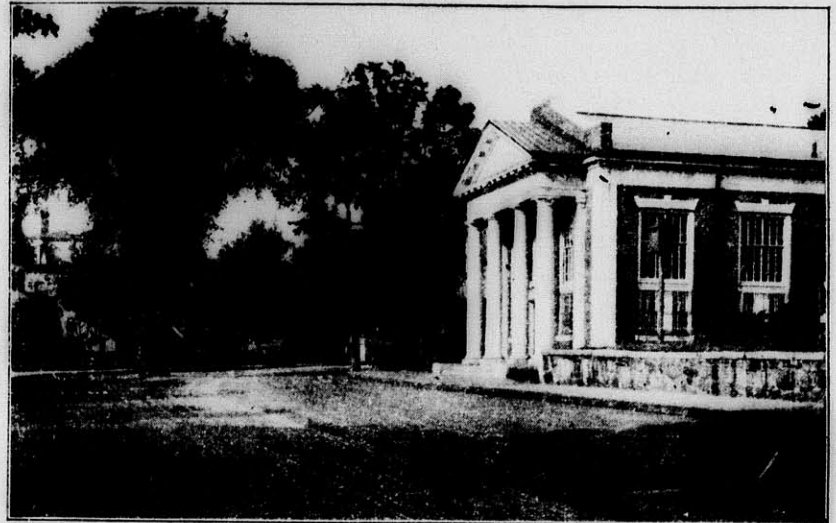

The police and firemen were kept busy last evening at the Italian celebration. It is estimated that the traffic officers had fully 12,000 automobiles to handle while the crowd was the largest ever. The Fire Department got a call shortly before midnight from the home of Charles S. Adams on Mystic avenue where burning paper had fallen on the roof. The ladder truck responded as Engine 3 and the chief's car were already in the vicinity for emergency purposes. A similar call was received from Mrs. Ada Pernin of Cutting street and in all the men had to go onto six roofs to put out burning debris. No damage was reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lawson and children of Bonad road are spending two weeks' vacation at Vermont and New Hampshire.

GRANADA THEATRE

"Noah's Ark," the long awaited epic of the flood, with talking sequences and a cast of over 10,000, headed by Dolores Costello and George O'Brien, will open at the big Granada Theatre in Malden tomorrow, Saturday. This picture will be played at the Granada for eight days including Sunday showings. The flood scenes in "Noah's Ark" are one of the greatest sights ever recorded on the screen. "Noah's Ark" is not a Bible story. It is true there is a certain amount of symbolism in it, showing how the heart of man has changed but little through the 50 centuries which intervened between the flood and the great war. The story begins just before the outbreak of the war and the victims of a train wreck, on reaching Paris find the conflict is on. Then they are carried into the tumult of the nations. At one point a bomb hits a building where they have taken refuge and they are thrown into the cellar. There a chaplain begins to tell them of Noah and the flood, and the scenes preceding it. The Vitaphone has been used most effectively in making this great spectacle. There are many passages of speech and symphonic accompaniment but the most tremendous role played by the Vitaphone is in the effects during the flood. These scenes are marvelous and account for the three years it took to get this picture ready for the screens of the world. Dolores Costello and George O'Brien do excellent work in both the ancient and modern episodes. Other well known stars who appear are Noah Beery, Louise Fazenda, Guinn Williams, Myrna Loy and Malcolm MacGregor.

Today for the last times the Granada will offer Adolph Menjou in his first talking picture, "Fashions in Love." Those who have admired Menjou in the past will be more than overjoyed to see him in this talking picture. Not only does Menjou talk but plays the piano and sings as well. The star is cast as a famous pianist who attracts all women with whom he comes in contact. His wife knowingly permits him to go his way until one affair threatens to wreck another home. Then she steps in and quietly and effectively brings hubby back to his own fireside. It is a clever picture with sparkling dialogues. Fay Compton and Miriam Seegar are the leading women.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Rising to a tremendous climax that will make most fans gasp, "The Flying Fool," an all-talking air drama starring William Boyd, which comes to the University for four days starting Sunday, is said to be one of the most thrilling and entertaining pictures yet produced. Although the story has an aviation background and though it reaches a great dramatic crescendo with a scene in the air it is not entirely an air story. It is a human drama which combines pathos and comedy played by a cast of capable actors which include William Boyd, Marie Prevost, Russell Gleason and Tom O'Brien.

The companion feature, "The One Woman Idea" is a romantic love story, during the unfolding of which a prince of Persia becomes divorced from the harem idea and is converted to the idea of one woman. The cast includes Rod LaRocque, Marceline Day, Sharon Lynn and Sally Phipps. Thursday, Friday and Saturday the program includes "Noah's Ark" and "Campus Knights."

"Noah's Ark" which is stupendous in conception, was more than three years in the making and includes in the cast over 10,000 extra characters. The story which was written by Darryl Frances Zanuck, touches those moments of cataclysmic power between which lie 50 centuries. The characters play their parts in the soul trying moments at the beginning of the 20th century and are wafted back to the days of Noah—to vast scenes of heathen debauchery—to the building of the Ark—the dark terror of rising waters which destroyed all but the family of the patriarch. The cast includes Dolores Costello, George O'Brien, Noah Beery, Louise Fazenda, Guinn Williams and Paul McAllister.

"Campus Knights" is a college comedy which involves situations that range from mild chuckles to wild hilarious laughs.

The Kant Klog salt and pepper caster sets are ideal for wet weather or at seaside resorts, only 25c at the Star office.

NEWS FROM CONOMO

Conomo Point larders being empty following week-end onslaughts by the sailors, Mayor "Charlie" Lane sounded the call to tackle and bait and a doughty crew of Conomo's experts assembled on the shore at Wednesday's break of dawn. Much to everybody's dismay the ancient smack which was to bear the fishing party lay prone upon the sand, where it remained for some hours, but came the rising tide and spirits rose as well. Meanwhile the raiders were augmented by several lusty youths of the Point who were confident of their usefulness to the party, and bolstered with more breakfast, all set sail in high anticipation.

Rumors spread that many tempting bits of garbage had been lately hurled from Rockport breakwater and the hills of Annisquam, and feeling that there the fish would congregate, rather than in the wake of the tin cans of Conomo Point, thither the skipper pointed his barnacle-covered craft. As Rockport came slowly into view the water was seen to be churned in all directions by the teeming hundreds of fish. These were all surface fish, however, such as mackerel and tuna and were disdained, as the Conomo party was out for more toothsome quarry, such as frequent the inner depths of the sea, fathoms below.

The Mayor and "Frank" Lane, Harris Richardson and "King" Cass reported good catches, including the w.k. cod, haddock, pollock and a large cusk caught by "Frank." We understand, however, that the youngest "guest" of the party caught the most fish.

As the vessel plowed homeward, creaking under the load, it was decided to raid the Rockport waters on the morrow, "Charlie" claiming that the day's catch was hardly sufficient to fill orders. So once again the boat was chartered, and this time the sturdy smack floated, but the crew slept. However, after strenuous blowing of fish horns and tinkling of alarm clocks the fishers finally squared away about high noon. But the casting was in vain on Thursday for the haul was mostly dog-fish, and as twilight stole across the surface of the sea, still more dog-fish, although the sailors whistled and chanted to keep up their morale on the homeward voyage. "Trader Horn" would have described the picture: "It may be imagined that, hearing the barks of the dog-fish, mingled with the sailors' chants, a goodly gathering of Conomoists flocked the wharves and quays, but when it was found that the fisher folk had only gathered ruffians of the sea, the villagers forewent the usual tossing in blankets, filled with honey and feathers and sent the sailors homeward with advice to go fishing only once a week."

Saturday afternoon saw all racing boats straining at the flag, awaiting "Charlie's" whistle (the gun being reserved for regattas and holidays). Ober Pride found the occasion much to his liking and finding the wind at every turn, romped home a full half mile ahead. [It is reported to our correspondent that he carried as crew one who was recently the subject of scathing remarks in these columns regarding his seamanship, but who since has been assiduously studying requirements for the continuous behavior of human ballast.]—Editor.

Sunday was rainy and marked with squalls, but as the clouds lifted around four o'clock, Skipper "Vin" Farnsworth could be discerned, feverishly unfurling sail in the offing. Cries went up and all leaped to the boats, eager for the fray. Among those from Winchester in the flotilla were Captain "Charlo" LeRoyer, Ober Pride, Harold Farnsworth and "Frank" Lane. Time passed, and as all bent to the final stretch, "Charlo" and Harold appeared in advance of the fleet, the score now standing sixteen tacks and six jibes apiece with no water shipped. As they neared the finish however, the Farnsworth boat fairly sprang out of water to take the lead and Harold received a life preserver in place of the usual laurel wreath, amidst prolonged cheering. It seems that "Charlo", due to boarding out on unfamiliar food, was not in the pink of condition, while Harold had the advantage of invaluable advice from his wife, Georgia, whom he had shipped as crew. The Conomo member of the Winchester School Committee is prevented from making yachting her avocation only by the

on the road in less than eight months!

Less than eight months have elapsed since the first Chevrolet Six was delivered into the hands of an owner—and already there are more than a million six-cylinder Chevrolets on the road! And the reasons for this overwhelming success are easy to understand.

Into a price field that had hitherto been occupied exclusively by four-cylinder cars—Chevrolet has introduced a six-cylinder car of amazing quality and value. Not only does it offer the smooth, quiet, velvety performance of a great six-cylinder valve-in-head motor—but, from every standpoint, it is a finer automobile than was ever before thought possible at such low prices! Its beautiful new bodies—which are available in a variety of colors—represent one of Fisher's greatest style triumphs. And its safety and handling ease are so outstanding that it's a sheer delight to sit at the wheel and drive. In fact, the new Chevrolet Six has completely changed every previous idea as to what the buyer of a low-priced car now has a right to expect for his money.

You owe it to yourself, as a careful buyer, to see and drive this car. For it gives you every advantage of a fine six-cylinder automobile—in the price range of the four and with economy of better than 20 miles to the gallon! Come in today!

WINCHESTER, MASS., FRIDAY, AUGUST 23, 1929

PRICE SEVEN CENTS

WINCHESTER A. O. H. WON FROM A. A.

Div. 58, A. O. H., of this town won its return game with the Winchester A. A. last Friday evening on Manchester Field, 7 to 5. The exhibition was poorly played and derived its chief interest from the enthusiastic rooting of a little group of A. O. H. supporters in the first base stands.

The "Hibernians" had a strengthened lineup with Desmond and "Tom" Duran of the Woburn Town Team playing first and third base respectively, "Jomma" Dolan of the Winchester Town Team at short and "Tom" Martin, ex-Town Team catcher, catching. Skerry and "Dingy" McManus did the hurling for the A. O. H. Club with "Art" Cail and "Jim" Fitzgerald doing the throwing for the A. A.

Cail had an off night and was hit hard, but big "Harpy" stopped the A. O. H. batters dead. Skerry and McManus were both the victims of poor support, "Jomma" Dolan having an especially bad night between second and third.

The last two innings of the game were played in the dark and it was more by accident than design that the boys did the right thing at the right time. "Joe" Mathews, who was playing the outfield for the A. A., injured his foot when he ran on one of the uncovered base spikes of the diamond.

The batteries for the A. O. H., Skerry, McManus and Martin; for the A. A., Cail, J. Fitzgerald and E. Mathews. Umpire, Gorman.

A. A. LOST TO WOBURN TOWN TEAM

The Winchester A. A. was nosed out in a 10-inning ball game, 4 to 3, last Sunday afternoon at Library Park, Woburn, by the strong Woburn Town Team. The battle was close and exciting all the way with first one club and then the other in the driver's seat.

Ronald Weafer of B. U. was in the box for Woburn while "Art" Cail, slim right hander from the tanning city, toed the slab for Winchester. Both boys pitched good ball but it must be admitted that Weafer got the better support. The A. A. lineup lacked several of its regular players and was not so strong as on many previous occasions.

The game was tied in the 8th, but in that frame Winchester went ahead. Dolan singled and went all the way home when McGah's poor throw to catch him stealing got away from Walsh in center field.

Woburn tied it in the 9th on Desmond's single, Lincoln's sacrifice and Weafer's single. The Town Team won in the 10th when Maroney was hit by the pitcher and went all the way to third on Shea's error on Duran's attempted sacrifice. "Tony" Colucci came through in the pinch with a one-shot to center and school was out. Batteries for Woburn, R. Weafer and McGah; for Winchester, Cail and E. Mathews. Umpire, "Steve" Colucci.

BASEBALL TOMORROW

Winchester Town Team, smarting under the 8 to 3 defeat administered by the Woburn Town Team last Saturday, will attempt to climb back into the win column tomorrow afternoon when "Dukes" Farrell's workmen will meet the strong Cadillac-LaSalle nine on Manchester Field.

The automotive team has visited Winchester before this season, engaging in a twilight game on the playground with "Mack's" A. A. outfit. Opinions seem to differ as to which club won the ball game on that occasion, but the Cadillac-LaSalle team was leading when the regulation seven innings were played and was in a fair way to sew things up for keeps when the battle ended in the first of the ninth frame.

Be that as it may, the game tomorrow will be no set-up for the Town Team and the fact that a Winchester boy, "Jim" Black, plays first base for Cadillac-LaSalle lends added interest. Manager Farrell expects to pitch big "Jim" Fitzgerald and if he does, the visitors will think a late 29 speedster is whizzing by their noses. James has the speed, and how!

WINCHESTER GIRL MARRIED IN NEW YORK

Miss Alice W. Chamberlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Chamberlin of Wildwood street, was married on Saturday last to Mr. Denis F. Lawton of 91 Beacon street, Arlington. The ceremony, which was private took place in New York City. The couple are now on their honeymoon in Canada. Miss Chamberlin is well known among Winchester's young folks. Mr. Lawton is manager of the Thayer, McNeil Company's Boston store, and is a well known member of the Medford Boat Club. They will make their future home in Melrose.

LEAVES SUNDAY TO JOIN MARINES

Clarence P. O'Donnell has returned to Winchester from a four day visit to Northfield, Vt., where he spent the past four years as a cadet at Norwich University. "Lead" as he is known to his many friends hereabouts, is leaving Sunday for the Marine Barracks at Philadelphia where he will be sworn into the United States Marine Corps as a second lieutenant. The Winchester boy made an enviable reputation as an athlete while at Norwich, captaining the football and basketball teams and being a member of the baseball team. He previously starred in all branches of sport at the local high school and Goddard Seminary where he prepared for college. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. O'Donnell of Swanton street.

CAPTAIN WOODS TENDERED RECEPTION

Popular Metropolitan Official Congratulated by Brother Officers and Maintenance Men

Captain Edward F. Woods, popular leader of the Metropolitan District Police in the Middlesex Fells District, was pleasantly surprised on Tuesday afternoon when he was tendered a reception by brother police and members of the Maintenance Department who gathered at his office on Forest street in Medford to congratulate him upon his appointment as executive officer of police and superintendent of maintenance and construction for the entire Metropolitan District. The district headquarters, in deference to the wishes of Captain Woods, has been transferred to Medford from its former location on the Charles River Esplanade.

Tuesday afternoon's party was a complete surprise to Captain Woods who entered his office to find it attractively decorated with flowers and crowded with representatives of both police and maintenance departments. After congratulating his superior upon his promotion, Lieut. Thomas G. Flowers presented the captain with a suitably inscribed gold watch, while the gift of the maintenance men, a fine merchan pipe, was presented by Superintendent Fred M. Allen of Highland avenue. Secretary William E. Whitaker of the Metropolitan District Commission was present and added his congratulations and best wishes to those already expressed.

Captain Woods, in his usual genial manner, thanked his associates for their kindness and expressions of good will. He is very popular, not only with his associates but with the general public throughout the district he serves. He has many friends in Winchester who will learn of his advancement with pleasure.

The new executive officer was appointed a patrolman in 1900 and a sergeant in 1914. In 1925 he was appointed captain, in charge of the Middlesex Fells Division, and following the death of Capt. Spencer Hawkins he has been acting captain of both the Fells and Revere Beach Divisions of the M. D. C. His appointment as executive officer dates from Aug. 8, 1929.

PAQUETTE—WARD

Rev. Fr. George H. Quigley was the officiating clergyman last Sunday afternoon in St. Mary's rectory at the wedding of Miss Catherine Ward, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick H. Rowen of 29 Richardson street, and Ernest Lionel Paquette of Newtonville.

Miss Ward was attended by Miss Gertrude O'Connell of Winchester as maid of honor and had as bridesmaids her cousins, Miss Mary Rowen and Miss Emily McGoldrick, both of Winchester. Herbert Bowers of Greenwood was best man.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white satin with a long lace veil caught with pearls and orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of cream colored roses and lilies of the valley. Miss O'Connell wore Nile green georgette with a picture hat to match and carried an arm bouquet of pink tea roses. The bridesmaids wore basque model frocks of pale yellow and peach taffeta with contrasting picture hats and carried yellow roses.

Immediately following the ceremony the bridal party motored to Framingham where the bride was greeted by her only sister who is a novice at St. Joseph's Convent. A reception for more than 100 guests was held at the Rowen home which was attractively decorated for the occasion.

Upon their return from a wedding trip by motor to points of interest in Canada Mr. and Mrs. Paquette are to make their home after Sept. 1 in Newtonville.

The bride is widely known here, having been graduated in 1926 from St. Mary's High School. She is a member of St. Mary's Alumnae Society and has appeared in several of the dramatic productions staged by St. Mary's young people.

Miss Katherine Shultis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shultis of 14 Winthrop street still continues in her position as Baybird racing instructor. Miss Mary McGargle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McGargle, is a counselor in training, assisting mainly in sailing and in land sports. Dorothy Friend was elected this year as a Quanset Trusty which means that she has some privileges and some responsibilities which give her training for future positions as a sub-counselor and counselor. She sails and instructs the sailing and is a good camper.

Frances Poirier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Poirier, is spending her first year at Quanset. She has proved a good all-round camper. She has won her "Sharple" and Baybird honors which admits her to the Daughters of Neptune. Also she came in first in the tennis finals over girls who were older and had been in camp longer.

Miss Judith Reed, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. G. H. Reed, who is not yet 12, is also spending her first season at Quanset. She has played the bugle and done well in sailing and swimming.

Miss Mollie Mulrenan of 26 Oak street and Miss Winifred Gilman of Everett are spending a week with Miss Gilman's grandmother at Manchester-by-the-sea.

NEWS FROM CONOMO

Conomites have this week been rather quiet and inactive in preparation for the big clam bake to be held Saturday evening. Ober Pride, who has undergone a rigorous system of fasting, pointing toward the great event, reports himself in perfect condition and complete readiness for anything and everything which may come his way.

Frank Lane has been in Buffalo for a week but is expected back for the bake. It is whispered that he needed to recuperate after being made a Knight of the Roasted Puppy at a strenuous initiation ceremony performed after the baked bean supper last week-end. Harris Richardson has been in Vermont attending Old Home Week.

"Pete" Pitman, "King" Cass and Herbert Fitz, the water dogs of the colony, are taking private swimming lessons to be ready for any emergency in the Saturday and Sunday races. Pitman is getting his instruction for form, as it is reported that he "can" swim and goes in every day, but never further than his kneecap.

Herbert Fitz can really swim, but it is said that he is most desirous of acquiring the knowledge necessary for handling a sailboat in a good stiff breeze. With this in mind he stayed at Conomo one day last week in order to put into practice the information then in his possession.

Sartorially correct, or in other words, "all dolled up," in a blue serge suit, lavender tie, Panama hat and tan shoes, with a silk handkerchief stylishly draped from the breast pocket of his jacket, he headed for the wharf with sail on his shoulder, thinking to step the mast in his boat, a Swampscott dory, moored to the dock.

With all the confidence, courage and anticipation of every man who aspires to be a sailor he carefully lifted the sail, putting the base of the mast through the hole in the thwart. This was easily accomplished, but in so doing Fitz missed the bottom hole, and the dory, evidently failing to appreciate this sort of seamanship, began to back away.

After failing in his attempt to make a "hole in one" Fitz, however, had firmly impressed upon his mind the one sine-qu-non of the sea-faring man, "Don't Give Up the Ship." He didn't, and we admire his courage, for true to his convictions, over he went, suit, tie, Panama, handkerchief "and everything."

Coming to the surface and clearing his eyes of water, he glanced about and saw no one near him. Quietly but with great celerity he made a break for home and was successful in avoiding most of his Conomo neighbors. Our correspondent, however, was looking through a nearby cottage window and as they say in the "heavies" saw it all.

Apparently Henry Spencer's delving into nautical tomes has had excellent results, for last Sunday his newly acquired information enabled him to outditch Frank Lane in a race characterized as a "Three White Cat Fight." Henry claims our correspondent's statement that he has to be the only skipper to finish in a race in order to win is without foundation, and last Sunday's "cat fight" would seem to bear out this contention.

TOWN TEAM LOSES CAPTAIN

Manager James E. Farrell of the Winchester Town Team received yesterday a letter from team captain Walter Whitaker, stating that the latter will be unable to continue at his second base position during the next few games because of an injury to the arches of his feet. "Whit" who is a real veteran, pulled up lame a couple of weeks ago, but because of his love for the game and his liking for Winchester continued to play, despite considerable pain. After last Saturday's game he consulted a specialist and was advised to lay off for a while. The former Tufts pitching ace has been playing well for the Town Team and hitting the ball hard. His long bat and baseball brains will be greatly missed during the hard games to come. Winchester has had a soft place in its heart for Whitaker since the days when, as a high school kid, he pitched the Town Team to many a hard-won game on Manchester Field. The fans of the town join in wishing him a speedy recovery from his ailment.

CHARLES F. CHURCH DEAD

Word has been received of the sudden death on Thursday, Aug. 15, of Mr. Charles F. Church, a former well known resident of this town. Mr. Church, who was 83 years of age, died at South Welfleet. The remains were cremated and the ashes interred in the family lot at Swan Point, Providence, R. I.

Mr. Church lived in Winchester for many years. For a long period he was baggage master at the B. & M. railroad station, and later was employed by the local Board of Health. He was a brother of Dr. Benjamin T. Church, long a prominent physician of this town and now residing in Brookline.

GOOD KINDLING WOOD

A subscriber writes to inquire why the STAR has not called attention to the good kindling wood in the cellars on Main street where buildings have been razed. Without further inquiry, the STAR suggests that as these buildings have been sold by the Town, the purchaser probably has this wood to dispose of. Possibly if the subscriber is interested, he can make a deal with the owner thereof.

Miss C. M. Edleeson, who formerly made her home at 62 Church street, is now located in Cambridge at 73 Martin street.

WINCHESTER AND ARLINGTON TENNIS MATCH HALTED BY DARKNESS

The Old Colony League match between the Winchester Tennis Association and the Arlington Heights Tennis Club played last Saturday on the latter's courts, had to be terminated without a winner when darkness put an end to the pivotal match which was to decide the tournament.

The teams battled on even terms all the way, every set being stubbornly contested and arousing the greatest interest.

Singles matches were halved, Murphy and Sharp winning for Arlington while Freeburn and Gamage came through for Winchester. The deciding set of the Gamage-Buzzell match was one of the longest played this season, 34 games being necessary before the Winchester boy was returned a winner, 18-16.

"Doc" Priest and Freeburn won the number 2 doubles match for Winchester, but the local number 3 combination was defeated by Patriquin and Wells of Arlington.

The number one doubles match was to decide the tournament. Excitement ran high as Riley and Gamage of Winchester took the first set at 6-1, only to have Murphy and Dow pull out the second, 6-3. The teams battled through in see-saw fashion until with the score at 12 all darkness halted the play.

It is likely that the match will be played off on Sunday, Sept. 1.

The summary:

Singles
Murphy, Arlington Heights, defeated Thompson, Winchester, 3, 6, 4, 10-8.
Freeburn, Winchester, defeated Dow, Arlington Heights, 4, 6, 6, 3, 6-5.
Sharp, Arlington Heights, defeated Riley, Winchester, 7, 5, 6, 3.
Gamage, Winchester, defeated Buzzell, Arlington Heights, 8, 6, 18, 16.

Doubles
Riley and Gamage, Winchester, won first set, 6-4; Murphy and Dow, Arlington Heights, won second set, 6-3; third set, 12-12, when called by darkness.
Priest and Freeburn, Winchester, defeated Sampson and Sampson, Arlington Heights, 4, 6, 6, 3, 6-3.
Patriquin and Wells, Arlington Heights, defeated Gardner and Kelley, Winchester, 8, 6, 6-0.

UNION SERVICE IN BAPTIST CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY

Winchester is truly fortunate in having Rev. Grady D. Feagan as the preacher at the Union service in the new Baptist Church for the next two Sundays.

Rev. Mr. Feagan is a native of the South and formerly was the pastor of the First Baptist Church of Macon, Ga., achieving a wide reputation throughout the South. On coming North, he first became the pastor of the Baptist Church in Lowell and in 1928 he was called to become the pastor of the First Baptist Church in Arlington. Since coming North he has been very successful in his pastorates and has also been very much in demand as a speaker on religious subjects. For four years, he was dean of the conferences held for young people at Northfield. He is regarded as having one of the keenest minds in the Baptist denomination.

The service will be at 10:30 and opportunity will be given to look over the new building.

FIELD DAY AT LORING AVENUE PLAYGROUND

Plans are rapidly maturing for the second annual Field Day at the Loring avenue playground.

The field day will be held next week Friday and besides the tennis, sports, games and doll carriage parade in the afternoon, it is hoped to hold a tennis tournament for the grown-ups on Thursday and Friday evenings to decide the champions of the district. It is also planned to have a quits contest and a baseball game on Friday evening.

The various events will be announced later. Entries for the sports may be made to Supervisor Harold T. Donovan. For the tennis, entries may be made to Miss Margery A. Poland, tennis supervisor.

Mrs. Elizabeth C. McDonald and a capable committee will serve as judges and starters.

WINCHESTER BOY WON CADDY CROWN

"Phil" Fahey of Hutchinson road, son of the Winchester Country Club's greenkeeper, Thomas F. Fahey, won the caddy championship of Massachusetts, Tuesday at the Country Club with a morning medal of 78 and an afternoon round of 89. His 36 hole aggregate of 167 gave him first place by a margin of 3 putts.

Having a champion in its midst is no new experience for the Fahey family, "Phil's" older brother, "Tommy," having won the title two years ago at Commonwealth.

The younger Fahey's win on Tuesday was a real triumph for accuracy over distance and his round of 78 was an amazing feat for a stripling, having difficulty in getting 175 yards with his tee shots. It should also be remembered that The Country Club course is the hardest the caddies have been called upon to face. "Phil's" ability with his putter stood him in excellent stead and he really should have had a 77 for his morning round since on his home green his putt for a three went into the hole and out again. He was at his best in the morning before the strain of leading the field caused his game to grow over cautious.

The other Winchester caddy to participate, James Carew, finished well up in the long list of entries, having rounds of 98 and 81 for an aggregate of 177.

Fahey's cards follow:
Morning
Out 4 5 2 5 5 6 5 6 3-41
In 5 4 4 5 4 4 3 4 4-37-78
Afternoon
Out 4 5 5 5 5 5 5 5 5-44
In 5 4 6 6 4 5 4 5 6-46-89

CHASE—CROCKER

The marriage of Miss Frances Vivian Crocker, daughter of Ernest Clifton Crocker of Morrison avenue, Somerville to Edwin Farnham Chase of Commonwealth avenue, Boston, formerly of Somerville, took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester P. Leathers, 50 Lloyd street, this town, on Saturday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Rev. Thomas Bruce Bitler of the Prospect Hill Congregational Church of Somerville, performed the marriage ceremony. Mrs. Forrest D. Lang of Woburn played the wedding march.

The bride was attired in white satin and carried a bouquet of pink butterfly roses and larkspur. She was attended as maid of honor by Miss Lillian Watson of Brookline, who wore blue chiffon and carried pink tea roses. The ring bearer was Master Harry H. Leathers, 2nd., of this town, who wore a white broadcloth suit. The best man was Charles L. Hildred of Somerville and the ushers were F. Russell Briggs, Charles R. Hildred, both of Somerville; Lester P. Leathers of Winchester and Mr. R. H. Trafton of Boston. The home was prettily decorated with hydrangeas and gladioli.

The reception followed on the open porch during which the couple were assisted in receiving by the bride's father, Ernest C. Crocker and the bridal party including the ring bearer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin F. Chase left on a wedding trip to New Hampshire and Maine of two weeks and upon their return will live in their recently purchased home at 19 Buena Vista road, Arlington.

The bride is a graduate of Falmouth High School and Massachusetts General Hospital and has had charge of the Amphitheatre of the Massachusetts General for the past six years. She is a member of Ivaloo Rebekah Lodge of Somerville. Mr. Chase is an electrician on Newbury street, Boston, and is a member of Oasis Lodge and Ivaloo Rebekah Lodge of Somerville.

TO INSERT FIREWORKS' ARTICLES IN WARRANT

As the result of repeated complaints from residents of the town living near Manchester Field and other protests, some from outside Winchester, the Selectmen last Monday, after hearing reports from the Chiefs of the Fire and Police Departments, decided to insert two articles in the warrant for the next annual Town Meeting.

One article is to determine if the Town will adopt any by-laws, relating to the sale or use of fireworks or firecrackers within the Town or limit the time within which fireworks and torpedoes may be used.

The second article is to determine if the Town will make rules and regulations relating to the display of fireworks on Manchester Field.

SELECTMEN DECLARE WAR ON STARLINGS

Acting upon several complaints from householders the Selectmen held a hearing last Monday evening to discuss ways and means of dispersing numerous flocks of starlings which have picked the trees bordering Wedgemere avenue as roosting places to the extreme annoyance of those living nearby.

The starlings have visited Winchester on previous occasions when various means of driving them away, including the use of fire hose and fireworks, have been employed with indifferent success.

This year, after setting the date for the hearing, the Selectmen communicated with the State Department of Agriculture and also with the Department of Agriculture at Washington to see if some effective means of coping with the feathered pests could be suggested.

Considerable literature was received and it seemed to be the opinion of both State and National authorities that the best way to drive the birds away was by shooting at them with shells, filled with black powder to make the loudest possible noise. This information was communicated to those attending the hearing last Monday and it was unanimously decided to employ this means to rid Wedgemere avenue of the birds.

Accordingly on Wednesday evening, promptly at 6:30 a police firing squad under the command of Chief William R. McIntosh and including Sgt. William H. Rogers, Patrolman William Cassidy and Motorcycle Officer Edward O'Connell, took themselves to Wedgemere avenue and seated themselves upon the curbing to await the arrival of the Starlings.

As the first bird went to roost in the trees at the Church street end of the avenue the police opened fire with their riot guns and continued to blaze away until after 8 o'clock, covering both sides of the street for its entire length.

The clouds of birds driven from the trees beggars description. The sky was literally black with them and often a tree apparently free of the starlings would send a flock of 100 or more into the air.

Some 200 of the birds were killed as the police fired 175 shells into the branches, but it was the noise and smoke of the shells, not the slaughter, depended upon to drive away the pests. Two hundred dead had as little effect upon the flock as taking a dipper of water from lower Mystic.

A large crowd was attracted by the firing and out-of-town motorists, believing another exhibition of fireworks was in progress, began to park their machines at points of vantage.

The police stood by their guns and will continue to stand by them for the next four or five nights in a determined effort to rid Wedgemere avenue of its unwelcome and unsavory guests.

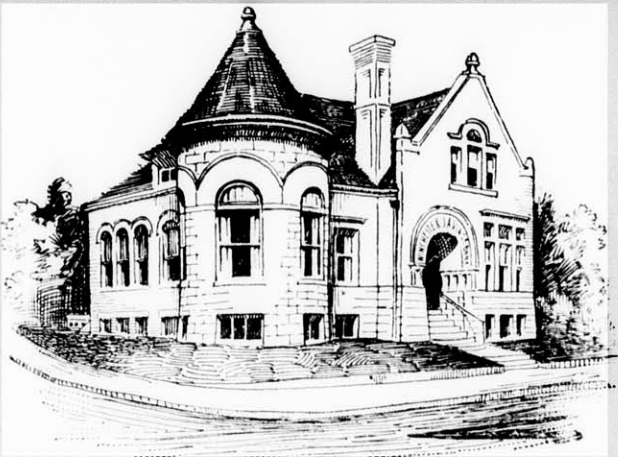

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Downing was locked up at local headquarters, but was later admitted to bail. In court Monday he asked for a continuance and his request was granted by Judge Morton.

ORPHEUM THEATRE

Using the Pacific Ocean and the Southern California beaches and amusement piers as location, "Two Weeks Off" is, as its name indicates a story of summer romances and beach flirtations. It is a picture that deals with every day people in every summer vacation recklessness. It stars Jack Mulhall and Dorothy MacKail and is the current feature showing at the Orpheum Theatre, Malden. It is the story of a romantic young girl and a plumber who is mistaken for a movie actor. A splendid supporting cast includes Gertrude Astor, Eddie Gibbons and Kate Price. The second feature on this most interesting program is another absorbing episode of the new serial, "The Final Reckoning," starring Buffalo Bill, Jr. "New Year's Eve," the feature picture coming to the Orpheum for the first three days of next week is a comedy drama of life on the fringes of the underworld. It is the story of a penniless girl of the tenement district, vainly seeking a job to support herself and a small brother who receives one hundred dollars when she restores a valuable pocketbook to a young millionaire. Before she can return home the money is stolen by a pickpocket and in desperation she seeks a loan from a wealthy gambler. The gambler's loan, however, has conditions attached to it and in the ensuing complications there is excitement aplenty, resulting finally in happiness for all concerned. As a girl who runs the emotional extremes from delicious comedy to tense drama Mary Astor handles a difficult role remarkably well and Charles Morton gives a most satisfactory portrayal of the young millionaire. "Streets of Algiers," the second feature on this program is a sensational expose of a modern traffic in women's souls. Camilla Horn is starred in this absorbing drama.

Patrolman John Hogan of the Police Department was a busy man last Sunday night, being called upon to quell two disturbances which occurred on his beat in the north end of the town. The first trouble took place shortly before 7:30 Sunday evening on upper Main street and the second, at 2:30 Monday morning on Clark street. No arrests were made.

PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES

The public schools will officially open on Tuesday, Sept. 10, with professional meetings held by the Superintendent of Schools on Monday, Sept. 9. The opening is a little later than usual. The committee changed the date to accommodate a large number of parents during Labor Day Week. They strongly urge that every child who expects to enter the public schools, enter promptly on Sept. 10, both for the pupils' interest as well as for the teachers'.

Pupils to be admitted to the kindergarten must be five years of age on or before Jan. 1, 1930. If there are parents who believe that their children may have advanced more rapidly mentally than their age would indicate, they may arrange with the office of the Superintendent of Schools, tel. Win. 1780, for a special mental test which will be given at the Superintendent's office on the following dates: Sept. 5, 6, 7, 9 and 10.

The office of the Superintendent of Schools will be open during the month of August from 9 to 12 in the morning and from 1:30 to 4:30 in the afternoon, and on Saturdays from 9 to 11:30. au23-2t

Patrolman James E. Farrell of the Police Department took into custody Saturday night on upper Main street Paul C. C. Rix of Woburn, against whom the authorities lodged the charges of driving without license or registration and driving without owning a license. In the District Court at Woburn Monday morning Rix was found guilty by Judge Jesse W. Morton and fined $5.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Vice fattens on concealment.
Real friends come to light in the hour of darkness.
A high wind does not stoop to low purposes.
Prominence may result from popularity—or notoriety.
Be always contented but never satisfied.
Prominence based on injustice is never permanent.

Perhaps those persons who view with envy the piles of kindling wood in the abandoned cellars of the houses recently torn down on the new park land on North Main street might try their hand at removing it. "Nothing venture, nothing have." Probably the erstwhile owner would be glad to see it removed.

Local motorists owe the Winchester Chamber of Commerce a large vote of thanks for the part it played in getting South Border road in the Falls put into usable condition. For some time this stretch of road, which extends from the Mystic Valley Parkway near the Boy Scouts' headquarters to Forest street in Medford, has been in miserable condition despite the fact that it is one of the most attractive and practical drives hereabouts. Individual efforts to have the road improved met with little response from the State authorities, but the local chamber was able to get almost immediate results. The road is a great convenience to many in Winchester as well as a source of pleasure to those who enjoy driving through wooded country. Its return to good condition will be generally acclaimed and constitutes another good job done by the Chamber of Commerce.

Apparently the pollution of the Abington River by factory waste from Woburn tanneries is to come to something approaching a show-down with the filing of bills of equity by the State Department of Health through the attorney general's office, enjoining the John J. Riley Company and the Crescent Leather Company, both of Woburn, from using the waters of the stream as an outlet for their waste. The successful prosecution of the cases will give the two concerns no alternative than to move unless some other feasible outlet for their sewage can be found. The dumping of factory waste and sewage into the Abington by Woburn tanneries has long been a source of annoyance to residents of Winchester, and especially to those living near the river the stench of chemicals and refuse animal matter has constituted real grounds for complaint. This stench, of course, has been increased by the influx of local sewage which it has been necessary to pour into the river to relieve the periodic inundation of the center, due to inadequate trunk line sewer conditions below the town. Now with the new trunk line to eliminate this evil well along toward completion and with the local Board of Health and Waterways Committee engaged in a general clean-up of the town's streams and ponds, it is highly desirable to prevent pollution of the Abington before its waters arrive in Winchester. Woburn's late attempt to solve the pollution problem by the construction of a sewer to serve the Crescent Leather and Riley shops proved ineffective when the sewer built was not acceptable to the Metropolitan system. Efforts are being made by the City of Woburn to borrow under the special sewer act the necessary funds to repair the line so as to have it sanctioned by the State authorities. The city has been busy pumping out the rejected sewer and expects soon to have it in condition to invite bids for its reconstruction to meet Metropolitan requirements. Meanwhile residents of Winchester and State health officials will await the outcome of the suit against the Crescent and Riley shops with interest which is wholly untinted with malice. No one desires to cause the manufacturers any inconvenience, but the present disgusting condition of the Abington should not longer be tolerated.

Appropos to the work which the local Board of Health is doing to clean up the town's waterways, an assistant engineer of the State Department of Health, who recently visited Winchester to make a survey of Russell Brook with reference to its pollution by certain Woburn tanneries, in connection with his work here visited the several factories in question to see what could be done about ending the trouble, now that the brook has been cleaned up by the Winchester authorities. In every instance the representative of the State was assured that the tanneries would stop dumping their sewage into the stream. This is a long step in the right direction and goes far toward assuring the local Health Board and Waterways Committee that the work being done upon the town's streams and pond is to be of lasting value. In connection with the suit which the State Board of Health is instituting against the Crescent Leather and John J. Riley Companies of Woburn, enjoining the factories from polluting the waters of the Abington by using its waters as an outlet for their waste, a State engineer was in town Tuesday, getting the opinions of local citizens upon the matter of the out-of-town pollution. This official is to continue his researches and will confer with others in town from time to time.

AMAZED AT CRITICISM

To the Editor of the Star:
I was amazed to read in last week's issue of the "Star" a criticism of our Park Department in its care of the playgrounds.

As a student of municipal affairs I have often wondered at the almost superhuman work that is done every year by Mr. MacDonald and the men of his department, an insufficient force, who are required to care not only for the public parks and playgrounds but also have many other duties that require earnest attention. The Loring avenue playground is beautifully kept and receives the best of attention. The tennis courts, though new this year, are fast rounding into shape and are improving rapidly. And the sand-box and its awning cover are in as good condition as when the field opened in the early summer.

The depredations of which last week's writer speaks were probably committed after hours when the supervisor had left. Surely the Park Department is not responsible for the mischief which unprincipled people perpetrate in a malicious spirit. The department puts things on the fields in shape—it is up to the districts to help the Park Department—not by criticism, but by a constructive interest.

In our district when a swing was broken we citizens of the district obtained the offender's name and gave it to the police. And when you make a boy pay for his mischief he hesitates before he repeats. This year we have had no damage of any kind.

And after dark we take an occasional walk over by the playground to be sure that all is well.

The children are so interested in the courts that little tots five years old will report an outsider who attempts to play tennis with heels on his shoes.

There is only one draw-back to our fine playground—that is the uneven condition of the ball field. It has never been graded and in a field that caters to as many as a hundred ball players on a warm summer evening, this is a serious defect. However, we know that this will soon be remedied, for no group will deny that which contributes to the training of youth. And in the Loring avenue playground the investment in health, training and community spirit could never be adequately estimated in dollars and cents.

All this would not be possible without the far-sightedness of the Finance Committee which has always been ready to help this investment; the Park Board whose interest is so vital; the work of Superintendent MacDonald and his efficient men; and lastly the virile interest and constructive backing of the citizens of Precinct 6.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Richard Barthelmess again registers a talking picture hit with "Drag," his new starring feature which opens at the University for four days starting Sunday. Following "Weary River," Barthelmess has done another dramatic portrait in "Drag." It presents him as a young married man whose struggle to make a position for himself and to achieve a modicum of happiness is thwarted by a family of "in-laws" who live upon him and drag him down. The ending of "Drag" is tuneful and colorful when "The Love Prince" a musical play, is introduced as the work of the hero. The supporting cast is headed by Lila Lee, Alice Day, Lucien Littlefield and Katherine Ward.

The companion picture, "The Fall of Eve" is a hilarious mirthquake of errant husbands and suspicious wives. Seldom has there been such brilliant comedy talent as there is in the cast including Patsy Ruth Miller, Ford Sterling and Gertrude Astor.

Lewis Stone, who in the past year has played many outstanding roles of the screen is the hero of "Wonder of Women" which comes to the University for three days starting Thursday, with sound synchronization and dialogue. The story, tense in its human interest plot, depicts the life and loves of a temperamental German composer, who although he adores his wife, cannot resist the charms of other women. There is pathos and tragedy in the play as well as humor and romance.

The companion feature is "Protection," a newsreel melodrama, featuring Dorothy Burgess, Robert Elliott and Paul Page.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Mrs. Margaret Cummings of Mystic avenue with her daughter, Miss Edith Cummings, her son, George B. Cummings and Miss Ruth Ambrose of Vine street are expected to return to Winchester Sunday from a two weeks' motor trip to Niagara Falls, through New York State, along the St. Lawrence River and through the White Mountains.

The Fire Department answered three calls Wednesday. At 10:30 a. m. Engine 3 went to Arlington to cover in for a call at You-Say. At 2:55 p. m. the men were called to put out a fire which was discovered in a house at 46 Vine street, owned by Thomas Quigley, Jr. of Lake street. The fire which had started in the cellar under the stairs was caught in the nick of time by the firemen, just as it was threatening to assume alarming proportions. At 4:40 in the afternoon the watchman in the tower at Waltham notified the Central Station of a fire near the Winchester-Lexington line. Upon arrival the men found a resident of the district, burning hay.

FIREWORKS

To the Editor of the Star:

As residents and property owners in the vicinity of Manchester Field, we feel that we are entitled to some consideration in the matter of using the field twice a year for bombing exhibitions. As long as the fireworks consisted of the beautiful display pieces and a reasonable number of aerial rockets without the heavy bombs, we enjoyed the exhibitions as much as anyone.

As the exhibitions are now staged they constitute a tremendous fire hazard.

Last Thursday night there were as many as five houses at one time with large blazing embers on them, and the fact that it has taken a considerable force of firemen to control the situation is evidence enough that this vicinity is being subjected to a fire hazard which sooner or later can have but one ending if allowed to continue.

The Fire Chief has stated that if a fire should start in any of the houses on the narrow streets in the vicinity of the field on which parking on both sides is allowed, it would be impossible to get the fire apparatus through and the house, or houses, would simply have to burn. Even on those streets on which only one way parking is allowed, the work of the department would be greatly hampered.

After Thursday's exhibition it was discovered that some fire insurance men from out of town had been quietly making observations, and expressed themselves as being totally unable to understand how any town could be so blind to an evident fire hazard as to allow any such exhibition to be staged at such close quarters to a thickly settled residential district, and if such a disregard of fire hazards is allowed to continue it will surely result in a substantial increase in fire rates for Winchester. If it results in such an increase it will effect all of the citizens of Winchester.

After the exhibition on the night of Aug. 15 it was nearly 12:30 before the firemen had ceased climbing over the roofs of residences in this vicinity and were able to leave the scene. The yards and roofs were cluttered with a vast amount of debris, and altogether we believe that no section of the town should be expected to undergo this danger twice a year to provide amusement for anybody, and it is safe to say that 80 per cent of the crowd that witnesses these exhibitions are not residents of Winchester.

To quote from the Star of Aug. 16, 1929, "The police and firemen were kept busy last evening at the Italian celebration. It is estimated that the traffic officers had fully 12,000 automobiles to handle while the crowd was the largest ever. The Fire Department got a call shortly before midnight from the home of Charles S. Adams on Mystic avenue where burning paper had fallen on the roof. The ladder truck responded as Engine 3 and the chief's car were already in the vicinity for emergency purposes. . . . in all the men had to go onto six roofs to put out burning debris."

Each year the bombing has become greater in intensity and to again quote from the Star, "The finale included . . . no less than 250 eight-inch bombs and lasted fully five minutes." It has done considerable damage to ceilings and walls in scores of houses in the vicinity of Manchester Field, and we have borne the brunt of this state of affairs for many years. The present form of fireworks exhibitions should not be wished on any section of this town, and although Leonard Field has been mentioned as the only possible substitute location for staging an exhibition, we do not feel that the exhibitions as now staged should be permitted in any built up locality.

On several occasions delegations of citizens have waited upon the Board of Selectmen to get relief in this matter. A year ago we were promised by the Board that the exhibitions would be modified, but the result was a competitive exhibition between two fireworks companies held shortly afterwards for a cash prize, that was a positive outrage to those whose homes were in this vicinity. Members of the Board of Selectmen acted as judges.

Under Chapter 48, Section 53, of our General Laws, are set forth certain duties of Fire Department heads with respect to regulations about fireworks, the allowing of ignited materials, and conditions which cause a feeling of alarm that a fire hazard exists.

We have been recently informed by a Selectman that the Board issues no permits for the use of Manchester Field for fireworks exhibitions, that the only permission obtained is from the Fire Chief, as the field belongs to the Metropolitan Commission. We would, however, call attention to the license executed in 1905 for a period of 99 years, among other things sets forth that the right is vested in the Town of Winchester (Board of Selectmen) to make special rules and regulations for the use of the field as the Town of Winchester may deem expedient.

In addition to the fire hazard and the damage to property as a result of the bombings, there is another phase that of health, and many cases can be cited of nervous breakdowns caused by the terrific bombings that have had to be endured. In cases of severe sickness it is only by chance that the end has not been hastened or caused by the tremendous nervous strain that the patient has to undergo.

In the interest of fair play, the possible prevention of loss of life and great destruction of Winchester property, we appeal to the Board of Selectmen, the Fire Chief, the local Park Board, and to the fair minded citizens of Winchester, to remedy a situation that is fraught with danger to hundreds of their Winchester fellow-citizens.

FROM MISS KNEELAND IN WINCHESTER ENGLAND

Chernock Private Hotel
Winchester, England
July 30, 1929

Dearest family:
Here I am in Winchester, Old England, for a whole week, and my thoughts fly across the 3000 miles of water to my friends in Winchester, New England. When father and I stopped here for an hour last spring, I made a vow I'd return to this charming old town, and linger in the shadow of its lovely cathedral and walk down the old streets, bordered by their lovely rose gardens, where the old houses with their uneven and red tiled roofs add more color to the charming picture. Winchester was the ancient capital of England and its kings were crowned here until the time of Edward the Confessor.

The bones of Canute and Egbert and other Saxon kings lie in mortuary chests over its lovely chair screen, and Alfred the first king of Briton has a magnificent statue in the shadow of its old abbey ruins. It is full of history, and romance and antiquity.
As you wander into the lovely old Norman cathedral, built 800 years ago and look down the longest nave in Europe, (556 feet) at rows of beautiful perpendicular early English columns and arches, you see the kings you have always loved walking up its aisles, and coming back here until the time of Henry the 8th, to visit this wonderful cathedral and town. The north and south transepts are pure Norman and their lovely arches, round and gleaming white, do not show the passage of time.

I shall always think of Winchester Cathedral as unique (among all the cathedrals I have seen this trip) for its beautiful length of arch and columns, uninterrupted and majestic and its wonderful chancery. Within their gothic masterpieces lie the sculptured marble effigies of the bishops of the early 12th and 13th centuries. Even Cromwell's soldiers had some respect for many of these and although poor St. Swithun's golden tomb was totally demolished and other poor bishops were decapitated as they lay in state by Cromwell, many are still as beautiful and fresh in coloring and their lace work marble canopies, as perfect as if built yesterday. Among these lie Isaac Walton and Jane Austin, loved and venerated.

Winchester has an atmosphere of its own. Nowhere else have I found such kind and enthusiastic guides to show you places they really love. They do not treat you as tourists but friends who appreciate with them the glories of England's past. Every stone is loved here, and one feels instantly at home. Down the street from my quaint old hotel is the God Begot house, given by Queen Emma, wife of Canute to the cathedral. It is still used as an inn and its quaint brown timbers are bent and picturesque.

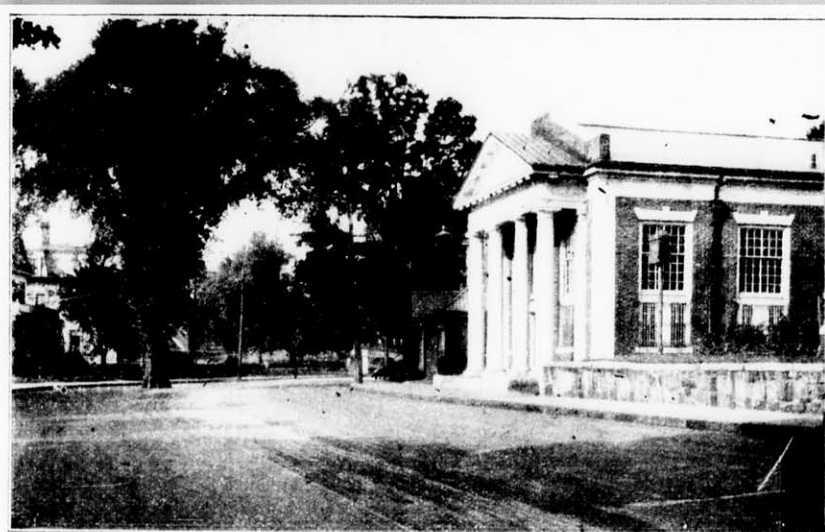

Nearby is Winchester Castle, used as a Parliament house (only the hall is still standing, for hundreds of years. Judge Jeffries held his bloody Assizes here and poor Charles I was condemned to death here. On the wall hangs King Arthur's round table. This tradition has been from the 13th century and even in old song and story this enormous picturesque table was alleged to have been the table of Arthur and his 24 knights. We are fair to believe it, anyway, since visiting Tintagel and gazing at the glorious ruins of Arthur's castle perched high on the beautiful wild high crags rising hundreds of feet above the blue ocean of Cornwall.

I wish you could wander with me through the narrow streets and close of the abbey, where the vines climb over the charming ruined cloisters and close by the dean's old house, is a beautiful Roman mosaic pavement fringed with lime trees. You see these Roman, Saxon and Norman remains everywhere.

It is a joy to browse in the past and feel you have time in this quaint old city, to forget the hectic sightseeing and the mad rush we Americans live in and just wander by the charming Itchen River and let the quiet and peace and thoughts of the past rest your soul.

I feel that to end my English trip of three months in Winchester is a fitting end to a delightful trip and one that I shall always remember when I return to new Winchester.

Affectionately your sister,
Elizabeth

P. S.—Today I visited old St. Cross, where since the 11th century a foundation of indigent brethren, under the old charter, have lived in the most charming and historical surroundings. Any one who calls at the Porter's Lodge will receive a horn of ale and a piece of bread. This custom still exists and it was great fun to test it out. And the beer was not bad.

Apple Cakes Poisonous

The average individual would think that no harm could arise from a cargo of apples; the sailor knows different. The gases they give off are highly dangerous in a confined atmosphere, and apples—harmless apples—spell death to the man who is imprisoned in the hold with them. As a matter of fact, seamen have lost their lives from this apparently innocent cause.

Impressive Contrast

An instrument made from the wings of a common housefly (the sort children are encouraged to swat) is employed at the Mount Wilson observatory in California to measure heat radiated by stars millions of miles from the earth. A shred of fly's wing as the receiving end of a 100-inch telescope presents the maximum of contrast.—World's Work.

Propagating Olive Trees

Olive trees are propagated either from twig cuttings, sprouts or truncheons of old wood set in moist ground, or from gnarled, woody buds that form near the base. Such plants begin to bear in seven to nine years and yield crops either annually or in alternate years. The maximum yield is from trees about thirty years old.

Honor Is Delaware's

Delaware was the first of the 13 original states to ratify the Constitution, Rhode Island being the last.

Dangerous Cargo

Rice has to be elaborately stowed on shipboard, pierced by runways raised from the hold bottom on dunnage wood, and under all circumstances kept water-tight, even though the ship is awash with heavy seas on every deck. What is going to happen to 5,000 tons of rice in a closed compartment once it gets wet is fairly obvious!

Languages in Mexico

The Mexican embassy advises that of the 14,000,000 people living in Mexico, 12,000,000 speak Spanish. Fully 50 per cent of those speaking Spanish read and write it as well. The remaining 2,000,000 speak a dialect and in this group very few read or write either Spanish or their dialect.—Washington Star.

Care of Linoleum

To keep linoleum in good condition rub it with linseed oil once or twice a year, during spring and fall housecleaning.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

A plumber's helper here in Winchester assures us that a lipstick never improves a girl's taste.

Some Winchesterites fall for water sports and yearn to go to bay resorts. Where juicy boys of several sorts are actively indulged. Well listen, friend, remember this: That roving is anything but bliss. That's one delight you'd better miss. Than have your backbone bulged. The Paragrapher gives this timely warning. Don't be a boob and try to row. A lead of girls an hour or so. And taint such labor cheers. In time they'll weigh a ton apiece. And chatter on like silly geese. While you, poor soul, sweat robs of grease. And shorten life by years.

The Winchesterite who can't be an aviator has only to rise to the occasion and that will mean a lot.

A Winchester fellow of our acquaintance who married for dollars has now found that he lacked sense.

Some folk here in Winchester speak of "sick" headaches as if all of them did not make a fellow sick.

Almost every Winchester boy can think back with pride to the first cub cigarette he ever smoked.

Assuredly, the happy day will eventually come when there will be no such thing as railroad crossings in Winchester.

More than a wrist watch is needed to make a Winchesterite aristocratic.

Some people in and out of Winchester will not believe that money talks until they have heard it say farewell.

Wonder what Chief of Police MacIntosh has to say of the statement by a leading medical man that having intoxicating liquor in one's possession is better than having it circulating among the digestive organs.

All members of the Star staff expect a reward in the Great Beyond, but certainly have no objection to receiving some of it while upon this mundane sphere.

"To spank a child is to confess your own failure as a parent," declares a woman magazine writer. Wonder if she is an old maid. A lot of children in Winchester just naturally need spanking.

Has the Star been following you on your vacation.

We know a narrow-hipped woman here in Winchester who has a very broad mind.

Let the Winchesterite cover with roses every mile he runs. And thus forget the rocks that fate has sown. Along the pathway of the fated plan. That the Winchesterite perhaps has chosen for his own.

At least one Winchester fellow realizes that he was born of poor because honest parents.

Winchester married men are natural inventors—of excuses.

One Winchester boy's ambition is to wear a shirt as large and fancy as dad's.

If you do not believe that some men here in Winchester suffer from loss of memory lend them money.

"A Star reader" sends in a "poem." We had a feeling as we read it that we had seen the contribution before somewhere, but as it is such good stuff and "Star reader" has a reputation for honesty we take a chance on it:

Speak roughly to your Pegasus
And beat him if he wheezes;
Real poetry is serious
And humors are diseases.

Too smart a pace requires the bit.
No quirt or quip let fall!
And if he put his foot in wit
Your Pegasus will sprawl.

According to a well known Winchesterite, fool friends do more harm than some enemies.

Seen in a Winchester telephone booth: A flapper powering her nose when she stepped up to the phone to talk to her pet sheik.

One advantage of living in a big city instead of a town Winchester's size, is that a fellow can carry his arm around in a sling without having every individual in town asking him how he hurt himself.

Those Winchesterites who are always wishing for the good old days, ought to try reposing on a corn shuck mattress, popular in the Winchester of 1880.

How many of us remember when all Winchester grocers kept a barrel of kerosene in the back of the store and most of the groceries caught the flavor?

And when we had pull door-bells, consisting of a glass or crockery knob, or a plain or ornamented one of brass or iron (matching the door knob), with a bell attached ringing in the rear of the house.

Or when Winchester ladies wore "horseshoe" bonnets?

The world in the blackest hour known to recorded history was never half so dark as it seems to the Winchesterite who is trying to cut out tobacco.

The years pass by so swift Winchesterites
Can but sigh—
Or smile, and say, "Hello, good-bye!
Good-bye!"

WADSWORTH WON AT TEDESCO

"Charlie" Wadsworth of Winchester, a Harvard sophomore, came through to win the junior boys' singles title in the final round of the North Shore Junior Tennis Championships at the Tedesco Country Club, Swampscott, last Saturday. The local boy won his crown by defeating William Porter of Egypt, a Rivers School boy, whose win over Nat Niles, Jr. had made him a top heavy favorite for titular honors. Wadsworth was forced to battle for his crown, the scores of the match being 6-4, 4-6, 10-8.

In the final round of the boys' doubles Porter teamed with Nat Niles to defeat the Winchester combination of Wadsworth and "Hup" Wallis, 6-4, 7-5.

Winchester secured another title in the championships. Helen Bidwell pairing with Nat Niles, Jr. to win the final match in mixed doubles from Betty Pope of Manchester and William Porter. The scores were 8-7, 7-5.

William Regan of Russell road narrowly escaped electrocution in Malden last Saturday when a steam shovel which was being towed by a truck he was driving came in contact with trolley wires while passing under the overhead bridge of the B. & M. Railroad at Pleasant street in that city. The short circuit melted a section of the wire which broke and fell across the top of the truck cab, occupied by Regan. There were plenty of electrical fireworks and undoubtedly the Winchester man put in several anxious moments while waiting for the circuit to be opened at the power plant switchboard. This done he was able to escape without injury, but it was some time before wrecking crews were able to extricate the steam shovel so that vehicular and electric traffic could be resumed.

KINDRED—O'LEARY

A wedding of interest here took place in Arlington last Sunday evening when Miss Nora Catherine O'Leary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick O'Leary of 26 Park street, Arlington, became the bride of Edmund Wolcott Kindred, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Kindred of 608A Main street. The ceremony was performed in St. Catherine's Church by the Rev. Mathew Flaherty.

Miss Mary Catherine O'Leary of Arlington was her sister's attendant and Mr. Kindred had for his best man Harold J. Fitzgerald of Winchester. The bride wore a gown of white crepe de chine, her veil being caught with lilies of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white roses. Her sister wore orchid crepe de chine and carried lilies of the valley and sweet peas.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Upon their return from a wedding journey through New York Mr. and Mrs. Kindred will reside in North Woburn at 11 Waide street.

Traffic was badly interfered with until a repair crew removed the limb from the wires.

NASH "400"

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

AN UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY

Reductions on new NASH "400's" as high as $300

NASH, in reducing prices last week on 1929 Nash "400" models, gives you a golden opportunity to save as much as $300 on your new car.

Only a limited number of these "400" models are available at these prices. The prices on 1930 models, when announced later this year, will be higher than the "400" prices which have prevailed prior to this price reduction.

Here is a real opportunity—now you can have one of these finer motor cars at a price you would ordinarily pay for one much less desirable.

And just compare them to any competitive car now being offered. You will find these cars still far ahead in style and engineering excellence. These are the cars with the Twin-Ignition motor, with Bijur Centralized Chassis Lubrication, with outboard mounted Houdaille and Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers, with the World's easiest steering, and with many other equally advanced and desirable features.

And, at the reduced prices, these Nash "400's" are fully equipped, exactly as at the former prices, with chromium nicked bumpers front and rear, spare tire lock and tire cover. Nothing more to buy except a spare tire.

CAMP WINCHESTER

The third week of camp finds the Winchester Boy Scouts a happy and enthusiastic party. Four new boys, Richard Elliott, Bernard Gaffney, Leonard Notemeyer and Gerald Gaffney arrived last week-end and the camp family now numbers 51 persons. The special trips this week are to the Belfast Fair and to Camp Passagasy with whom a game of baseball has been arranged. Five boys left camp today on an overnight fishing trip under George Philbrick's leadership.

The contest between the Hawks and the Eagles is very close. The score is Eagles 141, Hawks 138. These figures include everything except the points to be awarded for Scout tests passed.

Albert Gaum, Robert Nason and Walter Burns have been promoted from the beginners to the regular swimming class.

Ivan Hackensen passed the camp canoe test this week and is therefore eligible for the next canoe trip.

Next week's events include a trip to Fort Knox, the field and water sports, and the final banquet.

Tung Oil Valuable

United States imports of tung oil amount to approximately $15,000,000 annually, all of it coming from China. This oil is an important ingredient in the manufacture of high-grade varnishes, being the only known constituent of varnish which makes it resist heat and water.

The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken. "Noah's Ark" has two distinct stories linked together. The picture starts just before the World War and shows the American Army in action. During the destruction of a town a company is buried by a shell. While imprisoned the chaplain tells the story of Noah and the action flashes back 50 centuries. The modern version with dialogue closes the story.

Merely Idle Stories

There is no authentic record of a cross between the human race and lower animals of any species whatever. According to the Smithsonian Institution, numerous reports of crosses between human beings on the one hand and apes, bears, dogs and other animals on the other have invariably proved groundless when investigated by competent scientists.

Symbols of the Taoist

Upon many Chinese panels are depicted the leading Taoist symbols. A crane soaring over a pine tree is emblematic of endurance and longevity. A deer indicates dignity and wealth, while the unicorn Killin is the emblem of perfection that appears only at the birth of a virtuous ruler.

Battery Failures are Costly

Neglected batteries often fail suddenly. Sometimes they can be repaired or recharged—most times a new battery is necessary. These battery failures are always inconvenient; however, they can be prevented or postponed by regular battery inspection—say, once a month.

We expertly repair all makes of batteries. We sell Exides because of their exceptionally long service—dependable power—and reasonable price.

Hot Oven... Cool Kitchen
You can hardly tell when this oven is turned on full

It doesn't matter how hot your Insulated Glenwood oven is inside, or how long you leave it on for whatever you are cooking... Even if you stay in the kitchen all the time your AutomatiCook is keeping the oven temperature at full baking heat, you will hardly know, three feet from the range, whether the oven is lighted or not.

Think what a difference such a range would make in the temperature of your kitchen this summer... Think how much more comfortable you would find it after you'd been off all the morning while your AutomatiCook was getting Sunday dinner for you.

Made in all the popular styles and sizes

AMENDMENT TO BUILDING LAWS
Town of Winchester, Mass.
Adopted at Town Meeting on March 25, 1929

Voted, that Section 90 of Division 28 of the Building Laws, relative to plumbing is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof the following:

"Lateral branches shall include vertical branches and combined lateral and vertical branches but no vertical section of any branch shall exceed ten feet in length."

Section 193 of said Division is hereby amended by striking out said section and inserting the following:

Section 193. The waste pipe of every independent fixture shall be furnished with a separate trap which shall be placed as near as practicable to the fixture which it serves. An independent sink shall be connected, through a one-half S trap not less than one and one-half inches in diameter. A sink and set of not more than three adjoining wash trays shall be connected with the house drain through a one-half S trap not less than two inches in diameter, except that a four inch round trap may be used, with the approval of the Plumbing Inspector, in houses constructed prior to the effective date of this amendment. Four washbowls or sinks in a continuous line may be connected with the house drain through a two-inch one-half S trap. Lead bends for water closets or slop sinks shall not be used to connect the waste with other fixtures. All water closets shall be connected with the drainage system by a flange that shall make a permanent water-tight, gas-tight, self-testing joint, provided, however, that water closet fixtures already installed may, unless defective, be relocated in the same building. A trap depending upon a concealed partition to retain its seal shall not be approved, except for earthenware fixtures where the trap seal is plainly visible. Trap screws for cleaning purposes shall be placed in all metal traps and shall be accessible at all times. All fixture traps shall be so installed that the water seal will protect the trap screw from the sewer air, except that side screw traps installed with the cleantout in the lower part may be inverted when approved by the Plumbing Inspector."

Section 195 of said Division is hereby amended by striking out the figures 24 in the third sentence and inserting in place thereof the figures 30 so that said sentence will read: "Traps of S form shall not have more than 30 inches of waste pipe from trap to vent."

Section 197 of said Division is hereby amended by striking out the first sentence in the second paragraph and inserting in place thereof the following:

"No water closet shall be set other than in a bathroom or toilet room unless permanently enclosed from floor to ceiling, except that water closets may be installed in laundry rooms in basements if enclosed to a height of five feet from the floor but not within one foot of the ceiling; and every such bathroom, toilet room or laundry room and every such enclosure except in laundry rooms shall be provided with adequate light and ventilation either by an unobstructed window opening directly to the open air, at least two square feet in area, or by a ventilating shaft suitable in the opinion of the Plumbing Inspector."

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of an amendment to the Building Laws, being By-Laws and Regulations relating to Building, Plumbing, Wiring and Gas Fitting, adopted by the Town of Winchester, Mass. at an adjourned session of the Representative Town Meeting of March 13, 1929, held on March 25, 1929 and approved by the Attorney General of Massachusetts on August 12, 1929.

NAVY RED SOX TO PLAY HERE
TODAY

Manager "Bill" Gibbons of the Winchester "Hibernians" announces a real baseball attraction for tonight when the A. O. H. club will play the Navy Red Sox team at 6 o'clock on the Loring avenue playground. The game is being played in connection with the second annual field day at the North End, home of big things and enthusiasm.

The Navy Red Sox are a real attraction. They have appeared twice in Winchester this season, winning verdicts over both the Town Team and the A. A. They are holders of the "Jack" Sharkey cup, emblematic of the baseball championship of the First Naval District, and are much in demand by semi-pro managers everywhere.

Only the fact that the game was being run for the benefit of the "kiddies" induced the athletic officer at the Navy Yard to change his policy of "no more twilight baseball" and permit the snappy sailors to play here tonight. As an added attraction the service men will bring along a band of 20 pieces, the members of which will play a concert program commencing at 5:30.

Manager Gibbons had to assure the Navy athletic authorities that the game would begin promptly at 6 o'clock and those who wish to see the whole battle should be at the field before that time.

SMITH AND BARTON WON FOUR BALL MATCH

R. L. Smith and E. T. Barton were winners of the Class A four-ball, one-half handicap golf match played at the Winchester Country Club last Saturday afternoon. Their card of 68 was three strokes under the score of P. F. Avery and J. P. Carr who finished second.

RECEIVED TELEPHONE MES-SAGE FROM BROTHER
THOUGHT DEAD

Wednesday evening while Joseph A. Scott of Loring avenue was assisting his wife with the many details attendant upon the Emblem Club whist, being staged at his home, he was literally astounded to receive a telephone call from his brother, George T. Scott, whom he had believed dead for the past 25 years.

The last named, who now makes his home in Philadelphia, called the Scott residence from Portsmouth, N. H., whither he had gone to seek out the old Scott family home and discover, if possible, the whereabouts of the members of his family. He had believed that Joseph was dead and was delighted beyond measure when his chance telephone call united him with his brother.

George had not learned of the death of his brother, Captain Francis A. Scott, who died in action in France, nor had he heard that another brother, Patrolman Mark A. Scott, had died at Waterbury, Conn., about two years ago.

Time was all too short for the two brothers with the telephone between them, and arrangements were made for George to visit Joseph at his home this week-end. The two men met for the first time in 25 years last evening at 7 o'clock in the North Station. George of course wanted to know all the family news and learned that a brother and sister are now living in Lynn with another sister, making her home in Virginia. He planned to get into communication with them at once.

To get back to the whist. It was a great success and was staged out of doors on the lawn at the Scott home. More than 80 electric lights furnished plenty of light for the 32 tables of whist while bridge and forty-five were also enjoyed. In all, 78 prizes were distributed, many of them being unusually handsome.

Guests were present from West Roxbury, Cliftondale, Lynn, Stoneham, Burlington, Arlington, Woburn and Winchester. Mr. and Mrs. Scott were assisted at the whist by Mrs. Caroline Coakley, Mrs. Bernice Gorman, Exalted Ruler "Ben" Cullen of Winchester Lodge of Elks and Mr. and Mrs. John F. McCarthy.

MRS. BLANCHE COMER
WILLIAMS

Mrs. Blanche Comer Williams, widow of William Williams and known to many among the older residents of the town, died Monday, Aug. 26, in the Lawrence Memorial Hospital, Medford.

Mrs. Williams was 54 years of age and was born at Omaha, Neb., the daughter of John and Mary (Comer) Witnell. She came from Omaha to Winchester 18 years ago and had lately made her home at 31 Everett avenue with her sister, Mrs. Douglas Graves.

Funeral services were held at Mrs. Graves' home on Wednesday afternoon and were conducted by the Rev. William S. Packer, acting rector of the Church of the Epiphany. Harlowe Hovey of Wakefield sang "Lead Kindly Light" and "Abide With Me." The bearers were Charles A. Burnham, Arthur A. Kidder, John Marston, Cutler B. Downer, George R. Townsend and Allan N. Wakefield, all of Winchester. Burial was at Mt. Auburn.

An Appreciation
The sudden passing of Mrs. Blanche C. Williams on Monday came as a shock to her many friends. She was of a quiet and retiring personality, yet never a day passed that she did not do some kind deed for a friend or neighbor. Her quiet humor brought sunshine to all. Sweetness and strength of character, unselfishness, dependability, and great understanding were hers. An example of the highest type of loyalty and devotion, her loss will be keenly felt.

Mr. Thomas F. McCall of Main street, well known to most of Winchester's residents as a former Eastern Massachusetts switch tender in the center, was badly shaken up as the result of a fall on Mt. Vernon street in front of the Central Fire Station. He was taken into Police headquarters by Firemen Alexander MacKenzie and Edward Fitzgerald and treated by Dr. Arthur L. Brown. He was found to be suffering largely from a severe shaking up and was taken to his home by Chief William R. McIntosh.

Yesterday's alarm from Box 38 shortly before 11 o'clock in the forenoon was for a fire in the home of Salvatore Marchesi, 6 Holland street. The fire did little damage but there might have been serious consequences had the heat exploded two boxes of cartridges discovered with a large carton of torpedoes under the stairs of the house. The cartridges and torpedoes were taken by Chief David H. DeCourcy, to be submitted to Fire Marshal Neal at the State House as Marchesi had no license to store explosives.

NEWS FROM CONOMO

Lightning struck at Conomo Wednesday night, doing no damage worth recording, but playing havoc with a brilliant game of hearts in progress at the cottage of "Frank" Lane. The bolt struck a near-by cottage and the crash aroused simultaneously in the minds of all present the thought that their own family roof tree had been laid low.

There was a general exodus of the male element of the party, led by "Pete" Pitman (who left his better half in a state of extreme excitement) "King" Cass, Harris Richardson and Henry Spencer. As the line of march squared away up the street in the pouring rain it was easily apparent that Pitman was leading by a substantial margin. The Mayor of Conomo, "Charlie" Lane, slept peacefully through the entire electrical storm and found it hard to believe that a bolt of lightning had entered one of the cottages of his bailiwick, run down an electric cord, and lately attached to an iron, and left by way of the sink drain pipe.

The maid who had been ironing promptly swooned and had to be revived by volunteer, but expert first-aid.

Two mishaps befell the colony last Sunday. After taking the crowd to the beach "Frank" Lane suffered the loss of his outboard motor, the same falling from his boat in the channel while on the return trip. The resignation of "Charlie" Lane as official scavenger permitted the duty of dragging for the motor to devolve upon Harris Richardson who in his capacity of Selectman, ought to have some first-hand knowledge of this intricate art anyhow. Harris and other unannounced volunteers worked hard all week, but at last reports "Frank's" motor was still A. W. O. L.

The second mishap was of a physical nature and befell "King" Cass while he, with Harris Richardson, "Pete" Pitman and "Frank" Lane were playing Good Samaritan and pushing a stalled "flivver" from the impassable sand of "Wingersheet" Beach. "King" is known to be an A-1 pusher and last Sunday he pushed so hard he became incapacitated. It was at first thought he was badly hurt, so much so that "King" went into a huddle with several medicine men. Later reports, however, are more reassuring, though it is not expected that the invalid will be in condition to act as ballast for the week-end racing.

Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, Jr. and Mrs. Franklin Flanders have been visitors at Conomo this week while playing in the Women's Invitational Golf tournament at the Essex County Country Club. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rummel and Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Symmes were week-end guests.

The "Three Wise Men of Conomo," Mayor Lane, "Vin" Farnsworth and Edwin Pride, have burned much midnight oil of late attempting to formulate a plan for a community house at the point. Thus far the Star correspondent has been unable to learn how far their confabs have carried them toward the consummation of their scheme.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

The double blade racing boys are working this week for the Labor Day week-end races at Lawrence which are to be held this year on the Merrimack River instead of at Canobie Lake. Philip Hight and Alan Hovey are freshly returned from Canada and the international races, and are in the "pink" of condition. Even if neither of them did take a first place at the American Canoe Association races of Sugar Island, they had an opportunity to watch and take part in some mighty fine and close races. There is no doubt that the race in which Roy Nourse, the Canadian champion and "Red" Hann of the Charles River "O. D.'s," fought it out neck and neck, for the full distance, with "Red" winning by two feet, will always stand out in their memory. "Ernie" Riedel, of the Pendleton Canoe Club, is also a man worth watching and taking pointers from. Given up by doctors and specialists as having too weak heart to race, he keeps right on and is away out front in all his races. In the 15-mile marathon run in very rough water, he entirely lapped the field of 16 paddlers on a mile and a half course. He is truly a marvel.

The races at Lawrence Labor Day should help prepare the Winchester paddlers for the Worcester meet which comes Sept. 14 and 15.

On Saturday, Sept. 7, the last Club regatta of the season will be run. It is hoped a number of those who are interested in, but who do not regularly race, will be on hand and take part in the novelty events which are fun for all. Special features have been arranged. Also outboard motor races are on the program.

The first fall club dance will be held on Friday evening, Sept. 6. Everything is in order for a good dance. Friends of the club are welcome and it is hoped that members will avail themselves of this opportunity.

ROTARY CLUB OF WINCHESTER

The months of July and August impose a heavy burden on our Club in the matter of attendance. It is the season of vacations, and while Rotary Clubs, as such, never indulge in vacations, many Rotarians do.

Fortunately our members absent from home for the most part are sufficiently loyal to the Club to attend other Clubs. In this way we have been able to maintain a fair percentage. Nevertheless, we take great pleasure in welcoming the wanderers as they return, and we expect a marked improvement in our attendance record from now on.

President Roscoe was in the chair today as is his wont, and many of those present can testify to the fact that he was "feeling fine." Vice-President Loring acted as song leader in place of "Doc" who will return next week. We note that the Club still excels in musical as well as in social harmony.

There was no formal speaker at this meeting. President Roscoe gave a summary of the attendance record of our District for the month of July and read excerpts of general interest from the weekly letter of our District Governor.

Adjournment to Sept. 5.

FUNERAL RITES FOR MRS. MARGARET T. LAWTON

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret T. Lawton, widow of Dennis Lawton, was held on Saturday, Aug. 17, from her late residence, 31 Pond street. A solemn requiem high mass was celebrated in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Rev. George H. Quigley was celebrant, Rev. Fr. Conrad J. Quirbach was deacon and Rev. Fr. Nathaniel J. Merritt, sub-deacon.

George Bogard and Burton C. Caldwell of Winchester, Frank B. Welsh of Medford, John Myott of North Andover, Thomas Hennessy of South Lawrence and Meddie Chaffin of Lowell were bearers. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Father Quirbach.

The men of the Tree Department were called Wednesday to burn a huge yellow jacket hornets' nest at a Fletcher street residence. The younger George Lizotte did the burning with a long pole while George Lizotte senior attended to pressing business in the cemetery and "Tom" Gaine went over to inspect a tree on Cambridge street. Superintendent "Bill" Nicholson was "in conference" at the Town Hall during operations.

NATHAN THUMIM

Former Commander of Winchester Post, A. L., Elected District Delegate

At last week's Legion convention, held in Newburyport, former Comdr. Nathan Thumim of Winchester Post, 97, was elected district delegate to the National convention of the American Legion, to be held early in October at Louisville, Ky. Mr. Thumim's district will include, besides Winchester and Woburn, Somerville, Arlington, Stoneham and Everett.

Quite a little delegation of Winchester Legionnaires were at Newburyport, attending the endless rounds of business and pleasure combined in the city ruled by the fiery "Bossy" Gillis. Comdr. W. Allan Wilde, Adjutant Robert Hamilton and G. Warren Johnston were the post delegates to the convention with Newcomb Bacon, Fred Mitchell and Nathan Thumim, attending as alternates. Other local Legionnaires including Conrad Larson, Roy Nelson, Morris Reebenacker, Russell Carroll and Anthony Cullen.

The meeting of the post to be held at its headquarters on Washington street Thursday evening, Sept. 12, is of extreme importance in that nominations for new officers will be made at that time. The reports of the carnival and other committees will also be read. A large attendance is anticipated and it is hoped that every Legionnaire will make an especial effort to be present.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

In the last few weeks the general press has recorded the closing down of several big breweries, notable among them the famous "Hell Gate Brewery" of New York City, in anticipation of the day one of the most successful of beer manufacturers. It is said that the heirs of the owner have been holding on to the property in the hope that the law might be modified and "real" beer again be legally made, but finally they gave up all hope of this happening, and ordered the brewery torn down.

The Bartenders' International League which through all the years since the 18th Amendment became the law of the land has continued to maintain its organization now announces, according to the Associated Press, that it has decided to bow to the dry law and change its name and become the "Beverage Dispensers' International League of America."

According to Emanuel Kovelskie of Rochester, N. Y., international representative of the Bartenders' League to the American Federation of Labor, "the old time saloon bartenders still are tending bars, but as soft drink and soda jerkers, so in the interests of accuracy we are changing the name. In New York we still call them bartenders' unions, in Missouri they are beverage dispensers' unions." He then is quoted as making this significant statement. "But in such States as Kansas we don't even have an organization any more."

Rant and rave as the opponents of prohibition may, thoughtful observers of the signs of the times note that the old order is changing in the matter of the traffic in drink as in other things. The dealers in liquor have every reason to be discouraged in expectation that there will be a return to the "good old days" when it was legal to make and dispense intoxicating liquors. Prohibition is here to stay, and more and more the intelligent element of society will outgrow the idea that alcoholic beverages are a necessity, or indeed, to be tolerated.

DOUBLE HEADER LABOR DAY

Town Team and A. A. Play Third Game Tomorrow

Winchester baseball fans face a busy week-end with three good games scheduled for the diamond on Manchester Field. Tomorrow afternoon the Town Team and the Winchester A. A. will meet for the third game of their series, two battles of which have already been won by "Dukes" Farrell's ponies.

The game will be called at 3:15 and "Connie Mack" announces that he will have a strong team on the field to work behind the pitching of "Art" Cail. Farrell's lineup will be substantially as above, though "Tony" Colucci will probably play second instead of Whitaker and the pitching selection is yet to be announced.

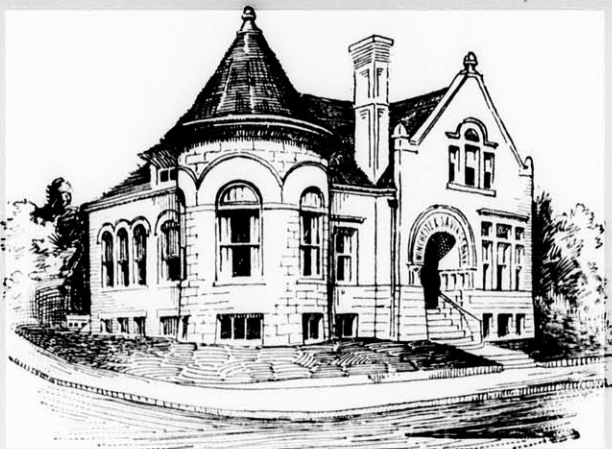

Labor Day forenoon the Town Team will entertain the crack Woburn Town Team on Manchester Field and after dinner will meet the same club at the same place. The morning game between the two teams had been scheduled for Woburn, but a conflict there shifted the meeting to Winchester.

"Olio" Lee will work the morning game for the locals with "Joe" Mathews pitching the night-cap. Manager McGah has promised to send the veteran "Kiko" Weafer out to oppose "Guzzo" in the afternoon. Morning game at 10 o'clock. Afternoon game at 3:15 sharp. "Crib" Conlon will umpire.

WOBURN C. C. WON FROM WINCHESTER A. A.

The Woburn City Club won the rubber game of a three game series from the Winchester A. A. last Sunday afternoon on Library Park, Woburn, the score being 6 to 2. "Cossy" McEleneey, veteran left hander, pitched for Woburn against "Art" Cail, slim right hander of parts, who tolled for the A. A.

The score does not entirely tell the story of the game. McEleneey was hit much harder than the figures indicate but gilt edged fielding by "Brad" Coates and "Tony" Colucci coupled with the same very timely outfielding kept the local score from mounting.

Miss Anna C. Danforth's five-year-old gelding, "Boots," won the H. Holton Crowell silver cup, emblematic of supremacy among the saddle horses over 14.2 hands at the fourth Cohasset Horse Show last Saturday. Miss Danforth's entry, ridden by George Tirell, outclassed a field composed of 18 brilliant horses, among them Miss Elizabeth Loring's "Vanity," Miss Mary Fuller's "Runnymede" and Miss Virginia Tolman's "Sir Amber." "Boots" came fast on the last turn to canter away with the huge silver trophy, the highest honor the show afforded.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Parents, appearance counts. Have your children's hair cut before school opens. Thirty-five years in Winchester. Expert service. Sullivan's Barber Shop, Lyceum Building.

We met on Tuesday in the center "Charlie" Flaherty, one of the finest backstops ever to work on Manchester Field and formerly catcher for Lynn in the old New England League. "Charlie" has been in poor health for several years and it is only recently that he has been able to leave the yard of his home on Cedar street. He reports his condition as somewhat improved. This will be good news to his many friends, both in Winchester and out-of-town.

PUBLIC SCHOOL NOTES

The public schools will officially open on Tuesday, Sept. 10, with professional meetings held by the Superintendent of Schools on Monday, Sept. 9. The opening is a little later than usual. The committee changed the date to accommodate a large number of parents during Labor Day Week. They strongly urge that every child who expects to enter the public schools, enter promptly on Sept. 10, both for the pupils' interest as well as for the teachers'.

Pupils to be admitted to the kindergarten must be five years of age on or before Jan. 1, 1930. If there are parents who believe that their children may have advanced more rapidly mentally than their age would indicate, they may arrange with the office of the Superintendent of Schools, tel. Win. 1780, for a special mental test which will be given at the Superintendent's office on the following dates: Sept. 5, 6, 7, 9 and 10.

The office of the Superintendent of Schools will be open during the month of August from 9 to 12 in the morning and from 1:30 to 4:30 in the afternoon, and on Saturdays from 9 to 11:30. au23-2t

While passing the Shell Gasoline Filling Station on Main street in the center last Friday forenoon, Mrs. Catherine A. O'Connor of 19 Kendall street slipped upon the sidewalk and fell, breaking her wrist. A truck had been delivering gasoline to the station and some of the liquid had been spilled upon the sidewalk where Mrs. O'Connor slipped. She was treated by Dr. Richard W. Sheehy.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The Legislative Committee, in response to many requests, will start a course in parliamentary law in the early fall. The course will consist of 10 lessons, and will be given on Wednesday mornings. All Fortnightly members are eligible to join the class, and in these days, when it is considered just as necessary for floor members to know the necessary procedure in making motions or taking part in debates as it is for an executive member, the opportunity of getting points from a capable and experienced exponent of parliamentary law will doubtless be appreciated to the extent it deserves. All information relative to this course may be obtained from the chairman of the legislative committee, Mrs. Gladys R. Wilson.

LECTURERS' CIRCLE

At the annual New England Conference of Lecturers, P. of H., recently held at Amherst, a group of Massachusetts members formed a Lecturers' Circle, which will meet quarterly, and will not conflict with the annual conference, which will meet next year in Durham, N. H. The new circle has as its honorary president, Charles M. Gardner of Springfield, honorary vice presidents, Leslie R. Smith of South Hadley, James C. Farmer of South Newbury, N. H., and Senator Angier L. Goodwin of Melrose. The list of officers includes A. Beatrice Thompson, president; Harriet Brown of Reading and Zoe Wiggins of Stoneham, vice presidents; Ella M. Roegan, Everett, secretary; and Joseph N. Dummer, Rowley, treasurer. Eighty-seven members signed the charter list. Charles H. Prescho, Cambridge, is chairman of the executive committee, which also includes Margaret Sarre, Chelmsford; Sarah H. Holland, Millis, and Anne Turner of Reading.

Miss Anna M. Salice, a graduate of the Massachusetts School of Art, Class of 1929, has accepted the position of Supervisor of Art in the public schools of Fairhaven. She will begin her duties on Sept. 4.

ATTEMPTED TO STOP CAR ON HUTCHINSON ROAD

The Winchester police scoured the vicinity of Hutchinson road shortly after midnight Tuesday morning in search of a man who had signalled Walter McInnis of Forest street, Arlington to stop his machine while the latter was driving through that neighborhood.

McInnis told the police that he was driving with a friend through Hutchinson road when a man, wearing a uniform cap, appeared from some bushes at the side of the roadway and blew a whistle. As a second automobile came into view the man vanished.

Lieut. John Harrold dispatched Patrolmen Daniel Kelley and Henry P. Dempsey to investigate, but the officers were not able to locate anyone after a thorough search of the district.

Congressman Dallinger has just received word from the Director of the Census in Washington that Samuel S. Kenny, 34 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, has been appointed Supervisor of the Census for the 8th Congressional District, or 10th Massachusetts Census District. Mr. Kenny was born in Cambridge and lived there all his life. He is a Spanish War veteran.

AMENDMENT TO BUILDING
LAWS

Town of Winchester, Mass.

Adopted at Town Meeting on March 25, 1929

Voted, that Section 90 of Division 28 of the Building Laws, relative to plumbing is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof the following:
"Lateral branches shall include vertical branches and combined lateral and vertical branches but no vertical section of any branch shall exceed ten feet in length."

Section 193 of said Division is hereby amended by striking out said section and inserting the following:

Section 193. The waste pipe of every independent fixture shall be furnished with a separate trap which shall be placed as near as practicable to the fixture which it serves.
An independent sink shall be connected, through a one-half S trap of not less than one and one-half inches in diameter. A sink and set of not more than three adjoining wash trays shall be connected with the house drain through a one-half S trap of not less than two inches in diameter, except that a four inch round trap may be used, with the approval of the Plumbing Inspector, in houses constructed prior to the effective date of this amendment. Four washbowls or sinks in a continuous line may be connected with the house drain through a two-inch one-half S trap.
Lead bends for water closets or slop sinks shall not be used to connect the waste with other fixtures. All water closets shall be connected with the drainage system by a flange that shall make a permanent water-sealed, gas-tight, self-testing joint, provided, however, that water closet fixtures already installed may, unless defective, be relocated in the same building. A trap depending upon a concealed partition to retain its seal shall not be approved, except for earthenware fixtures where the trap seal is plainly visible. Trap screws for cleaning purposes shall be placed in all metal traps and shall be accessible at all times. All fixture traps shall be so installed that the water seal will protect the trap screw from the sewer air, except that side screw traps installed with the cleanout in the lower part may be inverted when approved by the Plumbing Inspector."

Section 195 of said Division is hereby amended by striking out the figures 24 in the third sentence and inserting in place thereof the figures 30 so that said sentence will read: "Traps of S form shall not have more than 30 inches of waste pipe from trap to vent."

Section 197 of said Division is hereby amended by striking out the first sentence in the second paragraph and inserting in place thereof the following:
"No water closet shall be set other than in a bath-room or toilet room unless permanently enclosed from floor to ceiling, except that water closets may be installed in laundry rooms in basements if enclosed to a height of five feet from the floor but not within one foot of the ceiling; and every such bath-room, toilet room or laundry room and every such enclosure except in laundry rooms shall be provided with adequate light and ventilation either by an unobstructed window opening directly to the open air, at least two square feet in area, or by a ventilating shaft suitable in the opinion of the Plumbing Inspector."

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of an amendment to the Building Laws, being By-Laws and Regulations relating to Building, Plumbing, Wiring and Gas Fitting, adopted by the Town of Winchester, Mass. at an adjourning session of the Representative Town Meeting of March 13, 1929, held on March 25, 1929 and approved by the setts on August 12, 1929.

WINCHESTER PUNCTURED
CADILLAC-LASALLE

One Big Frame Gave Patched-up Local Team 11 to 5 Victory

A big third inning gave "Dukes" Farrell's Winchester Town Team an 11 to 5 win over the reputedly strong Cadillac-LaSalle ball club on Manchester Field last Saturday afternoon.
The game was a weird exhibition and left one wondering how the visitors had amassed their season's excellent record on the form they showed against the locals.

Winchester was by no means at full strength. In fact there wasn't a full team on the field at game time.
Scouts were sent out to round up Walter Skerry and "Bobby" Callahan of the Hibernians so that Farrell could put nine men on the diamond in time to start the battle shortly after 4 o'clock. "Buck" Windsor was on vacation. "Bart" McDonough was undergoing an operation in the Choate Hospital. Cupt. Walter Whitaker was unable to play because of foot trouble and "Dom" Shea, who was to take his place, was injured in the A. A.-Buffalo game the night before. "Spike" O'Donnel failed to show up and big "Jim" Fitzgerald, who had been announced as the starting pitcher, went to Worcester to play with the team here he has been a member of off and on all season. To make a bad matter worse Frank White, who was expected to twirl in "Fitzzy's" place, didn't put in an appearance. Farrell had about six men to start the game with.

When the club finally took the field
Costello, ex-Woburn High catcher, was behind the bat. "Tom" Desmond of the Woburn Town Team, playing in "civies," was at first, Walter Sker-ry at second, "Brad" Coates at third,

"Jomma" Dolan at shortstop and "Flats" Flaherty, "Tom" Dolan and
"Bob" Callahan in the outfield.
"Nicky" Fitzgerald, who had never previously pitched a game in his life, was on the rubber.

The visitors scored in the first. Riley lined to Flaherty and Wadzalla drew a pass. Callahan made a nice running catch of Marshall's fly on the foul line, but Hatch hit through the box, sending Wadzalla to third. Connelly walked and when Fitzgerald uncorked a wild pitch, Wadzalla counted. Coates took Pearl's fly to end the inning.

Winchester drew even in its half.
Riley threw out T. Dolan, making a pretty stop of his grounder behind second. J. Dolan was safe when Ryan dropped his fly in left after a run.
Coates' pass advanced Dolan and "Jomma" made third while Riley was forcing Coates at second on Fitzgerald's grounder. When Clark threw into the dirt, trying for a double play, Dolan scored, but Flaherty hoisted to Ryan.

The locals clinched the game in the third. "Tom" Dolan was safe on Riley's poor throw and on the hit and run play went all the way round when Hatch pegged wildly to second, trying to head off the runner after taking J. Dolan's attempted sacrifice.
"Jomma" stole third and Coates walked. So did Fitzgerald to fill the bases. Flaherty's single to left scored J. Dolan and Coates and Fitzgerald rode home on Costello's single through short. Costello went down on the throw-in and Desmond walked.
Skerry was passed to fill the bases.
Costello scored when Hatch uncorked a wild pitch and Desmond and Skerry moved up. Pearl replaced Hatch in the box and Callahan walked to fill the bases. On "Tom" Dolan's rap to Hatch, Flaherty, running for Desmond, was out at the plate. J. Dolan singled to left, scoring Skerry, and when Ryan's throw to catch Callahan got away from Brown, "Bobby" and "Tom" Dolan were over. "Jomma" reached third on the error, but held his base while Riley threw out Coates. Fitzgerald's single to right scored J. Dolan. Flaherty hoisted to Riley to end the agony.

This finished the Winchester scoring, for Pearl settled down and retired the side in order in every inning but the seventh when stupid base running cost the locals two runs at least.

The automobile boys added a couple in the 6th. After Skerry had thrown out Hatch, Fitzgerald walked Connolly and Pearl in a row. Ryan fanned, but successive bases on balls to Mannix, Brown and Riley forced in Connolly and Pearl. A quick peg from Costello to Desmond caught Riley off first and when Mannix tried to score on a double steal he was out at the plate, Desmond to Costello.

Wadzalla singled to start the 7th and went to second on a wild pitch.
Marshall hit to J. Dolan and Wadzalla was run down on the line, Dolan to Coates to Skerry to Dolan. Marshall made second in the scuffle and went all the way in when Fitzgerald uncorked a second wild pitch. Hatch singled to center and Connolly hit past J. Dolan. When Fitzgerald erred on Pearl's attempted sacrifice the sacks were loaded. Ryan, however, went out on strikes and Skerry tossed out Kosky, who had replaced Mannix in right.

The visitors scored their last run in the 9th. Pearl tripled lustily to left and came in while Coates was throwing out Ryan. "Brad" made a beautiful stop of the ball and followed up with a sweet throw. Kosky hoisted to Coates and Brown grounded to Dolan for the final out.

A SPECIAL SHOWING of the New STRAIGHT EIGHT LINE by PIERCE-ARROW

TO mark the opening of new local headquarters for Pierce-Arrow, a special exhibit of the new Straight Eight is now being held. And all who admire fine cars are cordially invited.

Besides being famous for having created a new mode in fine motor cars, the Straight Eight line is the most beautiful that ever bore the distinguished name of Pierce-Arrow.

Each model is long, slender, low-swung and graceful
—a refreshing departure from the bulk and stodginess so common where size and power are present in automobiles.

The new Pierce-Arrow colorings are exquisite examples of modern decoration—both interior and exterior.
And the price range is one that makes Pierce-Arrow ownership easily possible wherever a car above the average is being considered.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Adversity develops true virtue.

It's because there are all kinds of people in the world that you often meet someone you don't like.

When the body is infirm the mind lacks vigor.

Guilt is more a matter of mind than action.

Be forgiving if you hope to be forgiven.

In the interests of sightliness, someone with the necessary authority ought either to tie up out of reach or remove entirely the halliards which have been hanging from the flagpole on Manchester Field all summer. The colors have not been displayed at the Saturday afternoon ball games and the halliards have been of no use. Dangling as they have from the top of the pole they have proved handy for a considerable group of youngsters who have enjoyed themselves by using them and the flagpole as a giant swing, jumping for greater momentum from the near-by bleacher seats. Thus far the pole has stood the strain but we have no guarantee that it will not break in the end and flagpoles cost money. The danger of injury to some thoughtless youngster is also worth considering and as we stated above the dangling ropes are no especial adjunct to the general neatness of the field.

Those who believe our policemen draw their pay solely for protecting the community from the depredations of the so-called criminal element of society, would be surprised if they could glance through the pages of the "blotter" at local headquarters. During the past week the police have been called upon to drive a flock of thousands of starlings from a West Side street, to exterminate with gas a nest of wasps under the front porch of a local dwelling, to shoot several dogs in varying states of physical fitness, to return two stray ponies and a horse to their stalls in a barn on Pond street and finally to round up a valuable goat which had wandered away from an anxious owner in Woburn and was discovered asleep on the veranda of an estate near the center. Chief McIntosh must occasionally wonder whether he is operating a police department or an animal rescue league.

The residents of the North End are to be congratulated for their initiative and the civic spirit which has prompted the institution of field days for the children at the only recently acquired Loring avenue playground. The second annual field day is now in progress and will be closed tonight with a band concert and baseball game in which the featured Navy Red Sox will be the attraction. Everything is being arranged for the "kiddies" and for them alone. This is as it should be. Playgrounds are coming to fill an increasingly important place in the youthful life, but playgrounds alone can not hold childish interest. There must be something besides a field and certain necessary equipment, something to look forward to, something for which to work and above all, someone to plan an outlet for the kiddies' energy. Those who advocated and fought for the playground on Loring avenue seem determined to make the field pay its way. At least they have gotten away to a good start!

Apropos of playgrounds, the STAR was interested in the statement of Mrs. Elizabeth C. McDonald in last week's issue to the effect that the working force of the Park Department is insufficiently manned to attend to all the property entrusted to its care. We agree with her and we believe that the playgrounds have necessarily suffered on this account. Only so much can be accomplished in a working day and although the men have had unusual weather conditions this summer, it has been necessary to perform some of the work in a perfunctory way to cover the necessary ground. The Common, the many town plots, the war memorial could not be neglected. They are too much in the public eye and the community takes a just pride in their neat, well kept appearance. They are so kept. Everyone must agree to that, and we believe Superintendent MacDonald and his men would be glad to give the same care to Manchester Field and the other playgrounds if time could be found for the work. With a new park development in progress on upper Main street they will have less, rather than more time to devote to playgrounds, which raises the question, why not a new department, a Playground Department, devoted to the problem of keeping the playgrounds in usable, attractive condition? Playgrounds can be a real asset to the life of any community and we believe it might be advantageous to consider them alone and not as a part of the town's park system. After all, they serve a different purpose, and, in this case, an increasingly important purpose; that of stimulating in children and young people an interest in healthful recreation out-of-doors. A well laid-out, clearly marked diamond, a neat sand-box, a properly conditioned tennis court invites use, while the reverse is just the opposite. Youth knows its sports too well to wink at poor playing conditions. The STAR believes a separate department for playgrounds might work out, and wonders what others interested in outdoor games think about it.

"Bob" Goodale, who plays his golf at the Winchester Country Club won the Woodland Open Golf Tournament yesterday afternoon by defeating the Junior champion, "Bill" Donnelly, 1 up, in a brilliant match, the outcome of which was in doubt from the first to the 18th tee. Goodale won his way into the finals at the expense of "Joe" Lynch of Albemarle, whom he defeated, 1 up, deciding the issue at the home hole.

A fine new line of pencil boxes at the Star office.

The Winchester B. B. C. will play the Buffalo A. C. Labor Day morning at 10 o'clock on Leonard Field. Both clubs have been going along well and a good game should result. CALLS FOR EXPLANATION

Aug. 26, 1929

To the Editor of the Star:

Do the citizens of Winchester appreciate the fact that the water tower, which is now being erected on practically the highest point in the town, is to be 67 feet, 3 inches in height?

In my humble opinion, when the intelligent voters realize what this "gas tank" is going to look like on the horizon, the town officials who are responsible for planning this monstrosity will be called upon to do a lot of explaining.

Yours very truly,

F. A. Russell

"On With the Show," the first 100 per cent natural color, talking, singing, dancing picture opens a seven day run at the big Granada Theatre in Malden tomorrow, with special shows on Sunday, Sept. 1. All the colors of the rainbow come to the aid of the Vitaphone in "On With the Show." This amazing picture is a riot of hues and melodies, dancing feet and up-to-the-minute tunes. The intensely human story of a set of stranded players, is set in the glamour of a fantasy, which the company is playing, while the intimate story of theirs goes on. The Fairbanks twins, those exquisite dancers, beloved of Broadway, twinkle through the maze of exciting scenes: Joe E. Brown, is there with beyond a doubt the most contagious laugh in the world. Arthur Lake, comedy star; Bakewell, a new juvenile "find"; Louise Fazenda in funny antics; Ethel Waters, queen of the negro crooners and the famous Harmony Emperors' Quartet and a host more—combine to make an entertainment that tops anything the screen has seen.

The real story is that of the way in which the company's wily angel is made to produce the needed cash to pay off the company. How his doing so is made possible by the prima donna who hands him a swift uppercut; how she refuses to go on with the next scene, and leaves the spot open for pretty Sally—who "wows" the crowd and makes Broadway stardom a surety; and a score of other interesting adventures go to make "On With the Show" the biggest hit since the talking pictures became the vogue. Aside from the talent in the picture the musical score and natural color scenes are enough to make the picture a success. Over 20 well known stars appear in the various sequences and the dazzling beauty chorus of 100 pretty girls is something to think about. "On With the Show" is really a six dollar show at regular Granada prices.

Clara Bow in her new talker, "Dangerous Curves" heads the bill the Granada will offer for the last times today. The picture is finishing a successful run and has proven to be one of the most popular pictures the Granada has offered. Richard Arlen is the star's leading man.

Old American Cities

St. Augustine, Fla., is the oldest city in the United States founded by Europeans. The Spanish settled on this site in 1565 and it has been continuously occupied ever since. Santa Fe, N. M., is our second oldest city. It was founded by the Spanish about 1605 on the site of a deserted Indian pueblo.

"The Big Diamond Robbery," starring Tom Mix and his horse Tony, the feature picture now playing at the Orpheum Theatre, Malden, abounds in daring feats of horsemanship. A new note in "western" features is struck in this picture for while the major part of the action transpires in the mountain country and on the plains, the opening sequences are laid in a metropolitan city. Mystery is injected through Tom's search for a famous diamond which is stolen from the ranch owner's daughter. Tom's numerous fistic encounters with the city crooks who have trailed him out West furnishes plenty of thrills. Added to all this is a new variety of equestrian stunts which Tom and Tony perform together. Kathryn McGuire, the leading lady in this production, was named by James Montgomery Flagg as "America's most beautiful blonde." The second feature on this program is another gripping episode of the new mystery serial "The Final Reckoning," starring Louise Lorraine and Buffalo Bill, Jr.

Hoot Gibson has reached one of the high places of his career as a star in "The Lariat Kid," the feature picture coming to the Orpheum for the first three days of next week. It is the tale of a young cowpuncher whose sole aim in life is to fulfil his vow to track down the murderers of his father and avenge his death. En route to the town where he has at last located the gang of desperadoes that he is after, he meets the beautiful Mary Lou, who has run away to avoid being forced into a marriage with the worst cutthroat of the lot. The story of his adventures with this mob of ruffians and the able manner in which he frustrates their schemes form a thrilling and breath-taking picture. Ann Christy is charming in the leading feminine role. "Campus Knights," the second feature on this program is a clever comedy of complications arising from a pair of twin brothers, both played by that favorite screen comedian, Raymond McKee. One of the brothers is a studious college professor and the other is a red hot sport. The "prof" gets blamed for everything that his brother does and as a result the situations range from mild chuckles to wild hilarious laugh. The cast includes Shirley Palmer and Marie Quillan.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE

In "The Lady Lies," Paramount has produced a powerfully dramatic but at the same time, absorbingly human romance-drama that should attract greatly to the prestige of its sponsors and to that of its featured players, Walter Huston, Claudette Colbert and Charles Ruggles. At the same time it will doubtless start the upward climb to greater successes of two wonderful child actors, Virginia Deering and Tom Brown.

Here is a play which is the last word in ultra-modern domestic romance-drama. It contains such vital material as the interest of a widow's children in their father's next marital step, the love of a father for his motherless children, the love of a lonely couple for one another, the problem of social standings in relation to marriage, the fallacy of love based on financial advantage for one of the lovers, the mischief of prying unsympathetic outsiders, and the evil influence of plotting match-makers.

Each character-portrayal in the play is a gem of sterling acting, carefully blended into an absorbing ensemble. There is an air of pending explosion throughout the piece, and the audience is held in expectant suspense, not knowing at what moment the emotional dynamite will tear up the fortunes of the players.

Metropolitan patrons will view this all-talking Paramount screen accomplishment starting Aug. 29, which marks the inauguration of a brilliant advance season of Paramount's new show-world triumphs.

Hyman Fine, musical supervisor for Publix Theatres of New England, will personally conduct the Metropolitan Grand Orchestra in a special overture feature presentation "Orpheus," by Offenbach, which is the principal musical contribution to celebrate the inauguration of the new show-world season at the Metropolitan.

"The Jazz Clock Store," devised and staged by Frank Cambria, will grace the mammoth stage, and also signalize the acquisition of Alex Keese as the new stage bank personality leader, who will make the popular Publix band to make merry each week. Heading the stellar Publix cast is Bob LaSalle, the popular comedian; Paul Kirkland, an imitable entertainer; Bard & Avon, songsters of note; the Tiffany Twins, a dazzling dance duo; and the Fred Evans Ensemble, a marvelous group of dancing beauties.

Arthur Martel, New England's popular organist, a special Paramount Sound News, and other features, will constitute the initial of a series of exceptionally brilliant programs.

Starting Thursday, Sept. 5, Thomas Meighan will be seen and heard in his first all-talking picture, "The Argyle Case," a brilliant murder mystery adapted from the celebrated stage success, featuring Lila Lee, H. B. Warner and Zazu Pitts.

Dave Rubinoff, the masterful marvel of music, returns to the Metropolitan as conductor of the Grand Orchestra, for an extended engagement. This celebrated violinist, conductor and composer has been called by Leopold Auer one of the greatest living masters. His engagement at the Metropolitan Theatre is indeed a musical epoch!

Island Owned by Mexico

The Mexican embassy says that the Island of Socorro is the largest one of the Revillagigedo archipelago in the Pacific ocean, near the coast of the state of Colima. It is ten miles in length and seven miles in width. Its highest point being about 3,600 feet above sea level.—Washington Star.

Volcanic Lure

The reason for the return of farmers to dangerous slopes of volcanoes is explained by Dr. Henry S. Washington of Carnegie Institute by the fact that the lava flows are the best vineyard soil on earth. Most of the best grapes are grown on lava soil in areas surrounding long extinct volcanoes and sometimes, as on Mount Etna, around mountains which occasionally grow violent.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

Adam fell for an apple; the man in the Winchester of 1929 falls for a peach.

We know a certain sharp business man here in Winchester who is rather blunt.

Every dollar a Winchesterite borrows is a step toward the ill will of his fellow Winchesterites.

The depressing thought occurs to a reflective Winchester man that the warring Chinese may never have heard that a college professor here in the good old U. S. A. once received a $25,000 prize for a world peace plan based on education.

"Add to the pretty faith that goodness can be legislated into human dispositions the equally pretty belief that cussedness can be educated out of some human natures," writes a Star reader to the Paragrapher.

Correct this sentence: "The thing I like about summer resort crowds," said a Winchester critic, "is that nobody pretends to be more important than he is."

Most Winchester girls are fond of new wrinkles, but not in their faces.

The average high school student, says a Winchesterite who claims to know, does not get enough sleep. And the only cure for it seems to be to abolish the classrooms.

There are some things that are too deep for words. As, for example, the grief of the woman not a thousand miles from Winchester who shot a burglar in mistake for her husband.

A very frivolous reader of the Star writes in to say that to be a sincere believer in the success of prohibition it is only necessary to be deaf, dumb, blind and devoid of the senses of taste and smell.

The Paragrapher

TWICE IN SAME PLACE FATAL TO WOMAN SPEEDSTER

Officer Dempsey Successful in Second Attempt to Catch Flying Motorist

After successfully eluding Traffic Officer Henry P. Dempsey of the Police Department on one mad dash through the center last Sunday evening, a woman speed merchant attempted to repeat her thrilling performance later the same night with disastrous results, though she led Officer Dempsey a stern chase before she was finally arrested in Woburn.

Officer Dempsey was doing traffic duty in the police box in the center when he noticed a car approaching the square from the direction of Woburn and moving at a high rate of speed. Thinking at first that it was some one bound for the hospital, Officer Dempsey gave the car a through light, but the machine did not slow up or make a turn toward the hospital.

Throwing the light to red, the traffic officer left the box and ordered the driver of the car to stop. A woman was at the wheel and she paid no heed either to the traffic light or to Officer Dempsey's whistle.

Commandeering an automobile, the latter gave chase along the parkway and kept the woman's car in sight until Central square, Cambridge, was reached. Here the woman succeeded in eluding the policeman who had no other recourse than to return to Winchester.

This he did, but in no especially pleasant frame of mind, and he was still far from happy about the whole business when he saw his woman speeder coming back along Main street toward the center.

Once again setting the traffic light against her, Officer Dempsey left the box and seeing that the woman had no intention of stopping, he commandeered the machine of Vincent G. Carroll, 20, of 10 Lincoln street and once more gave chase along Main street toward Woburn.

Both machines were travelling at a terrific rate of speed, and it was not until the woman approached Woburn center and was forced to slow down that Carroll was able to crowd her machine to the side of the road and force her to stop. The car she was driving did strike the rear of Carroll's machine before she could bring it to a stop.

Officer Dempsey conducted the woman under arrest and placed her to the station house where she was booked on a number of charges, chief among them being those of driving while under the influence of liquor, speeding and driving so as to endanger the lives of the public. She gave her name as Carrie Greenwood, 32, of 32 St. Stephen street, Boston, and said the car she was driving was the property of Carrie B. Wilbur of the same address. Police allege that the woman admitted having taken a drink. She stated that she was rushing medicine to a sick baby at a summer camp in Wilmington.

The woman was admitted to bail and appeared before Judge Jesse W. Morton in the District Court at Woburn Monday morning. She asked for a continuance to procure counsel and the case was continued until Sept. 5.

Walter F. Gurney of this town, a member of the Arlington Rifle Club, was high gun in the shoot between the Arlington team and the Wannalancit Rifle Club, held last Saturday on the Lexington range. Gurney's prone and sitting score was 50 and his off-hand tally, 43, for a total of 93.

Gleason for approval of a certain plan, filed with said petition of a way proposed to be laid out in his land, said way leading westerly from Westland Avenue in land of Charles A. Gleason.

WINCHESTER BOYS REACHED SEMI-FINALS AT MAGNOLIA

Several Winchester racquet wielders participated in the recent tennis tournament at the Oceanside Courts, Magnolia. "Larry" Freeburn and "Charlie" Wadsworth made a strong doubles combination, advancing to the final round before meeting defeat in a three-set match at the hands of Samuel and John Richardson, the latter a father and son team.

"Larry" and "Charlie" won the feature match of the tourney in the semi-final round when they defeated Dr. W. R. P. Emerson of Boston and Kenneth Cooper of Gloucester, 2-6, 6-4, 13-11, after battling for two solid hours.

Another Winchester combination, Francis and Thad Smith, made a good showing in the men's doubles play as did Henry E. Worcester, Jr., who paired with Francis Gleason. Thad Smith reached the semi-final round in men's singles before losing to John Richardson in a well played match, 6-4, 8-6.

Mary Cutter and "Bill" Packer were one of the strong teams to compete in the mixed doubles while Mary made an excellent showing in the women's singles. The latter has been playing a lot of tournament tennis this summer and has invariably given a fine account of herself. She should be one of the mainstays of the high school team next season.

A class of 12 adults succeeded in passing the senior life saving tests at Sandy Beach last Friday afternoon, despite rather unfavorable water conditions. Life Guard "Bill" Murray, who is an institution at Sandy, expressed himself as greatly pleased with this showing. "Bill" has great hopes that the Metropolitan District Commission will soon make some needed improvements at the Mystic Lake bathing beach and with better accommodations for the swimmers will come the formation of a club which can foster aquatic events under the sanction of the A. A. U. Lack of facilities has greatly cramped "Bill's" style at Sandy but has not in any way dampened his enthusiasm.

CAMP WINCHESTER

The last week of the Boy Scout Camp passed quickly and all Scouts returned to Winchester on Saturday, August 24.

On Wednesday, Aug. 21, the boys visited Fort Knox on the Penobscot River, opposite Bucksport. This fort completed in Civil War days is an excellent piece of stone and brick construction with dungeons and enclosed passages galore to delight the youthful explorer. Armed with their flash lights the Scouts made a thorough examination of the structure and were greatly delighted with it.

On Thursday, Aug. 22, the final banquet was held with beef steak, green corn and ice cream the principal topics of discussion. The Huskies were announced as winners in the camp contest, having scored 361 points to 349 for the Eagles.

Anthony Ficciello was adjudged to be the best all around camper for the 1929 season and was presented with a silver loving cup suitably inscribed. Warren Hakenson was the winner at inspection and Sheldon Hamilton was the camp champion at field and water sports. Camp insignia were awarded to 20 boys for general proficiency in camping.

The camp site this year was the best our Scouts have had and 51 boys, a third of our enrollment, were able to enjoy four weeks of ideal camping at the nominal charge of seven dollars a week. Winchester Council should take pride in the fact that it has been able to furnish such an opportunity to these boys.

Big "Jim" Fitzgerald hit the ball hard for the Baysides in the game which the Hull club won from the Somerville Cubs last Sunday afternoon. Fitzzy knocked in 5 of the 6 runs scored by the Bay Sides and had a perfect day at bat, with a triple and a single in two times up. The Winchester boy signaled his return to the Cape Cod League on Monday when he busted out two clean hits while playing a nice first base for Chatham-Harwich against Osterville, the team he worked with a year ago.

LIVE WIRES DOWN AS TRUCK HITS POLE
Several live wires were down shortly before 12:30 Monday afternoon as the result of a big Sterling truck backing into an Edison Light Company's pole on Mt. Pleasant street not far from Washington street.

According to the police the truck was being driven up the steep grade of Mt. Pleasant street by Pasquale Grieco of 186 Cottage street, East Boston, when it became necessary to shift gears.

As Grieco attempted to shift, the machine started backward down the hill at a rapid rate, stopping only when it crashed against the Edison pole about 300 feet above Washington street.

The pole was broken off about 12 feet from the ground, bringing down six or seven live wires. Police headquarters was notified and Chief William R. McIntosh communicated at once with the Edison repair department. Meanwhile Sergt. Thomas R. Cassidy was dispatched to the scene to prevent accident until the arrival of the repair crew. The truck was not damaged. It was the property of Vicent Russo of 125 P. in street, South Medford.

The Winchester police received two strange calls Wednesday. The first came during the morning from Oswald K. Windle, caretaker at the Skilling estate off Washington street, who notified headquarters that a goat was asleep upon the veranda of the house there. Officer James P. Donahue, with much experience in animal husbandry, was dispatched to handle the situation, but we are told unofficially that he was upended by the goat and felt that he needed assistance. The goat didn't wait for help to come and when Officer Donahue with Sgt. William H. Rogers and the owner of the goat (hastily summoned by phone from Woburn) once more arrived upon the scene the animal had taken French leave. Sergeant Rogers and the owner, however, didn't despair and finally succeeded in tracking the goat to where he had trapped himself in the back entry of former Town Treasurer George H. Eustis' home on Stevens street. The goat apparently recognized "his master's voice" and submitted to being firmly trussed and taken home in the Police Ford. So far as we could learn there were no casualties. Nor were there any in the evening when Officer John Hogan was called upon to round up a couple of stray ponies and a horse and return them to their home barn on Pond street.

WINNERS AT PLAYGROUND FIELD DAY

Elizabeth Zaffina, who received prize for cutest carriage, and Frank P. Zaffina and Margaret-Mary McDonald, bride and groom, who won for the quaintest feature.

LORING AVENUE PLAYGROUND HAS CLOSING FIELD DAY

It has been rightly said that the successful season at the Loring Avenue playground ended in a blaze of glory.

From 1:30 until 9 there was a big time on the North End playground and everything proceeded in such an orderly way that it delighted all those in charge.

The exercises of last Friday brought to a close a successful summer, presided over by this year's interested and enthusiastic supervisor, Harold T. Donovan, who was on the job every minute, constantly devising new ways to keep the youngsters happy and busy.

The playground supervisor was ably assisted by the supervisor of tennis, Margery A. Poland, whose faithful attendance has helped to keep the children and grown-ups alike keenly interested in the game which this season had its initial try-out at the playground.

Both supervisors were kindly in manner towards the children, but at the same time taught them to observe the rules and practice fair play.

They thus brought about the success of the long-awaited field day. The tennis tournament started on Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock sharp and closed Friday morning. The Junior doubles winners were Warren McPeeters and Walter Josephson, who just nosed out Mara McDonald and Peter Doherty.

Friday afternoon saw a succession of sports, arranged and carried out by Supervisor Harold Donovan, ably assisted by Messrs. Frank P. Zaffina and Arthur E. A. King.

The doll carriage parade was one of unusual beauty, there being 25 doll carriages, bicycles, automobiles and kiddie-cars in line. It was such a task to pick the winners from the dainty little lassies arrayed as tulips, roses, jockeys and motor-boat captains, and the sturdy little lads decked out as Uncle Sams, "Lindys," fire chiefs and chauffeurs, that the judges demanded many marches to aid their puzzled minds.

Finally, eight prizes were awarded the winners and dainty souvenirs were given to the others.

The judges who served so capably were: Misses Katharine F. O'Connor, Mary E. Martin, and Margaret A. Foley.

A feature event of the afternoon was a boxing bout between Richard and Robert Horn, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Gordo Horn of Loring Avenue. The two amateur boxers were clad in tight and furnished enjoyment for more than 100 spectators for more than 30 minutes. The fight was refereed by "Billy" McDonald. The seconds were Frank Donovan and John McCarron.

Following the ceremonies, cones of ice cream were donated by an interested town official.

During the afternoon balloons were furnished the tinier tots through the kindness of Mrs. Margaret A. Donovan and Mrs. Anne C. Poland, mothers of the supervisors.

At 6 o'clock, through the courtesy of Mr. William Gibbons of the A. O. H., a fine ball game was staged between the local A. O. H. and the champion U. S. Navy Red Sox, the latter winning 8-4. The Navy team was accompanied by its 20-piece band which gave a fine concert. Following the game, the members of the band and the two ball teams were treated to a delicious supper served at the rear of Mr. William E. McDonald's residence on Hill street.

The winners of the sporting events follow:

50-Yard Dash for Girls 10 to 14 Years—Won by Susan Doherty and Mara McDonald. 100-Yard Dash for Boys Over 14—Won by Victor Russon; second, William McGann. 50-Yard Dash for Boys 10 to 14—Won by Frank Donovan; second, Walter Josephson. 25-Yard Dash, Boys 8 to 10—Won by James Doherty. 25-Yard Dash, Boys Under 8—Won by William McDonald. Wheelbarrow Race for Seniors—Won by John McCarron and Winfield Robinson. Junior Wheelbarrow Race—Won by Neil McCarron and Warren McPeeters. Junior Sack Race—Won by James Doherty and Winfield Robinson. 100-Yard Dash, Girls Over 14—Won by Margery Poland.

WINCHESTER BOY MARRIED IN MINNEAPOLIS

Miss Pauline Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dietrich Conrad Smith of Minneapolis, became the bride on Wednesday of Edward Riggs Wait Jr. of Boston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Riggs Wait of this town. The ceremony took place at the home of her parents before an altar banked with flowers.

Rev. Lucius Hatfield Bugbee, pastor of Hennepin Avenue Methodist Church, Minneapolis, read the service. The bride entered with her father, who gave her in marriage and was met at the altar by Mr. Wait and the bride's brother, Dietrich Conrad Smith, 3d, of Cambridge, the best man.

It was one of the most brilliant weddings of the season in the western city. One hundred guests attended a reception that followed the ceremony at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Wait left on an Eastern motor trip. They will travel on the Great Lakes, Lake Champlain and Lake George, and motor to New York, where they will visit Mr. Wait's relatives. They will be at home at 69 West Cedar street, Boston, after Oct. 1.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Dietrich C. Smith and Miss Ruth Davenport of Cambridge. The bride's mother entertained 20 guests at a bridal dinner on Monday night.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed at the Town Clerk's office during the week past as follows: Daniel John Reardon of 22 Arthur street and Mary Frances Connolly of 11 Wade Avenue, Woburn.

John Francis Blackham of 13 Salem street and Mildred Louise Peterson of 967 Main street.

Hollis Robert Goode of 14 Cross street and Ella Louise Holmes of 6 Kinnard street, Cambridge.

Warner Grenelle Rice of 31 Divinity Hall, Cambridge and Mary Hamilton Wallace of 9 Calumet road.

Albert Raymond Evans of 40 South Russell street, Boston and Elizabeth Boyns Trevorrow of 86 Church street.

RICHARD CONLON

Funeral services for Richard Conlon, a well known resident of Winchester for many years, were held from his late residence, 24 Richardson street, last Saturday morning. A solemn high mass was celebrated in St. Mary's Church by the Rev. Fr. George H. Quigley. Rev. Fr. Conrad J. Quirbach was deacon and Rev. Fr. Nathaniel J. Merritt, sub-deacon. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

Mr. Conlon died Thursday evening, Aug. 29, in his 74th year. He was born in Ireland, but for the past 56 years had made his home in Winchester, during his active life being employed as a gardener upon many of the town's fine estates. He is survived by his wife, Margaret, and by one son, Joseph O. Conlon, both of Winchester.

Mr. Murray Mercer returned from Marshalltown, Iowa, Wednesday, after spending the summer working on a farm belonging to Mr. Butler, father of the Rev. Maurice J. Butler of this town. Mr. Mercer is leaving Sunday for a position in the American Woolen Company Mill in Fitchburg.

ROTARY CLUB OF WINCHESTER

President Roscoe is enjoying a well earned vacation this week and Vice-President Loring was in charge on Thursday. Members and visitors combined made this meeting one of the largest which has convened this summer.

We were glad to welcome "Doc" and "Jim" and "Dent", returned from a month's absence. "Doc" and "Jim" of Woburn provided a bit of their characteristic work in the music department. "Doc" holds out the hope that the new song sheet will soon advance from the domain of myth to that of reality.

Speaking of stern realities we wonder if any of our members can top the record of E. C. as a payer of fines. Any claimant for this honor should present the facts of his case at once, so that perchance E. C. may be stimulated to even greater activity.

And while we are on the subject of stern realities we must not overlook Loring's splendid effort at furnishing entertainment for the day. It is well in this modern age, when frivolity is so much in evidence, that we should, at decent intervals, be reminded of life's more serious responsibilities. Those who specialize in expounding the principles of human duty and social uplift may rightfully claim a generous share of our attention. The thanks of the club are due to Loring for presenting certain phases of a well-ordered existence which are frequently ignored.

"The Rotarian" for September is about to appear, or perhaps has already appeared at the homes of our members. Everybody can find interesting reading in this issue, everybody from the golf enthusiast who aspires to a "hole-in-one" to the man who believes in the urgent need of "The United States of Europe." We know that many Winchester Rotarians are profiting from the perusal of this magazine. We hope that all are doing so. It does not pay to miss it.

Our attendance record for August was 89.63 per cent. This is a gratifying increase over the July mark, but still short of what our club should register. Our percentage for August 29 was 96.33 per cent. In normal seasons we should be able to keep in sight of this mark. We trust that each one of our members will try for a perfect score henceforth. Real trying will produce results. Let us all be at the club-house on the 12th to welcome President Roscoe on his return from his vacation.

PROF. JOHN PATTEN MARSHALL

WILL DIRECT MUSIC AT UNITARIAN CHURCH

Prof. John Patten Marshall, Dean of the College of Music at Boston University, is to be Organist and Director of Music at the Winchester Unitarian Church commencing Sept. 15. Mr. Marshall designed the beautiful new three manual organ which was the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Parkhurst and he also played the dedicatory recital a year ago this spring.

To all lovers of music, as well as to students of the organ, Professor Marshall's reputation as a thorough musician is well known, more generally than ever because of his lectures over the radio before each broadcast by the Boston Symphony Orchestra of which organization he was organist for nine years.

Professor Marshall has been at the head of the Music Department of the College of Liberal Arts at Boston University since 1903 and in 1928 he was made Dean of the newly created College of Music. For four years he was lecturer on Music at the Harvard Summer School and more recently over a four year period he has lectured at Holy Cross, which College conferred on him the honorary degree of Doctor of Music in recognition of his fine services. Four 14 years he was organist at the First Church (Unitarian) in Boston where his organ recitals and oratorios given under his direction were justly famous. Since 1926 he has been Dean of the New England Chapter of the American Guild of Organists. During the War, Mr. Marshall was a Captain in the Army and for two years after the Armistice served as Development Expert in Music for the General Staff.

Not only will members of the Unitarian Society rejoice at Professor Marshall's acceptance of this position, but music lovers in general will be glad of an opportunity to hear one of the out-standing organists of our time.

IRISH FREE STATE COINS ON DISPLAY

Through the courtesy of Mr. Nathan Thumim, there is on display in the window of the Star Office a complete collection of the new coins of the Irish Free State. The display is very interesting and was secured by Mr. Thumim during his recent trip abroad.

According to the story of the coins, each piece of money bears the head of a fowl or animal because of the split in the Free State party, it being deemed unwise to use human heads with the possibility of offending one side or the other. As an expedient the government turned to the agricultural resources of the country and hence the design.

The coins will be on display during the coming week.

BASEBALL SATURDAY

University Club of Cambridge vs Winchester Town Team

The University Club of Cambridge, composed of college and prep school stars will be the opponents of the Winchester Town Team on next Saturday, Sept. 7. This club from Cambridge has a record of 50 wins and only 6 defeats. Manager Farrell of the Town Team will endeavor to make it the seventh defeat for its opponents. "Olio" Lee who twirled such a wonderful game on Labor Day morning will be on the mound for Winchester, with probably "Frankie" White of Cambridge, working for the University Club. White, as the fans remember, pitched a few games for Winchester and is a hard man to defeat when right. A new catcher will be seen behind the plate for Winchester and the manager hopes to give the fans the same brand of baseball as was given on the Labor Day morning. That game was as good as any.

SMILE AND HOLD THE FORT

(Written for The Winchester Star)

Human life is a leading along.
Human life is a battle and bloom;
Human life is a faith and a fact.
It is a dream and an act.
It is a living for something there.
And it is a living for something here.
This life of ours may be hard or be sweet,
But let us dance with willing feet.
Human life may be long or it may be short,
But let us smile and hold the fort.

There is keen rivalry between these two teams and some fine tennis should be played in this meeting which is open to those interested without charge.

The annual singles and doubles tournaments open to all members of the Old Colony Tennis League will be held on the clay courts at Longwood starting Saturday afternoon, Sept. 14. All members of the Winchester Tennis Association are eligible and are invited to enter. Entry fees are $2 for singles and $1.50 per team for the doubles. EDUCATING FOR TOMORROW

The opening of the school year will bring relief to some of the young people who find prolonged leisure burdensome and tedious. To others it will mean the added joy of the school atmosphere and environment. To some parents it will bring relief from the distraction of keeping the children occupied and entertained. To others it will mean heavy hearts when they see for the first time the school sharing with the home in the training of the child. To some young people it will mean a struggle to give up a remunerative position for what may seem to them less profitable work. Others will have a consciousness that no matter how lucrative the position, it will be more profitable to resume schooling. These views education in terms of the future returns. Financial needs may dictate that others continue their earnings to permit resumption of the schooling later on. This training will be profitable, as a year of any work should produce, in addition to the disciplinary value, a more wholesome regard for the advantages of education. The danger to this group is the "cooling process" that takes place during such intervals, with a resultant diminishing interest.

As a rule, parents are more concerned about adequate schooling than the child—this because of the fact that if they have been educated they appreciate its value, and if they have not, they are conscious of their loss. Young people may argue that they have sufficient training to meet future requirements. It is difficult to foresee what these requirements may be. Because of rapidly changing standards, people are ever confronted with situations they could not have foreseen a decade ago. In farming, in industry and in business, as well as the professions, we find more exacting demands. It is reasonable to predict that requirements in all such lines will continue to be raised.

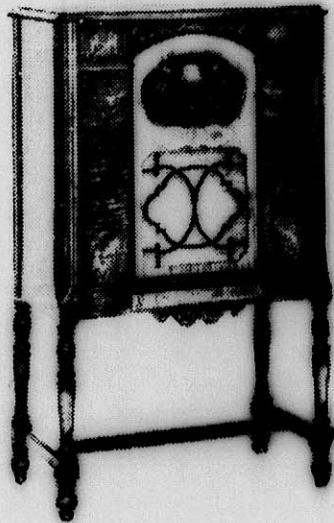

A like situation exists in adult life in that there are many who 10 years ago decided they had sufficient training to meet future requirements. In later years they found it necessary to raise the standards to meet increasing opportunities. It has meant the passing of these opportunities or the resumption of education pursuits. Our colleges, universities, correspondence schools, part time schools and night schools, bear testimony to this situation. In them we find many adults who have returned to build up the foundation neglected in youth.

It is hard to say when a boy or girl has had sufficient training. Such training usually increases opportunities as well as incomes. It would seem a wise policy to be liberal in estimating the amount of educational training required rather than be forced to acquire it at an age when they are less susceptible to it. The fact that young people in increasing numbers are today taking this pre-emptive action makes the demand more imperative. Boards of Education and School Officials, appreciating this situation, have made adequate provisions for every demand. It rests with the young people and their parents to do the rest. They should at least consult with school officials before deciding to terminate schooling.

We Can't Have Everything

A few days ago Ruth, age four, was having her hair curled, as she was preparing to "go visiting." Ruth enjoys the process, but, of course, it was rather monotonous for her mother, who had to do all the work. "Ruth, I wish your hair had a few natural curls in it," said the mother beginning to lose patience. "Well, mother, I guess I can't have everything," sighed Ruth, "You see, I have a pretty face."

The bacteria count in this chart gives the number of bacteria found in one c. c. taken from the center of the sample after it had been well shaken. It should be remembered that another c. c. taken from the same sample might give a somewhat different count, but the difference would rarely, if ever, exceed 10 per cent.

EXCISE TAX ONCE MORE

The following letter from the Boston Herald's "Mail Box," is a lucid explanation of the automobile excise tax and an ample illustration of the way one assessor handles it—a distinct contrast to the method used in Winchester.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In a few words, helpful to other car owners, I should like to beg space to answer and correct your Methuen correspondent.

The auto excise law distinctly endeavors to tax each car once and to prevent double tax on any car. It was at first intended that a transfer of a car should result similarly to a transfer of real estate, the buyer to assume the tax by agreement, and the bill to be passed to him for evidence. This simple issue was befogged by the petition of the auto dealers who claimed, rightfully enough, that a car turned in to a dealer immediately becomes stock in trade and not subject to the excise. Most transfers are made in this way. A regulation was, therefore, promulgated by which the first owner should pay only such part of his yearly excise bill as should represent the period up to the time he disposed of it, and he be allowed release or refund for the unexpired time; and that a subsequent owner of the same car, if taxed for the same period, should be abated by the amount which the first owner had paid. The simpler form may still be used in case of private transfer and Mr. Cooper's case should have been handled that way, but even in the more cumbersome method as related by him, the town should have released him of exactly the same amount which it or any other Massachusetts town had collected from the former owner.

Almost every case of alleged injustice among the several hundreds of adjustments which I personally have handled, has originated either: First, in the failure of the owner to give proper data when registering either car or truck; second, by the owner's delay of more than the statutory 60 days in which to apply for adjustment; or third, by the repeated exchange of cars during the same tax-period.

For the first, my town advertised two weeks in the local papers requesting owners to give corrected data, and the registry applications now being prepared by the Commonwealth for 1930 will contain the exact information then necessary. For the second, our tax bills carried a notation in red ink reminding owners of the 60-day limitation for adjustment (this to apply either from date of bill or subsequent sale). For the third, some of us who administer this law are willing to take on even more troubles if the Commonwealth sees fit to change the periods to four quarters instead of using Jan. 1 to June 30 as one period.

After all, most owners use not more than one or two cars during a year, and releases and abatements are not running more than 5 per cent of the assessment of all cars, while for the first time, the communities are making a just and equitable taxation of all cars regardless of the time of year purchased.

James E. Folsom, Assessor
Braintree, Sept. 2.

Varying Ideas as to "Better Halves" Value

Females of the "flapper" type are not in favor among the tribesmen in some parts of Africa. The fattest girl is considered the greatest beauty and in order to attain this condition of plumpitude the girls gorge themselves with milk and dispense with all physical exertion. Many of them undergo this treatment while preparing themselves for matrimony and the mere rolls of fat they can put on the better they like it. In some other parts of the Dark continent, there are different ideas prevalent and the value of the woman is gauged by the amount of work she is capable of doing, and the character of the labor she is called upon to perform is not conducive to the fat accumulation. The acquisition of wives by purchase is quite general throughout the country and the medium of exchange is cows, one wife being worth eight or ten cows, according to her capacity for work. As a rule the women do everything except the actual hunting.

Black Cats and Evil Linked in All Ages

That verdict rendered against a Lynn (Mass.) woman charged, among other things, with having undertaken by her formulas "to still crying babies and fighting cats with equal ease," calls up a chapter in the lore of popular beliefs to which every age contributes new material. And for sheer interest it is the pugilistic felines, not the inchoyose infants, which take the cake. That black cats portend evil is a delusion that goes back to the most ancient times; so, white or black, they have everywhere been the material for all sorts of superstitions. In the Orient cats have knowledge of the future ascribed to them, along with a sensitiveness which can penetrate into things dark for the eye of man. When the cat treads on cushions or carpets it is believed to be raising the wind. There is sure to be changing weather if it sneezes, and a frost may be looked for when the animal sits with its back to the fire.

Possibility Is There

At an auction in London only $25 was paid for the desk on which Charles Dickens wrote many of his stories. The young writers have no ambition. With that desk, and a bottle of ink, and plenty of paper, a man could write another "Pickwick Papers" if he was another Charles Dickens.

WILL WED TOMORROW

Wilcox-Brown Nuptials to be at Unitarian Church

At an early September wedding to-morrow afternoon, Miss Leslie Chillingworth Brown, daughter of Mr. Walter Jackson Brown of Calumet road, will marry Mr. Woodford Lyman Wilcox of Waterville, Me., and Cambridge, son of Mr. Leslie L. Wilcox. This is the first society wedding to take place in Winchester at the fall season and will undoubtedly draw a large attendance from this and surrounding places.

The ceremony is set for 3 o'clock and is to be performed by Rev. George Hale Reed, the pastor, at the Unitarian Church. Mrs. Joe Kenton Billingsley (Georgianna Brown), sister of the bride, is to be matron of honor and Mr. Billingsley, best man. The bridesmaids will include young ladies prominent in society, numbering Miss Mary M. Brown, the bride's sister; Miss Dorothy Sutherland of Indianapolis, Miss Helen C. Hurd of Newburyport and Mrs. Howard R. Guild, Jr. of Boston. The ushers will include Russell Hamley of Cambridge, Robert Akin and Lawrence Legare of Boston and Elgin Wasson of Portland.

The decorations at the church will be largely of fall flowers, with palms, white asters, gladioli and Easter lilies set with tall candles and green, and the dresses of the wedding party are worthy of note. The bride will wear with her dress of ivory satin trimmings of rare old Chantilly lace worn by her grandmother. Her dress is cut with a flowing satin train, and will be complete with tulle veil and lace cap. She carries a sheaf bouquet of Easter lilies and eggshell gladioli. The matron's dress is to be of cornflower blue chiffon velvet with deep lace bertha. Her costume includes a parchment felt hat trimmed with blue, blue shoes and yellow Claudia Pernet roses. The bridesmaids will be all styled alike in chiffon velvet and deep lace berthas. Two are wearing aqua green and two light American beauty. Their parchment felt hats and shoes are done to match their dresses.

A reception is to follow the ceremony, being held at the home of the bride's father, and they will spend their honeymoon in Europe. Miss Brown is a graduate of Winsor School and Vassar College, and was a member of the Sewing Circle, 1919-20, Junior League. Mr. Wilcox is connected with the Atlantic National Bank of Boston and is a graduate of Boston University and B. U. Law School. He is a member of Chi Sigma Chi.

HARBIN: THE CITY RAILROADS BUILT

Harbin, China, which has figured prominently in the record-breaking travels of world girdlers, recently sprang into the international spotlight when a group of Chinese raided the Soviet Consulate.

Harbin is almost as Russian as it is Chinese, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society, although the city lies in central Manchuria about 200 miles from the nearest border line of Siberia.

Railroad Built City

In fact, the Russians really put Harbin on the map. Up to the latter part of the "nineties" the site of Harbin was a wild desolate region with a few fishermen's huts marking the only human habitation. Then in 1896 the Russian builders of the Trans-Siberian Railroad, bent upon reaching Vladivostok, sought to cross Manchuria rather than to build a much longer line entirely in Russian territory. A treaty between China and Russia made the short line through Harbin possible.

Harbin was really born when Chinese railroad interests saw the feasibility of a line running southward from the Russian railroad. The site of Harbin was chosen as the junction point. Passengers from Europe now may travel by rail to Harbin; thence to Mukden, the great Manchurian market place; and from there over any of three routes to important cities of the Orient. One line leads to Tientsin and Peiping (formerly Peking) another to Dairen and Port Arthur where passenger boats sail for southern China ports; another line bisects the Korean peninsula with one of its termini at Fusan where a boat ride across Chosen Strait will put the traveler into Japan proper.

Some Aspects of Boom Town

Born of the railroads, Harbin has also been reared by the railroads. Before the World War a railroad-employed telephone operator handled all telephone calls; the railroads built and maintained hospitals and schools, and even built the city's churches. In recent years, however, a portion of the municipal administration has been placed in the hands of the populace.

After but three decades, Harbin boasts a population of more than 100,000. Some of its streets in the old portion of the city in many respects resemble those of an American boom town with its bordering one-story shops. The gay-colored signs in Chinese and Russian attract the traveler's eye; but carts, droskies and loaded donkeys, mired in the hubdeep mud, occupy the attention of pedestrians and shopkeepers most of the time.

The railroad divides the so-called New Town from the Wharf District. On the New Town side, the traveler alights from a train at a station that many cities of America with more than Harbin's population would be proud to possess. There are some fine streets in the New Town district; on them are large, modern government buildings as well as structures that appear to have been erected when Harbin was much younger.

Automobiles Gaining in Popularity

The drosky with its horses framed in bell-hung arches is still popular in Harbin, but the taxicab and private automobile are available at the railroad station and at the hotels.

When a passenger alights from the train in this Chinese town, he is likely to hear more Russian than Chinese. Most of the Harbin hotels whose representatives besiege the traveler at the station are Russian or Japanese owned. Unless the English-speaking traveler can speak Russian, Chinese, Japanese, or a little French or German, he has difficulty in making his wishes known.

The Wharf District across the railroad from the New Town and bordering the Sungari River is Harbin's business section. Here the traveler gets a glimpse of the bustling commercial life of the city; for Harbin has become a great market through which commercial traffic between Siberia and China flows unceasingly.

The river front, when yellow soy beans are being shipped, is a mass of small sailing vessels, filled to the gunwales with huge sacks. Beans from these boats are destined to local and foreign consumers. Most interesting of the agricultural products seen in Harbin by the foreign traveler, however, are the Chinese cabbages which resemble huge stalks of celery.

Cargo Sailors Dislike

Many common cargoes have some curious and unpleasant characteristics. Sugar, for instance, gives off a powerful and often poisonous gas. It has also a sickening odor, and you cannot get the sweet taste out of your mouth. The men simply crave vinegar or lemon juice—anything sour. "Deliver us from sugar" is the sailor's earnest prayer.

"Home, Sweet Home"

To get a home of their own, is the first duty of every family.

In the long run, it is far cheaper than paying rent.

Besides, just for the sake of the added joy of living, a real home is emphatically worth while.

We specialize in this field; lending money for home building or buying.

Incidentally, those who have accounts with us, even if they don't build homes, have a wonderfully attractive investment and are aiding a fine cause.

STRANGE MENUS OF OTHER LANDS

Uncooked monkey brains on the half-skull, pickled water beetles, fried locusts, and cobra and python steaks are specimens of the many strange and unusual foods which grace the world's dinner tables, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Pigs and birds' nest soup are popular Chinese appetizers, in some portions of the Republic. Silkworms are eaten after the cocoon has been unwound. Horses, donkeys and camels, after they have lost their usefulness as beasts of burden, are consumed by some Asiatic tribes. Caterpillars, frogs and snails are relished when obtainable.

New Guinea natives find China a good market for sharks' fins from which the Celestials make a delectable soup, and also for beche de mer, a large sea worm found in New Guinea waters.

Eels, Seaweed and "Japanese Limburger"

The New Guinea natives themselves are fond of the pith of sage palms, potatoes and bananas; and dog, snake and lizard flesh vie with that of the pig. The womenfolk gather beetles, grubs and larvae from trees to grace the festive board.

Eel meals are as popular among Japanese as are Maryland chicken dinners in Baltimore. In some Japanese cities, eel houses are nearly as numerous as weiner stands at a county fair. When the diner enters an eel house he is led to a large tub of live eels. He makes his choice of the wriggling creatures, it is speared, split along the back, cut into small pieces, and with soy sauce, is cooked over a charcoal fire.

At Japanese inns, the traveler is told that "Bombay duck" can be had at a reasonable price. The hungry customer visions a fat fowl but the waiter brings in pieces of smoked fish about two inches long and as thick as a dime. The menu also includes pickled seaweed, seaweed jelly, and chutney which resembles pickled citron, but is almost as hot as Mexican chile. More raw than cooked fish is eaten by Japanese. Raw baby octopuses are particularly popular. "Japanese Limburger" is not a cheese but a Japanese pickled daikon, or long white radish.

Fish Eyes, Caterpillars and White Ants

Koreans, like many orientals live mostly on rice. They cook their seaweed in oil and serve it with slices of red peppers. Kimchee, a kind of sauerkraut, is a favorite Korean dish.

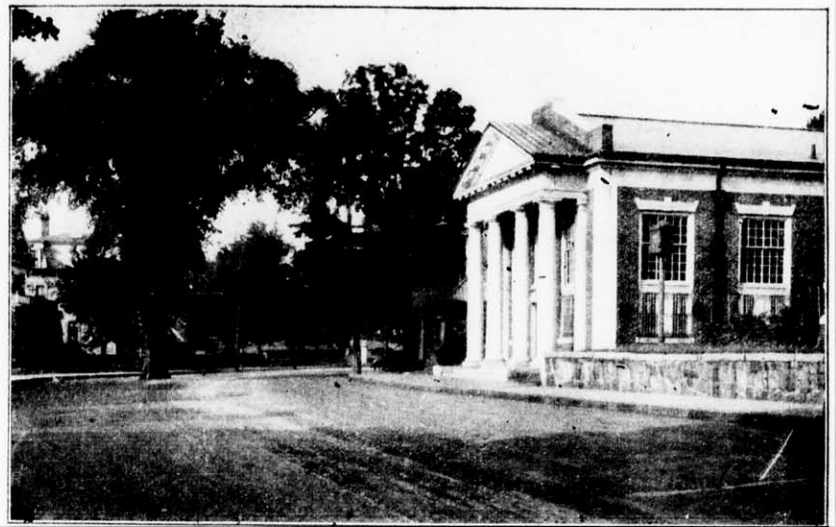

To the north, the natives of Kamchaka relish the tongues and the marrow of the bones of reindeer, but the piece-of-resistance is the meat of unborn fawns. From the stomach of the reindeer the natives obtain their greens—half digested balls of moss. A delectable native dish is reindeer sausage which has been surrounded by dough and dropped in boiling water. On the lower end of the peninsula where salmon are plentiful, dishes of boiled fish eyes are considered a delicacy.

Perhaps few people live as close to Nature as the Pygmies of the Belgian Congo. Tender roots are staples, but birds, small game, rodents or caterpillars are not objectionable. A dish of white ants is prized highly by these diminutive people, while a slice of raw elephant meat makes a feast.

In addition to many viands on the Pygmy bill of fare, the Madagascar natives eat spiders, silk worms, grasshoppers, and dried locusts. When a "cloud" of locusts settles on a crop, a sufficient number of them are collected to offset the loss of food which the insects consume. Every good Madagascar housewife has in reserve a supply of dried locusts to sustain the family in times of famine.

Yak cheese is a staple in the Muli kingdom of western China and would not be objectionable to the western traveler if it were not for the numerous yak hairs in the substance.

On the table of the Corsican, a traveler might see half of the head of a lamb with tongue, cheek and brain in place. About the time the American appetite is whetted for Thanksgiving turkey, Corsican fishermen are catching eels for home consumption and for shipment to Nice and Naples where they are a delicacy. A diner in a restaurant in Spreewald, Germany, whose order did not include eels would draw a curious glance from native patrons. Eels, cucumbers and cherry pie there are "national dishes."

Foie Gras, Sea Worms and Tuffles

The varied bill of fare of the Frenchmen includes foie gras—a paste of fatty goose livers. Truffles are rare delicacies. French farmers are frequently seen leading their pig and dog "truffle sniffers" over the fields. Truffles are underground fungi which grow six inches below the surface, and are located by the sensitive noses of the animals. Basques about Bilbao, Spain, relish white, transparent worms about two inches long. They are fried in oil and are served hot.

One unusual meat is served not far from the American border. The Indians of Mexico prefer Iguana flesh to chicken. The appearance in the markets of the green lizardlike body, bedecked with a crest of spines running down to a long alligatorlike tail, dulls the appetite of the hungry alien shopper.

Making Politeness

A friendly child is instinctively polite and needs only to see the forms of good manners to adopt them on his own initiative.—Farm and Fireside.

Lips Reveal Character

Lips curving downwards indicate gravity and seriousness and a sense of responsibility when the curve is only slight, but when they really turn down at the corners, the gravity becomes gloom. Men or women with really turned down mouths are nearly always kill-joys and wet blankets.

Pampered Pussies

Two hundred pampered Persian cats from all parts of the world were displayed at an international cat show in Paris. Most of the animals had splendid homes of their own, with carpets, silk cushions, and electric light. One had a doll of its own, and another a picture of its owner.

Most Lasting Gift

The most precious gift . . . must be something imperishable. If instead of a gem or even a flower, we could cast the gift of a lovely thought into the heart of a friend, that would be giving, as the angels I suppose must give.—George McDonald.

AMERICA THE BEST

Doctor Emery Writes of Interesting European Experiences

To the Editor of the Star:

We left Holland July 8 on a special 15-car train, arriving at the German border at 6:15 p. m. Here we were met by the German inspectors and in their usual aggressive and business like way they proceeded to inspect our baggage, but after being convinced we had no extra cigars, coffee, tea or tobacco went on their way.

Arrived in Cologne at 9 p. m. and was domiciled at the Eden Hotel, under the spires of the great Cathedral, the most beautiful one seen on the whole trip.

At our hotel we began to partake of the most wonderful food, as only Germans can cook. Breakfast was the regular continental, consisting of hard rolls, marmalade and coffee, but for the rest of the day you had nothing to complain of except a too full stomach.

Sorry to say Cologne was only a sleeping place as the next morning at 7 o'clock we stepped aboard a river boat and began a 125 miles ride up the Rhine to Berberic. Only a poet or novelist can describe the grandeur and beauties of that sail. All along the banks are pretty little villages of stone and brick houses. While here and there on the sides of the mountains, or perched high on a peak are castles in different stages of preservation. Shrines and caves are cut in the sheer rocks. For the whole length of the river we travelled, both sides are paved below the water edge. But the most striking object for about 100 miles was the grape arbors, extending from the bank to the very peak of the mountains, terrace upon terrace.

Many are the legends of the Rhine, not the least of them being the story of Loreley. "Fair Bingen" also carried us back to our days of poetry learning.

The river itself is teeming with tugs, towing six and eight large barges, also small and large boats. There is almost a continuous line of passenger and freight trains on both sides of the banks. At places where there is not space for them along the shore tunnels are made through the mountains. Mines and factories are many on the banks and hillsides.

Leaving the boat we took the train for Frankfurt. Our stop there was only long enough to get a superficial look at the city.

Our next stop was at Stuttgart. Here the Mayor of the city gave us a very fine dinner at the Villa Berg, with our party about 600 sat down to a most bountiful dinner. Mr. Bosch of Bosch magnet fame, gave us a few words of welcome and after dinner, papers were given by the local doctors.

Stuttgart with a population of about half a million is very prettily situated between two mountains. In the afternoon we visited Schillers Museum, after which we were taken to a roof garden overlooking the city and given a dinner by the local physicians of both schools. Papers of interest were a part of the after dinner entertainment, rather uninteresting as most of them were given in German and then translated.

On July 12 we were up early and off for a 600 mile ride to Berlin, with plenty to look at on all sides as you rush along at about 60 miles per hour. Every foot of land as far as you can see is under the highest state of cultivation. Potatoes, wheat, barley, oats and green vegetables fill every available space. Three women to every man are working in the fields, cows are also used for work instead of oxen. Conservation seems to be the thing in Germany. But many of the implements used in the fields are as they used to be 50 years ago, with us.

We arrived in Berlin at 2 a. m. and after four hours sleep were up and off to the hospital to Dr. August Bier's clinic. He operated six cases for us and while his work is very rapid and spectacular I had rather a little more careful man would operate on me. He later gave us a talk on homeopathy, which he has lately taken up. He has also helped to establish a chair for the teaching of homeopathy in the University of Berlin.

At noon was given a dinner at the House of Lords. In the afternoon more clinics.

The next day being Sunday we were taken to Lake Havel, where we spent most of the day sailing on a river boat. If anyone believes there is poverty in Germany, one look at the steamers, power boats, yachts, canoes and boats upon that river and lake that day, would entirely dissuade you. Later in the day we were taken to Potsdam, the palace of the former Kaiser. It is called Sanssouci, meaning "without sorrow." The interior was the most beautiful of any place on the entire trip.

Next day we pulled out for Vienna. Along the way we caught sight of the Blue Danube. The trip was very tiresome, as it was hot and water was scarce as in the desert, beer and wine flowed plentifully, but it did not quench the thirst. Arrived at our hotel at 2:30 a. m. Up early so as to take in the clinics at the University of Vienna. It is a hospital of 5000 beds, entirely controlled by the Government. We spent the most of three days in the hospital listening to lectures and seeing their clinics. There is a great deal of material and every case is thoroughly gone into.

The City of Vienna shows poverty, many of the buildings are out of repair, beggars are plentiful, workmen get about 75 cents a day and 40 per cent of their wages go to the government for taxes (a little worse than Winchester).

On morning of the 18th, we started for Zurich. We soon came in sight of the beautiful Alps, veiled with mist. It was a beautiful sight as peak after peak came into view. At Salsberg we hitched on to an electric engine, which made traveling much more comfortable as we got rid of smoke. Next day we had a chance to do a little shopping and look over the city. In the afternoon we took the train for Munich. This is one of the finest cities of the whole trip, up to date, clean, and with many fine shops. We attended theatre in the evening and then went to the Hoff Brauhaus where the most famous beer in Germany is served. The room is about four times as large as our town hall and every evening is filled to capacity by Germans, and visitors, all drinking from huge steins at one half mark per. One fat German artist approached us to sell his paintings. In the course of conversation he told me he had drunk 24 steins that day and he helped us out by drinking the remains of our steins, with about three good swallows to the stein.

From Munich we went on to Lucern, took a sail around the lake, passing by William Tell's chapel, hewed out of the side of the mountain. A monument to Schiller is carved in a jetty of rock. On shore we visited the Lion of Lucern and Schiller's birthplace. Had dinner at a famous lake hotel, Schuenerhof. Lucern is rich with history, very quaint, with some streets so narrow only one vehicle can pass through. Many Americans have their summer homes there.

Next day we went on to Geneva, one of the most beautiful cities in our travels. My hotel was the International. In front of it was the dark blue waters of Lake Geneva, back of it was old Mt. Blanc, laden with snow, while every way you could look was mountain upon mountain. Over on the other side of the lake was the House of the League of Nations, which we visited and had a half hour talk on its work. We also visited the palace where the first Red Cross was formed. We had a steamer ride on the lake, and as it was a very hot day the captain ran the ship up under one of the snow capped mountains and we got so thoroughly cooled that coats were donned. Drifts three and four feet high lay in the shady places on the mountains.

At Geneva we had a paper and moving pictures on cancer by Dr. Anton Nebel. He is working on the etiology and cure of cancer and there is a general feeling that he is on the right track. But there is little for publication until he has made further experiments.

On the 11th, we left for Gay Parie. Pulling out of the mountain region we came into country more like New England, hilly and wooded, and not so highly cultivated as Germany and Switzerland. We got into Paris about 2 a. m. and found the populace had not gone to bed, probably staying up to see us, as there were only about half a million Americans in the city at that time.

At Paris some of us were located at a hotel next to Arc De Triomphe du Carrousel, while not far distant was Eiffel tower. One of the most interesting walks was down avenue des Champs-Elysee until I came to the Palais du Louvre. Here some of our party spent a half day, which should have been three, in order to thoroughly inspect the wonderful works of art.

One day we spent viewing Hotel des Invalides where is the tomb of Napoleon, also the late General Foch. In the court yard many soldiers were in review and decorations were being given to some of the soldiers of the late war. For our benefit "America" was played by the band. A view about the city in buses gave us a ride of all the principal buildings, too numerous to mention.

One afternoon we went out to the chateau or hunting lodge of Louis XIV. Here we were given a dinner by the local physicians and listened to some very interesting papers on medical progress in Paris. After Louis XIV was exiled Napoleon occupied the buildings. The grounds and gardens are the most extensive of any we have seen. In one of the rooms called Galerie des Glaces the peace treaty was signed on June 28, 1919. In the afternoon we visited Petit Trianon which was built by Louis XIV for Marie Antoinette and was later occupied by Napoleon's divorced wife. Here we had tea but what seemed like a full course dinner. I forgot to mention that a civic reception was given us at Notre Dame Cathedral and Malmaison.

The real fun of the trip was midnight visits to some of the cabarets. Here pleasure knows no bounds and you don't get home until morning. Still they haven't much on New York. Our last night was spent at the Folies, the costumes, what there were of them, were most exquisite.

Next day we were off for the last leg of our land trip. At 3:30 we arrived at Cherbourg and with lighters were put aboard the Lapland.

For the first two days everybody was glad to rest, having most of the time on shore only got about four hours' sleep a night, but the beautiful weather enticed us to the upper deck, where games were played, except for two hours, 10 to 12 a. m. when we had round table discussions on different medical and surgical subjects.

Some of the conclusions arrived at on this trip were: Surgical technique and art sepsis on the continent is far behind America. In certain medical subjects they are making more reasonable and thorough research. Germany is the cleanest, strictest and most resourceful country of them all, including America. Whether beer and wine has anything to do with this remains to be solved. But after all America is the best all around place to live in and although they cartoon her they respect her.

R. L. Emery

The Weekly Rest

Why one day's rest in seven, and not, say, in ten? Scientists are agreed that the former is exactly what we need. On an average, six days' work reduces our reserves of mental and physical energy to a point where replenishment, by rest, is necessary.

Fish May Swim

The Kansas City Court of Appeals has decided that "a woman may lie to her husband when the provocation is great enough." We wait in dread suspense to get a ruling from the Kansas City body on what water may do on a grade.—Buffalo Courier Express.

THOMPSON STREET BUILDING CHANGES HANDS

Another interesting real estate deal, involving property in the business district of the town was announced last Saturday morning when agreements were signed whereby William W. McLean, proprietor of the Winchester News Company became the new owner of the building, numbered 7, 9, and 11 Thompson street, formerly owned by Edmund C. Sanderson, electrical contractor.

The property acquired by Mr. McLean is relatively new, having been built by Mr. Sanderson less than three years ago. It is occupied and has been since its completion, by Mr. Sanderson, the Winchester News Co. and James McLaughlin, veteran shoe dealer. With the Postoffice in its new location the building is located most advantageously. It is gratifying to learn that it is to be owned in the future by one whose business interests are centered in Winchester.

MOTORCYCLE OFFICER STRUCK BY CAR

Motorcycle Officer Edward F. Rooney of the Metropolitan District Police was painfully injured shortly after 3 o'clock last Saturday afternoon when he was thrown from his machine at the junction of Highland avenue and the Parkway, following a collision with a Ford touring car, owned and operated by Alfred F. Gill of North street, Reading.

Gill was driving south on Highland avenue when the accident occurred. Officer Rooney was taken to the Winchester Hospital by Frank G. McEwen of 16 Clematis street and treated by Dr. Richard W. Sheehy for bad cuts about the head, arms and legs. The injured man was held for a time at the hospital for observation. Gill's machine was damaged and the motorcycle, badly smashed.

The police were informed Monday evening that an unknown woman was stealing flowers from graves at Calvary Cemetery and also displaying a large knife. Sergeant Rogers and Officer Farrell visited the grave yard and interviewed the woman, who claimed Somerville as her home. She was only decorating the grave of her dead husband, using a machete in the process.

Miss Marion Warwick of Madison avenue west left Tuesday for Chicago where she will attend the Moody Bible Institute.

Robert Scholl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Scholl of Vine street, is at the Choate Hospital, where he was operated upon the first of the week for the removal of his tonsils.

Labor Day afternoon saw one automobile accident in town, it occurring at the corner of Main street and the Parkway. According to police reports Anthony M. Guaglizzi of Malden was traveling north on Main street and Lenora M. Donovan of Haverhill was traveling west on the Parkway. They were unable to pass each other and came together with resultant bent mud guards and other minor damage. The lady was operating a Hudson sedan owned by J. Agnes Donovan of Bedford and Mr. Guaglizzi a Buick sedan.

The highway department smoothed out the dangerous holes at the center railroad crossing with tar concrete Friday. Tuesday work was commenced digging up the center crossing again.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Kelley of Dix street motored to the aviation field at Portland, Me., last Sunday.

Poetic License

All my life I have heard of men on their knees before women. I doubt that any such thing ever happened anywhere, except in play or book. I have never had any such disposition, and in my younger days I was a wild man about women.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Stick Trader

An American trader removed the winding keys from alarm clocks and sold them for 500 counts each to San Blas Indians. They believed the clocks had magic so long as they ticked—so he did a driving business winding the clocks at one coconut a day.

AMERICAN CUSTOMS AND FASHIONS SPREAD THROUGHOUT THE WORLD

Travel where you will you can't escape American customs and fashions, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Tokyo munches atsu keiki (American hot griddle cakes with syrup). Berlin flocks to its first elaborate soda fountain for nut sundaes served by snappy soda "jerkers."

Moscow crowds around the first bright red gasoline filling station put up in Arbat square.

The "Movies" and Plumbing. American "movies," automobiles, dental schools, typewriters, phonographs and even its prize fights lead in spreading American fashions and customs throughout the world.

Movies persuade Japanese and Brazilians alike that life without sanitary plumbing is unthinkable. American automobiles have spread the gospel of mass production and have influenced some European countries to change from "left-of-way" to "right-of-way" driving. The excellence of the dental schools in the United States attracts students from all over the world who return to their people as ambassadors of the fine old American custom of brushing teeth.

Oriental Learning Eight-Note Scale. Typewriters have pioneered the way for a whole battalion of office equipment devices which have converted many peoples to doing business according to American methods. The phonograph has made jazz a world folk song and is returning the Oriental car to the Occidental eight-note scale, while the millions won by Dempsey and Tunney prompt young men, white, yellow, brown, black or red, with two good fists, to try them out and, incidentally equip themselves with the necessary "gym" shoes and boxing gloves from the "land of champions."

As long as the United States remained a raw products source, selling only cotton, corn, wheat, copper, and oil, the world went its own way. That way was to follow French fashions in women's clothes, jewelry and perfume, practice trade by English methods and to look to Germany for science and music. But American invention and mass production have turned the United States into a manufacturing and distributing nation. Exports of the United States last year passed the $5,000,000,000 mark.

Kerosene Oil a Luxury in China. Strange things happen when American products penetrate foreign countries. One of our important exports is kerosene oil, much of which goes to the Orient. Kerosene lamps, disappearing in America, are the height of luxury in China, where they replace smoky, ineffective vegetable oil lamps. The early-to-bed and early-to-rise Chinese now stay up at night working by California kerosene oil on Chinese rugs for American floors.

Kerosene commonly sells abroad in five-gallon cans that have become the universal bucket from Kamchatka to Dakar. Water from the wells of Beer-sheba, where Abraham and Sarah drank, quenches the thirst of desert travelers of today, but now the water is drawn up in American oil cans. Arab villagers in North Africa have folded up their tents and have built, by skillful use of flattened kerosene containers, tin-can towns and at night the tin houses are lighted with tin-can lanterns fashioned by native craftsmen.

Garters Worn as Ornaments

Sometimes other peoples have not brought their customs abreast of their American purchases. Brightly-nicked slot machines, cash registers and automatic scales are said to decorate the grand staircase of the Prime Minister's palace in Nepal. A traveler to Borneo reports finding a local potentate in an electrically lighted and refrigerated palace that housed a fleet of expensive automobiles which the native ruler could only drive to and fro on a mile and a half of specially constructed road. Natives in parts of Africa use running pants for shirts, thrusting their arms through the pants' legs, while in China garters are sometimes worn for ornamental rather than useful purposes.

"What the World Wants," is a regular Department of Commerce publication and a brief scanning of its items reveals the many thoroughly American desires the world has acquired: Java wants slot machines, garters and flashlights; Costa Rica, automobile hearses; India, outboard motors, smoke-writing apparatus for airplanes, sanitary plumbing fixtures and silk hosiery; Manchuria, phonographs and records; Malaya (going a step farther) desires automatic phonograph record changers and radio sets; Czechoslovakia, paper matches, jazz orchestral accessories and bathroom fixtures; Austria, breakfast foods; British Guiana, rebuilt typewriters; England grapefruit (which the English are just beginning to demand); Mexico, bathing suits; China, advertising and display equipment, metal store furniture and metal window frames; and Denmark, overalls and vanity cases.

WINCHESTER A. A. SWAMPED TOWN TEAM

Won Third Game of Series By 10-0 Score

Winchester A. A. swamped the Town Team 10-0 in the third game of the series between the two clubs on Manchester Field last Saturday afternoon. Only a small crowd witnessed the debacle.

Both teams presented hit-or-miss lineups, but the A. A. hustled behind the pitching of "Lefty" Flaherty of Woburn while the "Townies" played sloppy ball in back of Winchester's
"Lefty" Hatch.

Hatch was hit hard and often,
"Dusty" Ambrose, "Dom" Shea, and
"Joey" Connolly each collecting three hits while "Chucker" Roche got 4; exactly the number of safeties the Town Team collectively succeeded in amassing. Connolly got a triple and a home run while "Chucker", "Lefty" Flaherty and "Dusty" each belted out a triple.

Flaherty literally slow-balled the "Townies" to death and his support was good. Cousin "Flats" Flaherty got the only clean hit off his delivery in nine frames.

Meanwhile the A. A. was belting Hatch to all corners of the lot with "Lefty's" support generally giving the batter a life when he didn't succeed in hitting safely. "Dukes" Farrell's boys were very bad last Saturday.

In the A. A.'s half of the first,
"Dusty" Ambrose tripled over "Tommy" Dolan's head, but Shea hoisted to Flaherty. Roche singled to center, scoring Ambrose and Connolly's triple to left brought "Chucker" in. J.
Dolan threw out Keating, Chamber-land hit past J. Dolan and stole second. Cuneo fled to McMannus.

Martin hit to left to start the second. Flaherty tried to sacrifice and popped to Hatch. With Martin caught flat-footed, no one covered first and a double-play went bad. Ambrose hit past Whitaker and when McMannus let the ball get away from him in right Martin reached third and Ambrose second. "Jomma" Dolan lost McMannus's throw-in from the outfield and Martin tallied, Ambrose making second. Shea hit to Hatch who got Ambrose at third. T. Dolan took Roche's fly in center.

Hatch hit Flaherty to start the fourth. Ambrose popped to O'Donnell. Shea hit over second, advancing Flaherty and Roche hit through short to fill the bases. Connolly's mighty home-run into the tall grass to the right of the bandstand cleared the bases and accounted for four runs.
Fitzgerald made a nice running catch of Keating's high foul and Hatch fanned Chamberland.

"Ernie" Mathews broke a finger on his throwing hand in the 5th and had to retire, his place being taken by John Costello, a great catcher with a straw arm.

In the 6th Shea singled past O'Donnell and went around to third when Costello threw poorly to flag him stealing. Roche hit a high fly which "Jomma" Dolan misjudged and lost entirely, the blow going for a hit to score Shea. When Costello threw into the dirt in an attempt to head off Roche's steal of second, "Chucker" made third, but Hatch settled down and fanned both Connolly and Keating. Chamberland fled to Whitaker.

Shea singled to center to start the 8th and rode home on Roche's triple to right. "Jomma" picked up Connolly's wicked grounder and got the runner at first, holding Roche at third. O'Donnell threw out Keating the same way and Hatch got Chamberland on strikes.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The 18th amendment was not enacted by accident, it was the result of a campaign of education in the schools and elsewhere which continued for a half century and longer. The various State codes were not simply a result of the Federal law, but were the outgrowth of long years of education, a carefully thought out and logical plan of obedience to the mandate of the people as expressed in the 18th amendment. The upward curve of prosperity is no accident, but a logical result of a conservation of mental and physical forces through education—a sane way of living, together with a refraining from things that would harm.

The decrease in the death rate from alcoholic poisoning is not due to violation of law—the states where the law is observed and where, because of proper education, the state code has been retained, are the states where the alcoholic death-rate is lowest. We shall yet successfully and triumphantly hold the amendment and secure a better enforcement and observance, but it will not be by setting back and "letting President Hoover do it" while we lament the wet propaganda, the violations of law, and other difficulties, but by continuing our work of education—broadcasting the value of law observance and the harm of the liquor traffic and working hard to retain our own State enforcement code.

Jones Law Proving Its Value
"I firmly believe the Jones Law is adequately serving the purpose for which it was passed," said Russell L.
Furbee, young assistant Federal district attorney, to a reporter for the West Virginian. "The Jones Law," said Mr. Furbee, "was enacted for the purpose of checking the bootlegging industry. It is designed to distinguish between the casual and the habitual bootlegger, and it is doing that. As for the success of the Jones Law, it has already raised the price of liquor in many instances, to double what it was before the passage of this law. Before the year is out, liquor will probably be three times as expensive. The price is raised because there are fewer bootleggers. They have quit the business because of the stringent punishment. If the bootlegger is stopped, the liquor business will die, because neither the manufacturer, nor the consumer can get along without the middleman."

"The amount of liquor available is far less than it was a few months ago, Mr. Furbee believes, and it is chiefly on this fact that he bases his belief that the Jones Law is proving effective.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

"The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," a new all-talking picture starring Norma
Shearer, comes to the big Granada Theater in Malden tomorrow for a seven-day run which includes special shows on Sunday. This screen adaption of Frederick Lonsdale's famous stage play is a smart and witty comedy affording Miss Shearer one of those aristocratic, sophisticated characterizations, which fit her so perfectly. Played with a rapid, airy tempo, the production is one of sheer merit. The lines of the play are smart and clever, keeping the audience well keyed up.

"On With the Show," the first 100 per cent natural color, all-talking, singing and dancing picture, closes its record breaking run at the Granada today. This has proven to be one of the outstanding film hits of the year.
The whole picture is filmed in the Technicolor process which makes the scenes a thing of beauty. Over 20 stars, including such favorites as Betty Compson, Sam Hardy, Sally O'Neil, the Fairbanks Twins, Louise Fazenda and Joe E. Brown appear in the picture. Ethel Waters, the famous colored "blues" singer does two numbers that are great. In addition to the principals the cast includes a beauty chorus of 100 pretty girls.

over Labor Day by Mr. Larson.

WINCHESTER WOMAN
FEATURED

In its interesting column, "People You Ought to Know," the Boston Herald of last week has the following to say of Mrs. Edward C. Mason of this town:

By Lois Kennedy

Mrs. Edward C. Mason, newly-elected editor-in-chief of Child Welfare, the official publication of the National Parent-Teacher Organization, is now the leader of the movement which Theodore Roosevelt called "the most fundamentally constructive in the world today."

The National Congress of Parents and Teachers was formed in 1897 to promote child welfare physically, mentally and spiritually as well as educationally. The work aims at being constructive and preventive, with the object in view of starting children in life so that curative institutions may be done away with.

Mrs. Mason's task as editor of the magazine is to promote better understanding between parents and teachers in order to help the children. She is now dealing with a popular subject, although at first its sponsors met with a great deal of opposition. She feels that her work concerns the next generation, but unless parents and teachers can be brought into co-operation, she can gain little headway.

Patriotic Work

In its practical application, Mrs. Mason believes that this triangular co-operation of parents, teachers and community is the most patriotic work that any one can do. It deals with a cross-section of American life and reaches the needs of the average family. Mrs. Mason has no family of her own but feels that by promoting the educational interests of other children, she is making her contribution to the next generation.

The East is not so advanced in this field as the West, Mrs. Mason regrets. Massachusetts, with its large urban population has only a matter of 18,000 members in Parent-Teacher Associations, while California, for example, with an equal population, has more than a million. It is true of all of New England, however, that it has a smaller proportion of members than other parts of the country.

Mrs. Mason accounts for this in part because of the large number of private schools in the East. The West tries to make its schools so good that all will go to them.

This organization has from the first been national and all States are organized with the exception of Nevada. Although there are groups for all school ages—pre-school, grammar school, high school and college—the greatest interest has always centered in the grammar school age.

Mrs. Mason is particularly interested in furthering the organization of parent-teacher organizations for youngsters of high school age, for she feels that much constructive work can be done there with pupils, teachers, and parents participating equally.

The Child Welfare magazine is not a commercial enterprise and in the interest of the work many of the country's best writers are glad to contribute to it. Its circulation is rapidly increasing and it forms a valuable exchange of experience for the organizations throughout the country. Although the magazine is published in Philadelphia, Mrs. Mason does all of her editorial work from her home in Winchester, with an occasional trip to Philadelphia every month or two. Her job is to collect and edit all the material that goes into the magazine, as well as being in charge of the editorial page. She is also responsible for the make-up of the publication.

Mrs. Mason is a graduate of the College of Liberal Arts of Boston University. She has taught in the high schools of Andover and Wakefield.

It was while living in Bedford several years after her marriage that Mrs. Mason first became interested in parent-teacher work. She was president of the local organization when it first started there.

Editor of Bulletin

She has held the offices of secretary, vice-president, and president of the Massachusetts branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, and has also been editor of their bulletin. Mrs. Mason has been an associate editor of Child Welfare for the last six years and with the September issue of the magazine has assumed editorship.

Mrs. Mason writes for many educational magazines on her own subject and has edited the National Congress textbook, "Parents and Teachers." She has also conducted parent-teacher courses at the University of Vermont, the University of New Hampshire, the Normal School at Keene, N. H., and at the Wheelock School in Boston.

UNUSUAL TRIP ACROSS COUNTRY

A telegram has just been received by Rev. and Mrs. S. W. Adriance of 9 Mt. Pleasant street, Winchester, announcing the safe arrival in San Francisco of their son, Mr. Robert F. Adriance and his family after an unusually interesting trip across the country. Leaving their summer home at Tenants' Harbor, Maine, in his Buick, sport model car, he stopped over in Winchester, long enough to say good-bye to his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Adriance and his brother, Mr. William Adriance and family.

On the morning of July 29, his car, well loaded with baggage, his family of four and a young lady friend of the family started on the long journey across the continent.

Stopping here and there at tourist camps, which are now found almost everywhere they drove onward, visiting many historic and scenic places en route. At many places, especially in the West, where there is much travelling by cars on sight-seeing expeditions, they met other automobile pilgrims. Some of the tourist camps were plain, yet comfortably fitted up, while others were rather luxuriously equipped, having hot and cold water, kitchenettes with conveniences for cooking and with excellent beds.

In far off Wyoming they found the luxurious "Dude Ranches," but almost all of the cabins were both comfortable and comparatively inexpensive.

Many unusual incidents varied the trip which was rarely dull, except in the monotonous sage-brush country. The following tells of unusual happenings, relieving the daily life of monotony: "we were waked in the morning by a very large bear solemnly gazing in the window, he looked us all over, walked around and sat on the porch hopefully waiting and finally ambled off."

And again, at Yellowstone Park: "Last night we went up to the place where they feed the bears with a rich collection of garbage. There must be two or three thousand tourists in this place alone over night and most of them went to one amphitheatre, overlooking the bear 'lunch-counter', while a Park Ranger, on horseback, gave us a talk on the life of the rangers, the animals of the parks, and especially on the bears. When we arrived there were eight or ten black bears feeding. Later, in ambled some big grizzlies and all, but the boldest 'blackies' took to their heels. Every little while a bear or two comes about our encampment, welcoming food, but seeming wholly disinterested in human beings. They are not dangerous, excepting that a person, trying to feed them by hand, may get a finger nipped or a mother bear may see a fancied danger to her cub in which case she may do real damage. So we are seeing a lot and learning a lot and getting new meaning of what the United States, really is. We like being 'Sage Brush' as the Park vernacular dubs those traveling in their own cars."

The last part of the drive took them through the Oregon country with its massive trees, a part of the time the road running along the Columbia River. Thence turning south they drove down through California, the road running often close to the Pacific Ocean. They arrived, safe, well and happy, on Aug. 29 at San Francisco after a unique and interesting automobile trip of 5000 miles. They were ahead of their schedule time.

From San Francisco, they sailed on the steamship Ventura of the Matson line, for Honolulu, where Mr. Adriance will spend his Sabbath leave of absence from his teaching in the high school of East Orange, N. J.

The family will be neighbors of his sister, Mrs. F. B. Withington, formerly Miss Margaret W. Adriance. Mr. Withington is instructor and chaplain in the Kamchameha School of Honolulu and Mr. Robert F. Adriance will teach for a year in the Punahou School of that city.

MALDEN ORPHEUM

Grim adventure in a tropical wilderness, and a still more grim conflict of human emotions, love and retribution are the elements that make great drama out of "Where East Is East." Lon Chaney's latest starring vehicle now playing at the Orpheum Theatre, Malden. It is a mystery story, gripping as any of the famous star's fantastic productions and still it is the tenderest of love stories. Here with the one love of his life, his daughter, played by Lupe Velez, he dwells in comparative peace with no enemies save the savage tigers, gorillas and elephants until another woman comes into their lives like an avenging nemesis. Estelle Taylor plays the role of a vivid Oriental charmer, beautiful and deadly. The triangle turns into one of the most astounding plots in literature, rivaling the most fantastic flights of fancy. The second feature on this program is another stirring episode of "The Final Reckoning," starring Buffalo Bill, Jr. "Eternal Love," the feature picture coming to the Orpheum for the first three days of next week is one of the outstanding productions of the year. John Barrymore, star of the picture, gives a brilliant portrayal of an Alpine mountaineer. Camilla Horn and Victor Varconi head the supporting cast. "Laughing at Death," the second feature on this program concerns the exploits of a young American college husky who stokes on an ocean liner through his summer vacation. Fist fights, duels and triple thrills of every conceivable nature make this picture a classic of action and excitement. "Bob" Steele and Natalie Joyce have the leading roles.

AMENDMENT TO BUILDING
LAWS
Town of Winchester, Mass.

Adopted at Town Meeting on March 25, 1929

Voted, that Section 90 of Division 28 of the Building Laws, relative to plumbing is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof the following:

"Lateral branches shall include vertical branches and combined lateral and vertical branches but no vertical section of any branch shall exceed ten feet in length."

Section 193 of said Division is hereby amended by striking out said section and inserting the following:

Section 193. The waste pipe of every independent fixture shall be furnished with a separate trap which shall be placed as near as practicable to the fixture which it serves. An independent sink shall be connected, through a one-half S trap of not less than one and one-half inches in diameter. A sink and set of not more than three adjoining wash trays shall be connected with the house drain through a one-half S trap of not less than two inches in diameter, except that a four inch round trap may be used, with the approval of the Plumbing Inspector, in houses constructed prior to the effective date of this amendment. Four washbowls or sinks in a continuous line may be connected with the house drain through a two-inch one-half S trap. Lead bends for water closets or slop sinks shall not be used to connect the waste with other fixtures. All water closets shall be connected with the drainage system by a flange that shall make a permanent water-sealed, gas-tight, self-testing joint, provided, however, that water closet fixtures already installed may, unless defective, be relocated in the same building. A trap depending upon a concealed partition to retain its seal shall not be approved, except for earthenware fixtures where the trap seal is plainly visible. Trap screws for cleaning purposes shall be placed in all metal traps and shall be accessible at all times. All fixture traps shall be so installed that the water seal will protect the trap screw from the sewer air, except that side screw traps installed with the cleanout in the lower part may be inverted when approved by the Plumbing Inspector."

Section 195 of said Division is hereby amended by striking out the figures 24 in the third sentence and inserting in place thereof the figures 30 so that said sentence will read: "Traps of S form shall not have more than 30 inches of waste pipe from trap to vent."

Section 197 of said Division 28 is hereby amended by striking out the first sentence in the second paragraph and inserting in place thereof the following:

"No water closet shall be set other than in a bath-room or toilet room unless permanently enclosed from floor to ceiling, except that water closets may be installed in laundry rooms in basements if enclosed to a height of five feet from the floor but not within one foot of the ceiling; and every such bath-room, toilet room or laundry room and every such enclosure except in laundry rooms shall be provided with adequate light and ventilation either by an unobstructed window opening directly to the open air, at least two square feet in area, or by a ventilating shaft suitable in the opinion of the Plumbing Inspector."

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of an amendment to the Building Laws, being By-Laws and Regulations relating to Building, Plumbing, Wiring and Gas Fitting, adopted by the Town of Winchester, Mass. at an adjourned session of the Representative Town Meeting of March 13, 1929, held on March 25, 1929 and approved by the Attorney General of Massachusetts on August 12, 1929.

NATURE seldom gives the maximum of two good qualities to any animal, plant, mineral or any natural oil. Most motor oils are made from crude oil that has a paraffine base or another crude oil with a naphthene base. Both these crude oils have qualities peculiar to themselves. The chemists of the Gulf Refining Company chose the best paraffine and naphthene crude oils and after exhaustive research finally succeeded in perfecting a blend of the two, which is

OPENING OF THE 30TH YEAR IN FLORIST BUSINESS

This month I begin my 30th year in the retail florist business in Winchester. On Sept. 10, 1900, I opened a store in Waterfield Building on the corner of Church and Common streets where I am now located. During these years I have handled only the best grade of plants and flowers, given personal attention to all orders, large or small and have taken great pride in any floral decoration for whatever occasion wanted, so that it would reflect credit on my flower shop.

I take this occasion to thank all who have helped me build up a flourishing florist business and solicit a continuance of their patronage and also extend a hearty welcome to new customers. Visitors always welcome. We telegraph flowers everywhere. Member Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association.

Respectfully,
George F. Arnold

PAIR ARRESTED ARE INDICTED

George L. Brooks and his alleged confederate, Miss Blanche A. Cote, arrested July 17, were indicted by the Middlesex County Grand Jury last week in connection with the breaks in five Greater Boston homes. Brooks also was indicted for armed assault with intent to murder. Patrolman Archibald T. O'Connell of the Winchester police, who arrested them.

Miss Cote, 25-year-old brunette, of Ocean avenue, Revere, awaits trial in the East Cambridge Jail in bonds of $13,000 while Brooks, 28, is held in bonds of $45,000.

During the early morning hours of July 17, according to the authorities, O'Connell observed Miss Cote sitting in an automobile near the home of John L. Cayting in Winchester. The officer saw Brooks come from between two houses and get into the car, the police say.

Not satisfied with responses to questions which he put to the couple, O'Connell got into the automobile and started for the police station sitting in the front seat while Brooks sat in the rear seat.

During the drive he heard a click and looked around into the muzzle of a pistol which Brooks was pointing at him, the police say. The officer grappled with Brooks and obtained possession of the pistol which was loaded and had misfired.

It is further alleged that a fur coat taken from the Cayting home was found in the automobile and that a subsequent search of a room in Somerville, occupied by the couple revealed a number of articles stolen from other homes.

BROOKS GETS 18 TO 30 YEARS

Woman Companion Sent to Sherborn Reformatory

Assigned for trial before Judge Fosdick in the Middlesex Superior Court at East Cambridge this week on 11 indictments involving breaks in Winchester, Arlington, Medford and Somerville, George L. Brooks of Bradley Beach, N. J., and Mrs. Blanche A. Cote of Worcester, changed their pleas from not guilty to guilty on the charges. Brooks pleaded not guilty only to the indictment charging him with assault with intent to kill Officer Archie T. O'Connell on the night of July 17.

Judge Fosdick sentenced Brooks to State Prison for not less than 18, nor more than 30 years, and the woman to Sherborn reformatory for 14 months. Several character witnesses testified on behalf of the woman and Brooks made a plea for her, stating that she never knew that what he was involved in or that he was engaged in any crooked work whatever.

The breaks which brought the couple into court were committed during the summer and included the home of Mr. John Cayting in this town besides other houses elsewhere. When they were arrested by Officer O'Connell it was charged that Brooks attempted to shoot him while being taken to the police station, his revolver missing fire.

WINCHESTER MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

For the first time since the custom was started, the annual Teachers' luncheon, given by the Mothers' Association to all the town public school teachers on the first day of school had to be held away from Mrs. Harrison Parker's garden owing to the inclement weather. The corps of teachers has increased to such an extent in the past few years that, in stormy weather, Mrs. Parker's "Red Roof" cannot shelter them all. This made it necessary to go elsewhere. It was a great disappointment to all who for several years have enjoyed Mrs. Parker's hospitality.

Mr. Quinn very kindly offered the use of Mystic School assembly hall and luncheon was served there by a very efficient group of mothers under the direction of Mrs. Hollis Nickerson. The hall was cleared and card tables were arranged so that eight persons could be served comfortably at a time. At 12 o'clock the teachers from the six elementary schools and Wadleigh School arrived and 70 were accommodated at that time. About 12:45 the High School and special teachers came, and including Mr. and Mrs. Quinn made 36 more to sit down for the second serving. In all 106 were served.

The spirit of the luncheon was one of friendliness and sociability, and it was a great pleasure to the president and members of the social committee to serve such an appreciative group of men and women.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

The first monthly business meeting of the local branch for the fall-winter season was held on Thursday evening at the home of Regent Ambrose.

Outline of the diocesan charities to be assisted during the coming months was presented to the meeting and with the demonstration of enthusiasm over this fine work, it is apparent that the reports from our branch for this year will at least equal if not exceed the work done in past years.

The regular social meeting to be held on Thursday, Sept. 26 will take the form of an indoor social and complete details will be included in next week's issue of the Star.

Following the business program a buffet luncheon was served under the direction of Sisters Carroll and Murphy, who, as usual, were delightful hostesses.

Mr. Hugh D. McElhiney of the local post office returned to his home on Englewood road, Monday, from the Naval Hospital, Chelsea, where he underwent an operation.

PEARL BATES MORTON

Pearl Bates Morton announces that new additions to the faculty of the National Associated Studios of Music include members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, Miss Constance Berry Page, danseuse, and also Miss Dolores Rodriguez, Spanish pianist. The school opens the week beginning Sept. 30.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

In spite of inclement weather and the fact that the annual convention of Middlesex County W. C. T. U. was held in a remote corner of the county, over 100 delegates and friends gathered in Holliston on Tuesday, Sept. 10 and held one of the most interesting and inspiring conventions in the history of the county.

Reports from the presidents of 28 unions in the county showed that educational temperance work was progressing; but it was not surprising to find that the schools of Somerville walked away with many of the county prizes, when we remember the hearty co-operation given the union by the superintendent and teachers of that city.

Rev. Mark Shaw, pastor of the entertaining church, and Mrs. Ella A. Gleason, Honorary State President, gave helpful messages. They urged the membership of the county to present an organized front against the evil forces which are trying to break down our State enforcement law, to that end committees will be appointed in every town and city to work for the defeat of the wet referendum in 1930.

A short playlet, "Unto the Least of These," was presented by the following ladies: Mrs. Sarah Bell and Mrs. Grace M. Hamilton of Winchester, Mrs. Florence Packard of Malden, Mrs. Nellie Wilkes of Cambridge and Mrs. Maud Simmons of Somerville.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Grace M. Hamilton, Winchester; Vice President-at-Large, Mrs. Mary L. Burnes, Woburn; Secretary, Mrs. Maud L. Simmons, Somerville; Treasurer, Mrs. Clara L. Maynard, Cambridge.

In behalf of the county Mrs. Ella A. Gleason thanked Mrs. Hamilton for her untiring efforts and conscientious work as president during the past 10 years, and presented her with a beautiful brief case, a loving gift from the county. In concluding her presentation speech Mrs. Gleason said:

She has served us well for ten long years. She has shared our hopes, our joys, our fears and we say again as we have said before: We hope she will serve us ten years more.

REVIEW OF WINCHESTER'S RECORD ON TENNIS COURTS THIS YEAR

The Winchester girls have been very successful on the tennis courts this summer. "Ginny" Merrill won the Junior State Championship Mixed Doubles title with Donald Frame of New York who was last year's captain of the Harvard Freshman team. Helen Bidwell and "Nat" Niles were on the other side of the net. In this same tournament Helen was runner-up in singles and "Ginny" and Louise Packer were runners-up in doubles.

Madeline Little reached the finals in the younger class before being defeated. "Charlie" Wadsworth, former member of the high school team and member of the Harvard Freshman team, paired with Donald Frame reached the finals but were defeated after a hard match.

At the Tedesco Country Club in Salem, Winchester also fared well. "Charlie" Wadsworth holds the Men's North Shore Singles Championship title and Louise Packer the woman's singles.

Mary Cutter won four tournaments this summer. She came out on top at the Beach Club junior singles at Magnolia and also won the mixed doubles in the same tournament with Edward Pugh. She holds the title of the Ocean Side singles and the mixed doubles with William S. Packer, Jr. which took place at Magnolia.

Francis E. Smith, Jr. and his sister, Janet, champion of Wellesley, won the Old Town Country Club tournament at Newburyport in mixed doubles. In men's doubles W. S. Packer, Jr. and Francis E. Smith, Jr. carried off the honors.

Helen Bidwell won the Woods Hole tournament on the Cape. She was also runner-up in two or three other tournaments.

WINCHESTER BOYS AT NORTH-EASTERN

Many Winchester young men have started classes at Northeastern University this week. Harry A. Gardner and Harold L. Johnson have started their senior year of electrical engineering. One of the requirements for a degree of B.E.E. is to spend at least 100 hours of research and experimental work in the laboratory. Both of these fellows will be kept busy during the next few months experimenting and preparing a thesis on the results obtained.

James Kearns is studying mechanical engineering and starting his second year of the course. "Jimmy" is very interested in this field of engineering and he should experience no difficulty with the course.

Lamert Clark and Kenneth Cullen have started the second year at the School of Business Administration. "Ken" has been working with the Engineering Department of this town during the summer but he feels that he can return to his business course without trouble. We haven't heard much from Lamert but we know that if he tries as hard to attain a good scholastic standing as he did to complete a forward pass on the local gridiron, he will succeed.

Francis McHugh is a new member attending the university. He is taking the Business Administration course and we hope that he succeeds as well as the upper classmen have done.

Frederick Cobb is also attending Northeastern but he will not begin his school work until October 14 as he is at present doing co-operative work with a banking firm in Charlestown.

The public schools opened Tuesday with a large enrollment and especially for the first day of school. Without doubt, opening the schools a little later has convenience a large number of parents and has brought into the schools on the opening day practically all of the children. This is a distinct step forward both for the teachers and the pupils.

The conditions generally throughout the elementary schools are excellent. The committee are now concerned with making immediate provision for more adequate housing of the Wadleigh and High School pupils. The Wadleigh School has during this first week the highest membership that it has ever had and it is the school which will have the Committee's most serious thought so that as far as it is within their power, no child shall be handicapped. The High School likewise has its highest membership with definite need for additional space.

The following is the registration of the public schools:

	Sept. 12, 1928	Sept. 12, 1929
High	525	542
Highland	49	42
Lincoln	310	308

Wadleigh	298	337
Washington	195	190

*Decrease due to opening of special class at Noonan School.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Hildreth of Main street have returned from a summer spent at Winter Island, Salem.

Mr. E. H. Stone will spend the next two weeks at Sunset Hill House, Sugar Hill, N. H.

Miss Edith A. Johnson of Wilson street was given a surprise shower last Friday evening at the home of Mrs. C. Meredith Ellis, Winthrop, which was attended by a host of friends. Miss Johnson is to marry Mr. Ernest L. Parker of Quincy on Oct. 5. On Monday evening Miss Mollie May Omans of Brookline is giving a bridge in honor of Miss Johnson.

ROTARY CLUB OF WINCHESTER

President Roscoe stated that the meeting of Sept. 12 had more "snap" than any meeting of the summer. We believe that he was correct. It was like a family reunion to greet all who have returned from vacation, some from far away lands and all agreeing that Winchester is as fine a place as any of them.

And then there was the new song-sheet. We have waited long for this, and naturally expected a worthy product. We were not disappointed. Considerable time was spent in rehearsing the newer songs. The music committee was given a vote of thanks for their efforts in furnishing the new collection of songs.

Chairman Harris of the convalescee committee requests that members who propose to go to Poland Spring, Oct. 3 to make reservations at once. Registration closes Saturday, Sept. 21. Our club should have a good representation at the convalescee. Those who attend are sure to make friends whom they will value highly in the future.

President Roscoe gave the final announcement of the visit of our District Governors next Thursday, the 19th. An inter-city meeting will be held in the great hall of the Calumet Club and we shall entertain the Rotary Clubs of Arlington, Lexington, Medford and Woburn. We have given Governor "Tom" to understand that these clubs represent the cream of the 31st District, and we shall spare no effort to present the proof.

We expect 100 per cent attendance from our own club and very large delegations from our guest clubs. We wish to exhibit New England Rotary hospitality at its best, and we feel that we are capable of doing it. Every Winchester Rotarian must feel that his personal reputation as a host is at stake; he must count the day lost if he has not made an agreeable welcome for several of our guests and shaken hands with Governor "Tom." The club expects every member to do his part. We need you in person. Do not fail.

At this meeting, Sept. 12, "Vic" delivered a travelogue about his recent visit in Sweden and on route. "Vic" did not tell us everything he did, but he admitted that a Ford car has its uses. He displayed a pardonable pride in the beauties of his native land and in the accomplishments of its citizens. "Vic" has a way of relating his experiences which makes them appear very real to his listeners. We wish to thank him for his talk and for the photographs with which it was illustrated.

Attendance on Sept. 5—membership, 27 less 3 absentees—24 net for 88.89 per cent.

Marion Perham Gale, of 49 Yale street, this town, has received an appointment as one of the editors of Poetry World, published by Henry Harrison, of 19 Stuyvesant street, New York. Associated with Mrs. Gale on the editorial board are Parmenia Migel, Alice Rogers Lager, Gertrude White and Blanche Lee of New York, and Jerry Clason of Georgia.

The honor comes through distinguished work done in the poetic field by Mrs. Gale. Her verse has appeared in newspapers and magazines (including Poetry World) since 1920, and last year "Vignettes in Violet," her first book of poems, was published by Harold Vinal, Ltd. Her work has been quoted in various anthologies, among them Mr. Harrison's "The Grub Street Book of Verse 1929," and in his forthcoming "One for Posterity."

Mrs. Gale's musical and literary articles have appeared in numerous publications, among them the Boston Transcript, Herald, Globe and Post, and in the Musical Courier, Musical America, and Federation Topics. In announcing the appointment, Mr. Harrison said he was pleased to add to his staff a poet of such critical ability. The duties of the six editors of Poetry World make them responsible for acceptance or rejection of manuscripts. Mrs. Gale's appointment begins with the October issue.

WINCHESTER T. T. TAKES UNI-VERSITY CLUB INTO CAMP

Before the largest crowd of the season, on Manchester Field the Winchester Town Team won from the University Club 5 to 3 last Saturday afternoon. "Ollie" Lee pitched the best game he has shown this summer. Gilligan on the mound for the University Club was nothing to write home about, and it must be said the team gave him very poor support, making six errors. Winchester put two runs across in the first inning.
T. Dolan and Hevey were out at first,
Jonna Dolan singled, "Nicky" Fitzgerald singled and Dolan scored. Fitzgerald went to third when the left fielder made a mess of the hit. Duran was hit by the pitcher, and on his attempted steal Fitzgerald came home when the catcher threw the ball to center field.

Winchester added another in the next frame. Valley singled, Martin popped out, Lee hit to the first baseman and the ball got away from the pitcher who covered first, Lee going to second. Valley was out trying to score. Hevey singled scoring Lee.
The visitors put one run over in the fifth. Kwaker flew out, McNeil singled, Mickel beat out a hit, Gilligan got a base on balls, Riley flew out and McNeil scored after the catch but Mickel was out trying for third.

In the sixth Winchester added two more runs. Valley singled, Martin flew out, Lee was safe on shortstop's error, T. Dolan popped out, Hevey singled scoring Valley, Lee going to third, from where he scored on another error by the shortstop.

The visitors scored twice in the eighth. Gilligan struck out, Riley was safe on Hevey's error, Boyle caught one of Lee's fast balls and parked it in the river for a home run, scoring Riley ahead of him. This ended the scoring.

AUTO ACCIDENTS OVER WEEK-END

Friday afternoon shortly before 4 o'clock John W. Erickson of 185 River street, Cambridge, 67 years of age, walked, so it is claimed, into the rear end of a truck on Main street.
He was knocked down and was taken to the hospital by passing motorists, where he was found to be injured about the left shoulder and chest. The truck was driven by Harlow E. Bainton of Wilmington. According to his report, Erickson started across the street, hesitated and then started on, walking into his truck near the rear end. Edward Anderson, living with Erickson, accompanied him to the hospital.

Later on Friday afternoon Miss Mary A. Sweeney of Middlesex street stopped her car on Main street to pick up her father, Joseph Durso of Malden, who was following her, swung his car sharply to avoid an oncoming electric car and hit her. She was driving a Whippet roadster owned jointly by her and Margaret Mc-Elhiney of the same address. Durso was driving an Essex sedan, which was somewhat damaged by the impact.

Notwithstanding the traffic lights at Bacon and Fletcher streets, two cars failed to pass at that point at 10:40 Friday night when a Ford truck owned by Armand and Anna Morean of Lowell and operated by Armand collided with a Gardner brougham driven by Joseph F. Boudeau of Watertown. The truck was going out of Bacon street and the Gardner crossing to Bacon from Fletcher.
Helen Boudeau complained of a bruised leg after the accident.

At 12:45 p. m. Sunday, when Dennis J. Collins of 45 Russell road decided to turn into that thoroughfare from Main street, he claims to have been hit in the rear by a Chevrolet truck driven by Alvin W. Hubbard of Woburn and owned by Woods Brothers of that city. Both cars were damaged.

Symmes Corner was the scene of an accident at 8:45 p. m. Sunday when an Auburn roadster driven by E. J. Casey of 54 Wedgemere avenue and a Chevrolet coach driven by Walter C. Glines of Somerville collided at the head of Bacon street. Headlights on both cars were smashed.

FOUND DIAMONDS IN AN OLD CANDY BOX

While looking over some antiques Saturday afternoon at the home of the late Mrs. Minnie E. Williams of 8 Salisbury road, John T. Keegan of Ravine road, Melrose, unearthed a candy box in a secret compartment, in the attic, and found several diamond rings and a $100 bill.

Previous search, by representatives of the executor of the estate, had failed to find any hidden treasure, although it was believed that Mrs. Wil-iams had a secret hiding place somewhere in the home for her jewels and money.

Edward F. Cassell, well-known Boston real estate dealer, is executor of the estate. Mrs. Williams left no relatives. Keegan turned the box and money over to the executor.

It is a wise man who puts in his coal now. Parker & Lane Co. Tel.

penter by trade, although retired for a number of years and an invalid for a considerable time. He is survived only by his widow, Mrs. Mary L.
Wetherbee.

The funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the John W. Whitley, minister of the

WINCHESTER AS AN AIR PORT

To the Editor of the Star:

There has been a drive on recently to air-mark as many towns and cities in New England as possible. As figures now stand, Massachusetts heads the list for New England with well over a hundred communities marked with the approved type of marker.

So far, Winchester has not shown a great deal of interest, as a town, in this fastest growing new industry. It does seem, however, that a little money could be spent in painting "Winchester" on the High School roof in aircraft orange paint. The cost of doing this would be negligible in comparison to its value and if done now, the town would receive a certificate with Colonel Lindbergh's signature certifying to Winchester's aid to aviation.

The approved type lettering is simple and all laid out to scale in the Department of Commerce report on airway marking. I have one of these reports and would be glad to lend it to anyone interested.

Of course, it would be best to have the marker lighted for night flying, but this could be done at any time after the letters are painted.

Incidentally, Winchester has an ideal location for a small airport for privately owned light planes. It is that swamp area between the main line of the Boston and Maine and the Woburn branch. On the west and north, it is bounded by Beggs & Cobb Tannery and by Swanton street.

Last year, I talked with Mr. Hinds, the town engineer about this and found plans for filling this area had been made. However, it is in the plan to plant it with trees and to arrange the stream to run down the center of the area. If, in filling, the stream could run close along the Woburn branch embankment, or better, be put underground, it would leave an area giving a runway of 1600 feet northwest to northeast or, vice-versa, southeast to southwest, and a runway of 900 feet east and west. On the west would be the only part where there would be trees and by filling deep enough, the effective height of these would be reduced. On the east would be the wires above the tracks, which could be put in cables under the B. & M. main line tracks. If the filling was carried up to the B. & M. track level, there would be no obstruction to the east and a signal system for trains would be simple. However, the planes of today would never need the entire 900 feet of runway available and would clear any train passing.

Winchester is not in need of an airport at present, but it will take many years to fill that swamp if the town dump can be used for a gauge and I believe that before the filling could be completed, there will be a demand for an airport here for private planes. The location could not be bettered either as to central location, nearness to the automobile service stations which could easily service aircraft and aviation engines, and it is not in a residential district.

However, one thing that we can do now at little cost and which would give good returns would be to air-mark Winchester as soon as possible. Air-mindedly yours,
Theodore Elliott

THE BOYS OF WINCHESTER

(Written for The Winchester Star)

Deal gently with Winchester's boys, let them feel
Our heart yearns deeply for their well;
Tell them the errors of youth's way
Wherein a boy's devious footsteps stray.
So shalt thou win our boys; call youth back
From error's smooth, seductive track;
And warnings we have kindly given
May guide youth's wandering steps to Heaven.

"Vitamin" or "Vitamine"?

The pronunciation of this term depends on the form of spelling used. Two forms are in use, vi-ta-min, giving the first "i" the diphthongal sound that it has in aisle, and vitamine, pronounced vi-ta-meen. Of late, certain medical men have introduced the pronunciation vi-ta-min, a pronunciation that is not yet recorded by the dictionaries.—Literary Digest.

Hotel in a Mountain

One of the most extraordinary hotels in the world is on the Jungfrau. It is on the shoulder just below the crest of this Swiss giant, and was excavated rather than built, as most of the structure, which has five stories, is actually within the mountain. Everything in the hotel is worked by electricity, and access is gained by a tunnel from the terminal station of the Jungfrau railway.

The most significant feature in the history of an epoch is the manner in which of welcoming a Great Man . . . whether they shall take him to be a god, to be a prophet, or what they shall take him to be? YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

Winchester has cause to crow at the reputation the town enjoys of being the banner residential town of the Commonwealth.

We Winchesterites have to pay something more than our respects to the tax collector.

Most every Winchesterite is strong for good bird singing, but a mob of chattering sparrows outside of the bedroom window early in the morning is not so good.

Winchester men and women are anxious to have good figures.
But a male Winchesterite's idea of good figures is those that have a $ sign in front of them.

How many Winchesterites remember when a "date" was either something to eat or a number on a calendar?

The assumption of some Winchester youths of 18 or thereabouts that he knows more than his parents, would not be so irritating if sometimes it were not true.

The daughter of one of our Winchester attorneys was asked if she would consider stealing a kiss petty larceny. Being a barrister's daughter and familiar with the degrees of crime she replied, "No it's grand."

Virtue is its own reward. The Winchester fellow who tells pleasant lies generally has more friends than the fellow who persists in disagreeable truths.

There is one fellow here in Winchester who is utterly indifferent to fate. This fellow even lets his wife buy his cigars and neckties.

Distance lends enchantment to the view, especially when we view the people who are too close.

Two staid Winchester gentlemen were discussing a certain clergyman: "He brings things home to you that you never saw before," said the first. "And I know a certain laundryman who does that, too," added the other.

A lazy man is a dead one who can't be buried.

By the way, the Winchesterite who says that life isn't worth living, ought to tell it to Moffett & McMullen or to Kelley & Hawes, for instance.

Winchesterites whose only books are woman's looks are students of folly.

CARTAGENA: WALLED CITY OF THE SPANISH MAIN

Recent dispatches from Cartagena relative to a new political situation in Colombia, bring Colombia's chief naval station into the news limelight. Cartagena, with its 400 years of stirring history, is still the most Spanish of all the former Spanish towns in Central and South America.

The city lies on Colombia's Caribbean coast on a peninsula joined to the mainland by a causeway, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society. Its grey and ivory stone and brick houses with their corrugated red roofs contrast with the green hills that rise in the background and form a pleasant picture from the water.

Ramparts 40 Feet Thick

Lying parallel to the mainland is Tierra Bomba Island which must be skirted by vessels entering the harbor of Cartagena. Of the two entrances, the Boca Grande (Large Mouth) is nearest the city; but it is too shallow for shipping to pass through, so the lower entrance or Boca Chica (Small Mouth) which lies eight miles distant, is utilized.

Walls in some places 40 feet thick encircle the old town and recall the days when the city was one of the strongest defenses on the Spanish Main. Although they are now dismantled, several well-preserved fortresses, which dot the walls, present a military aspect.

Arches, balconies and grills give Cartagena a Moorish air as any city of southern Spain. Crumbling arches and faded plaster structures attest the city's age. Many of the balconies exhibit fanciful carving in stone and the grills are often of wrought iron in arabesque designs. The doors and windows which front on the narrow, dark, cobble-stoned streets, are heavily grilled. Most of the older houses are built in square shapes around a patio or courtyard where a grass-grown plot, a well or fountain, plants, a tree or two and usually a gorgeously colored tropical bird, make a delightful spot in this always warm city. The mean annual temperature is 82° F.

Has Its Modern Touches

Burros and automobiles pass through the chief gate of Cartagena, a venerable structure of yellow stone surmounted by a steeple. Electric lights brighten the streets that once echoed to the footsteps of Sir Francis Drake's plundering crew. Tramways roll along under overhanging balconies of lilac or orange plaster. Women in Parisian dresses shop in the tiny stores with their stocks of brilliant shawls, jewels, or luscious tropical fruit, which nestle in the colonnades surrounding the Plaza de Los Coches. The marble pulpit of the Jesuit church of Saint John of God is celebrated throughout South America.

At present Cartagena is secondary in commercial importance to Barranquilla, which is also a Caribbean seaport. Nevertheless it does a thriving trade and two-masted schooners as well as large merchant steamers line the waterfront. The bulk of the exports which pass through the town consist of coffee, chicle, ipecac, hides, gold, platinum, balsam and cacao. Negroes in canoes carry on traffic with natives in the many small towns bordering the mainland.

Syrians Peddle in Colombia, Too
The larger part of Cartagena's population is negro, while mestizos or mixed Indians and whites form the comparatively small middle class, and pure whites of Spanish descent form only about a 10th. About half the business in Cartagena is carried on by Syrians. They have agents throughout the town and country and no hamlet in the interior is free from a visit from a Syrian peddler with his omnipresent pack. The railroad out of Cartagena extends only to Calamar about 65 miles distant, but the intrepid peddlers pierce the interior afoot or by canoe. Much of the profits of the Syrian merchants are invested in Colombian mines and real estate.

THE BURIATS, WHO BARTER WIVES BUT SEEK "ETERNAL" COMPANIONSHIP OF HORSES

The Buriats who recently joined the Mongols in destroying a portion of the Chinese Eastern Railway came into the spotlight two years ago when the Russian government banned wife stealing among members of the race in Siberia.

Theft of wives is not a traditional custom among the Buriats. Marriage among them usually is effected through an exchange of children arranged by their parents, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

How Wives are Exchanged

When the parents of a young Buriat swain decide he should have a wife, they consult the parents of an eligible maiden and offer a daughter in exchange for her hand. If there is no daughter to exchange, the son's wife is, in effect bought by a gift of cattle. Frequently, among the well-to-do Buriats, the bride's dowry of furs which would be valued at thousands of dollars on an American fur market, offset the "price" paid for her.

Buddhist temples with their prayer wheels which say thousands of prayers per revolution and Christian churches are found in Buriat villages; but both Buddhists and Christians, attend Shamanistic rites at some of the mountain-top shrines. Shamanism is Nature worship. Adherents of Shamanism believe that rain, the rivers, the wind and the mountains are peopled by gods. The higher into the mountain the Shamanist goes to worship, the greater favor he receives from the dieties. Frequently worshippers climb to the mountain-top shrine where, amid chanting and weird contortions of Shamanist priests, the Buriats make their sacrifices on a sacred fire.

Tie Horses to Master's Graves

The Buriat and his horse are inseparable companions. A horse often is tied to his owner's grave to starve to death in order that it may follow him in death. Good horses are scarce so the heirs sometimes manage to appease the gods by substituting a useless hack or they tie the good saddle horse by such a flimsy thong that it soon frees itself and wanders back to the village.

SIAM IN 1929

The head of the Siamese postal system, Phya Prakit Kolasutra, who has been inspecting the United States postal system, reports communication systems well advanced in his native land.

Siam's air mail system has operated successfully for six years. Telegraph offices number 472, and 556 post offices serve every city and rural center. Wireless service handles messages to foreign countries.

Siam, one of the last nations on earth where a king is an absolute monarch, outsteps some European colonies that are her neighbors in the march of progress, according to a summary of recent geographic changes in the land of the white elephant, prepared by the National Geographic Society.

Good and Bad American Visitors

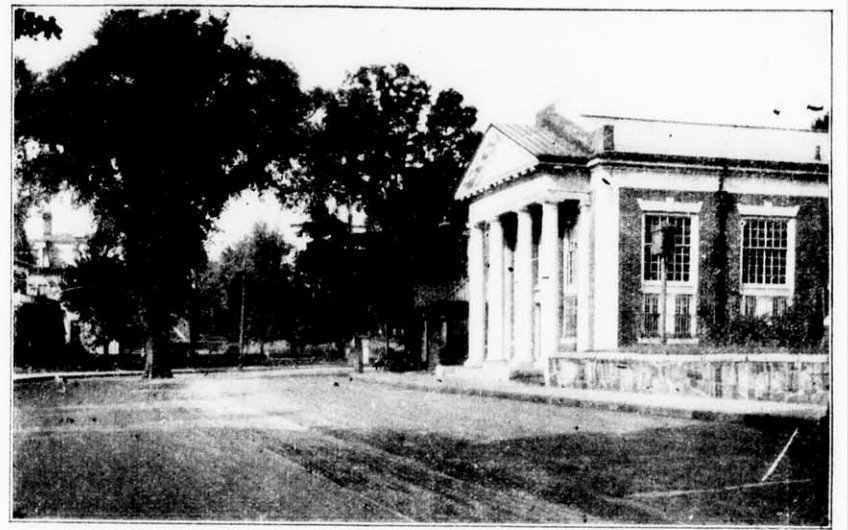

Two kinds of American visitors, one good, one bad, figure prominently in the kingdom's new prosperity. Francis Bowes Sayre, the late President Wilson's son-in-law, and Dr. Hugh M. Smith, former Commissioner of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, are staunch aids to Siam. The former headed a commission which secured treaties from foreign nations that removed extra-territorial rights and lifted tariff restrictions; Dr. Smith now directs the development of Siam's fishery resources.

The unwelcome American visitor is the lovely but malicious "Florida weed." The blue water hyacinth of Florida, brought to the East Indies as a flower, has become a curse. Because the Queen of Siam brought the first specimens for her garden from Java it is often called Java weed, but out in the country where it creates a national problem by clogging the irrigation canals it has earned the name, "blue devil."

Irrigation and Railway Projects

Siam, jungles, heavy rainfall, are three ideas closely associated. Why, then, must Siam build irrigation dams and canals? The answer is that the jungles are in the mountainous borderlands; the central delta plain receives an Illinois rainfall. Because the Siamese grow rice, they must have a wealth of water; hence, irrigation. The Prask project, with a barrage type dam, completed in 1924, serves 488,000 acres. The Subhan

BIDS ASKED ON ABERJONA SEWER

Repairs to Leaking Line to Be Made in Woburn

With the announcement Friday that bids would be asked by the City of Woburn for the repair of the Aberjona Valley sewer, built two years ago, which, because of leakage, is not acceptable to the Metropolitan District Commission, the final steps are being taken to end a situation, which has provoked more discussion than any other municipal enterprise in years.

There is an appropriation of $44,000 available, together with an unexpended balance of the original appropriation, approximately $28,000.

Superintendent Henry V. Macksey of the Department of Public Works has retained Metcalf & Eddy, engineers, Boston, to supervise the work and to pass on the qualifications of the bidders.

In the book of specifications contractors are given two blank pages in which they will state just what method they intend to pursue in stopping the leaks.

At the present, two electric pumps, installed by the city, are pumping 1800 gallons of water a minute from the sewer line. Bidders are advised that the water will be kept down to a depth of at least 12 inches to allow prospective bidders to examine the line.

The pumping by the city will be discontinued after bids are received, but the successful bidder will be allowed to use the pole line and electrical connections which were put in from Washington street solely for this purpose.

Pollution of the Aberjona River, which runs into the Mystic Lakes at Winchester, from tanneries has made necessary the installation of a sewer line. The tanners cannot operate without polluting the stream, unless a sewer line is made available, and two of the largest tanneries in that city are faced with injunction proceedings in court Sept. 12.

This action was brought by Attorney General Warner when it seemed that nothing was being done to bring about repair of the line. The tanners will contest the court action because, if the restraining order is issued, it will mean that more than 500 men will be thrown out of work.

Winchester residents have complained for years of the alleged nuisance caused by the pollution by the tanneries and a large chemical plant. It was thought that the passage of a special act of the Legislature in 1911, specifically singling out this stream and forbidding pollution, under penalty of $500 fine for each offense, would straighten out the situation, but it failed to do so.

The Aberjona Valley sewer has been the bugaboo of more than one local administration, and even in the Legislature and in the Senate, it was fought over year after year, until the city decided to undertake the construction of the sewer at its own expense.

When the sewer was practically finished it was found that so much water was leaking into it that the Metropolitan District Commission would not permit it to be connected with the Metropolitan system.

WINCHESTER GIRLS IN PHILADELPHIA

This year only three girls, Louise Packer, Helen Bidwell and Mary Cutter journeyed to the National Junior tournament at Philadelphia which began on Labor Day. While they did not bring back any titles, they made a good showing. Louise Packer was defeated by Evelyn Parsons, seeded number 3, by the score of 6-2, 6-4. Helen Bidwell also lost to a Californian, Marion Hunt, by the same score. Mary had another encounter with Katharine Winthrop of Hamilton, the girl champion of Massachusetts. This time Katharine won, obtaining revenge for the defeat she suffered from Mary at the finals of the Oceanside tournament at Magnolia.

In doubles, our girls met each other. Louise teamed up with Katharine Winthrop, defeated Mary and Helen after a close match. They fell later before Olive Wade, woman's champion of Canada, who was paired up with Marion Hunt.

The Winchester girls stayed at the Chestnut Hill Academy which is just across from the Philadelphia Cricket Club and this made it very convenient.

BASEBALL TOMORROW

The continuation of the "little world's series" between the Winchester Town Team and the Winchester A. A. will be resumed again tomorrow on Manchester Field. Both Managers Farrell and "Mack" will put strong lineups on the field and one of the best games of the season is expected to result.

The teams have already played three games, two having been won by the Town Team and the odd one by the A. A. In the last game which was won by the A. A. the fans saw one of the best lineups of the season on the field and in the game tomorrow will use a much stronger one.

With nearly every one home from the beaches and mountains a record crowd is expected to be on hand when the umpire calls "play ball."

"Olio" Lee will probably be the choice of Manager Farrell with the A. A. having several star box men to choose from. The game will start at 3:15 p. m.

Mrs. Charles E. Hoey, chairman of the Disabled Veterans' Group, is in charge of the luncheon bridge to be given by the group at the Calumet Club on the afternoon of Friday, Oct. 18.

MISS RUTH E. POLAND GIVEN RECEPTION

Mr. and Mrs. William E. McDonald, Jr., entertained a large gathering on Wednesday evening of last week at their residence on Hill street in honor of their niece, Miss Ruth E. Poland, besides the members of the family and their many relatives, the party consisted mainly of old neighbors from the Hill street section.

The evening's festivities opened with the announcement of Miss Poland's engagement to Mr. Joseph J. Tansey. This announcement was made by Mrs. McDonald as she welcomed all her old friends and neighbors. Miss Poland is a grand-daughter of the late Mrs. Mary Cullen, one of the early settlers of the neighborhood.

On behalf of the gathering Mrs. McDonald presented Miss Poland a very beautiful black walnut chest lined with cedar and when the guest of the evening had recovered her composure and thanked all in her gracious way a fine program of entertainment was enjoyed.

Besides Mrs. Mollie L. Maguire and Miss Mabel M. Coty, local entertainers, there were present some friends from Boston and Medford who gave freely of their talents to the delight of their audience.

A buffet luncheon was served during the entertainment.

Miss Poland is the daughter of Mrs. Anne C. and the late George R. Poland of Canal street. She is a graduate of Winchester High School, Chandler Secretarial School and Burdette Normal School. For the past three years she has been a teacher of commercial subjects at Stoneham

GRANADA THEATRE

Seldom is a theater afforded the opportunity of presenting to the public a motion picture of such unusual merit as "Show Boat," and the management of the big Granada Theater in Malden is justly proud to offer this million dollar spectacle for seven days starting tomorrow, Saturday, with special shows on Sunday. "Show Boat" is not merely a motion picture. Besides being an intensely dramatic picturization with dialogue of Edna Ferber's famous best-selling novel of the same name, the production includes, in sound, all of the famous musical hits of the Ziegfeld extravaganza "Show Boat," presented as in integral part of the program by the world famous stars who appeared at the Ziegfeld Theatre, New York. Therefore, besides seeing as living characters the romance that Miss Ferber gave the world in fiction, theatre-goers actually hear the equivalent of a high priced New York show as a part of their entertainment.

The screen version of "Show Boat" is the $1,000,000 effort to picture in lavish detail the exotic and romantic epic of the river-bank show folk. Life along the giant Mississippi is one of the most fascinating of American history, and into this colorful period came floating the glamorous stern-wheeler carrying its cargo of minstrelsy and mirth. Seven months were expended in making the film version, the dialogue version and synchronizing and sound effects not only at Universal but on the Mississippi and Sacramento rivers, and exact replicas of the show boats themselves were built especially for the production. The cast is headed by Laura La Plante and Joseph Schildkraut. Other notables who play important roles are Otis Harlan, Emily Fitzroy and Alma Rubens. Helen Morgan, Jules Bledsoe, Aunt Jemima and the famous Plantation Singers are seen and heard from the original Ziegfeld show. This picture will be shown for seven days at the Granada and is well worth a special effort to see.

For the last times today the Granada will offer the all-talking hit of Norma Shearer called "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney." This talking version of the famous stage success has the most brilliant dialogue to reach the screen. Miss Shearer is great as the lady crook who takes British elite for everything they have.

ORPHEUM THEATRE

Depicting vividly and with a strong dramatic background the hazardous life of the pilots who fly the air mail planes by day and night across the continent, "The Air Legion" starring Ben Lyon, Antonio Moreno and Martha Sleeper is the feature picture now playing at the Orpheum Theatre, Malden. Around the venturesome calling of these intrepid airmen, many of whom are former flyers who saw service in the World War, James Ashmore Creelman has written an absorbing story, the motivation of which is the restoration of the fires of courage to the spirit of a young pilot who "rozes yellow" in the face of death while breasting storms above the earth. Martha Sleeper is seen as the girl for whose love the youngster contends with a former army "ace" who cures his cowardice in memory of the lad's father. It is a love story that sweeps in soaring glory to the clouds and swirls through looming death and sheeted flames to a climax of colossal grandeur. The second feature on this program is another daring episode of "The Final Reckoning" starring Buffalo Bill, Jr.

Considered one of the greatest motion pictures of all time, the grand revival of "The White Sister" starring Lillian Gish, with Ronald Colman heading a notable cast of screen favorites, comes to the Orpheum Theatre next Monday for a three day engagement. This picture is founded on the famous story by E. Marlow Crawford. Lillian Gish appears in one of the most beautifully appealing roles of her career. Seven months was spent in Italy filming this picture and one of the notably interesting photographic features is that of the volcano Vesuvius in actual eruption with tons of lava pouring down the mountain-side, destroying everything in its wake. The essential theme of the narrative is that of a girl tricked out of home, fortune and lover by the unscrupulous wiles of a scheming half-sister. It is a story of the beauty of youth and love against the machinations of fate.

Mrs. Arthur Turner of Cabot street, who has been spending the summer in Europe has arrived home.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOTES

The Committee is very pleased with the conditions throughout the elementary schools. Generally speaking, they have opened under very admirable conditions. They regret to announce, however, that the secondary school facilities; namely, the Wadleigh and High Schools, are especially inadequate this year with the gradual increase in these latter years which was not unexpected.

It has been known for some time that the Wadleigh School has lacked the following facilities:

1. A sufficient number of classrooms to adequately carry on the educational program.
2. Lack of adequate play space and space for carrying on a physical education program.
3. A few special rooms for activities that would be naturally carried on in a special type of room.
4. Adequate room for manual activities.
5. A gymnasium.
6. An assembly hall.
7. A lunch room.

During the past school year, as many of the parents know, the Town Hall has been used for classes in music at some inconvenience and loss of time.

The number of pupils now in the Wadleigh School is 325, 175 pupils in the 7th grade and 150 pupils in the 8th grade. Since the school has been operating with four divisions of 7th grade pupils and four divisions of 8th grade pupils obviously if a similar organization were continued each division in the 7th grade would have about 44 pupils which the Committee believe excessive for effective instruction.

Though the Committee cannot, until a new building is provided, remedy most of these conditions, it does feel that it can provide extra classrooms by placing a double portable school in the Wadleigh yard. This will mean that classes will be sufficiently reduced in size to make for effective class instruction and thus no child will be handicapped because of being in large classes. The Committee expect therefore, to provide at once a double portable school building to take care of this situation.

The high school, although it has an assembly hall, a gymnasium, a modified lunch room and other facilities which are totally lacking in the Wadleigh School, has so grown in numbers, now numbering over 550, that these facilities are not adequate. It should be remembered that the building was built to accommodate about 450 pupils and at a time when many of the activities now carried on in school were not thought of. The drawbacks, limitations and obstacles to an efficient high school may be listed as follows:

1. Inadequate number of classrooms of proper size. In connection with this, it might be said that the small classrooms are so crowded that it has been necessary to diminish the width of some of the aisles, thus, without doubt, violating certain fire and school building regulations. Several of the rooms have more seats than they can properly accommodate. Every room is being used for a home room, and in addition, the art room, library and physical laboratory; the last two are poorly adapted for such purpose.
2. No study halls to which pupils may go for quiet study between recitations.
3. Inadequate library.
4. An inadequate lunch room.
5. Lack of special rooms required for certain special educational activities.
6. An inadequate assembly hall.
7. An inadequate gymnasium, together with locker and shower facilities.
8. Inadequate, and it might be said practically no, facilities for manual activities of a non-trade nature.
9. The principal has great difficulty in scheduling recitations and assignments of classrooms because of the large enrollment. The teachers are obliged to change constantly from one room to another in order to accommodate the size of the class, some of the rooms being much smaller than others. The effective situation is to have a teacher who is a specialist in her subject assigned to her own room where she has her apparatus and instructional material.
10. The commercial division of the school enrolls about 40 per cent of the pupils of the school. This division is not adequately provided with space.

Due to these conditions of limited quarters and large numbers, there is noise, confusion, a general crowding especially at certain times of the day, and in certain parts of the building, which make for poor conditions. They certainly are not conditions that are conducive to effective and efficient educational results. In addition to the crowded situations in some of the classrooms, may be mentioned the large number of pupils studying in the assembly hall under conditions which are not favorable.

The lunch room, which is simply a part of the basement and which was never intended as a lunch room, is utilized for the preparation and serving of lunch to over 600 people daily. Even with two lunch periods, this room is very much crowded.

Such places as the locker rooms, corridors and stairways are naturally crowded, especially at certain periods in the day; all of this makes for noise, confusion, and lessened efficiency.

With all these conditions before them and a constant augmentation of the number of students in the high school, the Committee feel it their duty to do everything that is within their legal power to eliminate the worst features. They will, therefore, next week or as soon as it is possible place the high school on a two-platoon system. The school will be in operation approximately from 8:30 to 5 o'clock, the three upper classes attending school in the morning and

SELECTMEN GIVE MUCH ATTENTION TO MOTOR TRAFFIC PROBLEMS

The Board of Selectmen at its last meeting devoted much time to the consideration of problems occasioned by the ever increasing motor traffic through and about town.

It is planned to place a flashing beacon at the corner of Bacon and Central streets, permission having been already requested from the Edison Light Company to erect a bracket for the beacon upon the company's pole at that location.

The police are keeping a careful record of the accidents which occur at the various street corners in town and are to mark the dangerous intersections with the world "slow."

The Selectmen have voted to discontinue, upon the advice of the Chief of Police, the right turn on red at the corner of Bacon and Fletcher streets. There will be a "no" sign placed on the top of the beacon there.

Traffic counts are being made by the police at the corner of Bacon and Fletcher streets and also at the corner of Central and Bacon streets. The Board has voted to have the underpass at the Cross street bridge suitably painted to warn vehicular traffic of the overhead obstruction. Traffic lines are to be painted on the various streets which intersect at Symmes Corner.

Many of the decisions and much of the action mentioned above were the result of a survey made last Saturday afternoon in which the entire Board of Selectmen was assisted by Chief William R. McIntosh of the Police Department, Superintendent of Streets, Parker Holbrook and the State Department of Public Works traffic expert, Mr. Taylor. After an informal discussion the group visited the following localities, known to present certain pressing traffic problems: the intersections of the Parkway and Main street, Parkway and Washington street, Washington and Swanton streets, Cross street railroad bridge, Wildwood and Church streets, Bacon, Fletcher and Church streets, Cambridge street and Everett avenue, Cambridge and Church streets, Everett avenue and the Boat Club, Everett avenue, Bacon and Central streets, Wedmore Station, Symmes Corner, Highland avenue and Prospect street, Mt. Vernon street and Highland avenue, Vernon street and Forest street. Chairman Joseph W. Worthen of the Selectmen stated to the Star that he believed the afternoon had proven of real value to the Board and as a result of its observations, action would be taken beneficial to the entire traffic situation in Winchester.

CO-OPERATIVE BANK BUYS VINE STREET PROPERTY

It was learned last evening that the Winchester Co-operative Bank has purchased from the Town the former Water Department property situated on Vine street adjacent to the National Bank Building. The new owners plan to remove the present building which was utilized as a repair shop and garage by the Water Department and erect a strictly modern banking building which will prove a distinct addition to that section of the business center of the town. The purchase price was not made public last evening.

C. D. OF A. NOTES

By vote of the bi-annual convention of the National Order, C. D. of A., which this year was held at Galveston, Tex., the time for electing officers of subordinate courts has been changed from December to October. Accordingly the local court will conduct its election of officers at the next meeting, Oct. 3.

Installation of officers will take place at the first meeting in November.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

The local branch will conduct the first of its autumn house socials at the home of Mrs. M. C. Ambrose on next Thursday evening. Proceeds will be used in connection with Holy Ghost Hospital contribution.

Miss Mollie Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. P. Wright of 18 Harrison street, leaves Sunday to enter the freshman class at Skidmore College, Saratoga, N. Y. She prepared for college at Winchester High School and Bradford Academy. Another Winchester girl who enters Skidmore this fall is Miss Eleanor Healey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren R. Healey of 12 Winthrop street. Miss Florence Watters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Watters of 49 Wildwood street, enters the sophomore class at the Saratoga college this fall.

the freshman class attending school in the afternoon.

Such a plan, utilized in many other communities whenever crowded conditions have appeared, will at least give the students room to do their work effectively. Although the freshmen will have to attend school during the afternoon, there is no reason why they should not utilize their mornings wisely; namely, in some study and recreation. The Committee will do its utmost to provide an athletic program for the freshmen during certain hours in the morning so that they will not be denied these privileges.

The Committee have been almost forced to place the school on a two-platoon system during the last two years. They now feel, however, that the educational needs of our high school boys and girls have forced them to adopt this method until increased facilities are provided.

HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS ENJOYED VARIED VACATIONS

Members of the teaching staff at the local high school have led varied lives this summer. Some have studied, others have traveled while others have enjoyed themselves at home.

Mr. Wade L. Grindle, the high school Principal, spent the beginning of the summer at the Officers' Training Camp at Fort Williams which is a defense in Portland Harbor. During the remainder of the summer Mr. Grindle took several motor trips through Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine. On one of these visits he enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Albright at their summer home in Vermont. Mr. Grindle says that the most enjoyable part of his summer was spent at Great Moose Lake with former associates at Bates College, of which he is a graduate.

Miss F. G. Allison returned to the Spanish School at Middlebury, Vt., for the entire summer. All the instructors come from Spain and South America. This school is very famous and teachers from all over the United States and even Mexico attend it. There is much social life there such as Spanish games and entertainments.

In these words, Miss Marion Bailey described her summer: "I spent six weeks at Bread Loaf School of English, at Bread Loaf, Vt. Here I had the privilege of seeing 'close-up' such honorables as Robert Frost, Edwin Markham, Percy MacKaye, Sinclair Lewis and Dallas Lore Sharp. Edwin Markham read for us his 'Lincoln, the Man of the People' and 'The Man With the Hoe.' Percy MacKaye read his long poem 'Doctown Common' while Robert Frost gave his 'Mending Wall' poems familiar, no doubt to all readers."

Mr. Arthur Butters took charge of the Winchester Boy Scout Camp for his tenth consecutive year and says he spent a most enjoyable summer.

Miss Margaret Centerville, physical instructor for girls, spent her summer in a very fitting way for a coach of athletics. She was a swimming instructor at Camp Quinebeck. The week before school opened she attended a hockey camp. Upon her return she was so enthusiastic about it that many girls in Winchester hope to attend it next year.

Mr. Lawrence Eager, English instructor, worked for the Worcester Sunday Telegram this past summer. He held the position of editor and feature writer.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Fuller motored to the Pacific Coast. At Cheyenne they motored north to the Canadian Rockies and then down the western side of the Continental Divide. Coming home they went through Yellowstone National Park and the Black Hills. Altogether they traveled 8,000 miles.

Miss E. P. Gould spent the summer traveling in Europe making very many interesting contacts. On her trip to Budapest she had as a guide, a Count who had lost his fortune in the World War and was compelled to show travelers about to earn a living.

Mr. Samuel Graves and Mr. Raymond Hayward both spent the summer studying. The former took a course in history, while the other studied English. Mr. Hayward won a prize offered by the Atlantic Monthly for the best essay in the course.

What became of Mr. Humphrey's car? According to recent records he drove after school closed down the Atlantic coast to his home in Alabama. He continued on to Texas and from there back home. Since then no one has seen the car.

Mr. Wendell Mansfield was the director of Camp Wickabog at West Brookfield which is owned by Dr. A. W. Gilbert, Commissioner of Agriculture. Mr. Meldon Wenner was a member of the camp staff. He had charge of swimming and athletics.

Living in the open like a gypsy, appealed to at least one of the high school staff and Miss Dorothy M. Shurtleff, art instructor, spent her summer in this manner in the wilds of Maine. She found there, much good material to portray on her canvases.

Miss Helen Bronson and Miss Lois Gibson both found sufficient and inviting entertainment on the Cape. Miss Gunhilde Nelson divided her time between the Cape and Canada and found both equally interesting, because of their contrast.

Although Miss Eva M. Palmer's summer at home sounds uneventful, she took many day trips around New England which proved very delightful and an endless source of pleasure to her.

Miss Mary V. Perham spent a most interesting summer in Paris. She, and a friend kept house in the Latin quarter. This was at one time the studio of John Singer Sargent, the eminent American painter. During her stay there she took two courses at the Sorbonne University.

All in all the high school teachers seem to have spent both pleasant and profitable summers and have, no doubt a store of incidents with which to enliven their several classrooms.

VIRGINIA MERRILL

Former High School Athletic Star Enters Connecticut College

In these days when girls are winning their way to the front in sports as well as in studies, perhaps there is no more notable case than that of Virginia Merrill of Rangeley road, who in her four years at Winchester High School won the admiration of teachers and students for her good work in both athletics and scholarship. During her high school career she won no less than ten varsity letters. Is there any girl in Massachusetts more justified in claiming the title of "all-sports champion" than "Ginny?"

A member of the varsity hockey team for three years, "Ginny" was the club's highest scorer during her junior and senior years when Winchester won the interscholastic Field Hockey championship. However shy she is in meeting people—and she is very reticent—there is not the slightest evidence of it when she is ripping into her opponents on the hockey field. In her three years of varsity basketball she was a very elusive forward. It took a remarkably good guard to keep "Ginny" from caging the ball in the basket every time a real shot was offered. In her last year she captained the team very successfully.

"Ginny" is also an outstanding tennis player. That she excels in this active tennis sport illustrates the club's coupled with her versatility. She was one of the first successes of Park Commissioner Packer's private group of tennis enthusiasts, who have been drawing wide attention at Longwood and in Philadelphia at State and National tournaments. Against a stiff field of competitors, she demonstrated her prowess early, by winning championships in singles, doubles and mixed doubles in the Wadleigh School.

With ranking junior tennis players of the United States as rivals for places on the High School team, she was furnished a sufficient test of endurance and skill, yet for four years she was a member of that team which was never beaten by a high school club in that time. In her last season Miss Merrill was No. 1 and captain of the Winchester team which was conceded to be the best of the school clubs in Greater Boston. "Ginny" individually was ranked No. 8 in Girls' Doubles in the 1928 official tennis ranking of the United States, proof positive that her reputation is by no means local.

This versatile girl left on Wednesday to enter Connecticut College for Women at New London. During her high school days she was an honor student, was active in the Athletic Association and in the Press Club, of which she was president, and was also on the editorial staff of the school's first year book, "Aberjona."

"Ginny" is very popular with everyone who knows her. Her friends call her the most retiring champion who is most unlikely to retire. It is an enviable title they claim for her—all sports champion of Massachusetts, if not of America. Few could wear it so unassumingly.

CALUMET NOTES

Winchester's community club, the Calumet, is beginning to take on signs of a greater interest than usual for more men seem to be taking advantage of bridge, bowling, billiards and pool than ordinarily at this time of year.

During the summer, needed repairs to the fabric of the building and to the bowling alleys have been successfully accomplished and in addition, the club has been given a thorough housecleaning, so that all is in readiness for the member's pleasure.

Arthur S. Kelley Elected

At the Board of Governor's meeting on Sept. 13 the vacancy in the board was filled by the unanimous election of Arthur S. Kelley of 47 Mystic Valley Parkway, who will also head the card committee.

With William M. Little as chairman of the entertainment committee, the season is sure to be filled to overflowing with good things and then there is a new head to the bowling committee, namely Dr. Emerson C. Priest who has already gone to work on schedules and tournaments.

A membership drive is being staged by Frederick W. Aseltine, who has the assistance of 23 super salesmen, all of whom are out to sign up new comers to town as well as older residents.

Much interest is being shown in the Mystic Valley League tournaments and the first gun will be fired on Oct. 27 or 28, but long before that schedules will be issued covering this reincarnated activity.

All Calumet members are asked to reserve Saturday evening, Oct. 5, for the opening dinner and at that time a beef steak dinner will be served and each member is urged to bring a prospective member as his guest. Plans call for an outstanding entertainment, followed by bowling, billiards and bridge. The date, lest you forget is Saturday, Oct. 5, 6:30 p. m.

At that meeting there will also be brought up an important matter of business, pertaining to non-resident memberships. Watch your mail and the Star for further announcements.

THREE ACCIDENTS MONDAY

Howard W. Gross of 59 Westland avenue, Boston, was taken to the Winchester Hospital Monday after the Chevrolet truck he was driving on Cross street collided with the Boston & Maine railroad bridge above the roadway. The accident was caused by a crane which was mounted upon the truck and which proved too high to clear the bridge.

Gross sustained a bad scalp wound and was taken to the hospital for treatment on one of the Town trucks by Robert McKee, an employee of the Highway Department. The truck Gross was driving was the property of James and Palsin of 44 Miller street, Charlestown, which firm was notified by the police of the accident.

Monday's first accident took place shortly after midnight when a Reo touring car owned by Joseph M. Murphy of 54 Tremont street, Charlestown and driven by Joseph McEleneey of 16 Mt. Vernon street, also of Charlestown, collided with an Edison Light pole near the corner of Main and Thompson streets. The pole was badly damaged and had to be replaced by a repair crew. Neither damage to the automobile nor injury to its driver was reported to the police.

The police were notified Monday by Gerald V. Morrell of 117 Franklin street, Stoneham, that while he was driving his Ford coupe west on Swanton street at the junction of Florence street he was unable to avoid striking a dog, the property of Mrs. Victoria Diapoli of 23 Olive street. The animal was so badly injured that Motorcycle Officer Edward O'Connell was obliged to shoot it.

FIREMEN HAD TWO UNUSUAL RUNS

The Fire Department met two unusual demands upon the resourcefulness of its members during the past week-end with credit to all concerned.

At 12:25 last Saturday afternoon the Central Station was notified by phone that a horse, belonging to Contractor Thomas Quigley, Jr., had fallen while going down Prospect street and was unable to get up. The firemen responded with a truck and found upon arrival that the load which the horse was hauling on the slippery roadway had literally pushed the feet from beneath the animal. The wagon prevented the horse from getting up, and the firemen were obliged to drag the load up the hill with their truck before they could get the animal upon his feet. Aside from being somewhat shaken and scraped, the horse seemed little the worse for his experience.

Sunday forenoon shortly after 11 o'clock the firemen were notified that a wandering bluejay had entered the living room of Mr. Daniel Beggs' home on Everett avenue and refused to vacate. The members of the family were away from home and the maids seemed unable to cope with the situation. Moreover they were somewhat afraid of the bluejay who seemed rather formidable as he darted about the room.

Deputy Chief John J. Gorman and Call Fireman E. P. Sullivan went to the Beggs' home and after a more or less strenuous time of it succeeded in running down the bluejay and capturing it. Once in the open air they liberated their captive who departed in hot haste and rather the worse for the loss of several tail feathers.

LEGION POST NOMINATES NEW OFFICERS

At one of the largest meetings of Winchester Post, No. 97, of the American Legion held Thursday, Sept. 12, the following members of the Post were nominated for officers for the ensuing year:

Commander—Richard Parkhurst
Vice Commander—Clifford M. Townner
Adjutant—Cecil G. Young
Finance Officer—Wade L. Grindle
Historian—Past Comdr. Arthur S. Harris
Chaplain—Past Comdr. Vincent P. Clarke

The nominations for the above officers met with such whole hearted approval by the members of the Post that no opposing nominations were made and it is therefore certain that the above officers will be elected at the annual meeting of the Post to be held Thursday, Oct. 3.

The following 14 nominations were made for the executive committee from which 10 will be elected at the annual meeting:

W. Allan Wilde Guy R. Livingstone
Robert M. Hamilton Conrad S. Larson
G. Warren Johnston Patrick T. Foley
Whitlaw Wright E. Newman Giles
Frank P. Zaffina Harold F. Meyer
Franklin Lane Harry C. Goodwin
John Moynihan Ralph Hatch

A number of changes in the by-laws of the Post were voted upon in the affirmative which included increasing the annual dues from $3.50 to $5, the creation of a so-called welfare fund to be under the control of the Commander and Welfare Officer into which all moneys raised by the Post or contributed to the Post for charitable or welfare purposes will be placed, and the creation of a so-called reserve fund into which fund it was voted to transfer the $600 permanent welfare fund previously raised by the Post out of its activities during the past years.

The Post was entertained after the meeting by Comrade Alden H.
Symmes who told many of the interesting incidents on his recent trip to Berlin with the National Association of Advertising Clubs and by the showing of moving pictures of the baseball game between the Legion Post and the High School team last June, and of the many events in connection with the July 4 carnival.

WAS BROTHER OF MRS. SEXTON

John H. Field, Jr., assistant manager of the investment firm of Halsey, Stunt & Co., who died suddenly last Sunday evening, following an operation for a throat infection with which he was stricken while in Nashua, N.
H., spending the week-end with friends, was the brother of Mrs. Ralph Sexton of this town. Mr. Field, whose winter home was in Watertown, complained of his throat upon finishing a fourth of golf during Saturday afternoon and was treated by a Nashua physician, who summoned a specialist. The latter arrived early Sunday morning and performed an operation which was apparently successful in relieving the congestion in the throat.
Mr. Field's condition seemed to improve following the operation but later Sunday he grew worse and died, his death coming as a severe shock to his friends who had left Nashua believing him out of danger. Mr.
Field was 40 years of age and a native of Nashua. Besides Mrs. Sexton he is survived by his wife, three children and three brothers.

GIFT OF SILVER FOR BRIDE-TO-BE

Thirty members of the E. P. H.
Class of the First Baptist Church gathered last week Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Frederick C.
MacDonald on Kenwin road for a surprise shower in honor of Miss Clara MacDonald of Washington street who is leaving Winchester the last of this month for Waterman, Cal., where she will become the bride of a former Winchester young man, Lawrence Tracy Nutting.

The class gift to Miss MacDonald was silver, but there were many other handsome remembrances of especial interest to the bride-to-be. A feature of the supper which followed the shower was a bride's cake, decorated with a miniature bride, groom and clergyman. The cake bore the initials of Miss MacDonald and Mr. Nutting.
Out-of-town guests were present from Woburn and Lowell.

won by the graduating class.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Thrift is not to be judged wholly by the test of saving or spending money.

Persistence is one thing by which we may distinguish the strong from the weak.

Success is the child of self-confidence.

Forget about tomorrow, for it is an unknown quantity.

Desire is the father of all motives.

We noted this week a bit of childish carelessness which parents and teachers would do well to stop at once. Children, going to and from the Wadleigh School, are quite frequently crossing the bridge on Mt. Vernon street near the Central Fire Station on the concrete guard walls, where a mis-step might precipitate them into the waters of the Aberjona. A group of girls was indulging in this feat of acrobatics one day this week and the procedure seemed to be for those not attempting to walk the railing to harass those who did. Twice a youngster came perilously near toppling, one way or the other, amidst much laughter. There would have been no cause for mirth, if the fall had been into the stream. Daring in its proper place is quite all right, but such daring as that described above is something else again. Those who have the best interests of the youngsters to watch over should warn them against taking unnecessary risks.

Winchester's summer baseball is over and if the season has indicated any one thing clearly, it is the inability of any individual to successfully keep a strong team on the diamond over a stretch of weeks. We have had games on Manchester Field every Saturday afternoon and many evenings this summer, some of the contests being good, some of them bad and most of them indifferent. Seldom has the same group of players represented Winchester for two games in succession and the result has been a club, which has functioned as individuals rather than as a team. We aren't blaming the boys, nor have we any condemnation for the management. Both have done as well as any reasonable person could expect. At the same time we can't find too much fault with the fans who haven't warmed up to what at best can be called hit-or-miss baseball. Too much had to be left to chance to make the games worth while. The trouble has been lack of funds, both to reimburse players and to bring good teams to Winchester. The teams which were willing to come to Winchester for what the local management could pay were not the clubs the fans wanted to see. The good players who could get real money for playing out-of-town weren't going to stick in Winchester for the love of playing baseball. One can't hate them for that. No one can hope to run baseball here without a fund of at least fair size with which to start the season. Baseball costs too much to put on to expect to get by on collections at the field. We believe that any live organization, willing to start during the winter to raise money for the summer campaign, can put on baseball in Winchester and break even, but the organization must be such a one as to enjoy the confidence of the townspeople in general. The late lamented Baseball Association which sponsored the game locally when Winchester was the capital of semi-pro ball in this district made a go of it and while such teams as were produced then may not be possible again, still we believe the town can be represented once a week by a nine which it will be a pleasure to watch in action. We hope during the coming winter plans will be made to give Winchester a real ball team another summer. There are many in town who would be willing to back such a project.

CORRECTION

To the Editor of the Star:

I wish to correct a statement which appeared in last week's issue of the Star.

The article under newsy paragraphs stated that I was living at 3 Myrtle street having left my home at 129 Mt. Vernon street.

This is the correct statement. I received a notice in July, through my sister's attorney, insisting that I vacate the old home at once, in order that my sister might get a tenant in my place to insure her a greater revenue.

Respectfully,
Anna T. O'Sullivan

William H. Eaton of Pittsfield, chairman of the Governor's committee to consider the erection of a fitting memorial to the men and women of Massachusetts who served in the World War, has written to the Board of Selectmen, asking that the people of Winchester interest themselves in this project. The matter was referred to Selectman Vincent P. Clarke.

A Jordan touring car, operated by Matthew C. O'Day of Bellingham and an Essex coach, driven by William W. Hussey of Intervale street, Woburn, were demolished about 8 o'clock this morning as the result of a collision in which they figured at the corner of Pond and Cambridge streets. The Jordan was headed north on Cambridge street while the Essex was leaving Pond street to go south on Cambridge street. The force of the impact literally stood the Jordan on its rear-end and how the occupants of the two machines escaped serious injury is a mystery. An injury to O'Day's leg was the only one reported to the police.

Shortly after midnight this morning Police Headquarters was notified that a telephone pole on Cambridge street near the Winchester Boat Club had been demolished by an automobile. An investigation disclosed that the car, a Nash sedan, had been driven by Michael Seretto of 22 Franklin street, Arlington, who claimed to have lost control of the machine. The police are checking up on the accident this morning.

The fourth game of the all-Winchester series between the Town Team, managed by "Dukes" Farrell and the A. A., sponsored by "Connie Mack," was rained out by the heavy shower which broke about an hour before the scheduled time of starting. With the field in its present condition any sort of rain near game time makes playing practically impossible and the management did the only sensible thing in cancelling the game. It is now unlikely that the contest will be staged since the field is booked on this Saturday by the Elks for a soccer attraction and thereafter football will pretty much back semi-pro ball off the stage. It is too bad that last Saturday's battle could not have been waged since both managers had strong lineups to place upon the diamond and a real game would have been the result.

ROTARY CLUB

Sept. 19 is a date which will long remain in the memories of Winchester Rotarians. On that day we had the pleasure of entertaining the Rotary Clubs of Arlington, Medford, Lexington and Woburn, and gave their members an opportunity of meeting our District Governor, Thomas F. Kenney of Worcester.

One hundred and fifty-nine Rotarians sat at the tables in the banquet hall of the Calumet Club. It was a characteristic Rotary gathering with a splendid exemplification of the spirit of brotherhood.

We are accustomed to good music, but we think that "Doc" and "Jim" outdid themselves on this occasion. Of course they were ably assisted by the many good singers amongst our visitors. Our newly revised song sheet comes in for its share of the praise. The effect of it all was most inspiring.

President Roscoe introduced the presidents of the visiting Rotary Clubs as well as each club in a body. The result of this was that every one felt at home and the inter-city meetings have been placed on an even firmer foundation. We believe that all Rotarians are anticipating the next event of this sort with keen pleasure.

The chief attraction on this occasion was the message from our District Governor. And he had a real message for us. A man of magnetic personality he does not fail to impress his hearers with that which is near to his heart. With no set discourse but rather talking as man to man he possesses the faculty of transmitting the fundamental emotions in a manner which commands conviction.

He called our attention today to the sixth object of Rotary, the international aspect of the Rotary movement. He is well qualified to do this having twice travelled around the globe, and having received much of his education in Europe. He is emphatic in his belief that if only the average individual citizen of any given nation could understand the innermost feelings and reactions of the average citizen of other nations there would be no demand for a recourse to war. It is the self appointed task of Rotary to promote these understandings. Without visions of an impending millennium, we hold that present conditions can be vastly improved, and we shall steadfastly pursue the work of smoothing the course of brotherly good will throughout all lands.

All this was made plain by Governor "Tom" in his address, and we believe that every one who heard him will be impelled to do his part, however little it may be, in furthering the sixth object of Rotary.

We hope to hear our District Governor again and many times in the future, and feel sure that renewed enthusiasm will be in evidence at our coming meetings.

The attendance for Sept. 12 was membership 27, absentees 2, and percentage 92.59.

RETURNED THE KEYS, BUT DID NOT SOLVE THE PROBLEM

A Springfield man, whose wife was on a vacation at the shore, returned home from work the other evening to find some mail in the apartment mailbox and he also found that he had misplaced his key for the receptacle. His wife had a key, but she had taken it to the shore, so when he sat down to write her that evening he suggested that she return her key and he would open the box and forward her mail.

Dutifully, the wife on receipt of her husband's letter, sat down and answered her message and enclosed the key. The following day the husband looked in the mailbox and to his surprise saw his wife's letter in the box and for the first time realized that her key was in that letter.

Thereafter it was necessary to break the lock to secure the mail and the husband was so disturbed that his wife should enclose the key in a letter sent to the house that he has not yet gotten over his displeasure.—[Springfield Union.]

And There Are Others

Health Hint

It is extremely unwise to neglect a cough. If ordinary remedies fail it is always best to consult a physician for a chest examination to see whether the inflammation is spreading. Why court the possibilities of lung trouble?

HIGH SCHOOL GRID-MEN HARD AT WORK

Dearth of Veterans Makes Season's Outlook Doubtful

With the Stoneham game scheduled for next Saturday, Coach Wendell D. Mansfield has been working his big squad of football candidates hard in an effort to determine the boys from whom the starting lineup for the opening battle of the 1929 campaign will be picked.

The first few days of practice consisted largely of conditioning work and the boys began their real football instruction this week in good condition.

Coach Mansfield is on the whole rather pleased with his material, though he realizes that many of the boys are woefully lacking in weight and experience. Winchester was hard hit by graduation last June, losing all its varsity guards and ends as well as its quarterback and some good backs and linemen.

The loss of "Nutsy" Amico, one of Winchester's all-time centers and a great leader, is irreparable and there is no end in sight to approach "Livin' McNeil." The all-around ability of "Skin" Kendrick will be sadly missed in the backfield while the graduation of the veterans "Pete" Coss, Neil Kerrigan and "Musky" Tofuri removed three dependable guards.

The locals start the season with a nucleus of five veterans who include Capt. "Bart" Godfrey and "Olio" Lee, backs; "Don" Emery, center; and "Buz" McNeil and "Hoss" Symmes, tackles.

One of Coach Mansfield's real problems is to unearth a capable field general to replace "Skin" Kendrick and of the boys who are trying for the signal barking job "Bill" Brown, "Dimmy" Clark and Francis Dolan show much promise.

John Morton, "Johnnie" Murphy and "Robbie" Robinson are fighting it out for end berths with "Stautz" DiMinico and "Hal" Donovan. Morton has taken on weight and should be able to hold his own with most tackles nicely. Murphy got into several games a year ago.

"Bill" O'Connell, "Brutus" Colbas, "Dannie" Smith, "Buck" Daley, "Joe" Flaherty, "Bunk" Nowell and "Wallie" Fay are waging a merry battle for the guard positions and there is plenty of weight in the crowd. "Frankie" Felt, "Andy" Diappella, Paul Welburn and Walter Berg are the new tackles who threaten McNeil and Symmes.

Ralph Ambrose, "Dan" Murphy, "Bob" Bonnard, George Rogers and "Bob" Welburn are the center candidates pressing Emery for the position of first string snapper-back. Ambrose having gotten into an occasional game last year.

The most promising of the backfield candidates are Wilmer Smith, "Hill" Knowlton, (brother of the famous "Hennie"), "Dan" Pearson, Henry Newman, Raphael DeMarnbre, "Johnnie" Ghirardini and "Bill" Mills. Little "Gerry" is reporting with a bad ankle which may hinder his development. He is, and was last year, the hardest charging back in school.

While Winchester's chances for a championship are by no means rosy, Coach Mansfield is not unduly pessimistic. Let him find a couple of dependable ends and a good back or two laying around loose and he will not be so badly off. In the meantime the fans should possess themselves in patience. No club can lose 12 out of 17 letter players and not stagger a bit. Especially when two of those 12 are men like "Nutsy" Amico and "Livin' McNeil." Coach Mansfield is again being assisted by Raymond V. Hayward of the high school faculty and Meldon Wenner of the Department of Physical Education. Several former high school players, including "Bo" Franklin, "Jocko" Prue and Frank McCauley have been working out with the squad.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

Two "firsts" and three "seconds" is a pretty good showing for a club of four double blade racing men, when put up against other outfits, which are composed of from a dozen to fifteen paddlers each. That's what Winchester Boat Club did at the Eastern division races at Worcester last Saturday and Sunday.

First off, "Phil" Hight and "Dave" Downer won the junior tandem double blade race by from two to three lengths of open water, in a field of ten starters who were all good combinations. Next "Dave" Downer captured the hand paddle in class "A" boats (racing shells) and this is no cinch, especially in a stiff wind.

The "Ed" Sandberg-"Al" Hovey duet won second place in the half-mile double-blade tandem race. They were beaten by the strong Crescent outfit, namely Higgins and Mosher, who are without doubt the best double blade pair in this section.

Winchester's club four double-blade manned by "Phil" Hight, "Ed" Sandberg, "Dave" Downer and "Al" Hovey also took second place in that race. Beaten once more, only by the Crescents of Waltham.

As Winchester B. C. was only able to carry two boats it was necessary to give up the singles races, or otherwise more models might have come home to W. B. C.

Just to ease up a little from the strenuousness of the long straight-away races, there will be a "splash" regatta at the club, tomorrow afternoon, Sept. 21, weather permitting. A variety of events will be on the program to please the spectators as well as to amuse the participants. Anyone able to swim is invited to take part. The regatta will close with a tilting match and maybe "Tim" Fitch will be agreeable to another "nose dive" in the mud. Be with us and enjoy the fun!

Next club dance is Friday, Sept. 27.

Miss Alice M. Crawford of Murtle street was a hostess at the dinner given by the New England Gift and Art Retailers Association on Wednesday, Sept. 18 at the Parker House. Miss Crawford conducts a stationery shop in Boston.

WINCHESTER NEEDS

Second hand shoes in 50 different shapes and sizes needed by the Winchester Department of Public Welfare, Town Hall, for its work with hard pressed Winchester families!

The demand for shoes by the children, in such families, upon their parents seems never ending. Whether the child plods to school or romps at play, shoes are indispensable; and how quickly shoes wear out. Families with small or uncertain incomes and with growing, romping boys and girls despair over the constant problem of shoes. They appeal to this department for second hand shoes. Usually we are obliged to reply that our storeroom does not contain a solitary pair.

At this time we crave a fortune of seconds hand shoes. At present, that fortune is at the bottom of the rainbow; we desire it at our feet that other feet may be shod.

In addition, to the need in certain families of shoes, Mary 10 years, needs a dress; Lillian 8 years, Fred 5 years and Tonie 4 years, need stockings. James 9, David 5, need warm undergarments; also warm pajamas for the winter months ahead of them. Florence 13, Rita 12, Helen 9 and Clara 8 need bloomers and middies. Frank 10, Harry 9, George 8, Charles 7, need blouses, trousers, stockings and jackets. Cold weather will bring requests for sweaters and warm coats.

These children (names fictitious, but not the children) are fatherless. We have other children, ages varying from 4 to 16 years, who have both parents living, but the fathers, because of ill health, are unable to support their families and are dependent upon this department for that support. Also, second-hand clothing will aid other families where nearly all that the father earns is spent for food and rent and little is left from the weekly income for other necessities. In these families gifts of clothing contribute substantial help.

As mothers are looking over their children's wardrobes these fall weeks, there may be articles that they can spare for these other children.

The Department of Public Welfare, Town Hall, Winchester 1383, maintains a system of family welfare service, providing varied assistance to handicapped, aged, widowed and unfortunate persons in Winchester.

NEW TEACHERS IN WINCHESTER SCHOOLS

Winchester schools have nine new teachers this year. In the Highland School Miss Swan is teaching the first and second grades while Miss Davis is taking the third grade in the Mystic School. Miss Clark in the Lincoln and Miss Rich in the Washington are both teaching the children in the fifth grade. The Noonan School has a new principal, taking Miss Lyon's place. She is Miss Harkan. Miss Sullivan has been transferred from the Lincoln School where she had been teaching the Special Class, to the Noonan School. At the Lincoln School, Miss Hanlon and Miss Salice are filling the vacancy left by Miss Sullivan. In the High School, Miss Messier is taking Miss MacDonald's place in the Commercial Department.

Telephone rates on out-of-town calls by number fall into three classes according to the time of day.

First are the normal rates which apply from 4:30 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. These rates are as low as is consistent with good day service.

Second are the evening rates which apply from 7 to 8:30 in the evening. For distances above 40 miles these rates are about one-quarter less than day rates.

Third are the night rates which apply from 8:30 p.m. to 4:30 a.m. They are about one-half the corresponding day rates, with a 25 cent minimum.

For social calls, experience proves that the evening period is best. People are more likely to be at home. Calls can be completed more promptly. The cost is substantially less than for day calls. Plan your social calls to take advantage of these low evening rates.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

When S. S. Van Dine wrote the murder-mystery story, "The Green Murder Case" he unwittingly provided the plot and character material for one of the most exciting and absorbing mystery thrillers the talking screen has yet produced. It was some time after the book had received its widespread vogue among readers in America and Europe that the contract was made with the author for his work. Now comes the picturization, with complete dialogue, and a splendid cast of stage-experienced actors—including William Powell in the role of Philo Vance, the super-detective who applies the higher psychology to unravel the skein of mystery which envelops the murders of three members of the strange Green household. Here is a picture—it comes to the University for four days starting Sunday, which has everything to hold an audience breathless with excitement.

The companion feature is "Joy Street," a daring and sensational picture of modern youngsters at play, painted with a boldness and vigor that stamps it as one of the truly great achievements in screen annals. Lois Moran and Nick Stuart head the cast.

The program for four days starting Thursday includes "Charming Sinners" and "The Three Passions."

The story of "Charming Sinners" has to do with a new treatment for philandering husbands. Ruth Chatterton, as the wife, applies her unique remedy in a smart way that leaves a smile all-around. Clive Brook has a rare role and he handles it in delightful fashion. William Powell, as the "other" man and Mary Nolan in the role of the infringer, are strong supporters of the two well known leads.

"The Three Passions" featuring Alice Terry and Ivan Petrovitch is a drama of the mighty forces that rule saint and sinner; rich and poor; society and underworld.

Doth from man's sight the sweet sunlight divide;
But when the flickering earth-lights fade and die
We see the sun the light of life abide.

The meagre life that lived, the life that died,
The glorious victories of Right and Truth,
These most have perished, God dost abide,

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

How many Winchesterites remember when we kids hollered down the rain barrel to hear the echo?

And when we kids thought a big slab of bread, butter and sugar was a treat?

That Winchester fellow who is worrying about girls wearing an ounce of skirt had a grandfather who trembled for civilization when the first girl perched herself in a boot-black's chair for a shine.

There's a Winchester girl who don't care for clubs, And ne'er cast a vote; She can't steer a car or maneuver a boat; She drinks only water, don't smoke cigarettes, But, or man! We'll tell you, the dinners she gets Few people can equal, or purchase with money; And the love that she gives her hubby is sweeter than honey.

The happiest people here in Winchester are those who are too busy to notice it.

All marriages are happy; it is the living together afterwards that raises hallelujah.

Scientists have excavated a scelidotherium in Argentina, and if it is as hard to play as to spell it, no Winchester jazzier will ever play it.

An old time Winchesterite is one who can remember when potatoes were as common and cheap as high-grade apples or oranges.

As further proof of the injurious effects of tobacco, a Kansas woman who had smoked a cornob pipe for a century died recently at the untimely age of 118.

Let's see, about what year was it when the ladies of Winchester wore lace mitts and carried chiffon ruffled parasols?

Our Questionnaire

1. What is the difference between a conservative Winchesterite and a conserving Winchesterite?
2. Should Winchester have a Hall of Fame and who are the 25 outstanding men and women best qualified to be immortalized in it?
3. How many back seat drivers are there in Winchester?
4. How much money a year does that Winchester Italian woman save who goes barefooted eight months of the year?
5. By the way, do you remember when we went barefooted and after we had washed, mother would inspect our feet with the old oil lamp before we went to bed?
6. Is it unfair to say that politicians are never truthful when there are politicians who would do anything to get elected?
7. When is beauty as beauty shouldn't be?
8. Have you had the Star remailed to your home address after your vacation?
9. Is it not a fact that President Roscoe of Winchester Rotary Club earned that recent vacation of his?
10. Did you not find R. L. Emery's account of his European trip mighty interesting reading?

The roller towel was banished from Winchester and the State because it was supposed to be the cause of much blindness. Yet when we consider the perils with which our grandfathers were surrounded it is a wonder how many of them survived.

Observing the antics of a mule on Main street the other day we were reminded that mules and football players are about the only animals that succeed in kicking themselves into fame.

Many good people here in Winchester who imagine they are eating the sun kissed oranges of California, are rudely awakened by the knowledge that they were ripened in the modern day sweat boxes.

RIGHTS OF GARDEN AND ORCHARD OWNER AND WHAT TO DO IF THIEVES ARE DISCOVERED

Regarding orchard protection the State Police have made the following suggestions:

1. Post your land. No court action against trespassers is possible unless land is posted.
2. Claim that a sign was not seen carries no weight and is no excuse before the court.
3. If you catch a thief hold him and call the State police at once. Turn him over to the officer and then go through with the complaint.
4. Thieves caught on Sunday or in the night time can be arrested by any citizen, and held for an officer, or detained in jail for not more than 24 hours.
5. Report all thieving or trespass difficulties to police "at once." Day or night. "Do not" wait until tomorrow.
6. Report registration number of all suspicious cars to police seen around your place, whether they have been loaded or not.
7. Report registration number of any car loaded or about to be loaded with stolen produce to Registrar of Motor Vehicles and police at once. "Conviction" for such theft is not necessary to have said plates revoked. Parties so caught will have to make a trip to Boston and show cause why registration should not be revoked.
8. Do not hold court on your own place if you catch a thief, let him tell it to the judge. The police request this in order to strengthen their efforts and make for greater protection for you.

ORPHEUM THEATRE

"Singapore Mutiny" the feature picture now playing at the Orpheum Theatre, Malden, is a smashing drama of raging adventure, shipwreck, bloodshed and romance. It is the story of two who felt a mighty hatred turn into a mighty love. Beautiful Estelle Taylor is presented in the fascinating role of an adventuress whose presence on a Singapore-bound cargo steamer involves officers and crew of the "tramp" freighter in a deadly feud that leads to warfare and mutiny. Ralph Ince besides being the director of the picture plays the leading role opposite Miss Taylor. He portrays a giant stokehold bully who rises to heroic stature in an emergency that calls for the real manhood he had submerged beneath his mask of cruelty. All of the action takes place on the sea. In addition to this feature there is another episode of "The Final Reckoning" starring Buffalo Bill Jr., Pathe News and comedy.

Rex Ingram provides exceptional entertainment in his production of Cosmo Hamilton's "The Three Passions" which will be the feature picture at the Orpheum for the first three days of next week. This brilliantly directed, strikingly set and finely acted story dazzles by its speed and thrills by its crescendo of dramatic power, but there is a serious theme behind its richly colored picture of the many-sided life of post-war England. Money, religion, love, in conflict in the surroundings of present-day life in London, as they have been through the ages are "The Three Passions" of the title. A crude, hard, self-made commercial magnate and his idealistic son and the woman who loves him are their personifications in the photoplay. Alice Terry, Ivan Petrovitch and Shyale Gardner have the leading roles. "Lonesome" the second feature on this program is as its title suggests the story of two lonely souls, a boy and a girl, who are alone in a big city. Glenn Tryon and Barbara Kent have the leading parts and they make the most of the many comedy situations which arise. There is a delightful romance which holds one's interest until the final fadeout.

GRANADA THEATRE MALDEN

Starting Saturday and continuing for seven days the big Granada Theatre in Malden will offer the "Green Murder Case," with William Powell as the star. This is the second of the S. S. Van Dine stories to reach the screen. The first was "The Canary Murder," in which William Powell scored a big hit as the detective Philo Vance. In "The Green Murder Case" Powell is again cast as Vance, detective extraordinary. It is a great play, thrilling, tense, packed with action and amazing plot situations. It is better than "The Canary Murder" because the crimes seem more baffling of solution, because the story carries a greater number of amazing surprises.

It deals with the misfortunes of the strange Green family, a bed-ridden paralytic mother and her four children. With a fortune at stake should she die, the household is suddenly gripped by a series of tragic killings. Powell, as the super-detective, starts his investigation after the murder of Chester Green, and the wounding of his sister, Ada. Those under suspicion include, the butler, the cook, the family doctor, Rex Green, a younger brother and his two sisters. Then—before Vance has an opportunity to solve the mystery another murder takes place, removing one more of the Green family. And then another. Then the gripping climax, showing the life and death battle of the murderer and another intended victim on the eerie roof of the Green mansion. The lunging body toppling down, down, into the icy waters of the East River. The triumphant Vance, solving the series of crimes, clearing up the mystery and explaining all to his admiring aides. Powell is wonderfully effective as the detective and his great voice dominates all others in the cast. The dialogue helps sustain the suspense and few, if any, will guess the identity of the murderer until Vance discloses the secret.

"Show Boat," the million dollar singing, talking and musical triumph, closes a highly successful run at the Granada today. Over seven months in the making "Show Boat" ranks with any of the talking pictures. In addition to the cast headed by Laura LaPlante and Joseph Schildkraut, the picture offers the singers from Ziegfeld's stage hit of the same name. Among these are included Helen Morgan, Jueles Bledsoe, Aunt Jemima and the famous Plantation Singers.

RETURNED FROM SUMMER ABROAD

Dr. D. C. Dennett and his son, Daniel Dennett, returned to this country last week on the S.S. Majestic from Southampton after spending the summer in Munich, Germany, where Daniel was enrolled as a special student in German at Munich University. Upon the completion of his studies the young man with his father went south into Italy, visiting Rome, Pompeii and Naples before touring north through France, Switzerland and Holland. Crossing the channel they spent some time in Winchester, England, later visiting Salisbury and the Druid ruins at Stonehenge before sailing for home from Southampton.

Daniel is returning this fall to begin his junior year at Harvard. He was salutatorian of his class at high school and has made an enviable scholastic record at Harvard, having been on the Dean's list since his freshman year at the university.

NEW BAPTIST CHURCH

DEDICATION OF THE NEW BAPTIST CHURCH

The first of the services of dedication of the new First Baptist Church and parish house will be held Sunday, Sept. 29, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon when the church will be dedicated to "Worship," with an address by President Clarence A. Barbour of Brown University, Providence, R. I. At this important service Alton L. Miller, president of the Northern Baptist Convention, will bring its greetings and Hugh A. Heath, D.D., secretary of the Massachusetts State Convention will bring the greetings of that organization. The felicitations of the other Winchester churches will be extended by Rev. Howard J. Chidley, D.D., pastor of the First Congregational Church. Selections will be rendered on the new three manual organ and on the chimes and the senior and junior choirs will sing supported by the Unity Male Quartet.

President Barbour is known as one of the leading and most influential educators in this country and his coming to Winchester is sure to result in a large attendance of those who would hear him. The service is open to all. The young people of the church are to have a dedicatory banquet on Friday evening, Oct. 4. Among the guests will be Harry "Hank" Gowdy and other stars of the Boston Braves," and Rev. Grady B. Feagan, that versatile and popular friend and ally of young people will deliver one of his humorous yet stirring addresses. On Sunday, Oct. 6, at 10:30 a. m., the church will be dedicated to "Christian Education" with an address by President Everett C. Herrick, D.D., I.L.D., of the Newton Theological Institution and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon a vesper service will be held when the church will be dedicated to music, with an organ recital by Francis Snow, organist of Trinity Church, Boston, and selections on the new chimes. The public is cordially invited to attend and enjoy this unusual musical treat.

Subsequent events in the series of notable services of dedication were prominently mentioned in last week's Star.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY BUSHNELL TO SPEAK

District Attorney Robert T. Bushnell has been secured as the speaker for the first fall meeting of the Epiphany Men's Club to be held in the church parish house on the evening of Monday, Oct. 7. A committee of ladies will serve supper at 6:45 and Mr. Bushnell's address is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

At the annual meeting of DeMolay Commandery, Knights Templars, Boston, Wednesday evening, Ernest Dudley Chase was elected Generalissimo.

ENJOYED SOCIAL AND MUSICAL

The annual fall social and musicale, given by Mrs. Annie Soule Lewis and her pianoforte pupils, took place Tuesday evening in Fortnightly Hall.

An enjoyable program was presented in three parts, the parts being interspersed with brief remarks by Mrs. Lewis who recounted some of her own interesting musical activities at the age of those who had just performed. Several of the anecdotes were of a humorous nature and so realistically described as to arouse spontaneous laughter. Mrs. Lewis also spoke of interesting experiences and events, experienced during her two years of foreign residence.

Included in the 20 selections rendered during the evening were compositions by Ornstein, Tosi, Grainger, Dawes and Liszt. The following pupils, who appeared on the program, had studied during the summer or had earned the rewards for highest records made during the past season:

Mrs. Creamer was 57 years of age and a native of Prince Edward Island. She had made her home in Winchester for the past 28 years, her pleasing personality winning for her the friendship of all with whom she came in contact. She was active in the work of the Married Ladies' Sodality of St. Mary's Parish of which she was a member and was also affiliated with the Ladies' Auxiliary of Company 1 of Stoneham.

Surviving are her husband, a daughter, Miss Florence M. Creamer of Winchester, and three sons, John F. and George M. Creamer, both of Winchester, and William E. Creamer of Medford. A sister and a brother, living in Boston, also survive her.

Lizotte picked the little boy up and took him to the Winchester Hospital where he was treated by Dr. Roger M. Burgoyne. Lizotte told the police he was driving southeast on Swanton street when the little boy ran directly into the path of the machine and it was impossible to avoid striking him.

WINCHESTER OPENS AT STONEHAM

Winchester High School opens its 1929 football schedule tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 when Coach Mansfield's boys will stack up against a veteran Stoneham High eleven on the Pomeworth street grounds in the hockey town.

Both clubs will be playing their first game, but on paper Stoneham should be a favorite with most of the boys who did so well a year ago back once more in the harness. The Stoneham team is built about the flashy back, Adzigan, and boasts a center in the 200 pound class.

Winchester will field a green eleven, by no means overstocked with backfield class. The rushline looks heavy enough to hold its own, but with only two letter men in the starting lineup two much can be expected.

Coach Mansfield is likely to be without the services of Wilmer Smith, big Bruce Colpas, Clyde Clark, "Johnny" Gharardini, flashy halfback; "Art" Razez, William Mills and Dan Murphy, though there is just a possibility that some of the above mentioned cripples may improve sufficiently to get in there if necessity arises.

The Red and Black starting lineup will probably be John Murphy, re; Paul Welburn, rt; Joseph Flaherty, rg; Donald Emery, c; William O'Connell, lg; Richard Symmes, lt; John Morton, le; William Brown, qb; Capt. Bartlett Godfrey, Robert Lee and Hal Knowlton, halfbacks. "Cliff" McNeil, veteran tackle, has been shifted this week to the backfield and will probably see plenty of service behind the line. Others likely to get in there are Newman, Dolan and Hickey, backs; and Robinson, Hichborn, Donovan, Diminico, Lynch, Felt, Fay, Di-Apella, Berg, D. Smith, Daley, Nowell, Ambrose, Bernhard and R. Welburn, linemen.

NEW TRAIN TIME

Many Changes in Inward Schedule

New train time goes into effect on the steam railroad Sunday, coincident with the ending of daylight saving time. Winchester experiences many changes in Boston bound trains over the existing schedule, those leaving after 9 a. m. being considerably different. More changes appear in the new time table than have been seen for several years.

Time tables of convenient pocket size, give both Winchester and Wedgemere trains, may be had of the following Winchester business houses:

F. E. Barnes & Co.
E. H. Butterworth
Edw. T. Harrington Co.

A HARD NIGHT FOR HENS

Last Friday night, or rather Saturday morning, proved a particularly trying time for the town's hens and kept the police on the jump trying to run down two-legged and four-legged hen thieves.

At 1:45 Saturday morning police headquarters was notified that hen thieves were detected in the coop of Mr. J. W. Blackham on Salem street. Patrolmen John Murray and Henry Dempsey made a hurried trip to the scene, but the marauders did not await their coming and though the police searched the entire neighborhood, they were unable to locate them.

Two minutes after the first call the police were notified that dogs had entered the hen coop of Dr. H. L. Gale on Swan road. Patrolman Archie O'Connell responded to this call, but found that the dogs had vanished after killing two hens.

It was discovered early Saturday morning that dogs had entered the henyard of Mr. Thomas F. Fahey on Hutchinson road and had killed 30 Plymouth Rock hens. Five hens were also missing. All in all it was a bad night for fowl.

NOT LONG AT LIBERTY

John M. Jones of 25 Chipman street, Medford, enjoyed only a single day's liberty after the expiration of one jail sentence because of the fact that he picked Winchester center as the place to drive a stolen automobile through the red traffic signal which says stop in all languages. It was just too bad for John.

The action took place at 9:30 last Saturday evening while Traffic Officer Henry P. Dempsey was on duty in the police box in the center. Jones, who was headed south on Main street, drove a new Chevrolet sedan through the red traffic light and was motioned to pull in at the side of the road by the local policeman.

Officer Dempsey became suspicious when the young man made rather a mess of handling the machine and when the latter failed to produce the proper driving credentials he was taken into custody and booked at headquarters on the charge of larceny of the automobile.

According to the police Jones confessed that he had stolen the sedan in Portsmouth, N. H., shortly after he had been released from the York County Jail in Maine where he had been serving a sentence for a previous automobile theft. The Portsmouth machine was found to be the property of Hiram E. Wener of that city.

Jones was locked up and turned over with Wener's sedan, to the Portsmouth police who arrived in Winchester Sunday.

DRIVER ARRESTED AFTER CRASH

Eugene J. Murphy of Brentwood road, Woburn, was taken into custody by Patrolman Charles J. Harrold of the Police Department last Sunday evening at 9:45 o'clock after the Dodge touring car he was driving north on Main street was in collision at Synmes Corner with a Willys-Knight sedan which was headed south on Main street and which was driven by Charles Nelson of 24 Princeton street, East Boston.

The cars were in head-on collision and when Officer Harrold arrived on the scene he arrested Murphy who was locked up at Headquarters, charged with driving while under the influence of liquor and with drunkenness.

In the District Court at Woburn Monday morning, Judge Jesse W. Morton found the defendant guilty on both counts and imposed a fine of $50 on the drunken driving charge. The charge of drunkenness was filed.

WINCHESTER MAN'S CADILLAC RECOVERED

A Cadillac sedan, the property of Mr. C. Freeman Olson, was recovered by the police of Station 15 in Charlestown at 4 o'clock Monday morning after it had been reported stolen from where it had been parked at the Olson residence at 16 Salisbury road about 8:30 the previous evening. The machine, a handsome new sedan, figured in several exciting episodes before it was finally returned to Winchester by two of the local officers.

Even before Headquarters had been notified of the theft of the car it was noticed, occupied by several men, going through the center at a high rate of speed by Police Sergeant, Thomas F. Cassidy. The latter commanded an automobile to give chase, but was unfortunate in his choice of machines and soon lost the Cadillac which vanished in the direction of Woburn going in excess of 65 miles an hour.

The alarm was broadcast to police stations throughout the district and at 2 o'clock Monday morning the local authorities were notified that a police sergeant had fired point blank at the sedan after its operator had attempted to run him down on the streets of Charlestown.

It was later learned that between Winchester and Woburn, the Olson car, after outdistancing Sergeant Cassidy had engaged in a mad race with a Willys-Knight sedan which the authorities believed to be a stolen car and which patrolman White of the Arlington Department had attempted unsuccessfully to halt at the Arlington-Winchester line.

Finally at 4 o'clock Monday morning the Winchester police were notified that Mr. Olson's car had been found abandoned in Charlestown and patrolmen John Hogan and John Murray went into Station 15 to return the car to its owner.

The bullet of the Charlestown police sergeant had taken effect on the windshield of the sedan at a point directly in front of the driver's seat. Only the fact that the car was equipped with a non-breakable windshield saved the life of the man who had been driving when the bullet was fired.

The heavy windshield was shattered in all directions from the point where the slug struck for a radius of about 15 inches, but the bullet did not penetrate the glass. Aside from this the only other apparent damage which the car suffered was a dent on one side of the hood.

At 10 o'clock last Saturday morning a Buick coupe, driven by Elsie W. Huston of 276 South street, Pittsfield, while turning into a parking space in front of Richardson's Market on Mt. Vernon street, collided with one of the establishment's trucks which was parked at the curb. The damage was slight.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Next to having a profitable business is to distribute your income in a way that your family is happy.

Always laugh when you can, it is a very cheap and wholesome medicine.

Wise people are those who speak least, have no complaints, think much and travel on.

Enthusiasm is the art of high persuasion.

A WINCHESTER INSTITUTION

Announcements are coming daily of the fall and winter activities planned by the energetic committees at the Calumet Club, and from indications the coming season will be one of the best yet experienced by this organization, the oldest center of the town's social activities. Organized about 35 years ago under the name of the "Young Men's Social Club," Calumet has flourished and grown with the town, and today it still holds its place at the head of the many clubs and societies of the town as well as standing in the foremost rank of similar organizations in Greater Boston.

Calumet is unique in that it fosters and features the social life of the town only, and while it has always been identified with Winchester, it is a hard and fast rule that politics and business are left behind when its members convene. It still maintains the old fashioned customs and atmosphere in providing a place for its members where they may relax and enjoy themselves according to their individual taste without intrusion from outside affairs.

Its sports are well managed. Bowling, billiards, pool, cards and numerous other winter attractions provide entertaining diversion. Its homey atmosphere and comfortable surroundings are a magnet hard to resist after a day's exhaustive labor, and more than one weighty problem has been discussed and settled amid the aroma of good cigars in the smoking room. Calumet has always numbered among its members Winchester's most distinguished citizens. Clergymen, jurists, town officials and the Governor of the State have gathered there and enjoyed its peaceful atmosphere and the society of their fellows.

Winchester is fortunate in having such a club within its borders, and the young men of the town, for whom and by whom it was organized, still constitute its backbone. It is distinctly a Winchester institution. Its beautiful and spacious club house on Dix street is still a town landmark, and to be included in its membership is a mark of identification with the social activities of Winchester. May it continue to flourish and prosper with the town.

ROTARY CLUB

In contrast to the large number of visitors whom we had the pleasure of entertaining at the inter-city meeting last week, this week we played the part of host for only two Rotarians.

However, we were consoled for the lack of visitors because of the fact that we added one more name to our own membership, Harry W. Wood, District Traffic Manager of the N. E. T. & T. Co. having been duly elected was present at his first meeting as a Rotarian last Thursday.

Harry and "Ton" Gleason, whose initial attendance was on Sept. 17, were cordially welcomed to our fellowship by President Roscoe.

We believe that our club will be strengthened by the admission of these members and that their own lives will be broadened by the contacts which they will make as Rotarians.

"Doc" as he was about to start the period of song, announced that he had received a bill for our new song sheets from T. P. and that the bill was plainly marked "gratis." T. P. was given a rising vote of thanks for his very substantial contribution to abate expenses.

The Annual Convention of Rotary International will be held in Chicago next June. It will mark the 25th anniversary of the founding of Rotary and therefore will be of more than ordinary interest. Few cities have the will and the ability to entertain that Chicago possesses. As the birthplace of Rotary it can be depended on to outdo itself. We hope that many from our own club will be able to be present. It is not too early to make arrangements.

The speaker at this meeting was our own Past President, George. His topic was "The Improvement of the Waterways of Winchester." George, who is chairman of our local Park Commission is particularly well qualified to deal with this subject. He gave particular attention to the development along Horn Pond Brook and to the Mill Pond.

To those who think that the Park Commission has been idle, George offers the explanation that much preliminary work must be completed before actual construction begins. For instance the Town must acquire rights along the Waterways before alterations are undertaken. This has been done for the entire length of Horn Pond Brook and along the shores of Wedge Pond as far as is practical.

Those who seek evidence of progress should take a walk along upper Main street and observe the beautiful vista of Wedge Pond which has been created by the removal of the unsightly buildings which fronted on Main street. The work in this section will be pushed rapidly. Work at the Mill Pond is still under consideration, but it is probable that an appropriation will be made for dredging the pond at an early date.

President Roscoe will be in attendance at the annual Conclave at Poland Spring next week. It seems that the Winchester delegation will be small this year.

Attendance on Sept. 19—27 out of a membership of 28—percentage 96.42.

Superintendent of Streets Parker Holbrook has been experimenting with a new material for sidewalks to replace the costly granolithic construction. Several sidewalks have already been laid of the new material which is a mixture of asphalt and cement. When in position the surface has the appearance of granolithic, but is far less costly and if it proves as durable as Mr. Holbrook has reason to believe it will save the town considerable money in the course of a year.

Miss Nancy Bradlee has been elected acting captain and Miss Margaret Newman, manager of the Winchester Girls' Athletic Club hockey team and both are busy getting things under way for a strenuous season. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McNair Righter, Jr. of 61 Yale street are the parents of a daughter, Martha, born Sept. 20 at the Winchester Hospital. Mrs. Righter was before her marriage Miss Francis Downer and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cutler B. Downer of Sheffield road.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Reardon, newly married couple, were pleasantly surprised last Saturday evening when a group of their neighbors and friends called at their home on Arthur street to offer best wishes for their continued happiness and many useful gifts as well as a substantial purse of gold. An enjoyable evening was spent and concluded with the serving of dainty refreshments. The entire affair was under the direction of Mrs. Nora O'Melia. Mrs. Peter McNulty and Mr. Henry Haley.

Strenuous opposition was voiced at last Monday's meeting of the Board of Selectmen to the granting of the petition of Julius Y. Feingold and his business partner, Samuel Weinstein, for a permit to store gasoline and erect a pump at 648-654 Main street. Those who represented the petitioners were Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Scholl of Vine street and Mr. Richard White of 644 Main street. A petition in opposition to the granting of the permit, signed by many residents living on Vine street, was given to the Board. Mr. Feingold stated that he wished the permit, because a prospective tenant for his property at the above address had demanded a storage place for gasoline and a pump in the rear of the establishment. A letter from the Building Commissioner stated that the construction of the building referred to would prevent the storing of gasoline in it and that the Commissioner believed a gasoline pump in the rear of the structure would constitute a fire hazard. The Board decided not to grant the petition.

Sergt. William H. Rogers of the Police Department returned to his home on Wednesday the two and one-half year-old son of Alan Howard of Myrtle terrace. The youngster was found wandering about the center.

NACO: WHERE U. S. TROOPS PROTECT AMERICAN PROPERTY

Naco, where United States troops have been ordered to protect American property, is a town of about 300 inhabitants lying astride the Mexican border 25 miles west of Douglas, Arizona, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

Naco came into existence a generation ago with the opening of a huge copper mining camp at Cananea, Mexico, which lies a few miles south of the border town on a branch of the Southern Pacific Railroad.

Town of Adobe Buildings and Weatherbeaten Shacks
The town is situated in a dusty plain with the San Jose Mountain of Sonora rising above it to the south, and the Huachuca Mountain range lying to the west.

Before the advent of the railroad, huge high-wheeled freight wagons and stage coaches, drawn by 8 or 10 horses plied between Tombstone and Bisbee, Arizona, and near-by Mexican towns, crossing the border of Naco. Then Naco was a small settlement with red adobe houses and weatherbeaten, wooden shacks, lining a street bisected by the International Line. Except for the addition of a few similar buildings, a depot, post office and customs house, few changes have taken place in Naco. The American portion of the town which is mostly residential is almost lifeless; but the gay border life on the Mexican side resounds all over the neighborhood.

Raids Across Border were Frequent
To the south of Naco lie the famous American-owned Turkey Track,

Cananea, and San Rafael cattle ranches. In peace time the greatest excitement in Naco, during the day, is the passing of cattle from Mexico to the United States; and fuel, oil, lumber, food, clothing and other supplies to Mexican points.

In the past crime and turbulence in Naco frequently brought American troops from the nearest garrisons at Douglas and Fort Huachuca in the Huachuca Mountains about a day's march from the town. Raids across the border were frequent, and the water works of Bisbee, which are in the border town, were threatened. Bisbee lies 9 miles north of Naco. The water is pumped from Naco wells.

During revolutions, many millions of dollars worth of concentrates and copper bars are transported from Mexico into the United States through Naco for protection against confiscation by warring Mexican factions.

Uncertainty of Life

Ah, fool! why dost thou think to live long, when thou art not sure of one day? How many have been deceived and have been unexpectedly snatched from the body? How often hast thou heard it related such an one was slain by the sword, another was drowned, another falling from on high broke his neck, this man grew stark in chewing his food, that other came to his end when he was at play? Some have perished by fire, some by steel, some by pestilence, and some by robbers. Thus death is the end of all; and man's life passes suddenly like a shadow. Who will remember thee after death, and who will pray for thee? Ransomed Times.

Your Choice

Are home, comfort, all the finer pleasures of life, worth working and saving for?

Or do you prefer a ramshackle kind of existence?

Up or down? You simply cannot remain motionless.

Of course you know that thrift must be in your program. But many times people put off starting. They plan to begin laying something by "next month." Next month never comes. Today is the day.

Algerian Grasshoppers
Some Algerian grasshoppers, just arrived at the London zoo, have beaten all records for the genius of leaping. They seem to have sacrificed everything for this, as though the body is barely an inch long, the hind legs are fully three inches.

The newcomers are confined in a glass case, two feet high, yet, when first put in, their horny heads were continually tapping on the roof.

Unlike other grasshoppers, they are carnivorous, feeding on raw meat and dead insects; and instead of living amongst grass they haunt damp caves. This species has never before been seen at the menagerie.

Life insurance companies find it ways to spend millions in campaigns of health education. It pays also for the individual to educate himself in the rules and practices of personal hygiene.

Be Kind in Criticism
Harsh criticism does not always help to right a wrong, whereas if a few kind words, tactfully mixed with well-meant criticism, is delivered, the results are apt to be quicker and better.—Veronica (Ore.) Eagle.

Take American Ideas
and "Coin" to France
It is curious that both in the south-east and southwest of France there have long been what the French neighbors call American villa towns. But those who live in them are not our Americans at all.

One of these towns—Barcelonnette, on the motor road from Nice to the French Alps and Lake Geneva—has been given all the privileges of a tourist station by government decree. It has some 3,000 inhabitants, with streets laid out regularly and the outskirts built up in what are known as American houses—square and white and with green blinds.

Those who live in them are purely French—emigrants of a full century ago, or their children, who have come back from Mexico and our Mexican frontier after making a fortune. It is said that the least successful returned with $10,000, and some with $100,000 and even more. They built up their little neighborhoods to resemble what they had for themselves in the New world. One—from Texas—built a veritable chateau, but society must have been too strong for him in France, and he took his family back to free America. Perhaps his grandchildren are among our own Americans who now own 1,500 villas on the Riviera—Exchange.

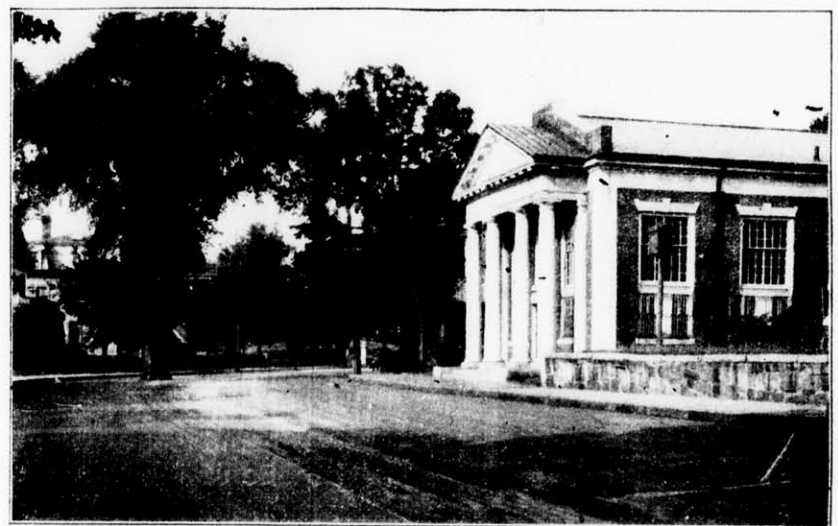

Food Values
Sugars and starches are more readily assimilated and digested than are fats, and, in proportion to the amount eaten, increase the weight more rapidly.

Narrowing Gulf
The gulf of California, the narrow arm of the sea just south of our southwestern border, seems to be gradually disappearing from the map. Recent surveys show that the peninsula of Lower California is widening and that the gulf is growing more shallow each year.

The phenomenon was first noted more than 200 years ago by the Jesuit priests who were the earliest colonizers of the peninsula. About thirty years ago a scientifically inclined inhabitant planted a number of palm trees about ten feet from the shore of the sea. His trees are now more than one hundred yards inland. Twenty years ago there was considerable crossing the gulf, but now navigation with large boats is somewhat dangerous.

Be Kind in Criticism

Harsh criticism does not always help to right a wrong, whereas if a few kind words, tactfully mixed with well-meant criticism, is delivered, the results are apt to be quicker and better.—Veronica (Ore.) Eagle.

Take American Ideas

and "Coin" to France
It is curious that both in the south-east and southwest of France there have long been what the French neighbors call American villa towns. But those who live in them are not our Americans at all.

One of these towns—Barcelonnette, on the motor road from Nice to the French Alps and Lake Geneva—has been given all the privileges of a tourist station by government decree. It has some 3,000 inhabitants, with streets laid out regularly and the outskirts built up in what are known as American houses—square and white and with green blinds.

Those who live in them are purely French—emigrants of a full century ago, or their children, who have come back from Mexico and our Mexican frontier after making a fortune. It is said that the least successful returned with $10,000, and some with $100,000 and even more. They built up their little neighborhoods to resemble what they had for themselves in the New world. One—from Texas—built a veritable chateau, but society must have been too strong for him in France, and he took his family back to free America. Perhaps his grandchildren are among our own Americans who now own 1,500 villas on the Riviera—Exchange.

Narrowing Gulf
The gulf of California, the narrow arm of the sea just south of our southwestern border, seems to be gradually disappearing from the map. Recent surveys show that the peninsula of Lower California is widening and that the gulf is growing more shallow each year.

The phenomenon was first noted more than 200 years ago by the Jesuit priests who were the earliest colonizers of the peninsula. About thirty years ago a scientifically inclined inhabitant planted a number of palm trees about ten feet from the shore of the sea. His trees are now more than one hundred yards inland. Twenty years ago there was considerable crossing the gulf, but now navigation with large boats is somewhat dangerous.

ARTHUR E. FRENCH

COACH NOW UNDER FORMER PUPIL

"Rufe" Bond Assisting "Art" French With Harvard Freshmen

It isn't often that a coach who taught a schoolboy his first football is later engaged to assist his former pupil in the production of a college freshman eleven, but that is just the situation which this season confronts Rufus H. "Rufe" Bond, veteran backfield catch of the Harvard yearling football squad.

Bond will this year act as assistant to Arthur E. French, Jr., a former Winchester boy who back in the fall of 1921 broke into schoolboy football while Bond was coaching at Winchester High.

The next year "Art" was one of the big stars of Bond's eleven which won the Mystic Valley League championship and made the most impressive record ever attained by a Winchester football team. After opening its season with a tie game at Milton Academy the local boys were undefeated and had but a single touchdown scored against them during the entire season, defeating each of their league rivals in decisive fashion.

Since those days French has played much school and college football, starring for Worcester Academy and captaining his freshman eleven at Cambridge in 1925. As a varsity half-back he broke into the Crimson hall of fame by defeating Dartmouth in his sophomore year with a last-ditch 48-yard dash for a touchdown and after playing consistently good football in 1927, was that fall elected to captain the first Harvard eleven to win from Yale since 1922.

Last year when the Harvard authorities were casting about for a man to succeed "Eddie" Casey as head coach of the freshman team French was selected, not alone because of his prestige as a winning player of great ability but because the Winchester boy displayed during his entire college course real qualities of leadership.

Last Monday "Art" began his real work with the Harvard cubs and one of the first to grasp his hand was his backfield coach, sturdy "Rufe" Bond, an effective Harvard half-back in the days when the great "Eddie" Mahan was throwing a Crimson glow across the football firmament. Little did either "Rufe" or "Art" think when the latter was running wild for Bond's Winchester machine that they would ever hook up in their present relationship, but we will wager that the former coach and pupil are glad to be together again, even though the latter is now giving the orders.

BERNARD FRANCIS MATHEWS

Bernard Francis Mathews, a respected and widely known citizen of Winchester for the past 35 years, died Saturday afternoon, Sept. 21, at his home, 22 Lincoln street, following a three weeks' illness. He had been for some time in failing health.

Mr. Mathews was born in Woburn 67 years ago, the son of James and Bridget (Murray) Mathews. He was educated in the Woburn schools and entered business as a barber in that city before coming to Winchester 35 years ago.

His first shop in Winchester was on Waterfield road. Later he was located in Waterfield Building and then for many years at Main street on the site now occupied by H. P. Hood & Sons. He had been in his present shop on Thompson street since 1926.

During the long years of his business life here Mr. Mathews enjoyed the patronage of many of Winchester's leading citizens and made many friends among the town's people in all walks of life. For the past 16 years he had served the town as Registrar of Voters and was for a time local bail commissioner. He was a member of Woburn Lodge of Elks, transferring his membership to Winchester upon the institution of the lodge in this town. He was also a member of St. Mary's Holy Name Society.

In 1890 Mr. Mathews married in Woburn Miss Mary A. Walsh of that city who survives him with two daughters, Mrs. Frank M. Merrill of Reading and Miss Ruth Mathews of Winchester, and five sons, Bernard F. of Camden, Me.; Ernest C. of Reading; J. Henry of Providence, R. I.; Joseph R. of Woburn and Samuel J. Mathews of Washington, D. C. A brother, Thomas Mathews of Woburn, also survives.

The Elks' funeral ritual was exemplified Monday evening at the late residence by the officers of Winchester Lodge under the direction of Exalted Ruler B. F. Cullen. The funeral was held Tuesday morning with a solemn requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock.

Rev. Fr. Nathaniel J. Merritt, pastor of St. Mary's, was celebrant with the Rev. Fr. George H. Quigley, deacon, and a son of the deceased, Samuel J. Mathews, a seminarian at Catholic University, Washington, D. C., sub-deacon. Rev. Fr. Clarence J. Macksey of the Church of the Little Flower, Everett, was master of ceremonies and Rev. Fr. Hugh Maguire, chaplain at the House of the Angel Guardian, Jamaica Plain, was seated in the sanctuary. The children's choir of St. Mary's Parochial School sang the Gregorian Mass with Miss Florence Fisher as organist.

The services were beautifully attended and there were many beautiful flowers, bearing eloquent testimony to the esteem in which the deceased was held by his many friends. Among the floral tributes was one from the Rotary Club of Camden, Me., of which Mr. Mathews' son, Bernard F. Mathews, Jr., is president.

Two Past Exalted Rulers of Winchester Lodge of Elks, Maurice Dineen and Fred H. Scholl, served as honorary pall bearers with former Selectman Thomas A. Laraway, former Selectman Thomas F. Fallon, Robert Bolling and Everett Hambley. The active bearers were Bernard F. Cullen, exalted ruler of Winchester Lodge of Elks; Redmond E. Walsh, exalted ruler of Woburn Lodge of Elks; John J. Costello of Winchester, past exalted ruler of Woburn Lodge; Edward L. Shea of Woburn, William Flood of Providence, R. I., and Fred S. Mitchell of Winchester.

Interment was in Calvary Cemetery where the committal prayers were read by Father Macksey.

Last Friday afternoon Miss Elsie Piluso of 884 Main street noticed a little girl wandering about near her home and apparently lost. After talking with the child Miss Piluso took her to police headquarters where it was discovered that her name was Claire Pine, that her home was in Roxbury and that she was six years of age. The youngster had wandered away from her home and become lost. The Roxbury police were notified and at 8 o'clock in the evening Claire's aunt arrived at the Winchester station to take her home. The little girl was glad enough to go.

Shortly after 10 o'clock Saturday morning a Hudson coach, driven by Margaret S. Blaisdell of 30 Stevens street, and a Nash coupe, operated by Katherine L. Haley of 4 Symmes road, were in collision on Mt. Vernon street near Converse place. BUXTON'S RHEUMATIC SPECIFIC

Dear Sir: I hope some one suffering with rheumatism, Neuritis or stomach trouble will read this. I had been suffering for three years with all of these, and doctoring all of the time, but received no help. A friend told me how he had been cured of rheumatism by your Specific. I sent for six bottles. Before I had taken all of one bottle I felt better, and am gaining all the time. I consider it a wonderful medicine for these complaints.

THOMAS FRANCIS BURKE

Thomas Francis Burke, for many years identified with the cotton business and chief cotton buyer for the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company of Manchester, N. H., died Saturday night, Sept. 21, at his home, 26
Symmes road.

Mr. Burke was the son of Thomas and Mary (Corcoran) Burke and was born 63 years ago in Boston. He was educated in the public schools of his native city and at an early age entered the cotton business in the employ of Stephen M. Weld Company of Boston.

For some years Mr. Burke was connected with the production end of the cotton business in Texas, later removing to Little Rock, Ark., where in 1893 he married Miss Mary Murray of that city.

From Arkansas he came east with his family to Winthrop, which town he made his home until coming to Winchester six years ago.

Mr. Burke was one of the foremost cotton authorities of the country and was well known in the leading cotton markets of the old world. For the past 25 years he had served as chief buyer for the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company of Manchester, N. H., travelling extensively for this well-known concern. He was a member of the Cottage Park Yacht Club of Winthrop and of the Boston City Club.

Surviving are his wife, a son, T.
Murray Burke, and a daughter, Mrs.
C. Philip O'Rourke, all of Winchester. Another son, Joseph Burke, lost his life in an automobile accident in Dallas, Tex., seven months ago. Three brothers, John, Joseph and Timothy Burke, and a sister, Miss Catherine Burke, all of Dorchester, also survive.

Funeral services were held from the late residence Tuesday morning with a requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church at 10 o'clock. Interment was in Mt. St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

DRUNKEN DRIVER COMMITTED TO JAIL

Edward L. Cashman of 61 Bowman street, Malden, was on Monday morning in the District Court at Woburn sentenced to serve one month in the House of Correction by Judge Jesse
W. Morton who had previously found the defendant guilty of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. The complainant was Patrolman James E. Farrell of the Winchester Police Department.

Cashman was arrested at 4:40 Sunday afternoon, following a chase, after the manner in which he was driving his Dodge touring car through the center had aroused the suspicions of Officer Farrell who was on traffic duty in the police box. The Malden man was literally all over the road and failed to stop when the red light was flashed against him.

Police whistles meant nothing in Cashman's scheme of things and Officer Farrell was obliged to com-mandeer a Chrysler roadster and chase the Dodge to the Medford line before he was able to place his man under arrest. Cashman was locked up at Headquarters charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor and with drunkenness.
A companion, George Johnson of 41
Bowman street, Malden, was arrested charged with drunkenness.

Both were found guilty by Judge Morton in the Woburn Court and when it was learned that Cashman had been convicted of drunken driving in Woburn about a year ago he was sentenced to serve one month in the House of Correction and committed.
Johnson was assessed $10 for his part in the afternoon's festivities.

tary Law Course. As the course begins before the first regular meeting are asked to enroll as soon as possible, so that adequate arrangements can be made. The classes will be held in Fortnightly Hall at 10 o'clock

Fortnightly activities will be the outstanding feature of the early club

pleted before the Christmas season.

Richard Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs.
Joseph T. Clark of Wildwood street, returned for his third year in the Harvard Medical School this fall.
"Dick" is a graduate of the local high school and spent three years at Amherst before entering the medical school at Cambridge.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB

We would find it necessary to choose the coldest Sept. 21 in 40 years on which to run our fall regatta. A considerable number of spectators braved the chilling East wind to view some water sports, therefore six "ice-landers" showed off.

It ordinarily is punishment enough just to fall into the dirty waters of muddy Mystic, but last Saturday it was upon emerging from the "chrysalis" waters that one took the licking. The water still had retained some of its summer heat, but the air—well, that's a different story.

"Harry" Russell acted as starter and lined the boys up, facing away from the finish line; kneeling on both knees just ahead of the forward seat, six canoes paddled with their tails ends high in the air, were off. The stiff East wind was no help. Each paddler brought his canoe about or tried to, and headed for the quarter-mile distant finish line. "Phil" Hight did a beautiful "Annette Kellerman" hardly before he was two lengths underway. "Dave" Downer not to be outdone in this respect performed an equally graceful "spill" into the water but maybe because it was warmer in there, he took another soon after his boat was righted. "Ken" Pratt crossed the finish line in the lead with "Jim" Fitch a short distance behind. The others, never did end. "Brad" Hill had a stubborn boat which just wouldn't do anything but swing about, and
"Dan" Barnard found that it's possible to have a "merry-go-round" on the water too.

Since so many of the boys were already wet the tandem handle paddle was the next feature. James Fitch and Bradford Hill, splashed across the flats ahead of "Ken" Pratt and
"Dave" Downer. The combination
"Dan" Barnard and "Phil" Hight "also ran."

Event number three, was the jumping gunwhale race. By this time the boys were getting almost warmed up.
In this race each contestant stands up on the gunwhale of his boat. Just forward of the rear seat and by a downward and forward pushing of his weight by jumping, forces his canoe ahead. "Ken" Pratt successfully jumped his boat across first, "Dave" Downer was second and "Brad" Hill, third. "Phil" Hight once more took to the lake in this race. It seemed to have a magnetic attraction for him.

Two teams fought it out in the tilt-
ing. "Jim" Fitch, tilter and "Phil"
Hight, paddler; jostled against David Downer tilter, and K. Pratt, paddler.
The boys went at it without the platforms; that is from the bottoms of the canoes. They had a merry battle for a while. Then "Jim" gave "Dave" a well placed jab and "Dave" went into mirey Mystic. But it was judged that "Jimmie" was "bye" when he gave the successful poke. "Dave" had almost climbed back in his boat when he slipped, and amused the onlookers by catching his feet under the canoe seat and hanging on with his head under water, until he extricated himself and pulled back into the boat again.

The battle was resumed, but "Dave" just couldn't stay away from the water, after a few minutes of pushing, "Jimmie" Fitch gave the well-placed jab and "Dave" Downer went overboard, tilting pole and all.
Later on, "Dave" Downer gave an exhibition of aqua plane riding towed behind "Jimmie" Fitch's outboard boat. It was the most expert riding we have seen this year. He really rode it, making the board swing away wide, also bank the turns and various other feats.

There is a regular club dance tonight. The last one, which came just following Labor Day, was a most successful one and this affair should prove as good. Every member would do well to grasp the opportunity and bring friends.

THE WINCHESTER WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The first meeting of the club year will be held Oct. 2 in Association Hall, Vine street at 2:30 p. m. The club has been most fortunate in securing Miss Janet Richards, the foremost woman lecturer on Current Events as our speaker for the afternoon. Her subject will be "Washington Politics and World Politics." The meeting is a public one and members are invited to bring guests. Mrs. James Harris of Medford, our district State Committee member will introduce herself to our club in a brief two minute talk during the business meeting.
Tea will be served.

WILL RESUME PIANO TEACHING

Louisa F. Parkhurst will commence her teaching of piano in Winchester, Sept. 30.

Pupils wishing to register in the children's classes must do so before that date.

Miss Parkhurst will have time for a limited number of advanced pupils who do not care to go to her Boston studio. Terms $8 per hour.

Miss Parkhurst is a pupil of Myra Hess, the noted English woman pianist and teaches the most modern methods of technic, rhythm and interpretation. For appointments address 602 Pierce Bldg., Copley Square, Boston or phone Win. 0691-W.

CALUMET HOLDS OPENING DINNER

The opening dinner at the Calumet Club is to be held next Saturday evening, Oct. 5, at 6:30 o'clock sharp. On this occasion the social season opens at the club for the coming fall and winter. Beef steak and all the fixings, and an entertainment under the direction of William Little gives promise of a most attractive and entertaining evening.

On this same evening there is to be a special meeting of the club, at which time the proposed changes in the by-laws will be acted upon. These include important alterations in the qualifications of non-resident members.

FORE RIVER WON FROM WO-BURN SOCCER CLUB

The Woburn Soccer Club, formerly the Woburn Tanners, lost its game last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field to the strong Fore River Club, 4 goals to 2. The crowd was only of fair size and the contest which had been arranged for the benefit of the local Elks' charity fund failed to enrich the exchequer by any great amount. Members of the lodge's entertainment committee under the direction of E. L. K. "Jack" Donaghey were in charge of arrangements.
"Jack" himself canvassed the field for subscriptions while Leo Finnegan and Everett Hambley were stationed at the entrance to the field.

The game was well played by two good teams and those who understood what it was all about were greatly pleased with the soccer shown. The Woburn club was without their services of several of its first string performers, yet it gave the crack Fore River aggregation a real run for honors all the way.

Fore River was the aggressor and had enough stuff to keep the ball in Woburn territory much of the afternoon. French, the Woburn goaler, played brilliantly and his fine saves prevented the winning score from assuming much greater proportions.

Fore River scored twice in the first 11 minutes of play and then the teams battled on even terms for 10 minutes before "Charlie" Travers put Woburn in the running with a nice goal from scrim.

The victor's third goal came after half an hour of stubborn fighting, to be followed three minutes later by "Charlie" Travers' second goal for Woburn, a pretty kick which the Fore River goaler never had a chance to block.

It took the Fore River team exactly two minutes to tally its final goal and thereafter the eleven played scoreless soccer until the final whistle, though the visitors constantly threatened.

Winchester has seen little soccer and much education will be necessary before the game can approach the popularity of football here. Last Saturday's battle was close, but on the whole aroused little enthusiasm. If one of the clubs had been representing the town there might have been more excitement.

TELEPHONE COMPANY TO OPEN NEW OFFICE

Progress has been made in connection with the opening of the new central office of the Telephone Company at 17 Thompson street, and it may conveniently be stated that this office will be open for its subscribers and the general public within a few days.
Important alterations and renovations in the new store will give Winchester one of the most convenient and best equipped offices hereabouts.

The idea back of the new office is to provide a convenient place fitted with all accommodations for the customers of the company to transact their business and pay their bills. This is in line with the policy of the company in establishing such offices in all towns and cities within its territory, bringing its customers in closer touch and affording better service.

Definite announcement of the opening of the new office in the center will be made shortly.

WESTERN MISSIONARY SOCIETY

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Excitement, fast action, suspense—these are the thrilling elements which provide superb entertainment for those who see the latest gripping, all-talking mystery drama, "The Mysterious Dr. Fu Manchu" which will open Sunday for four days at the University Theatre. The famous Sax Rohmer story has thrilled millions all over the world in story form and now has incorporated all the tense, emotion-arousing incidents into a never-to-be-forgotten picture with Warner Oland as the cunning, diabolical villain, Dr. Fu Manchu. In addition to Warner Oland, the cast includes Jean Arthur, O. P. Heggie, Neil Hamilton, and William Austin.

The companion feature is "Words and Music," a musical revue with a college setting which projects audibly the verve and sparkle of campus life with Lois Moran in a singing, dancing and talking screen role. Talented youngsters from campus and dancing school, together with noted entertainers from the legitimate stage are in the supporting cast.

Claudette Colbert, slender, brown eyed beauty of stellar fame in a number of Broadway productions, and Walter Huston, one of the outstanding stars of the legitimate stage in the past five years of Broadway theatrical history, are re-united in leading roles in the all-talking film success, "The Lady Lies" which comes for three days starting Thursday. Charles Ruggles, famed as one of the leading juvenile and elderly gentleman comedies of "the great white way" plays the comedy relief role.

"Smiling Irish Eyes," the companion picture, marks the debut of Colleen Moore in dialogue and she sings several songs written especially for this production.

MALDEN ORPHEUM THEATRE

"Burning the Wind," Hoot Gibson's latest Western picture, is the current attraction at the Orpheum Theatre, Malden. This story of old California is one of the star's most entertaining productions. The picture has more than the ordinary amount of thrills while fast riding and rope-throwing add to the rapid tempo of the photodrama. Virginia Brown Faire is the charming senorita appearing opposite Gibson. The second feature on this program is another swift action episode of "The Final Reckoning" starring Buffalo Bill, Jr.

Sparkling waters—a great stretch of ocean with nothing in sight but a lighthouse—a spectacle of calm and peace. Dec Renaul, a beautiful girl sits at the end of the pier taking in this scene. She is called "The Devil's Sweetheart" and intrigues ticket buyers to a summer amusement park concession called "Hell." The lighthouse symbolizes the life she would like to lead. It forces upon her the belief that the time has come for her to take hold of herself and she does. How she changes her ways is told in "The Woman from Hell," featuring Mary Astor, which opens at the Orpheum Theatre next Monday for a three day engagement. "Times Square" the second feature on this program concerns the romantic adventures of Russ Glover whose family comes from a long line of musicians and composers. The song writer's role is played by Arthur Lubin with striking success and Alice Day as the winsome girl in the case contributes a rare charm to the picture.

GRANADA ATTRACTIONS

Action plus adventure, terrors and perils of such convincing bigness that audiences who have beheld them were swept into transports of excitement and delight is one way of describing "Four Feathers" the picture the Granada Theatre in Malden will offer for seven days starting tomorrow, with special shows on Sunday. The story is based upon the celebrated novel of British soldier life in Sudan, written by A. E. W. Mason, and often referred to as the "British bible of courage." This picture is unique in that there is not a word of dialogue, although it does have a synchronized screen score. It is a big picture—too big for dialogue. It is one of the most magnificent, the most thrilling pictures of all time and those who do not agree with this statement it will simply be that they have not seen the film. Richard Arlen, William Powell, Clive Brook and Fay Wray are the stars.

"The Green Murder Case," one of the famous S. S. VanDine detective stories, with William Powell in the role of the popular Philo Vance, closes its run at the Granada today.

BOWLING TO START AT CALUMET

Announcement was made this week by Dr. Emerson C. Priest, chairman of the bowling committee at the Calumet Club, that the annual men's winter tournament will start this year on Monday evening, Oct. 7. Entry blanks have been issued to the club members.

Last year there were 31 teams of five men each entered in this tournament. From indications since the opening of the club this year, the coming tournament will have an even larger entry, and it now appears that there will be a record number of teams organized to compete for the prizes. The handicap system, whereby each bowler is rated according to his ability, makes the tournament equally enjoyable for both expert and novice.

The usual rules governing the tournaments will be employed without change, and many of the old teams will enter as units.

The entries for the tournament will close Sept. 30.

Colonial Smugglers

In colonial New England there were smugglers, men who brought in goods in defiance of the British, robbed his majesty's government of needed revenue and helped materially, in the long run, to detach the American colonies from British rule. Boston, Providence, Newport and Salem all were ports of call for the carriers of contraband—Kokomo Tribune.

Female Is Larger

The female of many species of fish grows to a larger size than the male. This is particularly true of the muskellunge. Among game birds the female often takes pre-eminence. The hen jack snipe is bigger than the male, for example.

Of all the hours of the day, there is one time when we like best to have company. That is in the early evening hours—when neighbors drop in to spend a while with us.

The real "telephone hour" comes at the same time. A visit to a telephone neighbor a hundred miles away adds much to those pleasant evenings at home.

To allow more and more use of our out-of-town service to those who have to consider costs, we have provided a low evening rate on calls made by number between seven and eight-thirty o'clock. At distances above forty miles, the rates are about one quarter less than normal day rates. A call or two will convince you of the speed and low cost of this service.

Traffic records show that a greater percentage of calls can be completed promptly in the period from seven to eight-thirty than at any other time in the evening.

Plan your social calls during this period. We are sure you will be pleased with the speed and economy of this evening service.

Whitten Co.'s plant on Cross street, was tendered a reception this week at the home of Mrs. Allen Schmidt, 47 Irving street in honor of his return with his bride from Italy. Mrs. Schmidt was assisted with the arrangements for the reception and a most enjoyable evening was spent with refreshments and a musical program presented by a well known pianist Mr. Lawrence N. Tucker of West Somerville. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fieta, Mr. and Mrs. Guerin, Mr. and Mrs. Simonetta, Mr. Donald McCarthy, Mr. James Edison, Mr. Nicola Perritano, Mr. Salvatore Casalinovo, Mr. Poanese and Mr. Ralph Severino.

MISS DAMON ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph T. Damon of Everett avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marjorie Elizabeth Damon to Frederick Wilton Smith, son of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Smith of Somerville. Miss Damon is a graduate of Rogers Hall and National Park Seminary, Washington, D. C. Mr. Smith is a graduate of Dartmouth, '25, and the Amos Tuck School of Administration and Finance '26. He is a member of the Psi Upsilon fraternity. The wedding will take place early in the new year.

WILL INSTRUCT DANCING
CLASSES

The dancing classes under the direction of Constance Berry Page, instructor, who has recently been engaged by the National Associated Studios of Music, will be formed in Waterfield Hall, Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 1, at 4 o'clock. A tea will be given by Pearl Bates Morton in her studio, Waterfield Building, to which the mothers of children registering for these classes are cordially invited to attend. Miss Morton is director of the Winchester Branch of the Association.

FOUR SIMILAR PLACE NAMES

Elsinore, Helsingor, Halsingborg and Helsingfors. It sounds like a poem, but it isn't, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society, which points out the various locations of these towns whose similarity in spelling is confusing. Elsinore and Helsingor are identical, the bulletin continues. Helsingor is famous as Elsinore, the locale of Shakespeare's play, "Hamlet." It is a small trading town on the northern coast of the Danish island of Sjælland and is a mecca for tourists who come to see the castle of Kronborg where it is said the melancholy Dane of Shakespeare's invention soliloquized. Without the tradition of Hamlet, the town would be but a little known trading station of the south shore of the Oresund, a tiny neck of water connecting the strait of Kattegat with the Baltic Sea. Helsingborg lies in Sweden almost directly across the Oresund from Helsingor. Its location is on the narrowest part of the neck, only two and three quarter miles wide, and one may glimpse the towers of Kronborg in Helsingor across its waters. Halsingborg is a busy seaport and with its population of over 53,000 ranks as Sweden's fifth city.

Helsingfors is familiar to foreigners as Finland's capital. But the name given it by the Finns is Helsinki. It lies on the southwestern coast on the Gulf of Finland, an arm of the Baltic Sea. Helsinki is a city of wide streets, spacious parks and squares and impressive buildings. Flowers and foliage abound during the periods of warm weather. It is about four times as large as Helsingborg.

Onion Always Popular

From the earliest times of which there are authentic records the onion has been highly esteemed as an article of food. In desert regions it was used also as a preventive of thirst by travelers and soldiers on the march. The original home of the plant, of which there are many varieties, was probably southern Asia or the borders of the Mediterranean sea. Egyptians cultivated the onion at the dawn of history.—Detroit News.

START WORK ON EDISON PLANT

Substation at Woburn to Cost About $1,000,000

Construction was started Tuesday on the new substation of the Edison Company, at the junction of Lake avenue and Cove street, Woburn, which is expected to cost about $1,000,000 before it is ready for use. Building permits have been issued by Henry V. Macksey, building inspector, calling for two structures at a total cost of $270,000.

F. T. Ley Company, Boston, are the contractors. One building known as "Unit A," will be 162x48 feet, two stories high, of brick, estimated to cost $150,000. The other, "Unit B," of steel structural design, will cost $120,000, according to the building permit.

The Edison Company plans to tie in the high-power line running from Bellows Falls, Vt. to Woburn, using the new station as a receiving end. Almost directly across the street is the transforming station which receives current from the Edison power plants on L street, Boston, for distribution through this territory.

When the new plant is ready and the current is flowing over the many miles of wires between here and the Vermont community, it will be possible to send current through to the city of Boston, making the company independent of the L street stations.

In the purchase of land for the new station and for the power lines, the city came into a fortunate deal, giving the company easement over seven and one-half acres of land in the woods to the west of Horn Pond, for $25,000. The City Council placed the value of the easement at $15,000, but Mayor Johnson declined to sign the easement unless the company paid $25,000.

The city also retains all its water and other rights in the land. Other private landowners sold to the company various parcels at high figures, one lot of four and one-half acres bringing $18,000 to the owner, while the company paid $9500 on top of that for leases on the land.

Part of the line runs through the property of the Woburn Country Club, which is in a direct line of the proposed route. The new buildings will be located on undeveloped land within a short distance of the Woburn-Winchester line. All of the buildings will be in Woburn.

In connection with the power proposition, the Department of Public Utilities has given notice of the petition of the Edison Company to construct and use a line for the transmission of electricity from its substation in Woburn, through Woburn and Burlington to the Burlington-Billerica line. A hearing will be held in the City Council Chamber, City Hall, next Tuesday, at 10:30 a. m. Notice of the hearing has been served on the Mayor of Woburn and the Selectmen of Burlington.

The petition asks for the right to use the line "for the purpose of supplying electricity to itself and to its customers, including other electrical companies, municipal lighting plants, for distribution and sale, railroads, streets railways, electric railroads for the purpose of operating the same, and for the determination that said line is necessary for the purpose alleged and will serve the public convenience and is consistent with public interest."

Excavation for the foundations has started, with a steam shovel in operation. Other equipment is being hauled onto the job.

In Bridal Attire

The rectory of a certain church is the scene of an unusual number of weddings due perhaps to the popularity of the rector and the beautiful service he reads, which impresses the couple being married with the solemnity of the vows being taken.

On a recent occasion the minister saw an amused look on the face of the bridegroom, one almost bordering on a titter. He did not know the cause of it until the service ended when, on looking around, he saw his baby granddaughter Ann arrayed in a hat and other requisites of the bridal party.—Indianapolis News.
